MINTON FORGES AHEAD.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—Fighting for continued progress and a sustained state and national recovery, Sherman T. Minton, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, marches forward in the senatorial battle. The country awaits with interest the results of the election in Indiana, because there, as in some other states, the issue is between the common people and the special interests. Minton is accepting the campaign as "a challenge to the liberal, progressive forces by the reactionary, stand-pat forces of the country." His opponent, Arthur R. Robinson, has sharply attacked the National Recovery program, while avoiding giving any constructive ideas as to what the Republican policies might be.

MINTON A LEADER.

Sherman Minton, an overseas' veteran of the World War, is again in battle—this time against the intolerable economic depression. His program is to put people to work, aid the home owners and help business and industries out of the red. The constitution, he avers, gives first place to human rights and liberties. This includes, he indicates, the right to work and the liberty of a secure living.

ROBINSON A STAND-PATTER.

Minton's opponent, Senator Arthur Robinson, has denounced both state and national recovery policies. In a recent article in Liberty Magazine, Senator Robinson attacked the President's program of re-employment, forest conservation, and other rehabilitation work of the Federal government. He has opposed at every turn the various agencies set up by the President to meet the national emergency, without giving any alternative methods to bring improvement. Robinson says the new deal policies are all wrong, but fails, as Minton charges, "even to tell us the way back to the old deal."

VOTERS TO CHOOSE.

As Indiana nears the polls there is no doubt that Minton is the outstanding liberal candidate in support of the President and the state and national recovery program. He comes from the plain people, is a university graduate, a war veteran, and a fighter for the people in the present national emergency. One thing is certain, and that is that Minton is honest and forthright. He may still be untired, but you can be factual in this idea:

"He just can't possibly be as bad as Senator Robinson."

FAILED TO REPORT

President Roosevelt has been commended for disregarding the preemptory demand of the United Chamber of Commerce to tell them what he intended to do about mostly everything. Perhaps some of these high-gat gentlemen will tumble some day to the fact that they are no longer running the United States, but are only an integral and important part thereof—like us common folks.

"Senator Robinson
Will be Defeated"

So Says J. H. Reigner, Editor of Blue Grass Clipper, a Political Prophet, Who is Known as the "Sage of Kentucky."

About nine years ago a man walked into the Prudential Insurance Company office at Seymour, Ind., and exclaimed, "I am going to the United States Senate."

This man was Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana. He made good his threat. Being a Ku-Kluxer, he was appointed by Ed Jackson, a Ku-Klux governor, as the successor to Senator Samuel M. Ralston, who had died.

Ku-Kluxism was then running riot in Indiana. The Ku-Kluxers had a candidate for about every office from governor to constable and they were controlling the offices in state, city, county, town and township. With this influence behind him he was wafted into the senatorship at the election in 1926, although he was about 40,000 votes behind his ticket. He was re-elected two years later, but this time he was 125,000 votes weaker than the head of the Republican ticket.

Gets Swell'd Head.

Robinson, jumping from a state senatorship in the United States Senate over Republican congressmen of vastly more experience and sagacity, turned his head and he soon became afflicted with magal-acephalities. There is nothing so fatal to a man's usefulness as the Government Has Tossed

Sewer and Disposal
Project in Lap of Council

The government has now tossed the sewer and disposal project direct in the lap of the city council. Major Philip Fleming, of Washington, assistant director of the P. W. A., Wednesday evening wired Mayor Dale that if direct action is not taken by November 5, Muncie's allocation of $1,060,000, will be rescinded.

The mayor Thursday issued a call for a special council meeting to be held in the council chamber at the city hall Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The council meets in regular session on the night of Monday, November 5, but as that date is the final deadline for action, the mayor feared the delay might be fatal for the project.

A communication from Major Fleming received by the mayor several weeks ago, fixed October 5, as the deadline, but since the communication announced that if action were not taken by the date mentioned, action to rescind would be "commenced," it was generally thought the government would give Muncie a few more days of "grace" if it was requested.

Deadline Is November 5.

When the council declined to act before October 5, the mayor wired a request for further delay, hoping that Muncie would wake up. The request was granted in a brief telegram from Washington that action would be withheld for a few days. The wire that came Wednesday did not even hint at further delay. It bluntly declared that the allocation of over a million dollars would be rescinded if action was not taken by the fifth.

It might be stated that the Roosevelt government does not bluff. If the council refuses to pass the necessary ordinances on or before Monday night, the government grant and loan will be cancelled and Muncie will be marked off the map.

Wow! Day Before Election!

Those who would tell you that some other mayor and his cabinet could revive the project after cancellation are simply talking through their hats.

If, as has been intimated, councilmen are waiting until after the election to see "which way the cat jumps," that thought has gone glimmering, for the government has set the date of final decision on the fifth of November, THE DAY BEFORE THE ELECTION.

