

STILL WONDERING ABOUT MUNY COURT

Fines Assessed And Money Reported do
Not Hang TogetherWhat Is the Reason for the Poor Showing Made
By the Municipal Court?

Newark, O., Jan. 23.—No explanation has yet been made of the apparent discrepancy between fines assessed and money reported by Clerk Keller of the municipal court. No charges of dishonesty have even been hinted at, but the people feel that some explanation is due them.

The report says there were 165 liquor cases. At $200 a case that would mean $31,200. This does not include the numerous $300 and $500 fines, to say nothing of several $1,000 fines. And yet the total amount reported received by the clerk is $28,623.66.

There were 300 cases of intoxication. No drunk got off with less than $10 and costs, that would be $3,030. There have been at least a thousand arrests for alleged traffic violations. The lowest fine assessed for this offense is $10 and costs, which would amount to $10,000.

From these three sources the receipts should have been $44,500—a very conservative estimate. And yet the clerk reports $28,623.66. Here is a difference of $25,876.34. That's rather a nice little bundle of change wandering around looking for a place to lay its head.

Possibly if Clerk Keller would ask Judge Kollier, the latter would provide some expert assistance and a careful examination of the books would locate the $15,000 odd, or at least explain why it ain't where it ought to be at.

Of course Clerk Keller's experience with large sums of money may have made him careless of small sums like $15,000, and a little "look-see" will probably locate it and settle all arguments.

Billy and Harry

The licking administered to the Billy Williams machine in the legislature by Cal Faris will go down in history as one of the epics of the new republican state administration.

The redoubtable Billy and his right bower, Sheriff Hoffman, chairman of the republican county committee, sensing in Faris a possible rival of John Hampton for the mayoralty nomination, went to Indianapolis and gave out the word that if Faris was named house parliamentarian the republican state administration would hereafter be compelled to wiggle along without the support of Delaware county.

The state house politicians were not impressed. They gathered around Billy and Harry and inspected them much as a group of urchins would assemble in the sidewalk to gaze in fascinated wonder at the Wild Man from Borneo and Joj, the Dog-Faced Boy.

Falling to inspire fear by their awful threat to break away from the state organization, these bush leaguers from the sticks who had ventured into big-time spotlight, pulled a real line of comedy and the galleries roared.

"If Cal Faris gits this here job the big manufacturers of Muncie won't give up nary a dime in the next campaign, so put that in your Coolidge upside down pipe and smoke her, dern ye," recited Billy and Harry together.

"Aint they good!" exclaimed one long, lean statesman. "Boys, you said yer piece fine. Now sing it to us and we'll have the orchestra play the dirge that goes with it."

"Let's check up on these chesty dudes!" exclaimed another. "Mebby them Muncie captains of industry will really hold out on us. We can't afford to take a chance."

So, the telephone was used and the Muncie manufacturers assured the inquiring statesmen that the y didn't give a dam, tinker's or otherwise, whether Cal Faris got to be parliamentarian or not, and the "get-the-money-boys" didn't need to worry about the usual dough, and wot t'll is a parliamentarian anyway?

So Billy and Harry got the horse laugh and a big write up in the Indianapolis papers and Cal got to be whatever it is that he wanted and Billy and Harry didn't want him to have.

It took exactly six days for Billy and Harry to get their licking. During that time, and pending the appointment of Faris, the house of representatives had no parliamentarian. A governor had been elected, the members were in their seats, a speaker had been chosen, and for six days nothing could be done, just because the six syllabled job had not been filled.

For a time it appeared that Billy and Harry had hopelessly deadlocked the session and that the governor, or Lew Shank or somebody would have to tell everybody to go home and call it a day. But Cal was named and Billy came home and Harry came home and they sung, "Oh How Dry I Am," and it will be some time before they again leave their dinky political frog pond and try to swim in deep water.

When Billy got back to Muncie, he felt so blue that he told Harry between sobs, he had a notion to quit politics and go to work, and asked Harry if he knew where the postoffice was. He was 'painted postmaster here a year or so ago and has been threatening ever since to find out where the danged thing is and go to work.

