

A 4th of July

Speech by Mose Kahn.

Fellow citizens: I expect to remove to the new room now being finished for me in the Howell-Maxwell block, and I don't want to take any of the present stock with me—want to close it out. So please come and learn the prices at which I will sell goods to get rid of them. My stock is good, but I will sell it so low that it will pay you to buy it.

MOSE KAHN.

NEVER walk three or four squares for your staple Groceries, when they can be gotten so much nearer home (Hemp Wilson's for instance.) He has one of the freshest stocks of groceries, both staple and fancy, in the town, and sells as close as it is possible to do and give. Best of butter and other choice produce, bought and sold. I HAVE received an uncommonly large assortment of first-class new Queensware, and having bought at very low prices, I can sell it "away down." There are bargains for all in this Ware, during the next 20 days. Come in and see it, anyhow. HEMP WILSON, Progress Block.

The best business men and most successful lawyers and smartest politicians are men of good stomachs, men who eat heartily and digest well; most of such people buy their groceries at Robertson Bros. store, corner of Walnut and Sixth streets, because they know that they cannot afford to injure the fine mucous membrane of their stomachs by adulterated goods, so they go to Robertson's, where they know that all the articles sold are perfectly pure, and at the same time reasonable in price.

NO FARMER can afford to buy a Reaper or Mower until he has examined the Champion, sold by Stuart and McPhetridge. The Champion has always done first-class work and will continue to do it. It is popular and takes the lead wherever introduced. Rather leave your order now, before the rush for farm machinery begins. Call at the store, next to the post office, and get all the particulars.

In accordance with Ben. McGee's usual custom during the summer months, he is now closing out the heavier grades of clothing, hats and furnishing goods, at cost. He will also give you such bargains in summer goods as will create great surprise when the fact becomes known. Crowd into his establishment, south side of the square, as rapidly as you can, and get some of the bargains while they are going. No one makes nester or better fitting suits or single garments than Ben McGee. Leave your orders. Satisfaction guaranteed.

THE "Bargain Store," is what the people in the country call Charley Mobley's establishment, on the south side of the public square. He has built up a reputation that cannot be torn down, for great variety and cheapness of goods in his line. Every few days he receives by express great packages of goods, comprising the latest styles in fine new fabrics. Just how Charley manages to get hold of these goods so he can sell them so cheap, no one seems to know, but he does do it.

ALL the choice articles required by ladies who are preparing for commencement, will be found at the dry goods and fancy goods store of Charles Mobley, the popular notion man, west of McGees. It is not an easy matter to find a man, woman or child in Monroe county who does not know something about Charley Mobley, and his "Golden Rule" store. So many persons have got bargains there that they remember him kindly, and have reason to. His new goods are arriving daily.

If you want an O. G. weight clock, (warranted for 5 years) it can be bought at Tobie Smith's for $25.00. Small nickel time clocks are sold at $1.00, alarm at $1.50. He keeps looking glasses of all sizes and prices; also a full line of stationery. Of useful articles, tin pans, lid lifters, knives, etc., he has an immense supply. Tobie Smith is the only man here who has ever gotten a wholesale rebate on Rogers' Bros. silverware. Ladies are invited to examine the decorations just brought on and for sale—biggest line ever seen here, and sold at from one cent upwards.

THE headquarters for choice Family Groceries is the corner Grocery of John K. Anderson & Co., east side. This firm has a reputation for square dealing of which they may feel proud, and their customers always receive fair, liberal treatment. The test prices are paid for choice produce, and they deliver to town customers all goods purchased. You can call the driver as he passes your house with his delivery wagon, and give him an order which will be promptly filled, and as honestly as if you were to go to the store yourself.

FARMERS should go to W. J. Allen's hardware store and examine the South Bend Chilled Plow, also the Weir Steel Plow.

—Prof. Daniel Kirkwood and wife have gone to Altona, Ills., to be absent several weeks.

—Stephen McPhetridge has the contract for the carpenter work of the Wylie building.

