

Republican Progress.

PUBLICATION OFFICE: Progress Block, corner Sixth Street and College Avenue.

PRINTED EACH TUESDAY MORNING BY W. A. GABLE, Editor and Publisher.

One Year (in advance) $3.00
A Club of 5 or more copies, each 1.50

L. N. & C. Railroad.
Time Table at Bloomington.
GOING NORTH. GOING SOUTH.
Express, 11:25 a.m. Express, 8:35 p.m.
Accommodation, 9:15 a.m. Accommodation, 5:50 p.m.
Through freight, 4:55 a.m. Through freight, 7:35 p.m.
Way freight, 2:50 p.m. Way freight, 8:55 a.m.

Ohio & Mississippi Railroad.
Trains leave Mitchell as follows:

GOING WEST. GOING EAST.
Day Express, 11:15 a.m. Day Express, 3:15 p.m.
Night do 11:41 p.m. Night do 3:23 a.m.
Express, 1:05 a.m. Express, 3:25 p.m.
Local freight, 10:40 p.m. Local freight, 10:40 a.m.
Emigrants for Texas and the Great West can also purchase tickets by the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad. Lowest rates for tickets, household goods, stock, etc. All passengers carried to St. Louis, Union Depot. No midnight changes by this route. For all information, such as maps, time tables, rates on passengers, freight, etc., apply to Station Agents of this Company, or call on or address J. S. MILLS, General Emigrant Agent, Seymour, Ind.

The forty-five days' fast which John Griscom of New York has begun in Chicago revives the memory of the grim pastime with which Dr. Tanner amused the public. It is only remarkable that the fasting business dropped so suddenly after Tanner's successful contest against time. Of course if Griscom succeeds, a starving match between him and Tanner for the championship of America will be next in order.

Dr. James Moore of Ironton, Ohio, thinks he has discovered a specific for small-pox in lemon juice, which he used in his own case with such results as to make him say: "So strongly am I convinced of the power of lemon juice to abort any and every case of small-pox that I look upon it as a specific of as much certainty and power in small-pox as quinine is in intermittent fever. I therefore publish my experience, hoping every physician having a case of small-pox will give it a fair trial and report the result to me."

The Swedes are coming to this country in great numbers notwithstanding the efforts of the home government to prevent their emigration. Let them come, they are a hardy race, a thrifty and industrious people, just the right kind to fill up the boundless prairies and level the trackless forests of the great northwest.

New York dispatches give the alarming intelligence that very heavy ice flows are now in the line of Ocean steamers between that port and Liverpool. Great fear always exists at this season of the year in regard to this floating ice, and this year the mass is the heaviest ever known.

The reason that the crematory refused to receive the remains of Geo. Harding, who died with the croup, is that that is regarded as a contagious disease, and the rules of the institution are that no corpses of persons dying with contagious disease will be received.

Judge Holman, of the supreme court, at Indianapolis, has ruled that a corporation being an artificial body, cannot be examined as a party or interrogated under the statute. This is the first reported decision upon this point made in the State, and is important.

A minister has discovered an absolutely new way of paying debts. Being pressed with numerous outstanding obligations which he saw no means of redeeming, he wrote a kind farewell to all his creditors and retired to a monastery. There he is freed from sheriff, bailiffs or debtors. That is much better and equally as efficacious as committing suicide, and does not require near as much nerve.

At the Alexander stock sale of the Woodburn stud, near Lexington recently, good prices were realized. 36 head of colts and fillies, yearlings, aggregated $36,265, an average of $1,007.55. The highest price paid was $5,650 and the lowest $180. The large crowd present were royally entertained, having been fed on Burgoo and barbecued Southdown, washed down by Kentucky's favorite beverage.

The remarkable flood of emigration is almost beyond belief. Three European steamships landed 4,265 immigrants at Castle Garden on Sunday, and three that arrived Monday brought 4,123, making the aggregate for the two days $295. Such a readjustment of people as this means, in the physical geography of the world, was never before known in history. Very properly it is exciting the attention of those most able to grapple with the possible problems suggested by this enormous influx and outflow.

sanitary efforts. An official warning has been received by the government in regard to permitting certain goods to be landed coming from the infected districts. In the present sanitary condition of New York, if it should get a foothold there, the city would be depopulated.

