SIR CHARLES NAPIER.—A letter from an American, who had an audience with Sir Charles Napier, now in command of the British fleet, and who was a witness of the capture of Washington City, in our late war with England, tells the following respecting a worthy:

"He described certain marvellous achievements performed by the Baltimore clippers, which he said he had never seen equalled by other vessels. 'Why, sir,' said he, 'those fellows were the most daring rascals I ever saw in my life; I assure you they seemed to care no more for us than if they had been wild ducks, and could dive as well as fly. They would sail near and past us, and around us, if tempting us to attempt to capture them, which, indeed, we often did, but we might just as well have undertaken to capture the sea gulls. However, we did catch one of them; she was a little too daring, and, y undertaking a certain manœuver, (while Sir Charles described at length, but which am not sailor enough to give you,) she foreguoud and we got her. She was a splendid model, a splendid craft, and I assure you she was a perfect beauty."

LOSS OF VESSELS ON THE OCEAN.—During a period of eighteen months, ending in September, 1853, one hundred and three ships and barks, one hundred and forty-four brigs, and three hundred and twenty-seven schooners and sloops, were lost at sea;—fifty vessels, which had previously sailed, were never afterwards heard from; eight hundred and thirty-eight put into port in distress, and one hundred and two wrecks were passed,—making a total loss (for the period given, as calculated by a writer in the Boston Atlas, of one vessel lost every eleven hours; one stranded every forty-four hours; one abandoned every seventy-five hours, and one sailing and never afterwards heard from every ten days. Such a statement as this should awaken earnest inquiry concerning the causes of these disasters. The calculation is almost exclusively confined to American shipping. Few can tell it numbered, and yet if the loss of life, as well as of property, had been included, and if the dreadful sufferings of the dead and the bereaved could be set forth, the horrors of the picture would be infinitely increased.

A WOMAN IN MALE TROWSERS.—A female was arrested in Dayton on Saturday, as the cars were about starting for this city, whose case is somewhat mysterious. The Empire says she stated that she was a resident of Cleveland, and had donned the male attire for the purpose of following her husband, who had run away from her, taking with him her three children, to go, as she believed to California. She was going to follow him across the frontier to San Francisco. She was induced to resume her female dress for fear, if discovered by the officers, she would be arrested and imprisoned. The gentleman alluded to gave her a dress, and she is now in this city, but what she intends to do we are not informed.

She is good looking, appears to be respectable, is about thirty-two years of age and gives her name as Mrs. Spotford. She carries a hatchet to defend herself. The lady was requested to return to Cleveland, being offered a pass, but she refused to go, and now like the chap who won the elephant at a raffle, the officer doesn't know what to do with her!—Cin. Enquirer.

[illegible] this to be an excellent preparation, and shall therefore not hesitate to recommend it to our readers. It has been tested in numerous instances in this city, and in several which have come under our observation, it has accomplished what other popular medicines and some of our most skilful physicians had failed to accomplish—a perfect cure, in cases of (apparently) confirmed consumption. It is the only medicine for this disease which we can heartly recommend. Temperance Advocate, Pres. R. I.

☞ A bill has been introduced into Congress, providing for the admission of Oregon into the Union, as a State; and the legislature of Oregon are taking the preliminary steps for calling a Convention to form a Constitution. In the year 1856, Oregon will, probably, be the thirty-second State of the Union.

New Hands at the Bellows!

HAVING purchased the entire Stock of Groceries, and rent of the store of David Fisher, and having made a large addition to the Stock, we are now prepared to sell our friends and all them Groceries and provisions, and all other articles usually kept at such establishments. We will be in receipt of goods every few weeks. All kinds of country produce will be taken in exchange, and as it is our determination to sell everything low, there will be great inducements to purchasers of us. Give us a call, friends.

apr29 S. & W. C. LOSTUTTER.