—Several carloads of spokes and hubs have been shipped north within the past two weeks, by the factory of Waldron, Hill & Co. The spokes go to Chicago.

—When a Cincinnati man is missing at his home for more than two weeks at a time, his friends gather together and drag the beer saloons for his remains.

—N. A. Ledger: The horse market in this city is very animated and good horses for light harness and road purposes are in active demand at good prices. Many sales are being made. There is also a good market here for mules.

—The corner room in the new block will be occupied by Will Blair, as a shoe store. His rent will be $650.00 per annum. He ought to take that six hundred dollars and build a room on wheels, and so be independent of the landlords. Fair for him as for any one.

—Jas. Alexander is engaged in tightening the bolts on the bridges in the county—twelve in number. As the timber shrinks the bolts become loose and it is economy to send a man to tighten the nuts before the bridge gets shaky, as is sometimes the case.

—The English astronomer, Royal, says a comet will appear next year, and its approach to the sun will be so near as to threaten this planet with serious danger, and possible destruction. Better pay your subscription before that terrible day.

—The M. E. Sunday School expect to run an Excursion train to New Albany and Jeffersonville, Tuesday, July 17. Train to leave here at 6 A. M. They are going to make rags so cheap that old folks, young folks and all the babies can go.

—The new law concerning teachers' licenses is now in effect. Under it licenses will be issued for six, twelve, twenty-four and thirty-six months, and a six months license will be issued but once. This means higher attainments. It also means fewer examinations for well qualified teachers.

—John Ehni, the popular salesman in McCalla & Co's dry goods house is in luck. Ehni is an Irish gentleman (as his name implies), from Berlin, and as the sole heir of his uncle (who was in partnership with Bismarck), he last week received a check for $38,000. John's head is not turned by his good fortune, but he will go right on measuring calico and cutting shoe pegs as if nothing unusual had happened. This is only the first check—there are more where it came from, and he expects to receive another soon.

P. S.—John went to the Trinity Springs on Saturday morning.

—H. J. Nichols, the Architect, whose card appears in another column, is having all he can do in the preparing of plans and specifications for dwellings and business houses. While in his office one day last week, the Progress representative noticed a number of handsome plans—one for a city building, one for Huldah Showers' residence, and one for the new residence opposite John Waldron's house, being built for Wm. Blair and wife. The draughtsman is Mort Nichols, H. J. Nichols' youngest son, but 19 years old. He has phenomenal talent as a draughtsman and architect, and with the schooling that a few months' study with a city architect would give him, might be the equal of any man in the profession.

—Phoenix (Arizona Herald): The Hon. A. D. Lemon and family left to-day by private conveyance from Maricopa, on their way to the east. They will visit for a time in Arkansas, and then proceed to Bloomington, Indiana, the site of the University of that State, where the young people will begin a college course of study. Mr. Lemon himself will return to Phoenix in a few weeks. Phoenix cannot but regret the absence of a family that forms so important a factor in her social and business life, and will look forward with pleasure to their return in the future, with the additional advantages of a broader experience and a thorough education.

—Daily inquiries are made for houses to let. If there are those who have buildings unoccupied they will do well to let the public know it.

—Prof. Woodburn, in company with a number of teachers of Xenia, O., left that city on Monday for Chautauque, where he expects to remain one week. He expects to attend the Ohio teacher's association, and will return to Bloomington refreshed and invigorated—ready to enter the Normal work with renewed enthusiasm.

—Dr. Moss cards the Indianapolis Journal to deny that he is seeking a Presidency to some Eastern college, or that any trouble exists between himself and the trustees. His trip, he says, is one he always takes in vacation, for "needed rest."

—Auctioneers are required to pay a license fee for each day they sell goods on the street. This is no more than justice to the merchant or tradesman who pays from ten to fifty dollars rent per month, in addition to his taxes. Just why an exception should be made in favor of any one man, the Progress is unable to understand. If all saddlers, shoemakers, tailors or small dry goods dealers in Bloomington, or any other town, were to build houses, and place them on wheels to stand around on the streets, wouldn't it soon demoralize trade? All should be required to pay for these privileges—at least be compelled to bear their share of the burden of taxation and rents.