Emigrants from every nation are swarming to New York. People from every nation under the sun are to be found in Castle Garden, and the emigrant trains are inadequate to carry the emigrants west. Steamship companies are chartering vessels in all parts of the world and putting them in the emigrant business.

COMMENCEMENT goods in all styles, qualities and prices, at Len. S. Field & Co.'s New York Store. Don't buy, Ladies, till you examine our stock.

Go to Charley Mobley's Notion store in search of rice goods for Commencement week. He keeps everything that may be needed by the ladies, and sells at the lowest cash prices.

Now is the time to buy your summer wear—like manner of Dress Goods, Hats, Parasols, Fans, etc., if you want the pick of the stock at the New York Dry Goods store of Len. S. Field & Co.

Mrs. Fannie Blanchett died in New York recently from the excessive use of face powder.

John Perry, a wealthy farmer, called for a drink of gin in a drug store at Danville, Illinois, and was given amnesia by mistake. He died in a short time in horrible convulsions.

REMEMBER that your old acquaintances, Solly Carmichael and Len. Field can be found at the New York Store—south side of the square.

Over a half million bushels of corn have been consumed in Iowa for fuel this year.

IN LADIES' SHOES, latest styles, we have some very handsome and fashionable lines. We sell them below Shoe Store prices, too. Len. S. Field & Co.

And did your late husband die in the hope of a blessed immortality, sister Wiggles?" inquired the minister, who was making his first call on a fair widow of his congregation. "Bless you no!" was the mournful response, "he died in Chicago."

A Nevada girl's love-letter: "Dear Jimmy, it's all up. We ain't going to get married. Ma says you're too rough, and I guess she's right. I'm sorry, but can't you go to Europe and get felled down?"

Ask for the New York Store when you come to town, and examine the new summer goods and prices. Everything new, stylish and low priced.

The lady who does the fashion correspondence for the Cincinnati Enquirer, recently called on a giddy New York girl, who has nothing under heaven to do but to follow the fashions. She found her reclining on a lounge in her boudoir, wearing what is called a tea gown, shaped not unlike a long, loose peacock, with elbow sleeves, and angel sleeves, looped and gathered up at the wrists. The material of the garment was a combination of brocade in gold and silver with silk gauze. The writer says: "Anything more Oriental could hardly be found out of the Orient itself. Over her bosom was a fichu of lace, laid over the shoulders and crossing in front; a bunch of red flowers was fastened at her belt; her abundant black hair was brushed back with well counterfeited negligence; the toes of her extended feet were stuck into embroidered sandals, and stockings were a true flesh-color. A glorious creature she looked, truly, as she lay there in her studied carelessness of finery. But what I set out to say was that incense was burning at her side. Yes, fragrant smoke was rising lazily from an incense-burner in a bronze dish. This is a new freak of the girls. The scent-bottle is put aside, and rooms and clothes are perfumed with incense. If the practice lasts long the cannibal who eats a fashionable girl will find her smoked through and through, like a ham, only spicier."

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMME.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 2:30 P. M.—Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 3:30 P. M.—Valedictory Exercises of the Literary Society.
SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 3:30 P. M.—Reunion of class of 1876. Literary exercises by members of the class.
SUNDAY, JUNE 5, 3:30 P. M.—Baccalaureate Exercises by the President, 3:30 a.m.
Address before the University Y.M.C.A.
MONDAY, JUNE 6, 8:30 A. M.—Commencement of the Preparatory Department.
7:30 P. M.—Address before the Literary Society, by Hon. D. P. Baldwin, Attorney General of Indiana.

TUESDAY, JUNE 7, 2:30 P. M.—Business meeting of the Alumni. 7:30 P. M.—Literary exercises of the Alumni.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 8:00 A. M.—University Commencement, 8:00 P. M.—Social Reunion and Leave of the Alumni.

From The Register.

