[For the Progress.]

Editor of the Progress.—I have been requested, by a number of persons who were present at the meeting of citizens held here on the 19th of last month, to write an article, for the Progress, showing some of the inaccuracies found in the report of speeches, as published in the Democrat and in the Progress.

I will now comply with that request, and take the liberty to say that Geo. A. Buskirk is not the only speaker misrepresented in that report, (as stated in his letter to the Progress) which I will show by a few sentences which I will compare with my Phonographic notes.

Although the report does not contain all the points made by the speakers, (for half they said is not published) yet I will only point to a few inaccuracies in the report as published. In the report of J. D. Britton's speech, I find the following sentences: "A few years before the late war to prevent the honest and liberty loving Hungarian from procuring freedom, thirty millions stood pledged to oppose the liberation from bondage of my race." Try to see the idea stored in these words, and then read the following which are the precise words of the speaker: "Why, my countrymen if you will follow me back to a few years before this unholy war, you will find that Austria besieged Hungary to prevent the honest Hungarian from asserting his liberty, while, at the same time, two hundred and fifty thousand men of the South held four millions of our brethren in bondage, the vilest that ever saw the sun."

Another passage commencing thus in the report: "Since then the Angel of the Lord" &c., was spoken thus: "Since that time the Angel of Freedom has been sowing the seeds of freedom in the hearts of the people. Then, my Fellow Citizens, how important since we have attained this great boon, which places us upon an equality before the law, how important that we should be diligent, that we should be ambitious. We have every reason to rejoice. It is gratifying to me to-day to see so many of our fellow citizens here. I hope, my Colored Fellow Citizens, that this celebration to-day will be so conducted that it will create in the heart of every person present, both white and colored, the most pleasing remembrance, and that it will urge us onward to similar efforts in the future."

Similar errors occur in other speeches, but let me make my article too long. I will close by giving a copy of my notes from the first part of Geo. A. Buskirk's speech:

"Ladies and Gentlemen, both white and colored, I appear this evening more for the purpose of acknowledging the honor that has been conferred upon me, than for the purpose of making a speech. I have been requested on this occasion to say something, and I had expected to do so, but I must confess that after hearing the able and eloquent remarks by the colored friends that have preceded me, that there is little left for me to say. I hope that if any of our democratic friends are here, that they are satisfied now that there are some colored men who have some brains."

Hoping the gentleman who furnished that report will be careful in the future about making "breaks" in his reports (as he tells us in the Progress was the case this time) and that the sentences will not be "altered from his notes," unless it be to make grammatical corrections, I leave the public to pass their honest and deliberate judgment upon the merits of his report, and the truth of this. A PHONOGRAPHER.

[For the Progress.]

Representative in the Legislature.
The office of Representative or Senator in the Legislature is an important position. They not only make new laws, and repeal those already enacted, but they have the power to expend tremendous amounts of money, and raise it by imposing additional burdens on the taxpayers of the State. Large sums of money are annually expended by the Legislature, on the Benevolent Institutions of the State, through the influence of members from their particular locality. Indianapolis will have her ablest men in the legislature so as to control, as far as possible, the friendly legislation in favor of the Public Institutions of the State located at that place. So with

