Wing Principles.

"The will of the Nation announced by the call of ONE MILLION freemen, officially bore, a fragrant Government, not an old Tuesday, suppose, exert, to wit, stamp it to form an Government. Hail! but yet was [illegible] capable of regarding the People's sovereignty and administering in the People's wants.

The appointment of the Secretary of the Treasury is to regard to Congress.

The will sovereignty of the people of this national [illegible] office not [illegible] by the President.

The last election of economy for the Administration of the Government, and the economical measures of all characters and useless offices."

For President in 1844

HENRY CLAY,

of KENTUCKY.

For Governor,

MILTON STEELE, BRANDYWINE.

The democratic candidate for

GOVERNOR,

JOHN DEARDORFF, FT. WAYNE.

[illegible] at the Brandywine American is informed that we probably overrated the number of the Harrison ho-hoed last week, and trust he this Hoax he has received it. If not, we will send him another, by being advised of the non-arrival of the one sent.

We call particular attention to an article in another column, headed "Plain Facts for Democrats," in hope that both parents and children may profit by the excellent teachings.

Read Dwelling what of those who [illegible] to send out.

Mr. Whitcomb—A Methodist.

[illegible] Mr. Whitcomb is a Methodist, by [illegible] the whig press with [illegible] calling "the fighting Mr. Whitcomb, [illegible] Mr. Whitcomb, [illegible] "Methodist." This [illegible] [illegible] for office, but [illegible] have succeeded [illegible] Mr. Whitcomb [illegible] for Governor and [illegible] Mr. Whitcomb was a [illegible] Methodist church, but [illegible] it by reason of [illegible] and that he was [illegible] in the [illegible] and in consequence of [illegible] and disgraceful conduct. These facts are well known in Bloomington, and can be substantiated.

Mr. [illegible], a most estimable man, and agent of the Katskill Bar Company, was severely kicked by being thrown from his horse near Terrepolis in Gosport — He survive, [illegible] a short time.

Mr. Proffit says in Washington City, [illegible] as to render it impossible to [illegible] Democrats at Bedford. He will, [illegible] shortly, [illegible]

We this week publish two communications, upon the subject of internal improvement—namely, for the cash.

Judge McLean of the Supreme Court has decided that [illegible] may be [illegible] in Ohio, [illegible] or [illegible] or [illegible] off, and [illegible] for the full amount of property [illegible] removed or [illegible] and also, to all the expenses incurred in [illegible] the claimants.

The passage to [illegible] and Liverpool has been reduced from one hundred to [illegible] by the proprietors of the New York line of packet ships.—This reduction, in all probability, will induce many to come to the United States who otherwise would not.

"Wonderful.—A man somewhere has made a wonderful discovery, in the following way: "Knowing fast oil to be of a very slack nature and wishing to apprise on a [illegible] occasion particularly genteel, he used it rather copiously on his hair when going to say to [illegible] course

[illegible] of John Myers without [illegible]

Will it not [illegible] Ewing in a [illegible] with a gentleman of Boston, the week before, the whig convention was held at Indianapolis, [illegible] for Mr. Leech as a candidate for representative, and did he not [illegible] Johnathan P. Cox's qualifications and pretensions for the same office? He [illegible] when Carman and Leech were nominated, drag Leech and go for Myers at per contra? Did he not by duplicity [illegible] induce Mr. Cox (who being honest himself suspected not decent others) to believe him the most "[illegible]" If these things are true, and Ewing will hardly venture to deny them, what other conclusion can we arrive at but that by a corrupt bargain with Myers, Ewing betrayed the whigs and defeated the election of Mr. Smith to the United States Senate? For no one believes for a moment that Myers could have been elected but for the aid of John Ewing.

What does this paragraph from the handbill mean? "If he upheld correct principles with consistency and industry [illegible] a public man, to false charges with such success for a time, namely offensive and calculated to defeat such paper war against man's character?" I ask what does that mean? Powder and lead, pistols, rifles and smoke I suppose.—The old man finding himself used up in his favorite paper, newspaper war, would resort to [illegible] of the bully and [illegible] [illegible]

Ewing is as there is no man in Ripley county who is capable of carrying on the [illegible] whig principles but himself. As well might Judas have told the people of Judea that he only was capable of carrying out far from principles of Christianity.—There is a remarkable coincidence in the [illegible] great name. When Judas became sensible of the enormity of the [illegible] he hanged himself. Ewing [illegible] of the [illegible] who hanged himself. Ewing [illegible] will [illegible] on the First Monday in August next.