The council is composed of nine Democrats and four Republicans. Some of the Democrats on the council are candidates for re-election who want the public to know that they are running on the Roosevelt platform.

INSURANCE
CANNOT PAY
A FIRE LOSSComplete Coverage Does
Not Exist—it is Not For Sale.

Many persons take chances with fire and fire hazards because they believe they have complete insurance coverage—that they cannot lose financially in case of fire.

What these people don't realize is that complete fire coverage doesn't exist. It isn't for sale. On company writes such a policy—because none could.

An insurance company can pay for materials destroyed when a blaze damages a home or business. But that side of the destruction is often the least of it. When a factory burns, men are thrown out of work. Their purchasing power is suddenly lowered or destroyed. They are often unable to meet their obligations. They can no longer buy the commodities and services local businesses sell. While out of work, they cannot maintain their homes property, or do their part in developing their community.

No policy from could be prepared that would protect a community against those results of fire. Again, every sizable fire destroys taxable property. A blaze may raze a great industry which pays large taxes. With that source of taxation destroyed, taxes on all other property must be increased—and every citizen (Continued to Page Four)

Doctor Alberta

Alberta Graves is running what she thought until very recently was a restaurant in that section of the city that has been irreverently called the redlight for many years.

Alberta is a colored lady, the widow of the late Bob Graves, who kept police of former administrations busy until a colored visitor from Anderson ended Bob's career with a forty-five gun.

The police happened to drop in at Alberta's restaurant one night recently and caught her pouring a drink of liquor out of a pitcher for a customer.

Charged with a liquor law violation, her trial in the city court turned out to be somewhat of a scream. The customer, a Swede, testified that he was feeling bad and asked for the drink so that he would feel better.

He also thought, that the raiding police, plain clothes men, were politicians, because they confiscated his bundle, which contained a shirt.

The court acquitted Alberta, relying on an Indiana supreme court decision that the sale of liquor for medicinal purposes, was legal.

So Alberta's restaurant turned out to be a clinic, instead of a hamburger joint, and the colored lady finds that she has the right to prescribe either red eye or hamburgers to ailing customers.

Having been duly qualified as a practicing physician as well as an expert compounder of Mr. Wimpy's favorite food, Alberta should bang out her shingle, and advertise herself as a real doctor of medicine.

The Post-Democrat, being a stickler for the ethics of the various professions, now proposes Alberta for membership in the Delaware County Medical Society.

She knows what to give 'em when they feel bad and that's all any doctor can do for his patients.

Indiana Politics
Final Analysis

As the political chart was drafted for the closing days of the campaign in Indiana is presented some interesting data to be studied over by the politicians as well as by the lay people of the state.

First of all, the chart noted the complete collapse of any chance for the re-election of Artie Robinson to the United States Senate. The strategy of the Democrats in dealing with Robinson showed its effect during the past week. In place of the question whether he would win or lose is now the query of how badly he will be defeated.

Robinson Obeys Orders.

Robinson may never forgive the Republican state committee for the defeat he receives November 6. It was the Republican state committee that pulled him off his original plan of campaign and sicked him on the program he has been following. But the Republican committee, realizing the popularity of President Roosevelt in Indiana, and hoping to chisel in on a few posts in Congress, convinced Robinson that he should dwell on criticism of the state administration. Robinson felt that too much censure of the state administration would become nauseating to the public and react against him, but he followed orders and let go with all barrels. The effect has been just what he felt it would. The Democrats let him rant and rave until he was out of breath and had nothing more to talk about, then they put in their ticks. Governor McNutt, chief target for Robinson's vitriolic tirades, marked time until last week and then with a positiveness that won him the acclamation of the people two years ago, he completed the undoing of Artie.

Republicans Worn Out.

Another line on the chart shows the effect that a campaign of this type will have on party organizations and also on the public. The Democrats started at the top of the hill by virtue of their being in power. They applied the brakes on the ball until last week when momentum and speed were essential. On the other hand the Republicans, starting at the bottom of the hill, pushed hard and were panting and tired just when the final drive was necessary. This could be sensed by the public attending the political meeting of the two parties and finding the Democrats vigorous and active and the Republicans tired and worn.

How's Depression?

Improvement Seen

Correct answers to questions regarding conditions of the country are being twisted because this is the political season of the year when the voters have been visiting the polls. Nevertheless facts are facts, and the best official and unofficial information proves that there is a general improvement in business and industry with a corresponding increase in employment.

Again America copies Russia. The Reds, you remember, decided to give up dreams that wouldn't work.

Shay Minton,
Lil Arthur,
"Diagnosed"

Next Tuesday is election day. By this time next week the political campaigns which are now being furiously waged will be over and the people of Indiana, the Tenth Congressional District, and the City of Muncie will know who is to represent them in both houses of our National Congress and as chief executive of the City of Muncie. Appeals to the voters have been and are being broadcast, spoken for in public gatherings, and advertised through various mediums by one hundred candidates in Muncie and Delaware county as both political parties go into the last lap of their contes: hoping that the public will favor them.