A VIRTUOUS WOMAN.
The following eulogy, in honor of Mrs. Almira U. Hill, was delivered at the family residence in this city by Rev. J. E. A. M. Brant, pastor of the First Methodist Church, on Sunday, May 27, 1881. Mrs. Almira U. Hill, daughter of Dr. N. Y. Hill, 1811, died in Brazil, Ind., May 9, 1881, aged 93 years, 4 months and 18 days. She was married to Abel S. Hill, April 21, 1833, with whom for 48 years and 18 days she shared the joys and sorrows of life. Removed to this State, Oct. 20, 1841, and the following year settled in Clay county at the present site of the Stough homestead, one mile west of Bell.

Her father's house was the stopping place for the early Methodist preachers, who found there a congenial home and resting place as they were laying broad and deep the foundations of Christianity in this western land. From those faithful men Sister Hill received many of her earliest and most lasting impressions on the subject of religion.

Over thirty years ago she became a professor of religion and united with the M. E. Church at what was then known as the Danville society. Subsequently she united with the church at Brazil, and has since been regarded as a staunch believer in the doctrines of the church of Christ. During recent years, she has, we think, followed too rigidly the admonition of the Apostle Paul, who admonished "women to be keepers at home." Yet none who knew her intimately doubted her piety. However, we think she erred in not identifying herself more fully with the work of the church and Sabbath School.

A woman who never compromised an honest conviction, yet, magnanimous, generous and kind hearted, and ever ready to read and intelligently; she might have been a leader in many spheres of usefulness, but she chose rather the circle of her home, in which her excellencies shone conspicuously. To many who hear me, and to myself, she was a constant reminder of the words of the Bible, which was a constant reminder of the words of the Bible, which was a constant reminder of the words of the Bible.

It is not my purpose to-day to speak in sentimental adulation of her virtues or to overlook the fact that she was not faultless. I think I can not do better than to call your attention to a description of a good woman as found in the last chapter of Proverbs:

"Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of fear. She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life. She seeketh wool, and flax, and worketh diligently with her hands. She is like the heavenly stars; she bringeth her food from afar. She riseth also while it is yet night, and giveth meat to her household, and a portion to her maidens. She seeketh the field, and buyeth it; with the fruit of her hands she planteth a vineyard. She girdeth her loins with strength, and strengtheneth her arms. She perceiveth that her merchandise is good; her candle goeth not out by night. She layeth her hand to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaff. She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; she reacheth forth her hand to the needy. She is not afraid of the snow for her household; for all her household are clothed with scarlet. She maketh herself coverings of tapestry; her clothing is silk and purple. Her husband is known in the gates, when he sitteth among the elders of the land. She maketh fine linen, and selleth it; and delivereth girdles unto merchants. Strength and honor are her clothing; and she shall rejoice in time to come. She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness. She looketh not on the way of the world; neither is she a follower of the eyes. Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all. Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates. I do not say that our Sister answered in every particular to the description herein given, but to nearly all she answered truly. She was like the heavenly stars. She was not afraid of toil. She had no patience with a sluggard. Then her economy, a rare virtue among women of her rank. Her husband she considered the fields and her hands were busy in their acquisition. She helped plant the vineyard, the flowers and the evergreens, in this her room are evidences of her care. She emphasized her wisdom and knowledge. She opened her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue was the law of kindness. Living as she did, and as most of us who are here to-day, in this age of telegraphs and daily newspapers, each and every one of us has become a part of the universe and so gather knowledge from every point of the compass. Sister Hill was alive to her privileges; when not busy with her hands her mind was busy with books, and she became a walking encyclopedia of the history of her time. She could give you information about all the leading characters of this age and also of the ages past. But wisdom is one thing and knowledge another. One may be knowing but not wise. Of her it may be said that she was a woman of discretion or as the world says of "sagacity."

But I pass to notice that "favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised." Without the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom, all her knowledge, industry, economy and sagacity would have been in vain. Now that she is dead "her works praise her in the gates."

