tual benefit to this class of community. We ask in return their countenance and support.

In politics the REGISTER will be decided, yet temperate and tolerant, in the most extended sense. A disciple of that school of politics which seeks no concealment of views, I trust I have learned to appreciate an honest difference of opinion, and to extend that political charity to others, which I have need so often to claim for myself. Under the salutary restraints of a moderate and temperate zeal, the public press can alone accomplish the great purpose of its institution. Abuse of public men can effect no good purpose in an intelligent community, while it has a positive tendency to counteract the efforts now making throughout the Union in behalf of political truth. This course, we shall avoid, from a conviction of its impropriety, and a determination to make the REGISTER a medium through which moderate men may always seek truth—unvarnished by the embellishments of fancy or political dislike. We desire no ever permanency and respectability to our sheet—to make it useful to the Wabash country, generally—a prompt and zealous advocate of its interests, and a faithful Chronicle of its prosperity and improvement. This can be successfully accomplished only by a moderate course, reconciling all minor difference in the efforts to advance our young and growing country. An ardent and decided political friend of HENRY CLAY, my course will be neither neutral or doubtful. Having long cherished for the principles of that distinguished statesman, a sincere and unaltered attachment. I deem it just to deal honestly with myself, by contributing my humble exertions to lift him to a station which a whole life of well spent political doing has so eminently qualified him to fill. In pursuing this course I am but performing a duty which I deem paramount, because the result of the contest will settle an important principle in the theory of our government, and exercise a lasting influence, for good or evil, on our destinies as a people. Convinced of the correctness of our own views, we shall be willing nevertheless to hear the opinions of our opponents for which purpose our columns will open to them to a just and liberal extent.

An AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT will be instituted, which we purpose filling regularly with well selected and useful articles on husbandry and the science of Agriculture, having made arrangements to supply ourselves with some of the best papers of the kind in the East ern and Western States.

With this brief outline we submit this prospectus for public consideration. We might say much, but it is neither necessary or becoming. We promise enough, and shall endeavor to perform still more. We wish to send forth a sheet which will reflect no discredit on ourselves, and one that the citizens may feel no hesitancy in encouraging.

KNOX COUNTY

KNOX CIRCUIT COURT.

April Term, 1832.

John Wise, administrator of John Kausler, deceased, vs. John Kausler, Senior. } Petition.

AND now at this time came the petitioner by Law his attorney; and the said petition being heard by the Court to-wit:—"To the Honorable Probate Court of Knox County: the petition of the undersigned humbly sheweth unto your Honor that in the month of October 1820, your petitioner was appointed administrator of the state of John Kausler, deceased, of said County of Knox, by the probate Court of said County, and has fully administered on the same, said estate being solvent so far as it relates to the payment of all claims due and owing from said estate which have all been settled and paid by your petitioner as administrator. That said John Kausler left as heir to his estate John Kausler senior, the father of said John deceased, to whom the surplus of said estate, after the payment of the debts of said estate will ascend. That by a written agreement entered into, between the said John Kausler, senior and your petitioner, the said John, as the sole heir of John Kausler, Jr. in consideration of your petitioner's note to him for three hundred dollars, made unto your petitioner a deed in fee simple for all the real estate in the county of Knox of which the said John died seized; and also assigned and transferred unto him your petitioner under his hand and seal, all the debts, dues and demands owing and accruing unto the said John Jr. as one of the firm of Kausler & Wise, of which firm your petitioner was the surviving partner, for the sole use, benefit and behoof of your petitioner, which said deed, transfer and assignment, was lost and destroyed by the burning of your petitioner's house. That by said deed, and transfer aforesaid all the right, interest and title in and to said real & personal estate of said John Jr. appertains and of right belongs to your petitioner, and distribution thereof, should be made to him; but inasmuch as the evidences of your petitioner's right of distribution have been destroyed as aforesaid & inasmuch as he is desirous of making final settlement of said decedent's estate and distribution thereof and the said John Kausler senior, being a non-resident of the state, he prays that notice be given in some public newspaper, printed in Vincennes, of the filing of this petition, and that said John Kausler senior, be required to appear and answer thereto, or in default of the same, the Court will order a final settlement of said estate, and a distribution thereof to your petitioner, under the deed and transfer aforesaid, and that the honorable court will make such further order and decree as to them may seem right and proper

JOHN WISE.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that said John Kausler, senior is a non resident of the state of Indiana, it is therefore ordered, adjudged, and decreed by the Court, that notice of the pendency of said petition be given by publishing the same in the Vincennes Gazette, a paper printed in Vincennes, for six weeks successively, and that said John Kausler, senior be, and appear here on the first day of the next August term of said Court, being the 13th day of August, 1832, to answer said petition, or the same will be taken as confessed, and distribution awarded according to the prayer of the same.
