ing, Bloomington, Indiana.

Come and examine our axes and cross-cut saws before you conclude to purchase. Best diamond steel.
Come every one to the Hardware Store of W. J. Allen, and examine his large stock of Hardware and Stoves of all kinds, from the smallest heating stove to the largest extension cook stove. A car load in store, and will be sold cheap, for cash. Don't buy any stove until you examine the Favorite Cook Stove, the best in the world—warranted to bake better and take less fuel than any stove in the market.
See those shot guns and revolvers, just received. Very cheap.

GEORGE A. BENCKERT—BALTIMORE Oyster Agency at Benckert's Bakery. Oysters served at all hours, and in every style.
Don't forget to try a dish.

OYSTERS in all styles and in any quantity (the best in the market) are received daily by Benckert, the Baker, in Orchard House block.

Come to Benckert's Oyster Bay, in the Orchard House block and get a dish or can of choice, fresh Baltimore oysters. Best in town.

Fresh Bread, Cakes, etc., baked every day. The best of flour and other ingredients used.

PHYSICIANS VERY often prescribe, at this time of year, medicines that have for their basis pure brandy or whisky. If the patient gets impure spirits these made medicines by dishonest city retailers—the effect is very harmful. A reputation for securing and selling only pure and unadulterated liquors, is worth something to a man. Such a reputation August Kreager has earned by many years of experience, and persons who require whiskey or brandy for medicinal purposes, may rest assured that when they buy it of Kreager, they get it as it comes from the distillery, without any doctoring.
The best of anything is none too good for the people, and while they are buying they should get the best—it is cheaper.

Families and individuals who desire to secure groceries and provisions in any quantity, should go to the mammoth grocery house of Dunn & Co., near the depot, and examine the stock that is now being received by every train. The supply is so large and varied that no one need go further. The reputation established by Dunn & Co. as fair dealers and accommodating men, is making money for them rapidly, for though they sell goods very low they sell so many that the profits are large in the aggregate. Go to Dunn's before you make your purchases.

Geo. A. Benckert has fitted up the room north of his bakery, for an oyster saloon, where his patrons can have a nice quiet time and enjoy a dish of these delicacies, prepared in Benckert's best style.

A special term of court was to have been begun Monday a week, by Judge Collins, but the Dillman will case, which was begun on the Friday previous, held on till last Thursday evening, so the time to try the venue cases has been set for the 12th of October.

Bloomington was dead, almost, on Monday a week. A large proportion of the population went to Ellettsville, to attend the Uncle Jimmy Parks meeting. Six hundred persons went by the railroad, while all the roads leading to El-lettsville were crowded with vehicles containing entire families.

Thirty years since, the last Wakarusa Express says, one would hardly dare sleep in a house not protected by lightning rods; twenty years since they were thought to be perfect protectors if only well pointed; ten years since people began to discover how they had been humbugged, and now hardly one in a dozen has any faith in such protection or puts any rod on his house.

The Dillman will case was brought to a sudden termination Thursday night by a compromise between all the parties. David C.
Dillman, who died in Florida last spring, left two-thirds of his money and real estate to Jas. L. Dillman (a son), and to Miss Turner, a granddaughter. The other heirs brought suit to set aside the will, on the ground that decedent was of unsound mind when he decreed his property. After a five days' trial and the examination of about forty witnesses, the jury was charged and sent to their room, but were recalled Thursday night and discharged, owing to the compromise. The terms of the compromise leave the will still as it is, and the costs of the suit are to be paid out of the assets of the estate by the executor.
The jury was found to have "hung," so that a compromise was perhaps the shortest way out of a tedious case. Buskirk & Duncan and Friedley, Pearson & Friedley for plaintiffs; Loudon & Miers and East & East for defendants.

The celebration of the centennial birthday of Uncle Jimmy Parks, at Ellettsville, on Monday a week, was the most successful old settlers' meeting ever held in the State. Fully ten thousand people were on the grounds, including representatives of the Parks family and other visitors from thirteen States of the Union. A train of six heavily loaded coaches arrived from Martinsville, and a large train came from Owen and Greene counties.
Uncle Jimmy did not look so old, though he is becoming quite feeble.
He was a member of the Board of county commissioners fifty years ago, and has served in the State legislature. Owing to the fact that the President's funeral occurred on the day set for the Old Settlers' meeting, the committee thought proper to and did change the order of exercises so as to have memorial services in the forenoon, and nothing else. They accordingly invited Dr. Lamuel Moss of Indiana University, to deliver an address upon the services and death of our second martyred President. Dr. Moss cheerfully complied, and in the eloquent, forcible manner which characterizes all his public efforts.
His address was listened to with marked attention. After dinner Mr. Parks and wife were introduced to the people by Prof. Fletcher, and was followed by Judge Franklin. The prominent, or specially invited guests, were provided with dinner by F. E. Worley and wife. In fact the credit for the success of the meeting is principally due to the untiring energy of Mrs.
Worley, who has been busy during the past month with the necessary preliminaries. The central figure of the occasion—Uncle Jimmy—was born in Wilkes county, N. C., the 28th day of September, 1781, and removed to Indiana 64 years ago. If the old gentleman should live till '82, there will be a still larger reunion at Ellettsville.