She was a woman that feared the Lord. So her husband confided in her judgment and her children rise up and call her blessed. I would be faithless to her memory were I to omit to speak of her devotion to her children. How careful that they should work and then that they should be well clothed and well fed. In this Bible given to her by her father in her marriage, 48 years ago, I find evidences of her taste and reading. And among the sermons and ships laid away in this closet she strikes us more forcibly than these scraps of papers that were sent her by the teachers fifteen or more years ago, marking the standing of Cato and Brutus at school. Here they are kept so neatly and carefully that not a word or corner is turned down. These evince a mother's intense care for her boys. One of them, speaking of his sickness two years ago, says, "How mother watched over me night and day, and how she prayed for me."

I remember how she used to talk to me about Cato, who was smothered to death in a well by the damps. Said she: "I cannot understand why he should be so suddenly taken away." Then referring to Cato's death she said, "I could give you my boy that fell in the war, (for she gave one son to die that this nation might live), but why Cato should die as he did, I cannot understand." The ways of God are mysterious. But she was a woman of faith.

When Johnny, who was ever an object of her motherly devotion, was nearing death, he said, "Mother, will I be a cripple, as I am now, when I am gone?" "No," said the mother, "my son, you will be like Jesus, for 'when you see him as he is you will be like him.'" How the teachings of this blessed God comforted her in times of sorrow and how he gave her words to comfort the dying boy.

In conclusion, I have to say her life was a grand success, measured by the true standard of success. A faithful wife, a devoted mother—one of the Christian mothers who a statesman said was the want of France, and who are now wanted everywhere in this broad land. She "lived in a grand and awful time. In an age on ages falling; in an age sublime." As we look back on the years of the recent war and think of the thunder of the battle and the shouting of armies it seems like a dream when one awakes or like a horrible nightmare. This past mother whose prayers went up to heaven (and who can tell how much we are indebted for this nation's life to the prayers of such noble women), lived to see the triumph of the Union. In seeking freedom she gave one boy, who fell on the field of carnage, and another maid for life, but she lived to see the nation in the tide of progress. She saw those near to her in high national trusts, and her sons have come to honor, and she knew it to her rejoicing. Her life was indeed a success, and ended in triumph. She ceased at once to work and live.

As to her preparations for death, I have to say this: She was well prepared to live, and so ready to die. She seemed to anticipate a sudden death and so said to some friends: "I square my life every day; I live every day as if it were my last." In seeking freedom she gave one boy, who fell on the field of carnage, and another maid for life, but she lived to see the nation in the tide of progress. She saw those near to her in high national trusts, and her sons have come to honor, and she knew it to her rejoicing. Her life was indeed a success, and ended in triumph. She ceased at once to work and live.

THE FULLNESS OF JESUS:
I lay my sins on Jesus,
The spotless lamb of God;
He bears them all, and frees us
From the accursed load.
I bring my guilt to Jesus,
To wash my crimson stains
White in his blood most precious,
Till not a spot remains.
I lay my wants on Jesus,
All fullness dwells in him;
He healeth my diseases,
His name is my sole ransom.
I lay my griefs on Jesus,
My burdens and my care;
He from them all releases,
He all my sorrow shares.
I rest my soul on Jesus,
This weary soul of mine;
His right hand is my strength,
I on his breast recline.
I love the name of Jesus—
Immanuel, Christ the Lord;
His fragrance on the breeze,
His name is spread abroad.
I long to be like Jesus—
Meek, loving, lowly, mild.
I long to be like Jesus—
The Father's holy child.
I long to be with Jesus,
And the heavenly throng,
To sing with saints his praises,
To learn the angels' song.
In that hymn we have a prayer the last verse of which is now answered and she is now with Jesus.

Spirit thy warfare is over,
The earthly probation is run,
Thy steps are now bound for the untroubled shore.
The race of Immortals, begin.
Now that she is gone, may God bless the bereaved husband, and comfort the lonely mother, and lead the boys to follow her Saviour and to make no compromise with sin. Shall I say more than this verse? "Give her the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

not might live, but why Cato should die as he did, I cannot understand." The ways of God are mysterious. But she was a woman of faith.

When Johnny, who was ever an object of her motherly devotion, was nearing death, he said, "Mother, will I be a cripple, as I am now, when I am gone?" "No," said the mother, "my son, you will be like Jesus, for 'when you see him as he is you will be like him.'" How the teachings of this blessed God comforted her in times of sorrow and how he gave her words to comfort the dying boy.

