Paramount Pictures Present Miss Mary Pickford in

"HULDA FROM HOLLAND"

Mary Pickford has been starred in characterizations of many picturesque nationalities, but her interpretation of "Hulda From Holland" has never been surpassed in humor and genuine heart appeal. Through there is a great deal of tender pathos in Miss Pickford's little Dutch girl, there is so much that is comic in her composition of the role and there are so many delightful episodes in which three adorable children play around the star, that "Hulda From Holland" will undoubtedly rank as one of the Famous Players' greatest contributions to motion picture history. Of course there is a love story interwoven with Hulda's joys and sorrows.

REPORT UNFOUNDED.

Navy Department Offers Explanation For Submarine Rumor.

(By the International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Navy department officials today offered an explanation of the report from Panama that the navy had discovered a secret submarine base off Hayti and that eighteen German submarines, discovered there, were being towed to the United States under convoy of a warship. The report was said to have originated when passengers from the steamer Advance landed at Panama and reported that the steamer had passed the submarines. Investigation by the department disclosed the fact that naval tugs are towing to a naval base the floating rafts upon which targets were mounted for the recent battle practice of the Atlantic fleet. It was said that these rafts looked very much like submarines and officials believe that is what the Advance passengers saw.

MARKET REPORTS

INDIANAPOLIS LIVESTOCK.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—The final market for hogs today was satisfactory from the sellers' viewpoint. There was the smallest run of the week, there being only 2,500 and with a good demand from all sources. The light run was the principal advantage to sellers who, after a little time succeeded in realizing a further advance of 5c in a general way over yesterday. All of the good hogs sold at the same price for those averaging from 160 pounds upward which was $15.60, being the highest ever paid in the Indianapolis market and the week therefore closed the higher than a week ago.

CATTLE—Receipts of 250 cattle were small for this time in the week, but there were as many as necessary to meet the demand. There was not a complete variety of stock represented and an accurate account of the market could not be made based upon actual sales. However, such as arrived brought steady prices as compared with yesterday. The week closed with very little, if any change in prices as compared with a week ago and with a continued strong market; calves were 50c higher than the middle of this week. The feeding in stockers and feeding cattle, as also at this time in the week, was quiet and the week closed with no change in prices from a week ago.

SHEEP—The fact that there was only one load of sheep on the market this morning was sufficient evidence that there was not enough stock arrived to make a market but there is hardly any doubt that normal receipts could have been placed at steady prices as compared with yesterday. The week closed with an advance of 25@50c in prices over a week ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Wheat opened easier and prices ranged lower due to good winter weather. Corn sold for slower trade in Kansas city on account of the last half of last week. Provisions were steady to higher.
