Standing by his Friends.

In the flush times of Vicksburg, when the phrase "hard case" meant something more than it does now, Harvey Jenkins was admitted one of the hardest. By some strange accident Harvey found himself at Church one evening. The sermon being over, the preacher requested all who were friendly to religion to rise and hold up their right hands. The whole audience apparently were on their feet. After they were seated again the minister continued:

"Now if there is a single one here who desires to see Satan and his kingdom prosper, he will rise and hold up his hand."

Harvey, with some difficulty got to an erect position, and said:

"Had the vote been less unanimous, I should have retained my seat; but I make it a point of honor never to abandon a friend under adverse circumstances."

Sudden Whitening of the Hair.

A correspondent of the Medical Times having asked for authentic instances of hair becoming grey within the space of one night, Mr. D. Parray, staff surgeon, at Aldershott, writes the following very remarkable account of a case of which he says he made a memoranda shortly after the occurrence: On February 19, 1858, the column under General Franks in the South of Oude, was engaged with a rebel force at the village of Chanda, and several prisoners were taken; one of them a Sepoy of the Bengal army, was brought before the authorities for examination, and I being present had an opportunity of watching, from the commencement, the fact I am about to record. Divested of his uniform, and stripped completely naked, he was surrounded by the soldiers, and then first apparently became alive to the dangers of his position; he trembled violently, intense horror and despair were depicted in his countenance, and although he answered all the questions addressed to him, he seemed almost stupefied with fear; while under observation within the space of half an hour, his hair became grey on every portion of his head, it having been, when first seen by us, the glossy jet black of the Bengalee, aged about twenty-four. The attention of the Bystanders was first attracted by the sergeant, whose prisoner he was, exclaiming, "He is turning grey," and I with several other persons, watched its progress. Gradually and decidedly the change went on, and a uniform greyish color was completed with in the period above named.

Diamonds in the Arts.

It is not only for the purposes of ornament that diamonds are employed, they are most useful for some purposes in the manufacturing arts. Discolored diamonds are reduced to powder, and there are many operations for which they are indispensible. Fine cameos and some precious stones are engraved with the diamond. It is employed for cutting the glass for windows. The point used for this purpose is of a trapezoidal shape, weight about thy sixeth part of a carat, and is usually set in a wooden handle. The edge is a natural one, and could not be given to it by art. From the high refrative power of the diamond, it is sometimes employed to form minute and exquisitely accurate lenses for the best kind of microscopes. In respect to the general operations of the lapidary or jewel-cutter, they could hardly be conducted without the aid of diamond dust; for the usual mode of cutting and shaping precious stones is to hold them against a very small metalic disk or wheel, which is rotating at great velocity, and to moisten the edge of this disk with oil and diamond dust. The exceedingly hard particles of diamond dust enable the disk to cut the stone or jewel. The rays of light easily pass through other gems, but in the diamond they are refracted to the surface, and this refraction occasions its superior brilliancy.

☞ The Queen Consort of Greece is a lady of extraordinary activity. When she held the regency, during the King's absence, she rose every morning at 3 o'clock, took a sea bath, and labored without interruption—save during the audiences she gave—till a late hour at night. She never slept more than three hours. The Queen is said to be the strongest woman in Greece. Exercise on horseback is with her a necessity. She is subject to palpitations of the heart when she neglects it for a few days, and she is the boldest rider in the kingdom of Greece.

EXTRA FIRST CLASS.—J. B. Hager Esq., is again before the public, through our column, presenting the claims of several of the oldest and most reliable Insurance Companies of the State.

The Companies represented by Mr. Hager, have by their equitable adjustment, and prompt settlement, of claims against them secured degree of popularity, seldom attained by such institutions. They have been fortunate in the selection of their Agent.

A British officer writing from Teheran, Persia, to the 'London Times,' remarks:—A Cathartic Pill manufactured by an 'American Chemist' [Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.] has cured the Shah, of a Liver Complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked. Doubtless our own scholars made the discoveries which he employs, and thus it is in everything: we do the labor, then the mousing Americans put their mark on it and take the reward. Dost. Ayer is idolized by the Court and its retainers here, which will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff box, or diamond hilted sword, while not the name even of Davy, Christoson or Brodie—the great lights by which he shines, is unknown.—New York Sunday Paper.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

McLEAN'S CORDIAL.—As may be seen, we insert this week the advertisement of McLean's Cordial, &c.

It is very well known we are not particularly favorable to patent medicines, and, as a general thing, eschew the whole of them with but little ceremony, and with these sentiments we declined inserting this advertisement until we knew what were the ingredients of the medicine, and how compounded. This we have learned, and believing, as we do, that the ingredients are good, and the compound judiciously made, we recommend it as a mixture worthy of public confidence.