In conclusion, I have to say her life was a grand success, measured by the true standard of success. A faithful wife, a devoted mother—one of the Christian mothers who a statesman said was the want of France, and who are now wanted everywhere in this broad land. She "lived in a grand and awful time. In an age on ages falling; in an age sublime." As we look back on the years of the recent war and think of the thunder of the battle and the shouting of armies it seems like a dream when one awakes or like a horrible nightmare. This past mother whose prayers went up to heaven (and who can tell how much we are indebted for this nation's life to the prayers of such noble women), lived to see the triumph of the Union. In seeking freedom she gave one boy, who fell on the field of carnage, and another maid for life, but she lived to see the nation in the tide of progress. She saw those near to her in high national trusts, and her sons have come to honor, and she knew it to her rejoicing. Her life was indeed a success, and ended in triumph. She ceased at once to work and live.

As to her preparations for death, I have to say this: She was well prepared to live, and so ready to die. She seemed to anticipate a sudden death and so said to some friends: "I square my life every day; I live every day as if it were my last." In seeking freedom she gave one boy, who fell on the field of carnage, and another maid for life, but she lived to see the nation in the tide of progress. She saw those near to her in high national trusts, and her sons have come to honor, and she knew it to her rejoicing. Her life was indeed a success, and ended in triumph. She ceased at once to work and live.

THE FULLNESS OF JESUS:
I lay my sins on Jesus,
The spotless lamb of God;
He bears them all, and frees us
From the accursed load.
I bring my guilt to Jesus,
To wash my crimson stains
White in his blood most precious,
Till not a spot remains.
I lay my wants on Jesus,
All fullness dwells in him;
He healeth my diseases,
His name is my sole ransom.
I lay my griefs on Jesus,
My burdens and my care;
He from them all releases,
He all my sorrow shares.
I rest my soul on Jesus,
This weary soul of mine;
His right hand is my strength,
I on his breast recline.
I love the name of Jesus—
Immanuel, Christ the Lord;
His fragrance on the breeze,
His name is spread abroad.
I long to be like Jesus—
Meek, loving, lowly, mild.
I long to be like Jesus—
The Father's holy child.
I long to be with Jesus,
And the heavenly throng,
To sing with saints his praises,
To learn the angels' song.
In that hymn we have a prayer the last verse of which is now answered and she is now with Jesus.

Spirit thy warfare is over,
The earthly probation is run,
Thy steps are now bound for the untroubled shore.
The race of Immortals, begin.
Now that she is gone, may God bless the bereaved husband, and comfort the lonely mother, and lead the boys to follow her Saviour and to make no compromise with sin. Shall I say more than this verse? "Give her the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

THE LATEST styles in Gents' Button Shoes, at Perdue's Shoe Store.
A rich man's son lives on his pap, while a poor man's son takes Dr. Marshall's Bromine for his blood and liver and earns his bread by the sweat of his brow. Big bottles, fifty cents.

PEOPLE must discuss something; it is the great preventive of insanity. All persons are invited to discuss a trial bottle of Dr. Marshall's Bromine for biliousness and dyspepsia.

CALL AT TOBE SMITH'S for ladies' and gents' watches.
For clocks, razors and penknives. For neck-chains and fine lockets. For gents' vest chains and charms. For pins, ear-rings and sets. For buttons, studs and scarf-pins. For plated knives, forks or spoons, castors, pickle-casters, bowls, etc. For repairs on watches, clocks and jewelry of all kinds.

BEST HOTEL in the city, close to the Ohio River, House kept by S. M. Orchard & Son. The house is large, airy, convenient to business part of Bloomington, and table rooms and beds equal to any. Commercial travelers can always secure desirable sleeping rooms at this house. Farmers supplied with meals at fair figures. Inquire for the "Orchard House."

If you want to buy something in nice Dress Goods, Black Silks, etc., you had better look at the Bee Hive before purchasing.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENTS.
All persons owing Delinquent City Taxes are hereby notified that an early settlement of the same will save costs, as the Treasurer will proceed to collect, according to law, all taxes remaining delinquent after June 15th, next.

