A. McGINNIS & Co. keep on hand and are constantly manufacturing the best quality of farm wagons, which are warranted to be durable and of light draught. These wagons are made under the direct supervision of A. McGINNIS, who is a practical mechanic of thirteen years' experience. Mr. GEO. SEARS, their wood workman, is well known as a first-class mechanic. They keep on hand the only stock of well seasoned wagon timber in the place. They also manufacture the double-beam cultivator, which is so favorably known throughout the county. All kinds of job work (except buggy work) done with neatness and dispatch. Horse shoeing made a specialty. Shop directly west of the Bloomington Mills.

Barrett's is universally admired.

A Bargain.
A nice farm one mile and a half west of Bloomington, containing 93½ acres, will be sold cheap, if application be made soon to E. T. Taylor.

The farm is all in grass, has a comfortable residence and a No. 1 barn on it together with a large orchard of choice fruit. If any one desires to buy a nice little farm, cheap, let him call at E. T. Taylor's Provision Store, soon.

Be wise and select Barrett's.

ONE of the most strengthening, invigorating, and, at the same time harmless tonics, is Bininger's Old London Dock Gin. Shoemaker & Co. sole agents for Bloomington.

Fashionable ladies use Barrett's.

"Give me another bottle!" is the request one hears almost hourly, at Shoemaker & Co's Drug Store, as persons come in who have before purchased Bininger's Dock Gin.

Barrett's deserved the premium.

THE greatest invigorant of the 19th century, is Old London Dock Gin. Shoemaker & Co. sell it.

"Tis true, 'tis pity, pity 'tis true, that mankind will pass by unheeded the warning symptoms of disease and neglect the remedies to restore health, until disease has so far advanced that it is often impossible to obtain relief. We have been shown the formula of Judson's Mountain Pills and believe them to be the best and simplest of medicines for Bilious disorders, Liver Complaints, Female Irrigularities, &c. They are prepared with great caution and will save many a doctor's bill if used in time. As a universal family medicine they are unsurpassed. Give the Mountain Herb Pill to your children, we warrant you will never want for them. Sold by all dealers."

MARRIED.

On Wednesday, June 2d, at the residence of the bride's father, by Elder W. B. F. Treat, Mr. WASHINGTON L. CARTER, of Cincinnati, Ohio, to Miss EMMA LEON, of Bloomington, Indiana.

Another one of Bloomington's fairest daughters has been won by a stranger. We presume this is right, but it would seem that our own dishing gallants should monopolize the field matrimonial. If Mr. C. is as successful in commerce, he has proved to be in love, his future is an enviable one indeed. We shall not add the stereotyped doxology usually sung by marriage notice writers—the pretty bride, we believe, knows our sentiments.

W. M. BROWNING, Esq., has received the appointment of Deputy Revenue Collector. It would have given us no small degree of satisfaction to have chronicled his appointment to a District office. As a civil officer, Mr. Browning has no superior—he was, by far, the best District Assessor of Internal Revenue, ever appointed in Southern Indiana. It will be recollect that he was removed from that position, because he would not Johnsonize. He was too honestly radical to suit King Andrew, so off went his official head.

The "rage" in Bloomington, at present, is the 18 carat Gold Watch, for Ladies, sold by Smith & Cochran. No one would believe it possible for any firm to sell Jewelry and Watches as cheaply as this one does, but that they do so can be proved to the satisfaction of the most skeptical, if they will call at the Store, on the south side of the square.

THEIR seems to be but one opinion among the patrons of the New York Store, and that opinion, so far as we have heard an expression is, that Tuley & Co. sell none but choice goods, and sell them low.

Among the goods recently purchased in New York and Philadelphia, by Mr. Tuley, is a fine stock of Summer Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, Prints, Domestic, Dress Goods and Trimmings. At this Store they tell us they sell goods extremely low, and then throw off 5 per cent. for cash. That's the way to get ahead of auctions.

Transfers of Real Estate.
For the weeks ending May, 29, and June 5, 1869, reported by Wm. H. Jones, Recorder:—Richard A. Oliphant to James H. Oliphant, 294 acres of land in Indian Creek township, $250. Charles W. Allen, Trustee of James K. P. Byers, to Nathan Bray, 80 acres of land in Richland township, $1,600. John McCrea and wife to Eliza L. Allison, In-lots 317 and 318 in the town of Bloomington, $4,250.