Study The Candidates

First, it should be meritable for each voter to carefully analyze the qualifications and background of at least the head of each party ticket including the state, county and city. The state is led by candidates for U. S. Senator which is Sherman Minton, of New Albany, on the Democratic ticket and the present Republican senator, Arthur Robinson, up for re-election. As has been stated by the Post Democrat before, it is well remembered that "Artie" Robinson became U. S. Senator because he happened to be one of the higher up in the Ku Klux Klan. Robinson was appointed to this office by Governor Ed Jackson after receiving his orders from D. C. Stephenson, who headed the Klan in Indianapolis and at that time was in jail at Noblesville facing a charge of murdering a woman, a charge on which he was convicted and now serving a life sentence at Michigan City. Governor Jackson had promised the appointment to Frank Ball, of Muncie, but reserved himself in favor of Robinson at the command of Stephenson.

Robinson Not Statesman

Robinson is a politician, not a statesman. One of his political moves in his appeal to the veterans of Indiana by offering to fight their cause, the bonus, it should be remembered that Senator Robinson failed to utter any disapproval of the methods employed by the Hoover administration when they ordered the veterans out of Washington, D. C. during the "bonus march" a few years ago. Sincerity of mind is one thing and political strategy is another. Do not be misled by one whose efforts are only to acquire political power and attempt to destroy all causes with out Republican endorsement. Robinson like Jim Watson, represents only the moneyed interests in Congress and damns the present Democratic administration because it seeks to protect and benefit the masses of people of our nation rather than favor few.

Minton Is Capable

Shay Minton, standardbearer of the Democratic party in Indiana, and candidate for U. S. Senator is a world war veteran himself and far more capable to represent the interests of all veterans in our federal government than one who uses veteran issue only for political gain. Minton, like Senator Fred Van Nuys, will go to Washington determined to assist our President in bringing back economic recovery in America which the Republican party destroyed and forced millions of honest workmen out of employment. A vote for Minton is a vote for the restoration of Indiana statehood in Congress and not the continuance of a politician who carries the brand of a Klan tribute to Washington.

Gray Is Statesman

The Tenth Congressional District of Indiana of which Muncie and Delaware county is a part and which the Hon. Finly H. Gray, of Connersville, now represents in Washington should be proud to re-elect an experienced representative such as Mr. Gray. You, who have heard and read his radio broadcasts and his speeches during this campaign, know that Congressman Gray has a sound principal to represent for the benefit of all people. He does not seek a political job for a salary or political prestige but he aspires to continue the fight to restore price levels of productive commodities, the buying power of the people, and economic prosperity by placing back in circulation the money and currency withdrawn by the organized international bankers and brought on the depression.

Gray Unlike Murray

Unlike Bob Murray, local Republican aspirant for the Congressional seat, Finly Gray does not seek to keep his hands in the public treasury for his livelihood but he seeks to aid the farmers, the laborers, and the masses of citizenry of our district. Finly Gray is endorsed by labor organizations because he has always been their friend. He is the choice of the farmers because he is one of them and realizes their need or assistance in legislation. Finly Gray is an authority on money. (Continued to Page Four)

FOR RECKLESS
AUTO DRIVERNew High Record For Fatalities Seen
For 1934.

Reports from public departments, state traffic authorities and safety organizations in all parts of the country show a startling increase in automobile accidents.

Every driving crime is on the rise. The result, if the present trend continues, will be that 1934 will see the establishment of a new high in fatalities. Statistics for the worst driving months—October, November and December—may make the record even more horrible.

The automobile accident problem, which has been a major issue for many years, has reached its crucial stage. The American highway today is a slaughterhouse—the most careful, competent and courteous driver takes his life in his hands when he ventures on it. Around the next curve of over the next hill there may be a drunken or reckless driver at the controls of several thousand pounds of steel moving at a tremendous speed. Less than ten per cent of motorists take chances—but that ten per cent menace us all.

The old fashioned type of safety campaign, engineered and enforced by the general public—by the ninety per cent of drivers who are competent and careful. The reckless must be driven from the highways—and to achieve this, the force of public opinion can be even more useful than law. No matter how good a state's traffic code is, or how conscientious a highway patrol, it cannot produce results if the public is indifferent.

Banish the drunken, the reckless, the incompetent driver—it may save your life, and the lives of loved ones.

You wouldn't expect the ignorant to be prosperous enough for golf, but many a player can't count above six.

Daniel C. Tobin
Extols Minton

Endorsement of Sherman Minton for United States Senator and of the whole Democratic ticket in Indiana, was given Tuesday at the monster Wagner rally in Cadillac Tabernacle, Indianapolis, by Daniel C. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and A. F. of L. council member. His endorsement of Minton carried an arraignment of Senator Robinson for failure to support labor's New Deal.