The marriage of Mary L.
(youngest daughter of Henry Eller, Esq.) and Mr. Wm. D. Ward took place Sunday night a week, at the Cross Roads M. E. church.
There was a large assemblage present, all friends and neighbors of the contracting parties. An affair took place at the residence of the hospitable parents of the bride, at which the guests were placed at tables literally groaning with supplies of choice viands. Henry Eller never forgets his friends, as we had reason to know on this occasion.
Mr. Eller and wife now part with their sixth daughter, and are left without a family, although having successfully raised nine children.

The Soldiers' Encampment and Veteran Reunion at Lafayette, Ind., in consequence of the death of the President, was postponed till Oct.
12th, 13th and 14th. Rations and quarters will be furnished free to the old soldiers, and a general invitation is extended.

Dr. Boggs, a promising physician, recently a partner of Dr.
Weir, and who went to Quincy, in Putnam co., to take the practice of Dr. Mullinix, was attacked by a malarial fever, two weeks ago, and on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, died. The remains were brought to Bloomington for burial on Monday, and the Odd Fellows of this place took charge of the ceremonies.
Dr. B. was young, vigorous, full of hope and confidence, and his friends had predicted a brilliant professional career for him.

Judge Wilson returned to his home in Bedford, on Friday last.
Judge W. has disposed of an immense amount of business since the beginning of the September Term.
His next court here will begin in the third week of November—21st.

Jos. N. Alexander, the popular business man of the big grocery firm of Dunn & Co., will be married in the Christian church, next Wednesday, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., to Miss Nellie, daughter of the late Capt. John Sluss.

Dr. Boggs is very sick, at Quincy, with remittent fever. Several Bloomington physicians have gone up to visit him. It is said that there is sickness in thirty-six out of forty Quincy families. Good place to move from.

John Waldron, jr., Josh.
Howe and Will Blair went to Louisville and Cincinnati, Tuesday of last week, taking in both expositions. They arrived in Cincinnati Wednesday, in time to attend prayer meeting that night.

As a sample of the way people get taken in by peddlers, it is stated that one of these persons recently sold plush tidy pins at 75c per dozen to a number of the ladies in this place, when they could have gotten the same at McCalla's for 35c per dozen.

It is difficult to understand why good citizens like Orchard, Rogers, Dodds and Boggs, should be taken away, while the scores of worthless, ornery scallawags, who pollute the atmosphere of Bloomington never die and seldom get sick. Has not this thought frequently occurred to you?

Last week, during the absence of the editor, the foreman swapped work with our clever neighbor of the Courier—he set up Judge Wilson's speech for the Courier, and then borrowed that paper's report of the memorial meeting. It contained a sentence with reference to Rev.
Pittner's prayer which would have been suppressed if Mr. Gabe had been at home.

Mutilated coin is now discounted as follows: Dollars, 65c; half dollars, 35c; quarters, 15c; dimes, 5c. This is the scale fixed 'tis said, by Government, and almost seems like stealing. Because a few scoundrel fellows have been punching out parts of the coin, innocent holders are required to lose on the coins they have taken at par value.

On Thursday night next, at Mendelssohn Hall, "Aladdin," or the "Wonderful Lamp," will be performed by a troupe of Bloomington children, who will represent all the characters in the fairy story.
The performance will close with the celebrated "Fan Dill," by the "Fan Brigade." Music by Bloomington orchestra. Proceeds for benefit of Presbyterian Church. Admission, 35c. Children, 15c. Tickets for sale at postoffice. No extra charge for reserved seats.

The parents of Dr. Boggs arrived in Bloomington Monday.
They reside at Caldwell, O. His brother, Prof. Reed Boggs, is also here. He is principal of the public schools in Shelbyville, Ind.

Clem. Whitaker, a fifteen year old lad, had an arm broken one day last week, while leading a horse, at Rain begun to fall Saturday

At 5 o'clock Sunday evening it begun again and continued with but little intermission during the night and all day Monday. Seems as if you could almost see the grass growing.

Persons desiring to go east or west should apply to John Graham, agent at Bloomington for the Vandalia and Pan Handle railroads. Any point east or west is reached by these roads and travelers can have their tickets in their pockets when they leave here—no mistakes, no uncertainties. The Vandalia is the only road that makes close connection west with the L. N. A. & C. railroad. The Vandalia and Pan Handle lines are the most reliable roads in the country, and the contracts of their agents are binding in every case. It is hardly necessary to vouch for the reliability of John Graham—his business qualifications and integrity are well known and appreciated in this community.

For five years John C. Voss has been carrying on the watch repairing and jewelry business in this place, and in that time he has established a reputation for skillful workmanship, fair dealing and honesty, that any young business man might envy. Last week, learning that Geo. Rouse of Bedford, was desirous of selling out, in order that he might take the road as a commercial traveler, Mr. Voss went down and closed a trade with Rouse, paying him $2,000 for his stock. Having had an intimate personal and business acquaintance with Voss, we take great pleasure in recommending him to the people of Lawrence county as a man in whose skillful hands they can trust the most delicate work, and upon whose honesty they may invariably depend. He is a No. 1 young man in every particular.