Terre Haute and Lafayette. The one will be asking for more assistance for the Normal School, and the other for the Agricultural College. Some of these countries have gone so far, we have been informed, as to pay able men something in addition to the salary allowed them by the State, in order to induce them to leave their business at home, and represent their county in the Legislature. Able men are always in demand there, and exercise a controlling influence. We have been induced to make these remarks in order to call the attention of the citizens of this county to the fact that we have a State Institution here, that is depending to a great extent on the fostering care of the State. Of course, it is the child of the State, and the whole State is supposed to be interested in its welfare and prosperity; but any one who has been about the Hall of the Legislature when any measure was up for its enlargement, and heard members get up in their place and denounce it as a "grammar school for boys" would not think some of them had its prosperity very much at heart. It is left too much to each county to look after the interests of the public institutions of the State located in its midst. This being the case, is it not of paramount importance to the citizens of this county that they send to the Legislature the ablest man they can secure. The Republican party, being in the majority in this county, is responsible to the citizens of the county for the selection of a competent man. This obligation the party can discharge in no better manner than by the selection of Hon. George A. Buskirk, who has consented to run again for Representative, if nominated, and we submit to the Republican voters of the county if they ought not to nominate him without a dissenting voice. There are many other good and worthy men in the county who we have no doubt would make good representatives, but they are not as well qualified by experience, and an extensive acquaintance with the people of the State. At the first session of the Legislature after Judge Buskirk was elected, he was appointed Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, the most important committee in the legislative body, which gave him at the outset a very commanding and influential position. At the second session he was elected Speaker of the House, and discharged the duties of that office to the satisfaction of every one. If elected again, his influence and ability would insure his appointment on some of the important committees of the House, and thus secure him a position where he could influence legislation in behalf of the interests of his constituents. Judge Buskirk being an Alumnus of the State University, would have a right, as a dutiful child of a dependent mother, to urge more particularly its claims upon the Legislature. Then we say to every Republican in the county, it is to your individual interest that you vote for Judge Buskirk for representative. *

DIED.
On Friday, April 29th, 1870, Mrs. Hannah Helton, wife of Andrew Helton, Esq., aged 64 years.
Mrs. H. had been suffering from a neuralgic affection for a number of years, but became very ill just one week previous to her death.
"FRIENDS, COUNTRYMEN AND Neighbors," If you want Cotton Yarn, Dye Stuffs, Coal Oil, White Fish, Mackrel, Tobacco or Cigars, try and remember that Hancock & Co., keep a large stock on hand, which they supply to customers upon reasonable terms. You can buy Butts, Candies and Fancy Groceries at this store, and their goods are warranted fresh and good. West side of the square.

COUNTY ORDERS.—Two or three hundred dollars in County Orders are wanted for tax paying purposes, by parties who have left the money at this office, with instructions to pay as little as possible for them. If the tax suits, come and get the money. ap13-64

COLD IN THE HEAD RELIEVED in a few minutes; had been caused by offensive secretions; weak eyes, caused by catarrhal affections; sense of smell, when lessened or destroyed; deafness, &c. I personally cured by Seeley's Liquid Catarrh Remedy. Sold in Indiana, only by R. H. CAMPBELL. Price, $2.00 per bottle. Some may object to this medicine because the price is higher than that asked for compound said to give relief, but no one who seriously wishes to be cured, will care to pay a living price—$2.00. Try it.

JUDICIAL DECISION.—Judge Eckles on Tuesday last, gave the following decision, upon the clause of promissory notes where the payee agrees to pay the attorney's fees should legal process have to be instituted for the collection. The obligation of the payee of a promissory note to pay attorney's fees for collection of a note is not good—payee may recover fee for instituting suit, but anything further is regarded by the court as usury. The Indiana School Journal and Teacher.

The organ of the State Teachers' Association, and of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, is edited and published by Hon. George W. Hoos, Ex-Superintendent of Public Instruction, and W. A. Bell, A. M., Principal of the Indianapolis High School.

It is one of the best educational journals in the United States. Here is what others say of it:

"The Journal, always good, will in the future be rendered more attractive."—Christian Advocate, Cincinnati.

"Few, if any, educational periodicals are better conducted than the Indiana School Journal."—Brooklyn Union, N. Y.

"This periodical should be in the hands of every Teacher in the State."—Indianapolis Herald.

"I esteem the Indiana School Journal and Teacher as justly ranking among the first educational periodicals of the country."—E. P. Cole, Supt. Bloomington Schools.

"No Teacher worthy of so grand a title, can fail to do without a School Journal. For Indiana teachers their own Journal is the best."—Hamilton's S. McKee.

"The Indiana School Journal and Teacher, ranks with the first educational journals of the country. No Teacher in Indiana should be without it."—Cyrus Nutt, President State University.

