Reminiscences of the War.
Camp Chase—How Senator Thurman Shot Col. Moody—Comotion in Columbus.

To the Cincinnati Gazette.

During the year 1862 Col. Granville Moody was in command at Camp Chase, having under his supervision 6,000 rebel prisoners, composed of Generals, Colonels, Majors, Captains, and privates. There was quite a large space of the camp set apart for rebels, surrounded with a stockade twelve feet high and sufficiently under guard to control their Southern feelings. One beautiful afternoon a splendid carriage, drawn by a magnificent pair of prancing horses, and driven by a servant in livery, were seen to enter the camp and approach the rebel stockade. In a few moments the gates were thrown open and the carriage about to enter, when the movement attracted the attention of the watchful eye of Col. Moody, who immediately ordered a halt and demanded by what authority those gates were opened? "By my authority," said a richly dressed lady within the carriage. "And who gave you authority?" "Gov. Tod." "Please let me see it," said Col. Moody.

The pass read: "Permit the bearer to enter Camp Chase and visit the prisoners, provided it meets with the approbation of the commanding officer." Gen. Moody read the pass and said: "Gov. Tod has no authority whatever to pass you to this camp, because it is a national and not a State camp. It is true," continued Moody, "that we respect the authority of Gov. Tod, and treat his requests with due courtesy, but he says to admit you if it meets with my approbation; and why was not this request sent to headquarters?" "Because I did not set fit to send it to you," was the reply. "Then," said Col. Moody to the long bearded Irish coachman in livery, "Drive out, sir, as you will not be permitted to remain." The coachman moved slowly and pretended he could not turn round, when the General ordered the men to drop their guns and take hold of the bits of the horses and back the carriage out, which was speedily done. "I will report you to Gov. Tod," said the voice of the lady, "for you are not fit for the position you occupy, and I will see that you are removed and properly punished for insulting a lady." Col. Moody found out that Mrs. Judge T. had for a month been visiting rebel prisoners and supplying them with the choicest of luxuries, and on this occasion her carriage was filled with supplies to bless the hearts of those with whom she was in sympathy. Col. Moody said to her: "Madam, you not only came here and by your supposed authority risked the escape of all these prisoners, who, with so small a guard, could have easily done so, but you have been providing rebels with aid and sympathy, when there are 150 sick and dying soldiers in our own hospital who would gladly receive those delicates in your carriage, and who would rise up and call your name blessed." The only reply was: "You are no gentleman, and I will report your conduct," and, with the speed of the wind, the coachman hurried her to the Capitol, coachman and lady maddened with furious rage. As soon as she left Gen. Moody said: "Who ordered those gates to be opened?" The officer in charge replied that he did. Gen. Moody demanded the surrender of his sword, and sent him under charges to headquarters. ***

In a very short time a courier arrived in haste from Gov. Tod to Gen. Moody, asking him to come at once to the city, to which request he immediately gave heed. Gen. Moody found Gov. Tod and Gen. Buckingham, Adjutant General of State, awaiting his coming, and immediately retired to a private room in the Capitol, to hold a council of war.

The door was locked, and Gov. Tod said to Gen. Moody: "We sent for you because there is trouble. Mrs. Judge Thurman has brought an account of a terrible insult you gave her in commanding her to leave Camp Chase this afternoon, and her husband is very, very angry, and swears he will shoot you on sight; and now let us hear from you the facts just as they transpired, as we have only heard the statement of Judge Thurman." Gen.

Moody, with precision and accuracy, gave every detail, even to the particulars of the whole conversation, and spoke of his urging her to give her delicacies to the sick in the hospital with such earnestness that during the recital of which Gen. Tod shed tears. After bearing the statement of Col. Moody Gov. Tod said: "By G—, Moody, you were exactly right, and I do not see how you could have done otherwise." Gen. Buckingham said: "If Gen. Moody had done otherwise, I should have reported him as derelict in duty, and insisted on his removal." "But," continued Gov. Tod, "Thurman is exceedingly wroth, and swears that no street or sidewalk is large enough to hold both of you, and he will kill you at sight, and do not let him get the drop on you."

Gen. Moody showed his brace of six shotshells, and said: "Gov. Tod, I keep these for dogs, and these are dog days." The next morning early Gen. Moody came to the city and met a friend, who took him in his carriage. He immediately said: "Gen. Moody, the whole city is in commotion and whirl of excitement at your reported treatment of Mrs. Thurman yesterday, and report says that Judge T. is determined to kill you, while the Democracy are white with pent up wrath." Gen. Moody had never seen Thurman, and while this conversation was going on the friend pointed him out to Moody, who immediately took the reins out of the hands of his friend and drove into the presence of Thurman, who was reading letters in front of the Columbus Postoffice. Moody stood before him and looked him in the eye, and as soon as Thurman saw him he turned white, then yellow, then red, and at last a blue color in a moment, so perturbed was his flow of thought, and, excusing himself to some friends, he immediately started for the State House, where Moody at once followed and showed himself willing to be shot by the man who had shaken the city of Columbus by his threats of dire vengeance. Three times did Thurman thus, with paltry excuses to friends, escape the searching eye of the Republican party throughout the State have a right to know upon whom to fix the responsibility of as shameful a piece of stupidity as ever occurred in our political history.