"You know, Harry, I don't live here and haint very well acquainted around Muncie. I live in Selmy and haven't been in Muncie often enough to find out where the postoffice is."

Harry told him for Gawd's sake ot to do anything rash and for fear Billy really meant what he said took him around to the Carnegie library and told him it was the postoffice and left him there wandering around trying to find the cash register and wondering why the thunder they needed at them books in a postoffice and why his skeleton key didn't fit the front door.

Harry got back just in time to get the news about the police catching Charley Chaplin and made a great hit by running over an old woman with his automobile on High street, right in front of the Methodist church where he went to meetin' once and heard himself praised as being one of the foremost fellers in Indianny in putting down Demon Rum. That is not putting it down himself, but in making the other fellers quit putting it down, for everybody knows that Harry wouldn't swallow any of it for the world unless he was alone or with somebody.

DEATH MINORITY
REPORT FOLLOWS
LENGTHY DEBATEMajority Members of Committee Say Assembly
Sidestep Religion.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—By a vote of 40 to 6, and after a debate lasting more than an hour, in which the name of the Ku Klux Klan was on the lips of many members, the Senate yesterday killed the Sims bill, which would prohibit the wearing of any distinctive religious garb or symbol by a teacher in the public schools of Indiana.

Representative Cooper of Terre Haute introduced a bill in the House yesterday prohibiting the wearing of a religious garb, uniform or symbol by teachers in public schools. It is similar to the bill which was killed in the Senate.

Death of the Senate bill came on adoption of a majority committee report, signed by Senator Sims, favoring passage of the bill, was discarded after a roll call, which was demanded by Senator Daily of Indianapolis.

Parliamentary Battle.

Action on the question of substitution of the minority for the majority report came after a battle of parliamentary procedure and after accusation following accusation as to the influence of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana politics and the propriety of injecting questions of religion on the floor of an Indiana law-making body.

Senate observers declared the roll call result was an indication both of the strength of the leadership of Senator Nejd, president pro tem., and of the strength of anti-Klan legislators in the upper body, as well as a test of the Senate opinion on such questions. Proponents of the bill, however, discounted the effect of the Senate action, claiming the real test of their side was not displayed in the encounter.

Throttling of the measure followed another divided committee report of the committee on education in regard to a measure, introduced also by Senator Sims, which would require the reading, without comment, in the public schools of the state of the Bible. A minority report, signed by Senators Sims and Dickerman, favored passage, while the majority report, signed by Senators Nejd, Brown and Shank, favored indefinite postponement of this measure. After a short debate on the provisions of the bill and what it would require, the Senate postponed consideration of the divided committee report until this morning, when copies of the printed bill and the committee action are to be laid on the senators' desks. The motion for postponement was made by Senator Cravens.

Debate on the religious garb bill was started by Senator Sims, who arose to speak to the minority report and explain the measure.

"In introducing this measure," he said, "I want it understood that I have no objection to any one religion, but I do object to the continual parading before pupils and displaying of religious garb, which is in violation of the constitution."

"I believe that the state board of education will back me up when I say that a condition exists in Dubois, Spencer and other southern Indiana counties, that should not be, where public school pupils are required to attend parochial schools where such garb is worn."

Speaking for the majority report, Senator Nejd voiced the first outspoken objection to the discussion of religious issues in the Legislature.

"This is one matter that above all has no place on the floor of this Senate," said Senator Nejd. "It goes to the extreme in every respect, when you attempt to dictate that school teachers can not wear any pin indicating their religious sect affiliation."

"Why I have a boy in Purdue university who will graduate next June who wears a pin given by his Sunday school class for an attendance record. Now, you would attempt to say that he couldn't teach in a public school because he wears that pin."

