—The Rhodes brothers had an insurance policy on their mother's life at Bradford, Pa. She was in feeble health, and the prospect of her early death led the sons to quarrel beforehand over the division of the money. When they began to fight, the spectacle so affected Mrs. Rhodes as to bring on an attack of heart disease, and she dropped dead.

—A man should think twice before he spends his money foolishly.

If he will put it in a savings bank which has a modern cashier, he will probably think more than a hundred times what a fool he was.

Cornelius Vanderbilt began to climb the golden wave with an old saw. Jay Gould started out with a rat trap. Now boys take your choice.

—After a cruise of a few months in the south Pacific, a French man-of-war was recently found to have specimens of living corals growing upon her hull.

The interesting discovery has thrown some light on the question of the rapidity of growth of corals. The evidence tends to show that the vessel, on passing a reef of the Gambier islands, against which she rubbed, had picked up a young fungus, which adhered to the sheathing and grew to a diameter of 9 inches and a weight of 2½ pounds in nine weeks.

Alexandria.

Plans and Things That Sunset Cos. Experienced in Egypt.

Congressman S. S. Cox writes as follows about this place that is now so much commented on since the English men-of-war opened fire on it.

The next morning Alexandria is in sight. As we enter, the military bands of the war steamers play, and I distinguish the French as the liveliest. The world knows now what these iron birds of prey are after in this old and superb part of the oldest of nations. The English are happy with Suez, the French with Tunis, and both very, very happy in Egypt—"except these bonds."

The Egyptians would be happy if either dear charmer were away.

This is the meaning of the late revolution in politics—the meaning of the Sultan's intervention and of the ironclads in the harbor.

Alexandria is worthy of its nameake and history. It has had its schools of philosophy, its grand library, its column and royal glory, and its grand configuration. Its Pompey's Pillar remains, on high dusty ground, where there is no water and much dirt, and where black torsos of sphinxes lie around amidst sleepy Arabs and flea-bitten dogs. The pillar is 100 feet high, a single shaft. It shares with the famous Pharos Lighthouse, of polished granite, the attention of travelers as they approach the city. It is supposed to have been built to honor Diolethan. The palace of the Pasha is worthy of the city, which now has 300,000 population and an increasing commerce.

But Alexandria has its drawbacks.

Fleas are one of them. We have had much discomfort in Judea from sand-flies and mosquitoes; but for fleas, Egypt bears the palm! What some one said of the regions of Galilee, as to its congregation of fleas, applies to the cosmopolitan city of Alexandria. The mug, steady, importunate flea from London; the pert, jumping puce from France; the wily, waterflea puce, with his long, slender body, and his long, forked antennae; the vengeful puce of Castile, with his ugly knife; the German flea, with his knife and fork insatiate, and the swarms from all the Russias, and the Asiatic Moorman Fisher were nominated for Representatives for Martin and Dubois, and Pike and Dubois respectively; and A. H. Taylor for prosecutor for Dubois, Pike and Gibson.

THE TIME TO SELL.

The wise farmer will push his grain into the market as soon as he can, to get the benefit of the big prices now prevailing. The foolish farmer will wait until the effect of the plentiful harvest is felt at seventy-five cents a bushel.—Pike County Democrat.

—Half a century ago Daniel Webster always kept a brandy bottle in his committee room, and frequently appeared in the Senate chamber decidedly exhilarated late in the afternoon, while Silas Wright would have a tumbler full of Holland gin placed on his desk when he was speaking, and drank it as though it were water. There have been great changes for the better in the use of intoxicating beverages.

—A recent trial, which ended in the acquittal of certain peasants in the Russian province of Vyatka, who had beaten the Chief of Police half dead, brought out some disagreeable facts concerning the way in which taxes are collected in some parts of Russia. It was shown that of about 1,000 peasants living in the district 797 had been flogged for non-payment of taxes in the short period from 1878 to 1880. The rural authorities were fully aware that it was from sheer poverty, and from no other cause, that the peasants were in default, and consequently they presented a petition to the governor for a remission of the payments due. The police intervened, nevertheless, assembled the rural tribunal, brought the peasants before the judges, and had them sentenced to receive so many lashes, threatening that if this was not done they would have the judges themselves flogged.

A COVERED ROAD.—The experiment of a covered road is to be tried in Madison county, Illinois. Residents of Collinsville have subscribed something over $10,000 with which to cover the turnpike between that place and East St. Louis. The cover will be a gable roof of planks, open at the sides. We have no great amount of faith in a satisfactory result. There are many obvious drawbacks in the way, nevertheless it is best to wait and see before pronouncing the plan entirely infeasible.—Prairie Farmer.