—Dick P. Sutton, manager of the Ottumwa, Iowa, opera house, is a brother of the wife of Ben. B. Smith of this place. Several weeks ago Mr. Sutton left Ottumwa on a visit to relations. He visited a brother at Shelbyville, Ills., and when on his way to a mid-night train to come this place, last Friday night a week, stepped upon a loose boulder and fell, breaking his right leg above the knee. He secured a lounge and in accordance with his original design arrived at Greencastle last Wednesday where, Ben. Smith met and came on home with him. A man of Sutton's energy will not permit a broken leg to interfere with business, and he will be on his way to Chicago before many days.

—Sometimes a little joke hits off a national failing. Take this, for example: "I want you to understand that I know all about this tariff question," said an inebriated individual to a policeman. "That gives you dead away," replied the officer, and he pulled him in."

—The law requires guardians to report the condition of their trusts to the Circuit Court at least once in every two years, and those who fail to make such reports are not entitled to pay for their services as such guardians.

—The citizens of Roschdale have sent for a mammoth tent, in which to hold the debate on August 7, between Elder Treat, of the Christian Church, and Elder Herod, of the Baptist Church, on questions of religious doctrine. The debate is to last four days.

—Shoals Herald: Misses Sophia and Lillie Lutzader have returned from Bloomington, where they have been attending the commencement exercises of the State University.

—An election of teachers for the Ellettsville schools resulted in the selection of Mr. Farabee and Mr. Edmondson, Misses Munson, Acuff and Wingfield.

—Secretary Teller has given out that he is going to supply the Indians with stock cattle, with a view of teaching them agricultural habits. Now couldn't he, with as much propriety, supply us Bloomington "Indians" with cattle at Government expense?

—We very much doubt if many people on this section of the L. N. A. & C. railroad, will crucify themselves in the flesh by arising at 2 o'clock in the morning to take the 3 o'clock train for the Louisville Exposition. Instead of paying for that privilege they should be well paid for it.

—The ladies of the Christian Church are preparing to give a dinner on the 4th of July in the west rooms of the Allen and McNary block, and request all their friends to shut up kitchen and give them a call. Price 25 cents. Dinner from 12 to 2 p. m. Proceeds for building fund.

—The machinery has arrived and has been placed in position, and the manufacture of tables in connection with the manufacture of chairs will be begun at once by Showers, Dodds & Waldron. Ten years hence Bloomington will be a marvellous manufacturing point.

—Prof. Brown Wylie has gone east on a recuperating tour.

—Mart. Alexander and wife spent last week in Indianapolis.

—Hon. J. W. Buskirk was at Shelbyville and Indianapolis, last week, on legal business.

—W. H. East is giving special attention to housebuilding as well as to law, at the present time.

—T. H. Sudbury's addition—a second story to his business house—has been begun.

—Hon. R. W. Miers will tell the Bedfordites on the glorious fourth, about the times that tried men's souls. Bedford expects to do itself proud on that occasion.

—More than a hundred teachers must be licensed in order to supply the schools. The time is short; every one desiring to prepare for examination would better attend the Bloomington Normal.

—Rev. W. P. McNary left Bloomington on Thursday night of last week for points in Colorado. He goes for the double purpose of health-seeking and investment-seeking.

—Wheat heads are larger this year than for many years, some have been found that measured five inches in length, and have five grains abreast.

—Hugh Marlin is the proud proprietor of thirty-five new swarms of bees. John East is a beeologist, and can yell as loud as any one when the hot-footed little insects alight upon his ears.

—Spencer Republican: John Young, of Bloomington, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Secrest, this week. William Evans, of Bloomington, was here this week, the guest of Frank Batterton.

—At Mishawaka Mr. Jacob Deilman has a German prune tree nearly 4 inches in diameter and loaded with that fruit about one-third grown. It is said to bear a larger sized prune and of better quality than we ordinarily procure in market.