—One of the last acts of Gov. Gray was to appoint officers to fill all the places in the benevolent institutions that will become vacant this year. The Democrats watched their chance, and called up these appointments, and with the votes of Davis and Poindexter confirmed them. By this means Dr. Tarleton and the other Directors and Superintendents are retained for two more years.

—Prof. Tice's Almanac for 1881 is out. Besides the usual Almanac matter it contains the Forecasts of the Weather, the wonderful verifications in 1880; how to guard against lightning, when it is unsafe to enter deep wells, mines, &c., how to bake and roast; cause of blight in fruits, and much other valuable matter. Altogether the present surpasses any former issue in practical information. For same price as tomes of trials, send 20¢ to Thompson, Tice & Lillington, Publishers, 630 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo.

—It is remarkable that the working classes of Germany have taken little part in the anti-Jewish agitation. At a stormy meeting in Berlin the other day, in which the Jews were denounced as a people "unfit to mix with other races," a workman had the courage to state that "after seventeen years' hard work in Berlin, although a Christian himself, his experience was that Jewish employers had, as a rule, treated him far better than his co-religionists." He accordingly proposed a resolution "in favor of religious liberty." The result was that the meeting hissed him and turned him out.

—A stock company was formed by seven boys of Belleville, Ind., for the purpose of sawing up railroad iron into chunks and selling it to junk men. They raised a capital of $6, with which they bought some tools, and began operations. One rail had not been prepared for market, however, before the shareholders were all arrested. The concern is insolvent.

Ed. Progress:—The bulldozers have made good their threat and have succeeded in having a Democratic teacher hired to teach the remainder of the term at No. 7. All is quiet in Yazzoo now.

The state haulers of Greene county have taken advantage of the good roads and have been hauling staves to the Harrodsburg depot all winter. From ten to twenty loads a day have been delivered. H. T. Smallwood is receiver and "shells out" the cash as each load is counted. The "stave king," McGregor, is a good pay-master.

Berry Owens, the champion sleigh maker, has been kept busy this winter putting up sleighs, but the present thaw will render them useless for a time and give the horses a rest, which will doubtless be gratifying to Mr. Berg.

Wm. Munson of Ellettsville, has been in this township selling farm bells. A very useful thing on a farm.

Marion Shirley and family of Gosport have been visiting at T. J. Clay's.

J.C. Clay's house caught fire a few days ago but the fire was discovered and was extinguished before much damage was done.

Mart. Eaton still runs the wholesale and retail store at Buena Vista.

Messrs. Lane & Kirk are doing a thriving business at Kirksville.

The Indianapolis correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says well:

"The Republicans have experienced to-day the bitterness that always follows an attempt to trade with a Greenbacker. In the voting on the executive nominations in the Senate, Poindexter utterly deserted the Republicans, and enabled the Democrats to confirm Gray's appointments, and maintain control of the benevolent institutions of the State for four years more. This was probably the consideration for the Democratic support of Poindexter's nominees for officers of the Senate. It is understood that Poindexter, having placed himself on the side of the enemy, and delivered all he could to them, will remain with them during the remainder of the session, and assist them to hold what they have gained by defeating every proposition for a reorganization of the benevolent institutions. The Democrats displayed considerable ability in maneuvering their forces and organizing this victory. The result is the best testimonial to the work. It is said that James H. Rice, secretary of the late Democratic State central committee, was the architect and engineer of the job. The Republicans, as usual, lay the blame upon this one and that one, but the fact is that there has been no head or leadership of the Republican side of the Senate, and, as in all such cases, the usual result has come to pass. With proper control all this would have been averted."

If the same men to whom incompetency the gross blundering above referred to is due had been in control of the management of the last canvass, Indiana would have gone Democratic by ten thousand majority. The Republican party throughout the State have a right to know upon whom to fix the responsibility of as shameful a piece of stupidity as ever occurred in our political history.

—St. Nicholas for January opens with two Child-Songs by Alfred Tennyson, the poet laureate of England. One of these is repeated near the end of the number with its music, which also was sent by Mr. Tennyson. The frontispiece is a full-page picture on fine gray paper, representing the "Princess in the Tower," and was engraved on wood by G. Krael after a mezzotint engraving by Samuel Cousins of the painting by J. E. Millais. Several comic pictures by Frank Beard, L. Hopkins, J. G. French, and others appear in the number. The "Letter Box," added to the number, is a picture of the boy and girl, contains an item telling the story of the princess, accompanied by an engraving after a painting by D. H. Bache; and "Jack-in-the-pulpit" and the "Riddle-Box" are full of novelty and interest.

—It is a fact well established by unquestionable testimony that Hall's Hair Renewer renews, cleanses, brightens, invigorates and restores to its original color and lustre, faded, gray or discolored hair, quickly, easily and inexpensively. The user need only to lay it on and use it, rather than to proclaim in a manner more forcible than words can delineate, through blanched locks or grizzly beard, that they are aged and passing to decay. A very short trial will convince the most skeptical that it does eradicate the scaly disease which rob the hair of its color and life. —For Scott (Kan.) Daily Monitor.