The above is from the St. Louis Christian Advocate, edited by the celebrated Rev. Dr. Newman, which speaks volumes in favor of McLean's Cordial. We say to all, try it. See the advertisement in another column. [ly 23-dawlm]

☞ The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks for its excellence in a more forcible manner than any words which we can offer. It renovates, purifies and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and, therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost in the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, Diarrhea and weakness in the stomach, the Bitters have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

TERRE HAUTE CLASSICAL ACADEMY

And Family Boarding School, FOR BOYS.

"We do amiss to spend seven or eight years merely in scraping together so much Latin and Greek as might be learned easily and delightfully in one year."—Milton.

IT IS THE AIM OF THIS INSTITUTION to form good, intelligent, happy and useful men. The government is strictly parental, yet decided.

A competent knowledge of our language is most indispensable to every man, our efforts are therefore especially directed to correct spelling, elegant reading and speaking, composing, &c.

Mathematics are taught with a steady view to business and mental training.

LANGUAGES:

Heretofore, many of the best minds in the country have been deprived of the advantages arising from a knowledge of the Ancient and Modern Languages, on account of the unreasonable length of time required for their acquisition; but by an improved method of teaching, which is commended by Milton, Locke, Lelbnitz, Sidney Smith, and others, our students in French or German are enabled to speak those languages in one year, and a thorough course of Latin and Greek is completed in three years.

LECTURES.

The student in the Classical Academy is taught in one year the higher English branches, in a course, that embraces four hundred Lectures, which are delivered in a plain manner, and by which he may learn more than he would by poring over his text books, which would only discourage him by their stupendous tediousness and labyrinthine mazes, which should be devoted to spelling, writing, arithmetic and to his business.

The Lectures delivered will treat on the following subjects:

Natural Philosophy,	Moral Philosophy,
Astronomy,	Intellectual Philosophy,
Chemistry,	Political Economy,
Mineralogy,	Elements of Laws,
Geology,	Ancient History,
Physiology,	Modern History,
Zoology,	General Literature,
Botany,	English Literature,
Physical Geography,	Ancient Geography,
Agricultural Chemistry,	Antiquities,
Manufacturing Arts,

The next term of ten weeks will commence on

Monday, August 29th, 1859,

and the ensuing term on Monday, November 7th.

EXPENSES AND PAYMENTS.—Boarding, Tuition in the English Branches, washing, rooms, fuel and lights, per term of ten weeks, $50.

TUITION FOR DAY SCHOLARS.—English Branches, $6 00; each Language, $5 00, Drawing, $3 00; Painting, $5 00. One-half payment in advance, the balance at the middle of the term.

JOY AND GLADNESS!

HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO

MANY HOMES AND FAMILIES,

SINCE THE INTRODUCTION OF THAT World Renowned medicine, Dr. MANN'S AGUE BALSAM, in the Western country, and especially the past season—it has brought health and happiness into more families than any remedy on record. The question would naturally arise—why is this? Because it does do all cases, in the shortest time, arrest chills, fever and ague in its worst forms, and in all cases performs a speedy cure. Persons residing in malarious districts using this Balsam, occasionally during the sickly season, need have no fears of an attack of ague. It is therefore highly recommended as a sure preventative, if used in small doses daily during that particular time when this class of diseases prevail. For want of space we can only offer a few of the many evidences in its favor.

BUCYRUS, O., Feb. 26, 1858.

Dr. S. K. MANN, GALION, OHIO—GENTS:—We are at a loss to find language sufficient to portray to the public the great esteem in which your celebrated Ague Balsam is held in this community. The fact is it never fails to cure ague in its worst forms and we can sell nothing else. Yours, &c.,

HOLOBERT & TAILOR, Druglists.

CONNEUT, MAS., Oct. 20, 1858.

Messrs S. K. Mann, & Co.—Gents:

Having procured a supply of your Ague Balsam and using it thoroughly in many severe cases of long standing, where all the popular remedies of the day had failed, I found in all cases your balsam effected a safe and speedy cure. It is just the medicine we need here in the South. Yours,

JOSEPH BUCHANAN, Druggist.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23, 1858.

Messrs S. K. Mann & Co.—Gents: I have at our house, in St. Louis, sold your Ague Balsam some three years, and have carefully observed its effects, and in candor must say, I do not believe it has an equal in the history of medicine; for, to my personal knowledge, it cures permanently every case, and I have known it used after all other remedies had failed, with the same happy result. I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the greatest discovery ever made in intermittent remedies, and a perfect triumph over chills, fever and ague.

Truly yours,
