—Barney, the Kentucky evangelist, believes in the entire efficacy of repentance. In a recent exhortation he said: “A man can confess Jesus better when he is drunk than when he is sober, for he can just come and throw himself limber, like a rag, into the arms of Jesus.

Suppose a man comes here limber, drunk and confesses Christ, and then goes out and puts another quart of whisky under his belt, and going home, he falls off his horse and breaks his neck, that man will go to heaven as sure as God is God; and if he don’t I, would be willing to go to hell.” If anybody but a professional preacher should vomit such stuff as that he would be called a scurvy, and would perhaps be rotten-egged for his seal.

—Harriet Beecher Stowe has gone and done it. She has written a letter to a newspaper averring that Uncle Tom was purely a creation of her friend brain. This is really cruel. With a couple of hundred venerable gentlemen of Ethiopean antecedents relying for support on the pleasing fiction that they were the originals of the character, Mrs. Stowe might have held her tongue and pen. Because she had all the profit she can look for out of him, there is no reason why anyone else should not turn an honest dollar or so out of Uncle

Tom.

—Miss Greyson, who had for many years been bedridden with spinal disease, at Erie, Pa., believed that she could be cured by prayer. She talked with the attending physician about it, and he said that he would arrange for a meeting of devout persons, at the house of a neighbor, when her recovery should be earnestly implored. At the appointed time she sprang from the coach and declared herself miraculously recovered. But the perfidious doctor had called no meeting, and no praying had been done.

—The Attorney-General holds that Marshal has a right to make an arrest when an offense is committed in his presence without a warrant; that if he wakes an arrest at night he need not then take the prisoner before a Justice, but can hold him till proper time for trial; that when judgment is rendered against the violator of an orderinance the Marshal can compel him to work out the fine and costs by mensil labor, and that he has power to ware out able-bodied voters of the town to work the streets thereof. He further holds that if a person is charged with violating a town ordinance the Justice may direct the warrant for his arrest to the Marshal. A warrant cannot be directed to a town Marshal, as such,

to arrest one charged with violating a law of the State; but he can be appointed a Deputy Constable, or in the particular case, a special Constable.

—The Sullivan farm in Illinois, one ten miles by seven, but afterward reduced to 20,000 acres, has at last been sold in small tracts.

Ex-Governor Sullivan originally bought it at 40 cents an acre, having brought about its classification by the Government as swamp land.

He was at one time rated at three millions, but died insolvent, having failed to make such tremendous farming profitable.

—When a crowd of lamenting and incensed men and women assembled around the bank building of the missing E. A. Willard in Jonesboro, Ill., and demanded an immediate examination of the books and assets of the concern, the officers of the bank did not hesitate for very long about complying with the request, for the exceedingly good reason that they were given the information of acceding within ten minutes or being hanged to some neighboring trees. In circuitous language of the crowd they were notified that in case of refusal they would be given “the opportunity of providing quarters for their principal in hell.” Willard was very prominent socially and in public life. He possessed the confidence of the business men and farmers of half a dozen counties. An examination of his accounts showed there was little hope of realizing a dollar for any of the depositors.

—Says the Nashville, Brown co., Jacksonian (Democrat):

The Democratic State platform is made and on the question of the submission of the amendments it is “fearfully and wonderfully made.” Who can stand thereon, or tell when he is on it?

The platform is Democratic on all the strictly political issues; and we endorse the political part.

On the moral question of temperance, it is “a-straddle” of the fence.

It opposes prohibition. That is an old Democratic position. But whether it is for submission or against it is what puzzles our brain. It asserts that it is in favor of submission according to the constitution.

It would be constitutional for the next legislature to refuse to agree to the amendments, and thus shut them off from a full, free and fair vote on the merits of those amendments.

It would be equally constitutional and much more Democratic for the next legislature to respond to the pending petitions for a popular vote on the amendments, and give the amendments fair play, outside of party lines!

Where and when, then, were the thousands of dollars’ worth of liquor used on the occasion of the Garfield funeral?—Indianapolis Sentinel.

They were ordered and furnished by John G. Thompson, Democratic Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

—Mr. Gifford, the well-known Parisian inventor, lately deceased, left the French government a generous legacy under the most singular conditions. It is to be devoted to the establishment of suidaria, or public institutions in which persons suffering from painful and incurable diseases may bring their own lives to an end, under the direction of medical experts, and with the consent of their immediate relatives.

—A new use for glass has recently been developed in its substitution for marble tops of tables and dressing cases. A Pittsburgh firm has turned out slabs of glass that are said to be a perfect imitation of the latter material, while they admit of decorations of various designs, both in form and color.

—T. H. Express: The Democratic State convention would not have been true itself if it had omitted to bestow a passing curse upon “the frauds and perjuries of 1876,” by which Hayes was made President. But it would have increased its claim to candor and fairness if it had also told us about the attempt of Tilden, through his nephew, to pay enormous sums of money for the votes of South Carolina and Oregon. The information it probably possesses upon that subject would, if made known, be exceedingly rich and instructive.

—Important to Travelers.—Special inducements are offered by the Burlington Route. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

—Rev. Fred C. Iglesias, who has for some time occupied the pulpit of Trinity church, Evansville, has been selected to fill the pulpit of the First M. E. church at Bloomington, Ills. Mr. Iglesias goes to Bloomington on the joint recommendation of Bishop J. W. Merrill, Bowman and Simpson.

—The Montgomery county Republican convention nominated for representative, E. W. Straughan; clerk, Albert R. Yount; sheriff, J. Q. W. Willhite; auditor, J. H. Wason; treasurer, J. D. Harshbarger; commissioners, J. M. Harshbarger, John L. Davis and W. W. Tiffany; surveyor, Ira N. McConnell; coroner, Dr. S. Epsinger.

—The Republicans of Fountain county have nominated the following ticket: For Clerk, James L. Allen; auditor, William McLaughlin; treasurer, Isaac Haupt; sheriff, Perry Glascock; recorder, Murphy Lewis; representative, Andrew Marshall; commissioners, A. Green, A. C. Shermerhorn and Fred Wilson. —The Democrats of Lapeyre county have made the following nominations: E. W. Davis, representative; William Everhart, sheriff; Amos Hall, auditor; Herman Hausher, treasurer; David McMurray, recorder; Hiram Burner, surveyor.

—Great financial depression in a Kentucky town, as described by the Henderson News: “Gambling has dwindled down to a fine point here, and it is difficult now to start a new ante.”

—Ayer’s Ague Cure is a purely vegetable bitter and a powerful tonic, free from quinine or any mineral substance, and always cures the severest cases.

—A remarkable sand storm accompanied by an intensely cold temperature, is mentioned in Icelandic journals as having raged on that island for two weeks during the past spring. The air was filled with dry fine sand to such a degree that it was impossible to see for more than a short distance, and the sun was