—Young men and women of Monroe and adjoining counties, will do well to remember that the Normal and Preparatory School begins its session in Bloomington on the 23d of July. All who can attend should do so.

—Bloomfield News: We learn that John W. Cookerly, William H. Mercer and Ab Morris are going to engage in the Nursery business on an extensive scale. They have bought $5,000 worth of trees from a Nursery at Bloomington, Illinois. Success to them.

—Friday before the 4th Sunday in July, Rev. W. T. Carpenter will preach in Vernal Church.

—Princeton Clarion: The well being sunk by S. S. Shannon on the northeast corner of the public square has reached a depth of about 85 feet. It is the purpose of Mr. Shannon to continue drilling until an artesian vein is reached.

—It is never too late to do good. On Thursday Mr. Jonathan Enlow, aged 84, and Mrs. Lankford, aged 83, were married in Patoka township, Crawford county.

—Henry Koons returned to Bloomington last Friday, after a three months' residence in Eureka Springs, Arkansas. He saw Donald Smith, the Rawlins boys, and several other Monroe county people there.

—The Grant Street M. E. Church, (colored) will hold a camp-meeting at the Fair Grounds, beginning July 28th. Everybody is invited.

—It would no doubt surprise the parents of many boys to learn that their young hopefuls are owners of revolvers, but it is an actual fact that there are boys in this town not fifteen years old, who carry firearms all the time.

—Cincinnati Gazette: The liquor traffic is not likely to be suppressed immediately. The experiments in Kansas and Iowa look as if the suppression of the Republican party, if it should identify itself with prohibition, would come before the abolition of the liquor traffic. As this traffic will go on, it might as well bear its share of the public burdens. The people of Ohio at large have taken leave of the extremists on this question.

—Miss Mary Whitwell died, on Friday last, of paralysis, aged sixty years.

—Isom Burton, of the city drug store, Mitchell, keeps fresh French Lick Water, and ships to customers on order.

If you really want bargains now is the time to get them, as Mose Kahn is closing out his goods at cost. He needs the money, and will sell the goods.

—Two freight trains were coming north on Monday morning, and when near Horseshoe Bend north of Bedford, the front train broke in two, and the fireman, who for the time was acting as brakeman, checked the broken section, and ran back to flag the second train. The conductor, Samuel McCoy, of Orleans, was asleep in the caboose, and the fireman called to him as he ran by but the conductor did not awaken. The engineer of the approaching train did not succeed in checking his engine, and it struck the caboose tearing it to pieces, and threw six or eight cars off the track. The conductor, McCoy, died of his injuries an hour after the accident. The engine was almost demolished—a literal scrap pile. The noon express train transferred at the wreck, being unable to pass.

—Jas. B. Clark & Son have the toniest delivery wagon in the place. It is drawn by two horses, and is illuminated by electric light at night.

—Non-resident notices and notices of application to sell real estate, can be published no later than next week. Attorneys will please take notice.

—The old frame house, with half lot, south of the Episcopal Church, sold at administrator's sale, Monday, for $575, to Mrs. Gregory. It is at present occupied by Mrs. Merabon.

—Jas. B. Allison, the veteran photographer, says that his business has been better this season than during the past twelve years. There is plenty of business in Bloomington for two first-class photographers, and "Jim Ben," as he is familiarly called, prefers a little healthy competition—people then find out how superior he is as an artist.

—Hundreds of Bloomington people will spend the 4th at Ellettsville. The good people of that live town extend them a hearty welcome.

—Chas. Tourner and Dr. John Tourner have gone to Kentucky and Tennessee to visit relations.

—There has been rain, more or less, every Saturday, during the past three months.

I HAVE taken charge of the Perdue stock of boots and shoes in the Mendelssohn Hall, and will continue to sell at "Fire" prices. I want to dispose of the entire Perdue stock, before I move into the new corner room, and will sell at any price. Come and see me.

WM. BLAIR.