Tobin's remarks:

"The working man, the friends of organized labor, hold in their hands today a noble heritage that Arthur R. Robinson never thought of giving them. In Section 7A of the NRA, the American working man has a declaration by his government that it is national policy for labor to have equal privileges with capital—the right to collective bargaining.

Can Labor Reject Roosevelt?

"Never in the history of this nation before has the working man heard it made a part of national policy that square dealing at all times for labor is to be the law of the land. Can labor reject this great award for which it has long been fought? Can labor turn its back up on the first man ever to occupy the White House with the courage and fairness to give labor equal oppor-

Invisible "Dirt" Showers Upon Us

Bacteria-Bearing Contamination Is Called Kind To Be Avoided

By Dr. J. Lynn Mahaffey
Director, New Jersey State Department of Health

Practically everybody realizes that good health and cleanliness are closely related, yet it is a curious fact that some of the more important aspects of cleanliness—those that deal with what might be called living contamination, are often ignored.

In general there are two kinds of "dirt"; the ordinary soil or grime which discolors our hands, faces and clothing during the day's work or play, and the living dirt—the often invisible dirt, containing bacteria—which falls upon us from the air, reaches us from contaminated surfaces, comes to us in foods and from other sources.

Reason for Cleanliness
Cleanliness, the purpose of which is to get rid of the first kind, or dead dirt, is of importance for reasons of appearance and comfort only.

But it is not enough merely to protect ourselves from visible dirt. The invisible but living dirt, containing bacteria, must also be guarded against. Even though many kinds of bacteria—in fact, most kinds—are harmless, being merely tiny plants leading a useful existence, there are also some kinds which are enemies of the body.

This is the first of a series of articles by Dr. Mahaffey.

month and this amount was increased at the close of October to an overdraft of $2,636.37. However, there is estimated to be received into this fund from the fall settlement of taxes collected, approximately $10,000, which will take care of the overdraft and allow sufficient funds with which to pay all bills.

The American people are a nation of coffee drinkers. Government figures prove it, and in the coffee markets part of this increase is traceable to the growing use of caffeine-free coffee which was originally developed in Europe, and has become increasingly popular in the United States.

DETOURS

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Further reduction in the number of detours in effect on state highways are reported today by the State Highway Commission as new pavements and bridges were opened for traffic. The detours lifted include one on State Road No. 1, south of Fort Wayne; one on Road No. 3; one on State Road No. 67 at Maywood, and one on State Road No. 527 from Decatur to the Ohio state line.

Due to the completion of a majority of the construction projects which have been under way during the summer and fall months, and the few changes in detours which will be made during the winter months, the detour bulletin of the State Highway Commission will be issued every other week instead of weekly. Special notices will be issued as detours are lifted.

It Wouldn't Work

A little boy one evening, after he had been put to bed, began to cry and the maid went upstairs to soothe him. After a short lull, the crying broke out with renewed vigor, and his father went to investigate.

"What's all this noise about?" he demanded.

"Well, Mary said if I kept on crying a mouse with green eyes would come and sit on the end of my bed, but it hasn't come yet."

Republican Veteran Indorses Minton

John W. Scott, former Republican district chairman in Lake county, former Republican member of the state legislature and former Republican candidate for Congress, introduced Sherman Minton, Democratic candidate for the senate, at the Gary Democratic rally last Friday night and indorsed President Roosevelt's recovery program.

"I am putting my love for my country above my partisan affiliations," said Scott, a World war veteran. "We are at the crossroads of a wonderful recovery movement and as an American citizen I will vote on November 6 to support Mr. Roosevelt and to give the people of America the best opportunity to improve their own welfare they have had in many years."

Mr. Scott termed Senator Arthur R. Robinson "the greatest bogus statesman Indiana ever sent to Washington" and condemned him for his duplicity with voters. He recalled that six years ago Robinson was promising to make it hot for Wall Street but that he had yet to present a bill even mentioning Wall Street and that he actually ducked the vote on the national securities act. He likewise charged that Robinson "never uttered even a whisper when the Bonus army was being driven out of Washington."

A Barrel of Apples

"One bad apple can spoil a barrel," says an old proverb. A case of tuberculosis may, from the public health viewpoint, be like that bad apple—the disease tends to spread from him who has it to those with whom he lives. Tuberculosis often "runs in the family": not because it is inherited, but because of the close contact incidental to family life.

But the spread of this disease can be prevented. How? By examining every person who has been in close contact with a case. This means not only medical examination of adults, but also of children. With the aid of the simple, harmless tuberculin test and the X-ray it is now possible to discover if a person is infected, and if so, how much damage, if any, has been done. If any danger signals are discovered, much can be done to prevent the development of the actual disease.

