A's take 2-0 lead on Sox

BOSTON (AP) — Trailing 0-2 in the count or 0-2 on the scoreboard didn't stop the Oakland Athletics. The Boston Red Sox hope a similar deficit doesn't mean their days are numbered.

The A's took a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven American League playoffs with a 4-3 comeback victory Thursday night, their second straight win at Fenway Park.

AFTER WINNING GAMES started by Boston aces Bruce Hurst and Roger Clemens, the A's return home where they were 6-0 against the Red Sox this season. Games 3 and 4 are set for Saturday and Sunday. If the A's don't win both, they'll have another shot in Oakland on Monday.

"They play just really tough there," Boston first baseman Todd Benzinger said. "We go down 3-0 (and) we're in deep, deep trouble."

The A's play tough baseball anywhere. They were 54-27 in Oakland, the best home record in the American League. Their 50-31 road record was the best in the majors.

They also may have led the majors in determination. They needed it Wednesday, when they broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning for a 2-1 victory, and again on a chilly Thursday night.

BOSTON SCORED THE game's first two runs in the bottom of the sixth. Oakland had just two hits and eight strikeouts at that point.

"It's easy to give up with Roger Clemens on the mound," said Oakland reliever Dennis Eckersley, who saved both games. "It just shows a lot for our team, coming back like that."

In the top of the seventh, Jose Canseco followed Dave Henderson's leadoff single with his second homer of the series. It came on an 0-2 pitch and tied the score 2-2.

In the top of the ninth, with the score 3-3 and two outs, rookie shortstop Walt Weiss delivered the game-winning single against Lee Smith, 0-1 in the playoffs. It also came on an 0-2 pitch and made reliever Gene Nelson a winner in his first series appearance.

"WHEN ONE GUY HITS a home run and another guy gets a hit (with 0-and-2 counts), it's tough to justify that they were good pitches," Boston catcher Rich Gedman said.

Four A's looked at third strikes from the fireballing Clemens in the first six innings as he duelled with Oakland starter Storm Davis. Each team had just one hit through five innings.

Oakland ended up using four pitchers and Boston three. The Red Sox would like to use only Mike Boddicker on Saturday in a ballpark better suited to pitchers than Fenway Park.

"I don't change anything according to the park," said Boddicker, who will face Bob Welch.

A little guy hitting the ball out of the infield won Thursday night's game.

RON HASSEY HIT A one-out single and took third on Tony Phillips' single after Mark McGwire fled out. Smith then faced the 175-pound Weiss.

With the 0-and-2 count, Weiss hit a low liner to center field. Ellis Burks charged in, dived, but couldn't come up with the ball as Hassey scored. Eckersley then retired the Red Sox in order in the ninth.

"I gave it my best shot and that's all you can do," said Smith, who got out of a two-on, one-out jam in the eighth in relief of Bob Stanley.

Boston's hitters haven't gotten in their best shots. They led the American League with a .283 batting average but have just 10 hits in the two games against Oakland.

"IT'S EASY TO criticize and say we haven't come up with the big hit when we had to," said Boston cleanup hitter Mike Greenwell, hitless in five official at bats.

Boston had taken a 2-0 lead in the sixth. Dwight Evans drew a two-out walk, went to second on a walk to Greenwell and scored when center fielder Henderson dropped a low line drive by Jim Rice for an error. Burks singled home Greenwell.

After Canseco's homer tied the game, McGwire singled home Oakland's third run later in the seventh off Clemens. It followed a single by Dave Parker, who was forced out at second on Carney Lansford's grounder. Lansford advanced on a balk and a wild pitch by Clemens.

Gedman's homer off Greg Cadaret tied the game in the seventh.

Tudor, Darling next pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — John Tudor once was an obstacle in the New York Mets' road to the National League East title. Now, he's an obstacle in their path to the World Series.

Tudor, 8-5 against the Mets in his career — but tougher than his record suggests — pitches tonight for the Los Angeles Dodgers against Ron Darling as the NL playoffs move to Shea Stadium for Game 3. The best-of-seven series is tied at one victory each.

TUDOR, 0-8, WAS scheduled to pitch in Game 2, but was pushed back because of spasms in the right hip that forced him out early in his final regular-season start for the NL West champions. The left-hander, 0-2 with the Dodgers against the Mets, was a combined 8-3 against New York while pitching for St. Louis and Pittsburgh in the NL East.

His matchup against Darling, 17-9, is especially interesting because the Mets' right-hander was 14-1 at home this season. But Darling, who established a career high in victories, can't account for his success at Shea Stadium.

"I don't feel any better at home. I don't feel any more comfortable at home. That's why I think it's coincidental," he said. "I don't feel any special aura or power when I'm out there at home as opposed to when I'm playing on the road."

In Tudor, the Dodgers have a well-seasoned post-season pitcher, but he sees that as being no factor. He was 5-4 in postseason games with St. Louis in 1985 and 1987.

"I HAVE PLAYOFF" and World Series experience, but as far as I'm concerned you can take all that and throw it out the window," Tudor said. "It's not going to do you any good."

After Fernando Valenzuela was disabled with shoulder problems in late July, the Dodgers were looking for a left-handed starter. On Aug. 17, they got Tudor from St. Louis for Pedro Guerrero.

The Mets have had trouble against left-handers at times. Curveballs give New York batters a lot of problems. Those left hooks send them reeling.

"Both their two big guys, (Keith) Hernandez and (Darryl) Strawberry, are left-handed, but they handle the bat well against left-handed pitching," Tudor said. "If I have confidence in my game, I can get anyone out, just like they can hit anybody when they have confidence in their game."

THE METS COME home from a 1-1 split in Los Angeles with an 11-2 record against the Dodgers this year. Some Los Angeles players have criticized what they believe is arrogance among some Mets, especially after David Cone's newspaper column demeaned pitchers Orel Hershiser and Jay Howell.