B. F. Chambers to David L. Chambers, 60 acres of land in Clear Creek township, $750.

Orion Lapham to Wm. T. Randall, 80 acres of land in Polk township, $750. Jesse Reynolds to Benjamin Reynolds, 60 acres of land in Bean Blossom township, $1,600.

Chauncey E. Warner to Samuel Dudley, 40 acres of land in Washington township, $500.

Thomas Breden to Robert W. Breden, 56 acres of land in Van Buren township, $500.

MASONIC FUNERAL.—The remains of Commander JAMES P. FOSTER, who died at Indianapolis, on the 2d inst., were followed to their final resting place, in the City Cemetery, on Friday last, by the Masonic Fraternity, and a large concourse of citizens.

Persons owing Government Taxes, are requested to call upon the Deputy Collector, at the County Auditor's office, and settle, forthwith.

See advertisement of De Soto Mutual Life Insurance Company. The Agent of this Company, for Monroe county, is R. H. Campbell, to whom persons desirous of securing information, are referred.

Go to the Postoffice News Stand, and get a copy of the Cold Spring Tragedy, or the murder of the Young family by Nancy E. Clem. This history is full and complete, giving much information not hereto before brought to light.

Chips and Splinters.

Butter is plentiful at the various stores and groceries. Reason—It don't pay the peddlers to send it to Louisville, at present prices—The M. E. S. S. Excursion to Harrisburg, which came off on Wednesday, was well attended, and full of pleasure to those who could lay aside the cares of business for one day. Newspaper men are not of this number, however, and we were compelled to labor while our fortunate friends were enjoying the sylvan shades of an Indian Creek forest—Very little in the sensational line has occurred during the past seven days, unless we may except a frantic race, on Wednesday last, between a lop-eared hound and an oyster can. It was very wicked in the urchins who attached the tin to doggy's narrative, at 10 a.m., when all was quiet on the square—clerks nodding in the store doors, and proprietors leaning grimly against the counters. It was wrong to rudely wake them up, and very mean to treat a dog in that manner—behind his back—In Parton's New York Ledger Biography of General Harrison, he says the battle of Tippecanoe took place "near a branch of the Wabash river, in the State of Ohio." Now we seriously object to this ignoring of Mr. Purdie's claims in the matter of the Agricultural College. The battle was fought upon the site of Purdue College, and Gen. Harrison insisted, up to the day of his death, that the Battle Ground was in Indiana, and much nearer to the Illinois than the Ohio line; but as Parton wasn't there, of course he knows all about it.

The best ties for business men—adver-tise—Prof. Richard Owen, of the State University, who leaves New York this week, for Europe and the Holy Land, will correspond regularly with the New York Tribune, Mr. Greeley having contracted with him for a series of letters. Col. Owen is a ripe scholar and a fluent writer, and his letters will, doubtless, abound with interest.

The Bloomfield Democrat says that sickness prevails in that locality "to an alarming extent." Here, the physicians, were it not for an occasional accident, would soon get rusty in the practice of medicine—One of the employees at Campbell's saw mill, accidentally came in contact with a saw, one day last week, and suffered amputation of the heel—Absalom J. Helton, while at work in his saw mill, west of town, on Wednesday last, was struck in the back by a heavy log, and was caught by one of the workmen in time to prevent his body from being hurled through a hatchway, a distance of thirty feet, to the ground. Mr. H. sustained no serious injury, but the concussion was so severe, that he has been confined to his room, since the accident—On Saturday morning last, a farmer, named Jesse Adamson, aged about sixty years, and his son, repaired to the barn on the old Swearingen farm, (where he was residing) three miles west of Bloomington, to stock a plow. While engaged in another part of the room, the son heard a noise as if the old man had dropped a piece of wood, with which he was working, but paid no further attention to it; a short time afterward, however, he had finished the work he was engaged at, and started toward his father, who, he then discovered, had fallen upon the floor, and was dead—On Tuesday morning, June 1st, Joshua Curtis, who lives in the western portion of Bloomington, went out on his farm, a short distance west of town, and finding a tree that had blown over and lodged in the fork of a tree adjacent, concluded to free it from the stump. Mr. Curtis cut the tree loose, and as it turned to fall, one of the limbs struck his right leg between the knee and ankle, breaking both bones. As he was some distance from either house or road, and was unable to walk, in consequence of the intense pain the least motion produced, he was compelled to remain upon the ground some two or three hours before relief came. The bones were set as soon as he could be conveyed comfortably to town, and under the skillful treatment of Dr. Maxwell, he seems, notwithstanding his advanced age (60 years) to be doing well—