Billy Williams
Gang Licked

The following from the Indianapolis News, relates the sad fate of the Billy Williams gang, who went to Indianapolis to skin Cal Faris and got skinned themselves:

"When the house of representatives was called to order Wednesday, second and third 'termers' in the body settled back with a sigh of relief. They had won a fight against politicians, based on political differences back in a home county, and Cal Faris, for many terms parliamentarian of the house, was in his accustomed place beside the Speaker.

"For seven days the fight to 'beat Faris' for appointment as house parliamentarian was waged in the lower branch. Threats were passed back and forth, it is said. The 'acid test' was put to certain representatives, in that they were threatened with defeat if they ever 'showed themselves' again as candidates. All the wires which are at the command of a political organization were pulled. Faris's record and his experience, and particularly his friends kept Faris from being the victim of the attack.

Complaints From Muncie.

"The scrap began when Faris, whose home is in Muncie, came to Indianapolis at the call of others just before the legislature convened. When it became known that Faris was the unanimous choice for house parliamentarian, a protest was lodged with the Republican state committee. It is understood, this protest had the backing of Harry Hoffman, sheriff of Delaware county and Republican county chairman, and Billy Williams, postmaster at Muncie.

"The protest against the appointment. It is said, grew out of some differences in organization matters in Muncie. It is said the protest went through the hands of Lawrence Cartwright, Eighth district Republican chairman.

The pressure against Faris became so strong, according to those who told the story, that the patronage committee, of which John W. Thiel (Lake, Rep.) is chairman made no appointment as house parliamentarian.

Faris Needed.

"Exertion of the pressure brought a strong reaction among house members who have watched Faris's work for a number of sessions. They began to fight back, on the basis that Faris was needed in the house, and that his experience and training were valuable to that body. While Harry G. Leslie, Speaker, said nothing, there is reason to believe, that he realized the value of Faris to the assembly, having been a member himself of former sessions.

Tuesday afternoon the fight on the parliamentarian came to a showdown. There was need of a parliamentarian, and something had to be done. It was then that the patronage committee took action, and Faris was appointed."

Arms Conference
Urged By Senate

Washington, Jan. 23.—President Coolidge is advised and requested to call a second arms conference under an amendment to the naval appropriation bill approved yesterday, by the Senate without either discussion of a record vote before that measure was passed.

At the same time, Senator McKellar (Democrat, Tennessee) offered a resolution requesting the President to inform the Senate if the last arms conference treaty limiting the navies of the great powers was violated by Great Britain in the construction of the Rodney and the Nelson which have been described in the Senate as combination battleships and aircraft carriers. The resolution went over under the rules, but Senator McKellar said he would press for early action on it.

DRYS TO POUNCE
UPON WET CITIESNew York Slated for Assault By Combined
Prohi Forces.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Concentration of dry agents upon the "wet test" spots of the country—a hazy designation if some reports are to be believed—is under consideration by federal enforcement chiefs here, as a result of a recommendation by Senator Couzens of Michigan, who has been looking into this prohibition situation a bit of late.

New York city, where liquor flows perhaps most freely, according to everything one hears, is slated to be the starting point of this reinforced, flying wedge, frontal assault, it is understood. It should be a powerful movement, as 10 per cent of the country's dry sleuths are already slipping in and out of suspected dispensaries at the present time in the great metropolis, the traveling list at federal prohibition headquarters here, discloses.

If New York could be dried up, it is believed that most any city could. There has been no indication of what city would be selected as the second point of attack, but from the records there are many rivals for second place. None of these, however, has as yet submitted its request formally.

Commissioner Roy Haynes is known about these parts as the most secretive man in the world—when it comes to telling where the lightning force under his command is going to strike next. He is silent about this reported new drive, that is expected.

His lieutenants about headquarters here, too, are like unto him.

But the storm of dissatisfaction that has come from those who claim the prohibition law is not being enforced as it should be is beginning to stir officials here, is "getting under their skins." A concentrated drive at this time, in face of the numerous protests, would have a satisfying effect, it is believed.