Tuberculosis still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease. Yet it can be controlled if we will provide treatment for every case and examine every person who has lived in contact with a tuberculous patient.

Modern methods have done much to save lives, and the tuberculosis movement has contributed greatly to better health. Soon, the Christmas Seals which financed tuberculosis work will be on sale, and the usual good response may be expected.

SPENDING THE FOOD DOLLAR

By Betty Barclay

How do you spend your food dollar? Some times these days there are not many food dollars to spend. Economy is in order and unless one sends her food dollar intelligently she is very likely to serve unbalanced meals to her family.

With two or three dollars in the family purse it is very easy to purchase some meat, some fish and some eggs and have but a few cents left over for other necessities. This will never do. Food authorities have decided that one-fifth or more of each dollar spent for food should be spent for such foods as cheese and milk which provide the best type of body building proteins so necessary for the growing bodies of children.

One-fifth or less of the dollar should be spent for other protein foods such as meat, fish, eggs, beans, peas and peanut butter.

One-fifth or less should be spent for energy providing fats and sweets, vegetable oils, salt pork, butter, molasses and sugar. Miscellaneous groceries such as coffee, tea, salt and baking powder should come out of this part of the food dollar.

One-fifth or more should be spent for vegetables and fruits. This is a very important food group providing protective minerals and vitamins together with laxative bulk. The country's foremost food authorities are warning us against the possibility of scurvy if the daily diet does not provide the fruits and vegetables which furnish vitamin C. Orange and lemons are the foremost sources of this vitamin.

Bargains are often to be had in this latter food group. Oranges for example are very plentiful this summer and very cheap. Other fruits and vegetables on the market seem to be plentiful and reasonable in price.

See to it that your food dollar is expended wisely and you will have a diet that is well balanced. You will be able to serve fruit, cups, salads and light desserts. You will have a bite of cheese, bread, fish and eggs each day. Thus each member of the family will be securing the various food constituents which are so necessary.

On the other hand, if you yield to the temper and spend most of your food dollar on one or two delicacies that appeal to your taste, you are very likely to serve meals that are deficient in some respects. In these depression times one cannot afford to injure the health by an unwise selection of foods.

Facts for Farm Folks

Written by
AGRICULTURAL AUTHORITIES

RAISE YOUR CALVES
AND KNOW YOUR COWS

By Walter B. Krueck,

Formerly Professor Animal Husbandry Purdue University.

Profitable dairy herds are obtained by raising the best calves from the best producing cows. Nature has maintained vitality among wild animals by the law of "survival of the fittest." The law of "survival of the fittest" should be applied to your dairy herd and you have within your power the ability and privilege of applying this law.

A very successful dairyman once remarked that he made good cows by starting them right when they were calves. Calf scours, improper nutrition, exposure, and unsanitary pens may stunt a calf to such an extent that it never matures properly.

Calves that are to be raised from now on will do better if they are kept off of grass. A clean, well bedded box stall is desirable. The bedding should be dry as damp beds help to promote colds and also encourage scours. Best results are obtained if not over two or at most three calves are allowed to have one pen.

The feeding should be regular and the amounts should be carefully gauged. Over-feeding, feeding of a chilled ration or feeding in unsanitary utensils may be the cause of calf scours and also the cause of a great deal of calf mortality. A little attention to see that the temperature of the ration is close to 95 to 100 degrees will avoid digestive disturbances due to a chilled ration.

INSURANCE

zen has to help pay the bill.

In brief, it is the indirect cost of fire, which insurance cannot protect us against, that makes the greatest total. Direct loss runs close to half a billion dollars a year—indirect loss is estimated at two or three times that amount. And finally, if even that doesn't convince you that you should make a determined effort to guard your home and property against fire, think of this: Every year, fire takes around 10,000 lives.

STILL LOST AND BEFUDDLED

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S "ONE REQUEST"

For all the kind acts in the interest of and for laboring people President Roosevelt has asked in return but one kind deed from the voters and working people of Indiana. His one personal request is that Senator Arthur R. Robinson be not returned to the United States senate. Your vote to do this is a vote of confidence in the president and his policies.

Eyelashes that are invisible because of their paleness can be transformed into shing black fringes by the delicate application of maybelline mascara. Lashes that are heavy but short can be lengthened magically by a touch of the mascara on the tips. Brows that are sparse and light can be accented and arched to suit the shape of the face, with a few strokes of eyebrow pencil.

SHAY MINTON

ey and finance not in the interests of bankers and financial wizards but in the interests of the welfare and prosperity of all classes of people. His qualifications for National Representative are not based on experiences of ability to grant divorces such as his opponent but upon practical knowledge of the needs of our populace to restore and maintain prosperity. Remember Congressman Gray is an advocate of municipal ownership of public utilities and the right of all people to decide issues of mutual benefit to themselves while Judge Murray's court issues injunctions against the will of the people deciding or determining profitable acquisitions for themselves.