"The Indiana School Journal and Teacher should receive a liberal patronage from the Teachers of the State. It is one of the few that the teacher who has not sufficient pride in his calling to induce him to study carefully the current educational literature of the day, is unworthy a place in the School-room."—A. C. Shortridge, Superintendent Indianapolis Public Schools.

"Experience has shown to all officially connected with the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction that it is a decision and instruction cannot satisfactorily reach those interested without a general channel of intercommunication. The School Journal affords such a medium and by common approval and usage has been taken by Township Trustees and paid for out of the Special Revenue, as a necessary expense in the management of school work."

"I can warmly recommend a liberal support of the Journal and Teacher of this State, for the above object, to all County Examiners and Township Trustees. The teacher who aims to keep himself informed upon the subject of education, its progress and aims, will find such a periodical indispensable."—B. C. Hobbs, Superintendent Public Instruction.

The Journal is published monthly at Indianapolis, at $1.50 per annum, in advance. Five or more copies $1.25 each. Address School Journal, Indianapolis.

CLOSING OUT THE WHOLESTOCK of Goods: Sugar, Coffee, Tea, Spice, Pepper, Soda, Soap, Tobacco, Cigars, Candies, and Wooden Cane Pins, at Clark & Orchard's.

Mrs. Redding, an insane woman in Newcastle, Indiana, on Thursday, put her babe, nine months old, in the stove, and closed the door upon it. The father came in a few seconds, but the child was so burned that it died in three hours.

Joseph Bedford, a Blackford co. sportsman, blew in the muzzle of his gun, the other day, holding the hammer back with his foot. His foot slipped and—there was a funeral in the family.

CLOSING OUT.—The best Brand of Tobaccos, by the pound or caddy, at Clark & Orchard's.

A Card from Mr. O'Bold.
MR. EDITOR:—Some weeks ago my stock of liquors was seized for an alleged violation of the revenue laws, and although conscious of my innocence, I preferred to say nothing in my defense until the charge was judicially investigated. That investigation having taken place, I think it due myself to inform the public of the result, which is all the vindication that I need. Let my statements may be doubted by some, I will submit the following order, officially signed:

Office of U. S. District Attorney, Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 29, 1870.

SIR: You will return to Wm. O'Bold the stock of liquors seized of him by you, under direction of the Hon. Ralph Hill, Collector of the 3d District. The proofs in the case have failed to establish a violation of the Revenue law, and the proceedings against him have consequently been discontinued. Mr. O'Bold has realized all rights of action against the Government Officers, growing out of said seizure.

Respectfully,
THOS. M. BROWNE,
U. S. District Attorney.

W. F. BROWNE,
Bloomington, Ind.

I take pleasure in returning my thanks to the Government officials, at Indianapolis, for the respect and courtesy with which I was treated during the investigation. But one motive seemed to actuate all concerned, and that was to arrive at the facts in the case. I am sorry that I cannot say as much for those who were instrumental in getting up this malicious prosecution against me. Their object seems to be to have my property condemned without reference to my guilt. Although engaged in a business which I know to be unpopular with many, it has been my constant aim to track the law, and keep an orderly and well regulated house, which course I shall continue to pursue as long as I remain in the business. And neither shall slander, or malicious prosecutions with which I have been annoyed, swerve me a particle from the course marked out. I expect to live a respectable citizen in this community, when some of the men who are persecuting me, shall only be remembered for their infamy.

WILLIAM F. O'BOLD.

CLOSING OUT.—One Bucket for 25 cents, at Clark & Orchard's.

—The Bloomington Democrat, in speaking of our colored citizens, calls them "COONS." The only reason for this is, that there are seventy-five or eighty voters among the colored people of Monroe county, ever man of whom will vote the straight Republican ticket.

—Rev. Mr. Malone of New Albany, lectured to the colored people of this place and vicinity, last Wednesday night, upon the duties and responsibilities of the citizen.

The lecture is highly spoken of by those who were present. Major Mulky and W. F. Browning, Esq., were called for, at the conclusion of Mr. Malone's lecture, and delivered short and pertinent speeches. A Republican Club was then organized, which will do good work in the coming canvass.