SEEKS REDUCTION
OF LAWSUIT LIMITBill Cuts Legal Filing Date
Against Officials To Five Years.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—Reduction of the time limit for legal action against public officials from fifteen years, as is the present law, to five years is incorporated in a bill introduced by Representative H. O. Barr of Fort Wayne.

Sportsmen are interested in the measure of Representative Murden of Logansport, asking for a five-year closed season on quail and Mongolian pheasants and prohibiting their possession during that time except for breeding purposes and under a permit from the state department of conservation. The purpose of the bill, Representative Murden said, was to restock Indiana with these two types of game birds.

Representative Hull of Hanna and Summy of La Porte introduced a measure designating the Dickson W. Place canal as the boundary line between Laporte and Starke counties instead of the Kankakee river, as the river is meandering and some confusion exists among peace officers as to the correct boundary line of each county.

Bottlegger Escapes
From Bluffton Jail

Bluffton, Jan. 23.—Frank, (Curly) Thorp, convicted by a jury in circuit court and awaiting transfer to the state penal farm to serve a 60-day sentence, and fine and costs of $140 imposed for liquor law violations, escaped from the county jail here last night, by sawing two one-inch iron bars and crawling through a window.

The escape was not discovered until yesterday morning, shortly before the time set for Thorp's departure for the farm. When the door to the cells was opened, Niole Smith, the only other prisoner in the jail, informed the sheriff's son, Herman, that Thorp was gone and held up the two sawed off bars.

Remove Wheeler
Case To Capital

Washington, Jan. 23.—Several witnesses who appeared in connection with the indictment of Senator Wheeler, of Montana, last spring in Great Falls, Mont., have been summoned to appear before a Federal grand jury here early in February, according to word reaching the Montana senator.

It is understood that all the evidence upon which the indictment of Wheeler was based will be aired before the Federal grand jury here, which will result in transferring the case to this city. It will amount to re-opening of the case from the beginning, and if the jury finds another indictment, will bring trial of the case here.

MUNCIE POLICE
ROBBERY PLOTBandit Had Planned To Loot Bank; Stolen Car
Is Recovered.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 23.—The alleged workings of Gerald Chapman, who until his arrest here Sunday was the most searched for criminal in the country, increased yesterday as the result of further investigations by officers working under Police Captain Puckett. The authorities yesterday obtained information from a reliable source that the notorious bandit, with his accomplices, had made plans to blow the safe in a local bank last Sunday afternoon and to break into "the largest jewelry store in the city" Sunday night. They also learned plans had been made to loot the home of a wealthy resident.

That a bank robbery had been planned here was substantiated by the finding of one and one-half pills of nitroglycerine in Chapman's suitcase, together with tools and dozens of skeleton keys and "freak" keys.

Wet Politicians

The republican city central committee has been reorganized with the express purpose in view of putting John Hampton across in the May primaries as the republican nominee for mayor of the city of Muncie.

Regardless of the fact that Hampton is wet by principle and personal habits and that he had been a frequent participant in political booze parties, a conspiracy is on foot to secure for him the support of the drys and the bootleggers.

Playing both ends against the middle has been reduced to an exact science by the corrupt political organization that is conspiring to make John Hampton mayor.

Hampton and Sheriff Harry Hoffman are close political cronies and it has already been agreed that if the former becomes mayor Hoffman is to be named chief of police.

We believe that the people of Muncie do not care to take a chance on John Hampton for mayor. As for Harry Hoffman he has served for over three years as sheriff of Delaware county and the people have had enough of him.

Neither the wets nor the drys could hardly feel that their interests were safe in such hands. The system of protecting bootleggers who play the political game with the republican organization and prosecuting jury law violators who oppose the gang because of their hypocrisy, would continue in operation and Muncie would retain its reputation of being one of the wettest cities in America.

It is certainly time for the decent people of Muncie to wake up and make themselves thoroughly acquainted with the situation. If they want proof of every charge against this corrupt combination, it can easily be secured.