WALTER E. WOODBURN, Treasurer.
May 20th.
—G. W. Moore & Son, of Monroe, Mo., under date of December 15, 1880, write: The McCormick Self-Binder gave us entire satisfaction. We cut over 100 acres of grain with but one breakage of a bolt costing 10 cents. We cut 100 acres a day with two horses. Driver and one shocker cut our entire crop, when we could not have done it with a dropper or self-rake. We think the McCormick Self-Binder the best in the market, running light with two horses, doing its work complete, is easily managed and kept in running order.

A NEW PROPRIETOR.—EPI.
Houses has purchased the shoe stores, recently opened by the late proprietor, and will conduct business in a careful and painstaking manner. Old customers are asked for a continuance of favors. A stock of the choicest cigars and tobaccos always kept on hand. Give the new firm a trial who you want a cash shaver, or a neat job of Hair Cutting. aug-12-79

PAINTS! PAINTS!
Parties who contemplate painting this Spring, will do well to call and see us before buying their material, as we have an article of mixed paints that exceeds anything offered in this market. It has been tried and gives fullest satisfaction.

THOSE PEOPLE who delight in patronizing a neat and completely stocked drug store, should visit the establishment of Oscar Reed & Co., on the west side of the public square—the old Farlor Drug Store stand. Reed is a prescriptionist of experience, and keeps a complete stock of drugs and patent medicines. Not only this; special attention is paid to Perfumery, Toilet Articles, and such goods as are most frequently inquired for by the Ladies. A full supply of Paints in stock.

N. F. BONSALE & Co.
The "Peerless" reaper and mow-cutter, one of the leading machines of the age, is for sale by Bonsale & Co. Come to the store, north side square.

New stock of late pattern cook stoves, just arrived at Bonsale & Co's agricultural implement store.

Come and get a catalogue of the McCormick reaper and mow-cutter, at Bonsale's new hardware store.

The Greatest Remedy Known.
Dr. KING'S NEW Discovery for Consumption is certainly the greatest medical remedy ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity. Thousands of one hopeless sufferers, now loudly proclaim their praise for this wonderful Discovery to which they owe their lives. Not only does it positively cure Consumption, but Coughs, Hoarseness, and all affections of the Throat, Chest and Lungs yield at once to the wonderful curative powers as if by magic. We do not ask you to buy a large bottle until you know what you are getting. We therefore earnestly request you to call on your druggist, H. Lindley, and get a trial bottle for ten cents which will convince the most skeptical of its merits, and show you what a regular one dollar bottle will do. For sale by H. Lindley, Bloomington, Ind.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENTS.
An act concerning Taxation passed by the last Legislature. Section 159 reads as follows:

Sec. 159. County Auditors shall not be authorized to credit the Treasurer with any uncollected delinquency for which he claims credit, unless such Treasurer shall show, by proper returns as above provided, that he has diligently sought for and has been unable to find any personal property from which to collect such taxes, or that having made a levy, he was enjoined or otherwise prevented from making sale or collection by a court of competent jurisdiction. In all cases where he has failed to make demand upon residents who are delinquent, or to levy and sell when personal property can be found in the county out of which to make the tax, he shall be liable on his official bond, for such uncollected delinquency and ten per cent. damages thereon.

So it is not only my duty to collect, but I am compelled to do so in order to save myself and my bondsmen, so take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

L. E. MCKINNEY,
Treasurer Monroe county.

Bloomington, Ind., June 1, 1881.

Commissioner's SALE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned Commissioner, appointed by the Monroe Circuit Court, at its April Term, 1881, in the cause of Ann R. Schell vs. Milton Hight and Joseph D. Handy, Administrators of the Estate of J. S. Smith Hunter, deceased, et al, in partition, will sell at public auction between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. on SATURDAY, June 16th, 1881,

the following described real estate in Monroe county, Indiana, to-wit:

The southwest quarter of the northwest quarter and south half of the southeast quarter, all in section sixteen, town ten, north range two west.

Said sale will be made upon the following terms to-wit:
One-third of purchase money will be paid in cash, one-third in twelve months, and one-third in eighteen months, the purchaser giving notes for deferred payments, with approved freehold surety, interest at six per cent. per annum from date of sale.

