THE DEMOCRAT.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

LOST—On Monday evening, between Mrs. Coffy's boarding house and the post office, a Fitch Fur Collar. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same at the Jewelry store, one door north of the Post Office.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS.—If you want something nice for holiday presents, go to Lemon's Drug [illegible]re. Santa Claus is on hand as usual [illegible] variety of toys. Give him a call.

THE SCHOOL EXERCISES Friday night at the Seminary, we learn, gave very general satisfaction to the large number present.

We have received the January number of Godey's Lady's Book. It is a superb affair throughout and should find its way into every family in the land.

THANKS.—Col. Bailey has our thanks for copies of the Chicago Republican.—The Col. keeps an assortment of Books, Papers, Magazines, &c., at the post office.

The weather commenced turning cold on Tuesday morning last and the prospect now is, that we shall have winter in the regular old fashioned way. We see in the distance visions of sleigh rides, cold feet and blue ears and noses in abundance.—Whether our visions will be realized in propria personae or not, will be determined by the future.

TYRRELL & CHAMBERLAIN at Bourbon, have as fine a grocery establishment as can be found in the county. They are systematic business men,—affable and courteous, and are doing a fine business.—They advertise, pay up without grumbling, and in this way "live and let live." Such business men we take a pride in recommending to our readers. They will not cheat you, depend upon it. The man that advertises and pays the printer can be trusted any time.

THE last week has been rather noted for the development of bellicose propensities in our midst. There were several fights, a few knock-downs, some windows broken and smash played generally. The delinquents have in several instances been brought to a realizing sense of their errors and required to do works meet for repentance.

THE ABOLITION papers are making nearly as much noise over the Meredith-Julian affair as they did over the Brooks-Sumner fight. The cases are similar.—Julian got a severe cowhiding for his abolition lies and personal abuse of Meredith, and Sumner got a severe caning for his abolition lies and personal slang—Julian is the more humiliated by having received his punishment from the hands of a brother abolitionist.

WE visited Bourbon in this county, on Saturday last, for the first time. The town is thriving and promises to make a place of considerable importance. On that day the streets presented quite a lively appearance, and trade was brisk in every department. The citizens are making many improvements, several of which are not progressing as favorably as some would wish, but which they think will finally be prosecuted with more vigor to completion. It is our impression that the citizens are anticipating too much for their village—making more improvements than will be finished up systematically. We have evidence of this in the half-completed side-walks, churches, &c. We feel an interest in the prosperity of Bourbon, and admire the "game" manifested by a number of citizens in endeavoring to make her the rival of Plymouth; but we think they can hardly expect to accomplish that, at least for several years to come.

JEFF DAVIS.—A Fortress Monroe correspondent, Dec. 10, says: "Jeff. Davis enjoys good health. He has daily walks on the parapet, comfortable apartments, genteel wardrobe good table, and plenty of reading matter. He thought the President's message was in general a wise document, but was disappointed that it was not more specific in relation to the ultimate disposition which is to be made of himself.

THE LADAY'S FRIEND.—The publishers of this beautiful magazine have issued a magnificent number for January. The leading steel engraving, "The Forest Gleaner," is a perfect gem of beauty.—We do not know where the publishers of the Lady's Friend get such beautiful designs for their engravings. Then we have a gorgeous colored plate, "The Hand Banner Screen in Chenille on Velvet," which the ladies say is magnificent. The large double colored Steel Fashion Plate is as usual suberb—we had almost said unequalled. Another engraving, called "Stephen Wharton's Will," which illustrates a fine story, is very suggestive.

The literary matter is excellent. Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00; 8 copies (and one gratis) $16

Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

DOWN! Down!! Down!!! What is down? Pork is down, cottons are down, woolens are down, carpets are down, and because these things are so they have marked down at Westervelt's everything that could come down. They are now selling good prints at 20 cts; best marks and choicest styles at 25 cts; poor ones at 16 cts; good yd. wide brown sheeting at 31c; good carpets from 25 cts to $1,35 per yd. Furs very cheap; a good victorine at $8; good muff at $4. They have boots & shoes in every style; hats, caps, gloves and mittens, jeans, sattinets, cloths, &c., &c.,—Only one price.

OUR friend Dan. McDonald has removed to Bourbon, and taken charge of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. W. office at that place.—a better selection could not have been made for that position; the citizens of Bourbon, we feel sure, will be gratified at this result, and commend the wisdom of the Superintendent in employing a gentleman so eminently qualified for the position.

Healing the Sick Without Medicine.

THE MAGNETIC CURE. The wonders of science are after all only comparative. That which is now familiar and regarded as a matter of course was, years ago, the wonder of the age, or its supporters and originators hooted at even by men of science. This new system, first practiced by Dr. A. J. Higgins, of Chicago, seems to depart from what is known as the regular system of cure, and yet in a chat with the Dr. at his rooms at the Rockhill, we were impressed that it had much of sound philosophy to sustain it. After all said and written in support of theories, the plain and practical question for the people is does it succeed. If it does then it is no objection to the science that we cannot fully understand it. The Dr. showed us a number of certificates of cures under his treatment, of persons residing in our own city.—Among them we noticed two of recent date. Miss Sophia Bixler has for a long time been unable to walk without a crutch. The Dr. has in three treatments so far restored tone to the system that she can now walk without crutches in a fair way to fully recover her health. Miss Mary Jane Pearce also severely afflicted for a long time, was enabled to leave her crutch in the Dr.'s room as standing evidence of his skill. We might mention others—of cures of fever—ague—rheumatism—sprains &c., of parties who have tried in vain various physicians for years, but we must close by reminding the afflicted that the Dr. leaves in two or three days.—Ft. Wayne Gazette.

Dr. Higgins can be consulted at the Edwards House, Plymouth, where he will remain until Dec. 25.