In order to discredit the present city administration and to create a favorable reaction that would redound to the political advantage of Hoffman and Hampton, an ill advised and inept grand jury, made up wholly of women, signed their names on the dotted line of a report submitted to Judge Dearth which declared that the police were lax in the enforcement of the liquor law and that Sheriff Hoffman was doing his duty in every respect.

This was a part of the general plan of hypocrisy and deception which was meant to influence soft headed and easily deceived citizens into believing that the Hoffman-Hampton combination is all right from a dry standpoint.

When it is remembered that John Hampton, the announced candidate for mayor, is the jury commissioner who drew the names of the six women who signed a report that was calculated to advance Hampton's political fortunes, and to create favorable sentiment for the man he hopes to thrust upon Muncie as the next chief of police, the entire proceeding takes on a decidedly sinister aspect.

Last week the Post-Democrat discussed the grand jury report and declared that it was hardly likely that Judge Dearth could fail to understand what has been happening here.

That we were not mistaken in this conjecture is indicated by an address made by Judge Dearth last Friday night in the Normal City Methodist church. According to our informant Judge Dearth told his audience that the grand jury report assailing the police department was procured and caused to be made by what he termed a "gang of wet politicians."

Of course it was a gang of wet politicians, and if Judge Dearth will just keep up the lick they won't last as long as a snowball in Hades.

It takes some courage for a public official who has been tied up with a political faction to break with his former political cronies, but unless Judge Dearth makes it plain to the public that he has wholly separated himself from these consorts of bootleggers, booze fighters and crap shooters, it will be folly for him ever to think of asking the public for further consideration at the polls.

The Post-Democrat has always been perfectly sincere in its attacks on the corrupt Billy Williams organization, and, without malice, he have heretofore always included Judge Dearth in our frequent arraignment of the "system" in Delaware county.

If Judge Dearth has the moral courage to come clean and use his powerful influence in exposing and destroying this criminal conspiracy, the Post-Democrat will have words only of encouragement and commendation. We have no personal grievance against Judge Dearth or any other man living. Our policy is to serve the people, and to sacrifice, if needs be, for the common good.

ONE BABY DOWN.

Even the klansmen in the legislature are balking on the plan "educational and Americanization" program. The senate Wednesday killed a bill introduced by Sims, kluxer, of Terre Haute, making it unlawful for teachers in the public schools to wear any sort of a religious emblem. It was aimed at the Catholic church and was incubated in klan headquarters. The bill was defeated by a vote of 40 to 6. The entire program of Wizard Evans and Dragon Bossert will go down in defeat if the friends of liberty remain awake, and on the job.

THEY ARE ALL RIGHT.

Now will you quit hollerin' about the police? Just because you see them, day in and day out, wandering around the streets, doing nothing, apparently, you have gathered the idea, probably, that policemen are merely unnecessary ornaments.

The celebrated all women grand jury had that idea and went out of their way to insult the boys who are ready to risk their lives in defense of the citizens of Muncie. Puckett, Brownie, Collins and Goodpaster, all honor to their courage, Sunday caught the most desperate criminal in America.

No matter what the six women grand jurors, and the one who wrote that report, may think of these brave officers, they are being praised by thoughtful citizens all over the country.

And Sheriff Hoffman, forsooth, was pointed out by the grand jury as the one truly good officer in Muncie. Where was Hoffman when Chapman struck town and what would have been the result if he had gone up against the gun, as did Puckett and his aids?

Billy Williams met last Saturday afternoon and elected John Lupton republican city chairman, Mrs. Gill vice chairman, Nina Sample secretary, Karl Osterle treasurer and John Hampton mayor. The voters will unravel this combination in May.

Having made such a remarkable success in starting and running one official democratic newspaper, the republican county organization has started another.

Being the sheriff, it would be highly improper, and wholly unethical, of course, for the grand jury to embarrass him by inquiring into the circumstances of his running over an old woman and sending her to the hospital with numerous broken bones.