A. V. FIFER.

To the Voters of Indiana.

[illegible] the Democrats in Dec [illegible] at Indianapolis [illegible] to go to the polls.

Correct Principles.

[illegible] from other that the Locofocos very [illegible] that the Tariff of 1842 is operating! Since its passage we have found a market in Europe for our manufactures and produce. Since its passage specie has been flooding our shores! Since the passage every one [illegible] the commencement of [illegible] RUFUS!

WHITCOMB

Friends of the Repeal of that Tariff!

This promised [illegible] new tariff [illegible] in place.

Farmers, Mechanics, Laborers.

[illegible] enough to satisfy a public [illegible] get low taxes and wholesale [illegible] all of your [illegible] but a very [illegible] for the enormous [illegible] of something better within their [illegible] Look around.

A Revenue Tariff!

[illegible] to get [illegible] Yes! [illegible] the Pauper Tariff. This Tariff barely affords a Revenue [illegible] [illegible] shows their hostility to any Tariff!

Jesse.

[illegible] Does any JAMES WHITCOMB [illegible] VEL Tariffs [illegible] on the contrary? These are his very words. It this is true, of course a Revenue Tariff [illegible] Why does he now [illegible] what he calls a Revenue Tariff? If he is right and [illegible] the people would [illegible] by DIRECT TAX upon their pockets for the Revenue? For then they would save [illegible] Revenue Tariff tax!

In other words.

If WHITCOMB is right in saying that [illegible] on foreign goods is a tax on the people, do you not see that, by paying your portion of government tax out of your own pocket, and getting without any tariff tax at all, that you would save money? But Mr. Whitcomb would have it thought slander to say he advocates a Direct Tax! The Whig party are the only true friends of a Tariff!!

Friends of a sound Currency!

Are you willing to have a Sub-Treasury? Are you anxious for an exclusive hard money currency, to bring down property and wages? Mr. WHITCOMB OPPOSES ALL BANKS and is a friend of the SUB TREASURY!!

INDIANIANS!

Do you wish to pay your State debt out of your own pockets? you want your Eight Millions from the public lands left in the United States Treasury to pay fund holders, while you toil for the gold with which to pay this debt? The land, money, or direct taxation is the only resort left! James Whitcomb is an enemy to the Land fund, and if you elect a Locofoco Legislature they will not vote to receive that fund.

WHO GOT YOU IN DEBT?

It was the System of Internal Improvement for which James Whitcomb voted! The System with which Governor Bigger had nothing to do! The System to which Whitcomb voted to have heavy additions! The System for which he says he voted and instructions! and the additions to which he says he voted with its enemies to break it down!! Can you believe this story?

IS THIS THE MAN

To compare of the ruin of Indiana and to rule over her!

WHO GOT YOU IN DEBT?

More money has been squandered at the deep diggings for the benefit of Madison where JESSE D. BRIGHT lives, than in all the State besides! When the bill passed, Mr. Bright made an Illuminated speech in favor of it! Shall he complain of extravagance and ruin?

YET MARK!

Those men who thus involved you and who refused over the measures that proposed the State debt, now oppose the Land Fund! that good JACKSON measure! the only measure unless by a direct tax on your pockets, which can ever pay the debt! and the which every year is making fearfully larger!

Keep in Ready.

Tariff men, Opponents to a Direct Tax! Friends of sound currency and distribution, are you ready to VOTE!

Right or Wrong.

Will every man of you go to the polls!

Vocal Music.

The following extract from a work published on this beautiful art, is worthy of a careful perusal by every one.