Situation in Muncie

In the City of Muncie the voters must choose for their chief executive between two candidates, who have in the past occupied the office of mayor, Dr. Rollin H. Bunch, a Democrat, and John Hampton, Republican. Although it is quite generally agreed that the former administration of either candidate was not reputable or commendable to Muncie, yet, there should be enough difference between the two aspirants to warrant your support. Muncie has been greatly benefitted by the present Democratic administration. Taxes have been materially reduced, costs of government have been lessened each year, improvements to the city have been beneficial to all citizens. Streets, alleys, and garbage collections have been prompt, cleanly, and efficient, fire insurance rates have been greatly reduced because of the commendable record of the fire department, law enforcement has been properly demonstrated, and park programs have enlisted the approval of thousands of citizens.

It should be reasonable to expect that another Democratic administration will attempt to follow these policies which the Hampton Republican administration failed to give to the people. The extravagance and costliness of the Hampton regime the thieving and robbery of the "paving trust" organized during the Hampton administration, which brought losses of life savings and bankruptcy to hundreds of property owners in Muncie, the incredible demeanor of Hampton as mayor of our city, the total lack of any law enforcement which was proven by the wide-open gambling houses on Walnut street, illicit sale of bootleg liquor on almost every street corner, and the operations of ill-famed "divors" so prominent during the four years which John Hampton served as mayor, should be sufficient justification for the support of the Democratic candidate for mayor of the City of Muncie.

Let us go to the polls next Tuesday with the knowledge that Democratic administrations have and are accomplishing results for the betterment and welfare of all the people and at least lend your support to the sincerity of our great President Franklin D. Roosevelt by sending him friendly assistance instead of determined "wreckers" of Democratic accomplishments.

Minton Smashes "Robbie" in Fight

Shay Minton is 44 years of age, is a dynamic speaker, with rather liberal views and a good personality. He is married and has three children. He is also a handsome cuss and makes a fine platform appearance. He has guts and is fighting "Robbie" blow for blow, including any that are below the belt. Shortly after his nomination he called on President Roosevelt, at the White House, and was told it was absolutely essential to defeat Robinson. Undoubtedly, the President was well aware of the McNutt and anti-McNutt factional fight in Hoosier democracy, the latter faction being led by the former state chairman, R. Earl Peters. It would seem that "Robbie" is counting on capitalizing somewhat on this split. However, there are many Republicans who will never vote for him.

DANIEL C.

We have too many friends like that who cannot be counted on to speak and to fight for us when we actually need a spokesman.

"Sherman Minton, by his very career of hard struggles since the time he was a boy and by his every act as a lawyer and attorney for the people, has demonstrated that he is a man of consistent principles. Sherman Minton is a man whose word is as good as his bond; he is a man who champions the cause of the under dog and the little fellow not because of the votes he thinks he might collect from them, but because of the honest, real sympathy he has in their welfare. He has worked at hard labor with his hands to earn his splendid education. He has rubbed elbows with the common man at work and at play. He can walk the streets with his head up, for there is not a blot upon his records; nothing dark and hidden about which he will not answer questions. Sherman Minton, as public counsellor fighting the battles of the common people in their contests with the public utilities, demonstrated that he is a man who has the courage of his convictions and one who can be trusted by the laboring man.

The trouble isn't over, however—the entire European situation has again been upset. Alexander will be followed on the throne by King Peter, who is still a child. Until he comes of age, Yugoslavia will be governed by a regency—and there are grave doubts if the turbulent Yugoslavian people can be kept under control. Again, as in the Balkans, the powder-keg of Europe.

The first of these is the abortive Spanish revolution—and it can be disposed of quickly. Spain today is governed by an extremely conservative government, little different from the monarchy of the deposed Alfonso. Left-wingers staged the revolt, and were defeated. At this writing, all is calm and clear on the Spanish coast—but there are several million Spaniards who sympathize with the revolutionists, and they are not satisfied. It is very safe to forecast that additional trouble in Spain will make the headlines within a year—and probably much sooner.

More important to this country, is the recently-announced attitude of Japan toward the forthcoming three power naval conference. There are only three really first-class navies in the world—England's, Japan's and the United States'. Under the existing naval treaty, which expires shortly, the ratio between the powers is 5-5-3. In other words, for every five tons of navy ships owned by the U. S. and England, Japan is allowed to have three tons. And she doesn't like it.

At the next naval conference Japan will demand that she be permitted to have a navy the same size as England and the U. S. The latter countries will probably refuse. In that case, Japan will likely withdraw from the conference and sign no more treaties—and build as many war ships as she likes. It is barely possible that matters will be arbitrated, and that Japan will accept a naval ratio of, for example, 5-4-1. But the present attitude of Nippon isn't at all encouraging. And you'd be safe in betting that the old 5-5-3 ratio is doomed.

