SOCIALISTS DENOUNCED IN COURT

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Socialists individually and as a party were clearly asserted today as being "the American exponents of class hatred and warfare," by attorneys who appeared before the court of appeals to argue against the expulsion of the five socialist members of the New York assembly.

Instead of allowing the Socialists to begin their defense when the hearing opened, as had been anticipated, the attorneys for the state launched into an indictment of the Socialist party on its war record.

Summed up, the state set forth the following reasons why these five Socialists should be denied seats in the assembly:

"In 1915, the executive committee of the Socialist party met after the sinking of the Lusitania and adopted resolutions condemning "capitalistic war makers," and urging all workingmen to refuse to support war in any form.

"In 1916, the Socialist presidential platform said:

"The working classes must recognize the cry of preparedness against foreign invasion as a cloak for imperialism abroad and industrial despotism at home. The proletariat has but one enemy—the capitalist.

"The Socialist party stands opposed to any form of military preparedness. The Socialist party stands committed to class warfare and urges the workingmen to use their economic and industrial power by refusing to mine coal, transport soldiers or produce munitions and thus keep out of the hands of the ruling classes the means of promoting imperialism abroad and industrial despotism at home.

"In 1917, after the U. S. entered the war, the Socialist party urged the workers of all countries to refuse to support their governments in prosecuting the war.

Judge Sutherland for the state then read from "The Call," a May day letter, written by Walter M. Cook, state secretary of Socialist part yof New York, and an article signed by Alexander Trachenberg on November 26 last, entitled, "What Call readers think," the referenda before the party leadership."

R. R. BILL IS RUSHED TO PASSAGE

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Railroad legislation needed to protect the railroads upon their return, March 1, to their private owners, will be reported to the house tomorrow and will be rushed to passage by that body. Prevailing plans are to bring it up next Saturday. The senate is expected to follow with speedy action.

The conference committee of the house and senate will report with agreement as to the following general provisions:

The Interstate Commerce Commission shall establish rates which shall yield on the aggregate property value of all roads in each rate—making district as set forth a net operating income of 4½ per cent to which may be added one half of one per cent to be applied to non-productive improvements, such as stations, terminals, straighten rights of way, etc.

Ten years after the law shall take effect and at stated intervals thereafter the Interstate commerce commission may change the rate of return by increasing or decreasing the 4½ per cent guaranty based on rates authorized. Rates now in effect are continued for the period of government guaranteed returns.

The roads are required to retain a surplus of funds otherwise described for a period of six years only per cent of the net operating income in excess of six per cent, but at the end of that period this surplus may be distributed.

The guaranty of fixed returns applies to operating revenues only and use or distribution of other incomes are not restricted.

OBJECTS TO MAKE GOAT OF PROHIBITION

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Prohibition cannot be used as the goat to cover up the real conditions of our shipping industry," declared Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti Saloon League today in a statement in reply to declarations from Chairman Payne of the Shipping Board that the "dry" passenger liners of the government could not compete with "wet" passenger liners of foreign registry.

"If prohibition was the only handicap to successful American passenger ship service, not a ship would be sold," continued Wheeler. "The advent of prohibition simply serves as an excuse for covering up other conditions that have more to do with passenger ship troubles than the absence of liquor. Other nations operate their ships under more favorable conditions as to wages, cost of service and fewer handicaps and encouragement by legislation.

HITCH IN GOOD ROAD PROGRAM

(TIMES BUREAU AT STATE CAPITAL)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 17.—A slight hitch in the good roads program for Indiana has developed. It was intimated today when discussion arose as to the advisability of dividing the state into five or six districts for the purpose of supervising road work.

Under the comprehensive maintenance department, plans now being contemplated by the state highway commission call for the partitioning of the state into five or six districts with Seymour, Vincennes and Fort Wayne as the district headquarters.

Other cities to be named as headquarters include Greenfield, Crawfordsville, and Valparaiso, which will include the highways of Lake county. One of these three last cities will be dropped if it is decided to maintain five districts only.

A district engineer will open a branch office in each of the cities selected. He will have charge of all state highway maintenance in his district. Operating under the direction of each district engineer will be five or six superintendents, each having supervision of approximately 125 miles of road. Patrolmen will be employed under the superintendent.

Walter T. Horn of Indianapolis has been commissioned district engineer for the Fort Wayne district, and H. C. Oflut of Terre Haute for Vincennes. Other appointments have not yet been made.

SAYS WILSON HAD MADE NO THREATS

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—President Wilson's protest to the European powers on the proposed settlement of the Adriatic question was brief, it was stated at the White House today, it was stated that it was "not more than eight or ten lines."

Despite statements made semi-officially yesterday that the president had threatened to withdraw from participation in the patrol of the Adriatic and the settlement of that question, it was stated today that the president had made no threats.

It was stated today that the president had simply re-affirmed his position as to the Fiume question and had notified the allied powers that inasmuch as this nation had agreed to a proposed settlement of that question during the peace conference that there should be no change in that settlement without the consent of this government.

MOVEMENT MUST BE UNANIMOUS

Following the agitation which has been on for some time to have the wartime daylight saving plan adopted permanently in the middle-west at least, the Hammond city council will promptly take up the matter this evening in order that aldermen may express the sentiments of their constituents on the proposition. When Geo. M. Tober of the Chicago Association of Commerce appeared before the Hammond Chamber of Commerce last week and explained the steps Chicago is planning he aroused much discussion among Hammond citizens. Sentiment seems to be in favor of the change but it is generally agreed that a few cities cannot hope to make the change alone successfully. The movement must include at least the regional division recognized in the operation of railroads.