ADVANTAGES OF THE FAMILY [illegible] "It improves the voice, in speaking and reading, by giving smoothness, volume and variety in the tones. The voice thus exercised is strengthened by use. It is [illegible] often given weight every day, we all know, its strength will be greatly increased, provided he is not forced to exert himself beyond his strength. So the voice by constant exercise will acquire improve, and [illegible] in no small degree in [illegible] [illegible] may be usually improved or even destroyed by forcing it, particularly on the high notes—but under proper and judicious direction, it will slowly improve by use. This is an exact analogy with the common laws of exercise applicable alike to the physical, intellectual and moral powers of man. Children in their amusements and often earning their wages to a great extent, [illegible] without injury, because they do not go beyond their natural tones. Children are in danger of lung diseases, and assist of lung voice by this daily practice—yet who ever heard of such serious or any injury arising from these causes, in consequence of such exercise? It is dangerous to read or by much talking; that is, when the lungs are affected by a cold or otherwise diseased. This is the common cause of a ruined voice. Persons who are fond of music, form the lungs of singing women in an unusual dry state, and of excessive irritation, [illegible] and disease. Singing not only tends to improve the voice, but also gives an easy and [illegible] in the tones in speaking. It is necessary to give pleasing variety in the tones in order to produce good speaking as good [illegible] and the organs of sound should be as much under the control of the former exercise in the tones.

Vocal music conducive to health. It was the opinion of Dr. Rush, that singing by young ladies whom the cushions of society during many other kinds of healthy exercise, is to be cultivated, not only as an accomplishment, but as a means of preserving health. He particularly insists, that vocal music should never be neglected in the education of a young lady; and states, that besides its salutary effects in soothing the cares of domestic life, it has a [illegible] direct and important influence. I first introduce a fact, says the doctor, which has been suggested to me by my professional, that is, the exercise of the organs of the breast by singing, contributes very much to defend them from those diseases, to which the climate and other causes expose them. The Germans are seldom affected with consumptions; nor have I ever known more than one instance of the spitting of blood amongst them. This, I believe, is in part occasioned by the strength which their lungs acquire by exercising them frequently in vocal music, which constitutes an essential branch of their education. The music master of our academy, says Gardiner, has furnished me with a observation still more in favor of this opinion. He informs me, that he had known several instances of persons strongly disposed to consumption, restored to health by the exercise of lungs in singing. In the new establishment of infant schools for children of three or four years of age, every thing is taught by the aid of sound.—Thus little lessons, their recitations, their arithmetical countings are all chanted—and as they feel the importance of their own voices when joined together, they emulate each other in the power of vociferating. This exercise is found to be very beneficial to their health. Many instances have occurred of weakly children of two or three years of age, that could scarcely support themselves, having become robust and healthy by this constant exercise of the lungs. These results are perfectly philosophical. Singing tends to expand the chest, and thus increase the activity and powers of the vital organs.

Vocal music in its elevated form tends to improve the heart. This is its proper and legitimate, and ought to be its principal object. It can and ought to be made the handmaid of virtue and piety.—Its effects in softening and elevating the feelings, are too evident to need illustration. There is something in the nature of musical tones, viewed in their pure and simple, not unnatural state, which is truly heavenly and delightful, and if music of such a character could become universal throughout the nation, it would be a sure and excellent means of national improvement. The effects of a sacred style of music in connection with fervent devotion is now to some extent well known. It tends to produce love to teachers, love to mates, love to parents, and love to God—kindness to dumb animals, and an observance of the works of nature and of the events of providence—and leads the mind through nature up to nature's God." Such are its legitimate tendencies, and such we hope to be instrumental in making the ordinary tendencies. In this way amusement may be [illegible] with instruction and cheerfulness, harmonious, and order introduced into [illegible] family and into the school. The [illegible] over things in nature, but very [illegible] in which has reached our ears. Form both [illegible] parents.

It is all important that the youthful mind should be [illegible] with good associations in [illegible] the [illegible] otherwise very [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] have had the advantage of [illegible] of instruction in their childhood, can estimate its value. When in the turbulent scenes of life, though many an intermediate association for good or for evil has passed away, the little hymn learned by a fond mother, comes rushing upon the mind, in all the freshness of juvenile emotion.—So solemn is the prospect on treating of music introduced into the general plan of education at home or abroad, that the advantages resulting from it, are so great and so conspicuous, yet the subject is [illegible] of consideration of [illegible] to be [illegible] as a [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible]

We can effect the moral character only through the medium of [illegible] which they are interested, the affections can be fixed, and the child turned in the most important ways. Many of my [illegible] are [illegible], and connected with [illegible] associations. Hence, a good [illegible] education is [illegible] [illegible] for this purpose to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