Capt. Leonard had the misfortune, one night last week, during one of the heavy thunder storms, to have a sow and nine one hundred pound pigs killed by lightning. The sow and her family, were in the habit of sleeping under the friendly shade of an apple tree, and were found, all bedded snugly together, but with the unmistakable marks of lightning stroke upon every one. They were of the Chester White breed, and were valued at $90 by the Captain—We heard a good joke on a Doctor of Divinity, the other day—trying to proselyte a theatre manager—but we don't believe it—Farmers who have corn planted on White River bottom land, will, many of them lose much of the crop by the high water of the past two weeks. It will be too late to plant corn after the water has subsided and the earth becomes dry and warm again. Our herculean County Treasurer has about one hundred acres under water, but he don't seem to be losing any flesh about the matter—Don't forget the Strawberry Festival of the First Presbyter Church, to-morrow night, at Smith & Tuley's Hall.

SURPLUSES OF BROWN.—Some persons were taking, the other evening, about building a Railroad east and west, to carry off the surplus of Brown county, when a countryman, who lives in that region, and who had been listening intently, remarked, "Surplus, thunder! you can carry it all in a wheelbarrow!"

That is all very good for a joke, but the surplus of Brown will be carried off by railroad, and that before two years have passed. Stick a pin there.

SILK HATS.—A lot of beautiful, new style Silk Hats, just received by Chas. P. Tuley & Co. Go and examine them.

SEA. The Odd Fellows of Gosport, will give a Strawberry Festival, at the Depot, of that town, on the 18th of June.

Rev. H. R. Naylor, will deliver an address to the Order.

NEW Publications.
LIFE OF JESUS, the Christ, by Henry Ward Beecher.

Mr. Beecher has devoted all his spare time during the past year, to this crowning work of his life, but owing to its elaborate character, it will probably not be ready for agents (by whom alone it will be sold, before the last of July, or the first of August, It will be printed by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass., and published by C. F. VENT, No. 38, West Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio, to whom all orders should be addressed. The illustrations and maps are by the best artists in the country, and have been designed expressly for this work, after sketches taken directly from the places represented. They form a new, and full illustration of localities, people and customs, among the scenes of our Lord's earthly labors, and are admirable artistic productions. The reputation of Mr. Beecher is also a guarantee that the text of the work will be all that can be desired, and agents will find it a profitable book to solicit for.

LIFE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS. with a Secret History of the Southern Confederacy, gathered "Behind the Scenes at Richmond," by Edward A. Pollard, author of the "Lost Cause," &c. To be issued shortly by the National Publishing Company, and sold only by subscription.

We have received advance sheets of this work, and from a nasty examination, learn that it is an inside view of the rebellion, by a Southern man. Mr. Pollard is a gentleman of acknowledged ability as a historian, and the book will doubtless be interesting.

De Soto Mutual Life Ins. Co., OF ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI.

CASH CAPITAL, $150,000.00
Stockholders' Responsibility to Assured, $300,000.00

THE DE SOTO MUTUAL

Takes the position that money being worth more in the West than in the East enables a well managed Western company to declare a better dividend than any Eastern one. Then why should our citizens send their money East to be loaned at 7 per cent. to build up rival interests, when our own people want the money at 10 per cent. interest, and will furnish just as good security? To concentrate capital at home, to develop the resources of OUR OWN COUNTRY, is a matter in which every Western citizen has an interest.

THE DESOTO MUTUAL

In maturing its plans and peculiar features, and in getting up the Policy the company issues, secured the aid of the highest mathematical ability that could obtain, and the experience and wisdom of those who have for years made Life Insurance a business and a study. No life Insurance company now before the public stands on a more solid and substantial basis, than the D. S. Soto Mutual. The company stands pledged to its policy holders; takes only first class risks. Rates as low as leading east companies. No extra charge for insuring the lives of females.

The De Soto Mutual

We believe issues a BETTER POLICY than any company in the United States. It is a plain, simple, short, yet comprehensive contract, not liable to the doubtful construction which characterizes many life Policies, and does not make the usual restrictions on travel. THE DE SOTO MUTUAL makes all policies non-forfeitable; divides surplus among policy holders; takes only first class risks. Rates as low as leading east companies. No extra charge for insuring the lives of females.