Now that an ungrateful and unappreciative republic has decided to select someone else for United States District Attorney, all those people who rushed to the front to congratulate Van Ogle may now, at their leisure, skin it back. They were too dumb previous. And, by the way, the Press, which mentioned the congratulatory stampede, forgot to mention whether the joy unconfined was occasioned by the prospect of Van's elevation or by the probability of his departure from Muncie.

The Ku Klux Klan is lobbying in Indianapolis for its so-called "educational program." We know of no other organization on earth that is as sadly in need of an educational program as the Ku Klux Klan.

The klan motto is "Not for Self, but for Others." We have observed the application of this principle in Muncie for some time, especially as it applies to the enforcement of the liquor law.

And now the klan has introduced a bill making it compulsory to read the Bible in the public schools. Why not experiment first by reading a few chapters every morning to the legislature? It would all be news to the majority of the klunk legislators who are mousing about this bill.

Both the serial number and the motor number have been mutilated. Officer Burr said the condition of the frame, where the serial number was, showed every indication that the iron had been heated very intensely and the original numbers battered out. New numbers were placed on the frame. The same condition existed on the motor, where the number is placed. Mr. Burr said. By means of a certain heating process the motor number can be brought to the surface again, the authorities said, and this will be done today.

STILL WONDERING

calls the "dirty deal" handed him by "Windy" Stevens.

Although such action was unnecessary, council endorsed the appointment of a boxing commission for this city. The mayor had all authority to make the appointment, but apparently wanted the council to be liable for any "backfire" that might come from the local uplifters.

When the announcement was made that a commission was to be appointed, the name of only one man occurred to the minds of boxing fans in Newark. That name was H. H. Scott, who has been identified with clean sports in Newark for nearly twenty years.

"Scotty" is probably known to more men and boys than any other man in Newark, and is as popular as he is well known. He would have made an ideal man to head this commission and was led to believe that he would be offered the appointment.

Here is where the Klan butted in. The boxing commission can, if it wants to, acquire quite a nice bit of change in licensing various bouts, and that kind of a job under the present administration belongs to a Klanarchist.

Therefore, this potentially profitable position goes to Fletcher S. Scott, Klan lawyer, whose experience in divorce and collection cases will help him materially in running the commission.

Fletcher S. also had some experience as a left felder for Cap. Hayes, alleged ball players some years ago. Also had some experience as manager or janitor or something for the Howell packing Co. This experience will no doubt be a valuable asset in his new position.

Other members of the commission are Dr. Shirer, who says he is a Klanarchist and proud of it, and Jesse Strand, you know Jess.

ANOTHER MARE'S NEST

FOUND BY STEVENS

Windy Stevens, the official big mouth of the local Klanarchist administration, ordered a probe of the Board of Health and then promptly left town, as per his usual habit.

The board met last Friday night and found nothing to investigate. Four complaints had been made concerning Health Commissioner Knauss but it developed that two of the complaints were from parties who had been punished for violating quarantine and the other two were "trivial and childish."

Charges of dissension in the department, when sifted down, revealed that a nurse, who has since resigned, had been reprimanded for failure to obey instructions of the commission. That job gets farther away every week, doesn't it "Dr." Deming? A queer thing about these probes. Investigation, etc., ordered by the Big Mouth, is that he is always out of town when the work starts. Why is this thus? Does he think he can start a rumor and make it stick? No chance for that—the people know him too well.

WINDY WAITS A YEAR

BEFORE FILING REPLY

When Windy Stevens took charge of the city government, he promptly removed Safety Director Sherburne. He was well within his rights when he accused Sherburne of taking for his own use a lot of liquor that had been seized by police.

He made this charge in a city newspaper, and Sherburne promptly sued him for libel naming his damages at $10,000.

No sane person in Newark has any doubt that Sherburne was wrongly accused. Newark people have known Ned Sherburne long enough to know that there isn't a dishonest drop of blood in his veins. The fact that "Windy" waited a year before filing his reply indicates that he thought the libel suit was a bluff. But the contrary is the case. Sherburne is very much in earnest.