INTERESTING SIDE LIGHTS ON WORLD EVENTS

Murder of King in France—Spanish Revolution.

Once the stage is set, it doesn't take much to start a war. The classic example of that occurred in 1914, when the assassination of an obscure archduke in a city few people on this side of the water had ever heard of, set match to powder keg and resulted in the greatest and most destructive conflict in the history of the world.

A repetition almost occurred a few weeks ago. King Alexander of Yugoslavia landed at Marseilles, was met by Foreign Minister Barthou of France. Surrounded by ceremony and armed men—the procession started down the main street of the city. Suddenly a fat man leaped to the running board of the king's car, pressed the trigger of a new-style sub-machine gun which is hardly larger than a revolver. Twenty shots split the air—and Alexander and Barthou lay dying. The assassin was cut down by the sabres of cavalry officers, almost torn to pieces by the crowd. All the details of the killing were at once flashed to every corner of the world—it was dramatic, vivid, "stagey." But in the chancelleries of the great nations, diplomats feverishly awaited the answer to a single question: "What was the assassin's nationality?" On that seemingly minor point depended the peace of Europe!

The ambition of France today is to establish a "ring of steel" around Germany—if anything, she fears the central powers more now than she did before the World war. To accomplish her aim, she must enlist the cooperation of the nations, like herself, bound Germany—and the most important of these are Italy and Yugoslavia. A difficult problem is caused by the fact that Yugoslavia and Italy are extremely unfriendly—while they maintain formal relations, accompanied by all the polite trappings of old-world diplomacy, each hates and fears the other. The object of Minister Barthou in inviting Alexander to France was to smooth out if possible the difficulties between Yugoslavia and Italy. Yugoslavia is the main link in the prospective "ring of steel" and so long as she and Italy are close to sword-points, France's purpose cannot be accomplished.

There is the reason for the vast importance attached to the nationality of Alexander's assassin. Had he been Italian, it is safe to say that Italy and Yugoslavia would have been at war within 24 hours—and it might have been only a matter of time before all other European powers, and possibly this country, would have been drawn in.

Fortunately for world peace, the assassin was a Yugoslavian—a member of a secret society pledged to wipe out Alexander's dictatorship, which has incurred the enmity of thousands of his people. Like Mussolini and Stalin, Alexander came into power in a troubled and torn country, did not pause at using harsh methods to insure harmony.

The trouble isn't over, however—the entire European situation has again been upset. Alexander will be followed on the throne by King Peter, who is still a child. Until he comes of age, Yugoslavia will be governed by a regency—and there are grave doubts if the turbulent Yugoslavian people can be kept under control. Again, as in the Balkans, the powder-keg of Europe.

The first of these is the abortive Spanish revolution—and it can be disposed of quickly. Spain today is governed by an extremely conservative government, little different from the monarchy of the deposed Alfonso. Left-wingers staged the revolt, and were defeated. At this writing, all is calm and clear on the Spanish coast—but there are several million Spaniards who sympathize with the revolutionists, and they are not satisfied. It is very safe to forecast that additional trouble in Spain will make the headlines within a year—and probably much sooner.

More important to this country, is the recently-announced attitude of Japan toward the forthcoming three power naval conference. There are only three really first-class navies in the world—England's, Japan's and the United States'. Under the existing naval treaty, which expires shortly, the ratio between the powers is 5-5-3. In other words, for every five tons of navy ships owned by the U. S. and England, Japan is allowed to have three tons. And she doesn't like it.

At the next naval conference Japan will demand that she be permitted to have a navy the same size as England and the U. S. The latter countries will probably refuse. In that case, Japan will likely withdraw from the conference and sign no more treaties—and build as many war ships as she likes. It is barely possible that matters will be arbitrated, and that Japan will accept a naval ratio of, for example, 5-4-1. But the present attitude of Nippon isn't at all encouraging. And you'd be safe in betting that the old 5-5-3 ratio is doomed.

"C-H-E-E-S-E" Spells School Lunch!

By MARYE DAHNKE, Kraft Cheese Institute.

The little brown lunchbox of old-time school days, with its strap and shiny buckle may be gone forever! But there's no doubt that the school lunch is the most important, and by all odds, the most pleasant reality of any day's cuisine. It's the high adventure, the brightest spot of any schoolboy's life.

The mother who truly knows her A, B, C's in food, knows cheese. It may be used in all sorts of interesting ways to lend interest, variety, and health-giving values to the everyday school lunch sandwich.

Among the most versatile of cheeses for sandwich-making is the ideal one for children is the all-milk cheese food, Velveta—a cheddar type cheese to which whole milk minerals have been added to make it doubly and triply valuable in the child diet. Because of its mildness, amiability, and smooth-spreadable qualities it stands ready to make any sort of interesting sandwich variety.