N. B. I will be seen from the above that I have sold out to Messrs. Lostutter, and I would recommend them to a liberal share of public patronage, as young men who are determined to do what is right, and consequently to succeed in business. Look here—there are one hundred and seventy persons in and around Rising Sun, who stand indebted on my books in different amounts; some of them perhaps do not know it, but the great majority do. Now this is to inform all such that I will be pleased to wait on them at my store for the next three or four weeks, at the rate of ten or twelve a day, more or less, to settle with them. I do not mean to use any threats, but one thing is very certain, I must have a settlement, or else I will be obliged to —

Now do not be saying to yourself, or to any one else, "I don't care for any bills," for it is to no one that you are indebted. My list embraces all ages, sizes, sexes, and colors; and very nearly all professions, from the gentleman who looks large in the dignified way, down to the plain farmer and the lawyer—see the book out. DAVID FISHER.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

THE Directors and Members of the Switzerland and Ohio Agricultural Society, are requested to meet at Enterprise on the first Saturday in June, 1854. We expect a large meeting, as a number of important committees are to be filled, arrangements made for the time and place of holding our next District Fair, &c., &c.

It is very desirable that we organize as early as possible. A. M., as some vacancies in the Board are to be filled. DAVID HENRY,

Facts You May Depend On!

THE ladies and gentlemen of Rising Sun and vicinity are requested to call at the

LARGE HOUSE, NO. 10, MAIN STREET,

Where they can find four hundred packages of goods direct from the importers in New York, that are opened and for sale, and as the undersigned is connected with a large jobbing house in Cincinnati, and also one that imports exclusively in New York, and thereby supplies his retail stores in Rising Sun, Aurora and Petersburg with every variety of dry goods, I flatter myself that I sell cheaper and better goods than any other merchant in the city. My stock is full, and consists in part of the following articles, to-wit: Shawl bonnets, from 25 cents to $5, silk bonnets from $1.25 to $5.00; Mantillas from $2.00 to $5.00; Laces from 8 cents to 25 per yard; Calicoes from 7 to 9 cents per yard; Muslins of all qualities and prices; Crape Shawls and crape goods of the latest styles and most approved fashions; Ribbons from 5 to 25 cents per yard; Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, and Clothing of the greatest variety.

I have a young man in my store who has been for several years engaged in cutting clothing, and is an experienced workman; and by his aid I flatter myself that I can defy all competition in this line of trade. apr5 1m ISAAC ZEILLER.

NEW GOODS AT
John W. Beesley's, Merchant Tailor, 105 Main Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

I HAVE just received one of the most elegant assortments of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, &c., ever brought to this market. Also, a very superior stock of gentlemen's furnishing goods in endless variety. The above goods were selected by myself from the stocks of the largest importing houses in New York, and I feel confident I shall be able to give satisfaction to every purchaser, or I will not ask your favor. Visit their patronage. These sections of goods in my line would do well to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere. Remember the old stand, 105 Main street.

Aiming Higher!
WILLIAM LEE & CO.,
76 West Fourth Street,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.,

HAVE risen to render their establishment useful to the community as a place where might be found a superior assortment of all kinds of material and useful dry goods at the lowest prices consistent with a regular and legitimate system of business; and they flatter themselves that the community concede to their house a high position. Commencing the business season of 1854, with a larger experience, and with greatly increased facilities they feel at liberty to promise increased advantages to their customers, and a combination of attractions which will far surpass all other Dry Goods' houses in the west. The Spring and Summer goods are now arriving, and as one of the Firm will be at the East almost constantly. New Goods will be received almost daily through the season. may 25

WHOLESALE
Book and Stationery House
IN NEW YORK,
On the Cash Plan!

EXTENSIVE sales and no losses make it practicable to sell at very low prices.

Mason Brothers,
23 Park Row, opposite the Astor House,
NEW YORK,

Offer one of the most extensive stocks and complete assortments in the country of books and stationery, for cash only.

The amount of goods in our line purchased by country merchants is usually quite small compared with their dry goods, hardware, and other bills; and the very circumstance absolutely forces jobbers in this book business, who sell on time, to get large profits in order to make up for the losses and extra expenses necessarily involved in a credit business of small amounts. It is also very for the merchant to make arrangements to buy his book bill for cash; though it might not be so convenient for him to purchase his larger bills in this way.

These considerations have led us to adopt in our business, from this date, January, 1854, the following principles, viz: small profits, invariable prices, and terms always cash.

Being ourselves the sole publishers of a number of the leading and most extensively-selling School Books in the country, as well as works in other departments, our
