Pilgrims' Progress in words of one syllable, at McPheeters'.

Up with the Times.

Determined to be up with the times, I have secured the necessary machinery, and instead of patching and bending, as is the practice with some, will put NEW WORKS into the watches that are brought to me for repair. I am also receiving a handsome stock of Toys, large enough for the trade, and ALL new, and will sell them so cheap that no one can find fault.

JOHN P. SMITH.

Christmas.

No. 7 Fifth street, is occupied by Smith & Cochran, who have received, and are still receiving, a large stock of Toys, made of wood, paper, tin, china, glass, iron, brass, silver, gold and marble. The prices, are as various as the patterns—some as low as five cents, others worth $50.00. These Toys are of French, German and American manufacture, and selected with special reference to the wants of this market. It is better than three-fourths of the shows—this exhibition—and Tobie Smith ought to charge ten cents admittance at the door, but he don't.

The finest gift books in town, at McPheeters'.

I. SANDERS & SONS have a very large stock of the celebrated Seymour Woolen Goods at their farm house, which they will exchange for Wool. They would call particular attention to an article of Overcoating, which they believe to be unsurpassed in this market. Also, to their Jeans and Flannels. These goods were awarded the first premium at the Monroe County Agricultural Fair. Sanders & Sons believe they can offer superior inducements to those holding Wool, and would at least solicit a call from the wool growers of the surrounding country, before they dispose of their clip.

McPheeters' keeps a large assortment of Toy books. Call and examine them.

Fun at the Court House.

The Old Ones vs. The Young Ones.

The Old Ones Win!

THE PENALTY FOR BEING "A CLEVER FELLOW."

THE PARTICULARS:

The Democracy of Monroe county held a meeting at the Court House, on Saturday, to appoint delegates to the State Convention, and for the purpose of reorganizing the Central Committee. The delegates had been appointed before we arrived, and Mr. Marlin was talking about the Central Committee. Looking around the room, we observed that John R. East was in the Chair, and that but four townships, Bloomington, Perry, Richland and Van Buren, were represented. It was the intention of the Democrats, so street rumor had it, to weed out the committee, and cut off entirely some of the "Fathers;" but the old chaps were too much for the reorganizers, and after the boat's crew was full, Messrs. Mitchell, Abel and McPheeters jumped aboard, and will, without doubt, direct the course of the Democratic vessel.

Mr. Marlin made an impulsive speech, in favor of selecting committeemen from each of the twelve townships. Mr. P. L. D. Mitchell objected, because he could never get them together when the interests of the party required that they should meet. But Mr. Marlin's suggestion was adopted, and Counselor Buskirk offered a resolution that there should be one member from each township, excepting the townships of Perry and Bloomington; that Bloomington should have five, and Perry three members, and that seven should constitute a quorum.

The members of the committee from the ten outside townships, were soon selected, and when Perry was called, John Riley, Matthew McPheeters, and B. F. Rogers were chosen. Then came Bloomington. Edward Gregory and Hugh Marlin were accepted, when Mr. Marlin suggested Jim Rogers, "responsible editor of the Democrat," saying that Jim was "a clever young man." Counselor Buskirk said he "didn't know about that—he was too clever; but that his partner, the gentleman from Indian Creek, (East), would be the proper person," and so the r. c. was snubbed. (Possibly the Counselor is disgusted with Jim because of his shabby conduct in collecting our fees, and refusing to pay them over.) S. H. Buskirk and John Graham, Jr., were then elected to complete the quota of Bloomington township.

The committee was now full, and a dead silence fell upon this little band of patriots. Mitchell drew his tobacco vigorously, and moved nervously in his chair; Counselor Buskirk sharpened his pencil and looked serenely indifferent. Things was working.

Presently Mr. Marlin remarked that Father Abel was not on the committee, and Abel was tacked on! Then somebody suggested that Milton McPheeters be added, and McPheeters was tacked on!

Then P. L. D. Mitchell was proposed, and straightway Ren. was added to the committee.

Thus the Fathers triumphed over the mutineers.

The attendance upon the meeting was small, and there was evident signs of dissatisfaction among a portion of the Democracy, but this will all be swept away before the canvass opens, so the Republicans need take no comfort from that fact. The Democrats have placed a number of determined, working men upon their committee, and it is neither funny nor politic to under-rate them.

A bitter canvass is to be made next summer. Stimulated by the gains made last Fall—gains that demonstrated their ability to make a thorough and effective canvass against great odds—the Democrats will resort to every means that ingenuity may suggest, or that money can secure, to accomplish the defeat of the Republican party in Monroe county. It is the "outs" against the "ins" and the "outs" are determined, hungry, and have of course, made no record during the past three years. The Democrats are talking and working as industriously now, as if the election were to take place in the Spring, instead of in the Fall of 1870, and Republicans must get ready to meet these assaults.

Allen & Co., the enterprising Hardware dealers on the south side of the square, have now the most complete stock of Hardware, Tinware, Builders' materials, etc., ever offered in this place. They keep all the most popular styles of stoves for cooking and heating purposes, and sell as low as any firm in the business. Blacksmiths can get iron and tools, at Allen & Co's; Carpenters can get hinges, nails and tools at Allen & Co's; farmers can get any implement manufactured, at Allen & Co's—if they haven't the article you desire, they will send for it.

Shoemaker & Co. have been receiving a large stock of Holiday Goods, and have begun to sell them already. In fact they are going off so rapidly, that Shoemaker is fearful he will be compelled to buy another stock before Christmas. This firm have the largest stock of Perfumery we have seen in Southern Indiana, and sell at wholesale figures, as they receive special rates from Solon Palmer, of Cincinnati. Just step into this store and look at the nice things.

McPheeters keeps the Lightning Calculator. Call and secure a copy.

H. C. MEREDITH, who is publishing a paper at Cambridge City, Wayne county, says candidates for nomination to county offices have begun to "talk sweet" already. MEREDITH says he has his coat buttons fastened by a slender thread, and when the candidate takes hold and gets interested, he walks briskly away, leaving the office-seeker to finish his speech to the button. Good joke on the candidate, but is it treating the button with humanity?

Christmas Presents.—What could you give your father, mother, sister, brother, sweetheart, or friend, that would be more fully appreciated than a book. McPheeters has a fine assortment. Call and see him.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.—Our most enterprising firms are busily preparing for the holidays, and already the show windows of the retail establishments begin to present the cheerful and inviting appearance customary on such occasions. The Ladies of the First Presbyterian church gave an Oyster Supper, on Thursday night last, which was liberally patronized, and yielded a fair profit.—The School Journal, for December, Prof. Hoss editor, has been received, and is a very interesting number.—

Capt. Ward, who was thrown from his buggy several months ago, and sustained a fracture of one of his thighs, is now able to walk. Mr. Ward was raised near Bloomington, but at present resides near Salem, Washington county.—H. Junker tells us he intends removing his stock of goods to Evansville. Business is so brisk in Bloomington, that his health is failing from overwork. That's the matter with a good many business men just now.—A. Ketcham sold to Is. Adkins, on Monday, eleven head of Chester White Hogs, the average weight of which was 401½ pounds. Mr. Ketcham raised the 745 pound hog, which we spoke of several weeks ago.—Bob Campbell says he has Christmas gifts for gentlemen only, which he calls the "four P's." Phine, Phancy, Phunny Perfumery. Ask Bob about it.—Joe Mc. P. M., sports a new and neat-fitting suit of clothes, which he tells us he bought of W. E. Allison & Co., New Albany. Think we've heard of that firm before.