Said sale will be made on the premises, near the town of Stineville, Indiana.

JOSEPH E. HENLEY,
Commissioner.
May 19-1881.
Eliat & East, attorneys.

HAIR'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.
Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures itching, Eruptions, and all diseases of the scalp. It is a great dressing for the hair, softening which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS.
Will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

ASK FOR GEORGE ATKINSON'S CHEAP SHOE STORE WEST SIDE OF THE PUBLIC SQUARE.

OPERA SEWED BOOTS, FINE FRENCH CALF.

HAND SEWED Morocco Tops, handsomely finished—sold at SIX dollars! Will cost $9 anywhere else in the country. Examine.

Ladies' Best Quality Kid, Side Lace and Button, glove fitting Shoes—Prices Low.

Mens' Sewed Low Shoes, French Calf, $2.50 (NICEST IN BLOOMINGTON.)

PLOW SHOES of the best maker.
Don't buy a pair till you give George Atkinson a call.

Summer School.

FOURTH ANNUAL SESSION.

Under the management of the Preparatory Teachers, State University, Bloomington, Indiana, commencing JULY 1881, and ending with the Monroe County Teachers' Institute, AUGUST 20th, 1881.

What's to be Done Follows:

1st. COMMON BRANCHES.
(a) Each branch will be thoroughly reviewed, and difficult points discussed and explained.
(b) The course of instruction in GRAMMAR will unfold various modes of Analysis and scholarly questions of knotty questions; GEOGRAPHY will be conducted by topics and questions—1000 questions in descriptive Geography will be given, all essential points in Political Geography, MATHEMATICS and PHYSICAL Geography Specialties; The treatment of PHYSIOLOGY will be comprehensive, thorough and practical; U. S. HISTORY will be taught by the most impressive methods; READING, WRITING and ORTHOGRAPHY will be given due prominence; the study of AUTHORS connected with the work in reading, will be especially useful to teachers.

(c) Those desiring to obtain Teachers' License will receive special attention.

2nd. THEORY AND PRACTICE.
(a) This portion of the work will be handled in a way which will be eminently practical to those about to teach for the first time.

(b) Teachers of experience will receive valuable hints and suggestions on School management.

(c) The elements of a Training School will be developed from time to time.

3rd. PREPARATORY WORK FOR COLLEGE CLASSES:
(a) In addition to the work of the common branches, recitations in Algebra, Geometry and Latin will be conducted for the benefit of those desiring instruction in those studies.

(b) An intimate acquaintance with Preparatory work enables the conductors of this School to do more in the same length of time toward preparing for College work than can be done elsewhere in the State.

4th. A COURSE OF LECTURES:
(a) On subjects particularly useful to Teachers.

(b) On subjects entertaining and instructive to all.

Remarks.—Our CHIEF object is to conduct a Teachers' Normal. An acquaintance with the Public Schools, and with the workings of various Normal Schools, enable us to insure as much and as lasting benefit to be gained from this School, as can be derived from any similar school elsewhere. Literary work of a useful and entertaining nature will be presented during the progress of the School. Any one desiring to enter the Freshman or Preparatory Classes of the University, or any similar institution, can find here an unusually good opportunity to prepare himself.

TUITION, $5, payable in advance. Board from $2.25 to $3.00 per week. Parties wishing board at the lowest rates must communicate with the Teachers on the subject. Cost of the entire term not exceed $20. For further information, address—

W. R. HOUGHTON, J. K. BECK or J. A. WOODBURN.

ICE CREAM. ICE CREAM.

MADE OF BEST MATERIALS

AND SUPPLIED IN LARGE OR SMALL QUANTITIES, BY

Hobson & McKinley,

East Side Confectionery.

Ague Cure
Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful "onic," and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders, whether chronic or acute, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only precursors of severe symptoms, which terminate in the ague prostrum, succeeded by high fever and prostration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic and other poisonous minerals, form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Bitters," and "Tonics" in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and its cure drag poison in the system, producing quinine, dyspepsia, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease which they intend to cure. Dr. Ayer's AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates