IN ANNUAL SESSION.

The Farmers of Adams County Held the Best Meeting of their History—The Proceedings.

Farmer's institute convened at the court room promptly at 9:30 a. m. with Cal Kunkle in the chair. Opening religious exercises were conducted by Rev. Martz of the Evangelical church at Decatur, Ind. Music by Prof. F. M. Falk, assisted by Mrs. Jones, was good.

Mr. Cal Husselman of Auburn, Ind., was on deck in good trim and full of talk on "Clover and its value." He said: Clover has two values, 1. A feeding value, 2. A manurial value. You must learn how to sow clover seed. I went on the ground with a spiketooth harrow when the ground was dry in May with best results. Recitation by Carl K. Moses, subject—"Pity the sorrows of a poor old man," was well presented by the young man and showed oratorical talent. Discussion on "How to fatten beef cattle," was presented by D. C. Sprunger. 1. Start the cattle by feeding green corn. 2. Grind all feed for them. 3. Feed plenty of salt. 4. Feed regularly. 5. Let them not have ice water to dirnk. This is important. 6. Don't sell before they are fit for market, for this is just the time to make the best results from amount of feed being used. "How to fatten beef cattle," by Davis Dailey. 1. Feed ground oats and bran and oil meal. 2. Feed jerked corn, never shuck corn to feed a steer with a good stock powder. E. Houk takes up the subject of a good stock powder. It aids digestion, the real source of success in fattening and building up the system of any kind of stock.

Joshua Bright not being present the institute took up the subject on "Grasses," by asking and answering questions was animated. Sow when ground is dry enough to harrow seed in.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Music by Prof. Falk and Mrs Jones, violin and piano accompaniments was of high order. "How farming may be made profitable," by E. S. Moses, ex-farmer's institute president. 1. Get in love with your business if you wish to succeed. 2. Read many agricultural papers. 3. Send boys and girls to Purdue University. 4. Cultivate cheerfulness about your home. 5. Thoroughness in work. "Poultry," by J. T. Burley of Berne. 1. Select your variety. 2. Quarters must be clean. 3. The value of poultry is greater than that of the porker in the United States. Over four billion of eggs were lain in this country last year. Then Cal Husselman took up the same subject. More money was paid out for poultry than for hogs and cattle. The ideal chicken. Mature young, small combs, &c., good foragers, feather closely and easily, wheat and oats in morning, whole corn, plenty of grit and green stuff in winter. "The corn crop and how to use it." 1. Plant when ground is warm. 2. Select seed corn while the stalk is standing, so that you can get ears that does not grow near the stalk that has no ear on it. 3. Plow corn shallow after it is knee high, and plow until it is matured. 4. Commence husking while the stalk is still sappy. 5. Cut fodder with hay, grind corn and mix with this sover, dampen and salt and let it soak from one feed to the next. Ration for hogs, oats, shorts and corn, make it moist and feed with salt in every feed. Don't make a slop. Don't feed warm water. I don't like it, do you? I don' think stock likes it either. Pump water with a gas engine and the water will always be the same temperature. Remarks by J. T. Burley on agricultural papers, viz: The Farmer's Guide. Committee on resolutions, E. S. Moses, Judge D. D. Heller and J. T. Burley. Committee on nomination, Jno. Kruger, Joseph Lower and Sam Acker.

EVENING SESSION.

Music by Falk's orchestra, was excellent and deserves special notice. Mrs. Naomi DeVilbiss then pleasantly entertained the audience with her lecture on "The farm as a home." Her pen and language picture of the old home, with its big fireplace and strings of dried apples and pumpkins. She said, "The home is not the boards and material that compose the building, but the place where peace, contentment, happiness and loved ones lived, toiled, married and died. Home the foundation of all earthly joys and happiness." Its environments and influence was then spoken of. "Readings" by Harry Daniels, of Trading Joe, by Carelton was simply fine and created uproarous laughter. "Home Sanitation," by Cal Husselman. He said with other things, that God made water before the land, and made five times as much water as land, and meant for us to be and keep clean. Sunshine was then noticed as essential to good health, and germs will die in the sunshine. He advises an invalid to open the windows and shutters and let the sunshine in and not go to Colorado to get the pure air and sunshine.

SATURDAY MORNING SESSION.

Opening exercises by Rev. Dunket, with appropriate remarks to farmers on "the sheep fold" and "the unfruitful fig tree," with prayer. Music by Juvenile Band, conducted by Prof. Falk. "Delights of farm life," by Mrs. Rose Houk, was a good paper with many fine appropriate quotations. "The home—What we make it," by J. W. Metts of Ossian, was a good paper of pen painting. "How shall we educate boys and girls upon the farm," by Mrs. Naomi DeVilbiss, was then ably presented by this gifted lady lecturer. Education of body, mind, soul. This lecture was the best thing of its kind during the institute. "A few laws that farmers should be familiar with," by Cal Husselman. 1. What is law? That that governs man in relation to self and God. 2. Natural law. Spiritual law. How enforced? by public sentiment. The old law. Golden Rule. A fine illustration of holding up the arm of the court of holding up the hands of Joshua in Bible history. "The hay crop," a paper read by Sam Houk. Full of statistics and facts, rotation of crops is urged. "Belgian Hares," by T. H. Harris of Berne. Breds and habits, oats, hay, grasses, turnips and cabbage. Breed about five or six times a year. One pair produced 36 hares in one year; very productive. Fine for food for man.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Music by Prof. Falk. By the unavoidable absence of Chairman Kunkle E. S. Moses was called to the chair for the afternoon. "Benefits of thoroughbred stock," by Joshua Bright, V. Linker and others. All the improvements made from the scrub to our fine herds. "Common things," by Mrs. DeVilbiss, was characteristic of the speaker equal to the best. "Indiana library law," by Thos. Perkins, was a good talk. Miscelaneous business, reading and adoption of resolutions adopted as read by Chairman E. S. Moses.

Election of officers followed and are as follows: President, C. D. Kunkle; sec'y, I. N. Teeter; treasurer, D. C. Sprunger, were elected to office for the ensuing year. Vice-Presidents are as follows: Jacob Koos, of Union township, Jos. F. Lower, Root; H. A. Fuhrman, Preble; V. Linker, Kirkland; J. C. Broadbeck, St. Mary's; Albert Yakes, French; George H. Martz, Monroe; W. J. Edwards, Blue Creek; Wilson Shepherd, Hartford; John O. Kranor, Wabash; Jonathan Kelley, Jefferson. Seeing that the present officers by their faithful and untiring services for the success of the Adams County Farmer's institute the past year, we, the committee, would continue their names for consideration by the institute.

RESOLUTIONS.

Hon. James A. Mount, ex-governor of this state, died from apoplexy at Indianapolis on the 16th day of January 1901. His death at the time was entirely unexpected. He had made a speech at the state house in the afternoon and was supposed to be in the full enjoyment of the best of health. With scarcely a moment's warning he passed from the full tide of this world's interests, from the hopes, from its aspirations, from its victories, into the visible presence of death. During most of his life, he was a hard working, industrious and prosperous farmer. He took an active part in the matter of educating farmers so that they might farm with success. He traveled all over Indiana and adjoining states delivering lectures to farmer's institutes on the elements of successful farming, thereby rendering valuable assistance in promoting and encouraging these institutes. He was a brave soldier during the war of the rebellion. It was his intention on vacating the governor's chair to return to his farm. Death has deprived him of this privilege and has taken from the farmers of Indiana an able, industrious, influential and interesting associate and co-worker; Therefore be it resolved by the members of the farmer's institute of Adams county, Indiana: That in all his undertaking and services on the farm, on the battlefield, in farmer's institutes and as chief executive of our state, James A. Mount has been an honest, brave, conscientious and faithful private citizen, soldier and public servant, and that as such we, the members of this institute will ever cherish him in our memories. Be it further resolved, that a copy of this preamble and resolutions be furnished the different papers of this county for publication. E. S. Moses, D. D. Heller, J. T. Burley, Committee.

Hartford City is keeping up with the procession in the kidnapping business. Tuesday afternoon a fellow named Breeding, who has been divorced from his wife several months sent for his little four-year-old daughter to buy her some winter clothes. The child was allowed to go to her father and that was the last seen of the girl or Breeding. The mother is nearly distracted over the affair.

Beat out of an increase of his pension. A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Holthouse Callow & Co.