—It is said that Guitau's hangman will never be known. As a result of this secrecy there will be enough of Guitau's hangmen floating around within the next six months to supply all the carcasses in the country.

hordes unnumbered—all these were here, rejoicing in an international feast, of which America was the victim. From these annoyances what a relief to ride and walk, out of sight of the canal and the sand, amidst the Hesperian gardens of Alexandria. Never since I have been traveling, neither at Kew or Versailles, Peterhoff nor the Hague, has there appeared such tropical luxuriance of flowers, fruit, and foliage as in one of the magnificent gardens we visited in this city. All that grows under glass with its blooms and spreads, shoots, efflorescences, tangles here in the air of winter, and laden with golden-red dates in luscious clusters, seem to be the supreme object of the landscape. After watching the draberies upon the grand canal, and the canal itself, running its Nile water lazily for the irrigation of fields of corn and sugar, and these incomparable gardens, we begin to wish for more time, and to think of Cairo and its dreamy beauty. Pictures in our own library at home, of the Libyan desert and the pyramids, of Heliopolis and its lonely obelisk, begin to arise in the fancy like rosy autographs, to which the recollection of the "Hawajji" of George William Curtis, of many years ago, adds its soft, balmy charm.

—A writer in the Cornhill justly gives the palm of cheap places to live in to Belgium and Italy. At Ypres or Malines an ordinary ten-room house may be had for $100 a year, a good Flemish cook for $4 a month, and a housemaid for $3. Milk, eggs, poultry, fruit, and vegetables are about forty per cent cheaper than in American cities. Schools are cheap and good. In the convent schools Protestants are admitted without danger of proselytism. Italy is still cheaper than Belgium to those who know Italian and have some savoir faire; but Americans and English must take very good care to ascertain what prices really are or they will be charged tenfold. Bargaining is absolutely necessary, and as a rule, it is best to offer at first one-third of the price demanded. Rome, Naples, Turin, and Florence should be avoided by those bent on frugal living.

Convention of the Tenth Judicial Circuit.

The Republican Judicial Convention of the 10th circuit met in Bates Hall, Mitchell, July 11. At one o'clock, Gen. Wm. T. Spieley was called to preside. E. S. Motre and H. J. Cooper, of the Orleans Examiner, were Secretaries. The counties were called, and all found represented. Mr. Nat. U. Hill, of Bloomington, put Joseph E. Henley in nomination for Prosecuting Attorney, and the Hon. W. H. Edwards put in nomination George W. Alford, of the Logansport Tribune. J. T. Rodgers, Esq., withdrew the name of Mr. Alford, and a motion was offered by W. M. Munson and seconded by Charles G. Berry, Esq., that the convention nominate, by acclamation, Joseph E. Henley. The motion was carried by a rising vote and three cheers were given by the convention for the nominee. Mr. Henley was then called on and introduced to the convention and made a few remarks. Mr. Alford then, on call, addressed the convention. The best feeling prevailed.—Mitchell Commercial.

Battle Ground Camp Meeting.

An excursion train will be run to the camp-meeting at Battle Ground on Sunday, July 23d, leaving Bloomington at 4:30 a. m., Ellettsville 4:52, Spencer 5:07, Gosport 5:19, Quincy 5:45, and arriving at Battle Ground at 10 a. m. Returning train will leave Battle Ground at 5 p. m. Excursion tickets $1.50 good for this day and train only. There will be no excursion to the camp-meeting, so that all desiring to go should take this train. The train will positively be made up of passenger coaches only and no open cars of any kind will be used.

—Martinsville Rep. to C. H. Nutter reports that up to last evening he had threshed 100 acres of wheat yielding 2,600 bushels, an average of twenty bushels to the acre. A large part of this wheat was flooded—two or three times this spring, and the water stood over portions of it for at least two weeks. Altogether, this is considered a remarkably good yield.

—Take Ayer's Pills for all purposes of a purgative, for Constipation, Indigestion, Headache and Liver Complaint. By universal accord, they are the best of all purgatives for family use.

—Paoli News: The wheat crop is not merely fine in appearance, but when it is threshed it "pans out" fully as well as its appearance indicates. John T. Stout threshed his crop, which was grown on a tract of land adjoining the corporation of Paoli, and it yielded a little more than 23 bushels per acre. Some crops in this county will doubtless make a much larger yield per acre.

—Paoli News: Mrs. John G. Jones has lost the sight of one of her eyes in consequence of injuries received in the railroad accident near Bedford, on the 15th of June. She is recovering very slowly. Mrs. James Jones, who received a severe wound on the head in the same accident, is also suffering from impaired vision, being unable to locate objects which she can see plainly.

A NEW FIRM.

A. W. JOHNSON, CAPT. FIELDS.

Johnston & Fields.

Having bought the Orchard street Groceries and added largely to that well filled stock, we have now a stock of goods that surpasses anything ever offered in this market, which we can sell to cash buyers at prices that defy competition. Our object is to do a rushing business, and we have made every preparation to prevent our being disappointed. I go on goods, low prices, polite assistants and good weights are any object to you, we would be pleased to have you call to at least satisfy yourself that we have a new stock of goods that surpasses anything ever offered in this market, which we can sell to cash buyers at prices that defy competition.