If the luncheon's to be at home the perfect hot sandwich can be made with Velveta, bacon, and white bread. Butter one side of a piece of white bread and toast it first, then spread with a layer of Velveta and a couple of slices of bacon. Place under the broiler flame. (Low temperature, please, always for cooking cheese, for therein the magic lies.) In a moment, presto! A sandwich for any scholar to feast his soul upon.

Some other perfect school-luncheon sandwiches—ready to pack into the lunch box, are Velveta plus peanut butter, plus whole wheat bread. Or mild American cheese, salad spread (mayonnaise mixed with condiments) and white bread. Graham crackers and cheese—there's an imperial viand.

Mild American cheese, apple jelly and nut bread! That's a real party sandwich—and if father ever discovers it, you may catch him picking the lock on Junior's lunch box!

GOVERNMENT

program put in execution by the President. It remains to be seen whether these Democrats mean what they say.

Two Republicans For It. The President, through his public works department at Washington says DO IT NOW in Muncie, BEFORE THE ELECTION, or it will not be done at all.

Two of the four Republicans on the council, Rodney Hayler and August Maick, both of them regular party men, have publicly stated that they will vote to pass the enabling ordinance.

If the project is killed by next Monday the democratic party here will have to take the blame and the Post-Democrat, which endorses the President's program, and the democratic local ticket, will be compelled to say next Friday, that Democrats were merely using the great name of Franklin D. Roosevelt to popularize their candidacy.

The Post-Democrat, and its editor, the democratic mayor of Muncie, have adopted the theory that the sewer project is not a subject of political debate. It is a matter of carrying out a national program, that will give work to the needy on a great public work.

Certainly councilmen who have voiced petty objections to the mayor on numerous occasions will not carry their objections to the point of openly defying the wishes of the national government and giving the workless of Muncie a stone, when they ask bread.

Somewhat or other the editor of the Post-Democrat believes that Saturday night will be a crucial moment for those seeking political preference in Muncie and Delaware county.

The democratic mayor of Muncie made formal application to the Public Works Administration for the immense sum necessary for the construction of a tremendously important work. Intensive application to the task of securing the necessary funds from the government was rewarded with success.

While the mayor was taking treatment for eye trouble in Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore a deputy secretary of the interior made a special trip to Baltimore to inform the mayor that his application had been granted.

Senator VanNuy who made the first approaches to assure the allocation for Muncie was overjoyed that his efforts had been successful.

Cannot Explain Action. The senator did not dream that petty politics and whispering foolishness might ultimately defeat a worthy project that had been "sold" by himself, the mayor and the board of public works to the Secretary of the Interior, the head of the public works administration.

Those who are thinking in political terms should remember, win, lose or draw, that they will never be able to explain their action to the federal government, if they deliberately kill a P.W.A. project in Muncie that had the backing of a democratic mayor and democratic United States senator.

Forrest M. Logan, Indiana representative of the P. W. A., phoned the mayor that he would attend the special council meeting Saturday night. The Post-Democrat hopes that every member of the council will attend.

The mayor hopes to be enabled to wire the public works administration at Washington Monday that action has been taken.

F. R. 'Talks Turkey,' Bankers to Be Good

When the American bankers came to Washington for their national convention they had "blood in their eye." They were going to tell Roosevelt—Wow! Wow! Yes, they would! But he appeared before their association and "talked turkey" and smiled the Presidential smile. After that the olive branch was extended by Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, as spokesman for the banking forces of the country.

Believe it or not, it looks as though the new union of government and bankers is a good match. For the sake of the public let us hope that the twain "may live happily ever afterwards."

Wise Cracks

Am enclosing the Town Hall Bulletin for the week: This is Indian Summer. Now we know why the Indians wore blankets. . . Washington Monument has its first bath. They must have had a terrible time getting it into the tub. . . Thirty days has September, April, June and your Thanksgiving turkeys. . . England's Bridge team leads U. S. players. London Bridge is looking up. . . as Gollie prices cut! A good time to fill up your lighter. . . Co-eds will tell you that all of the passes at football games aren't passed on the field. . . Hunting season opens. Merchants complain that near-sighted nimrods are shooting the Blue Eagles out of shop windows. . . A football team has to be pretty thin to make both ends meet.

Cordially, Fred Allen.

He Smiled No More. It was a fairly busy time in the outfitting department when a little boy entered and approaching the counter asked the clerk for "a soft man's collar."

The clerk smiled and the customers laughed.

Pointing to his own collar, which happened to be a soft one, the clerk said: "You mean one like this, sonny?"

"No," replied the boy. I want a clean one."

Proud

An excellent chicken formed part of the fare at a luncheon party attended by two persons. After lunch they noticed a cock strutting on the lawn.

One of the persons said: "That bird seems very pleased with himself."

"No wonder," said the host, "considering one of his sons has just entered the ministry."

Should Progress Slower

"Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man."

"Well, you don't have to try to get to heaven tonight."
