A strong protection sentiment is springing up in England and the opposition to free-trade is growing.

Kansas has fifteen cities with over 5,000 inhabitants each of which expects to surpass Chicago within the next ninety days or so.

The administration seems to be afraid of Johnny Bull's pet lion, therefore instead of availing themselves of the provisions of the retaliation bill it seems to be trying to find some way to apologize to England for its passage.

Hon. John C. New is quoted as saying in an interview with a newspaper reporter at Chicago, one day lately: "The Republicans of Indiana are in favor of ex-Senator Harrison for the Presidential nomination. Next to Senator Harrison the Indians would support Senator Sherman."

Princeton Clarion: Jack Howard was white washed by the Clark county grand jury. But little respect is due a law that has measles in its drug net that allows big thieves, like Howard, to go free while little thieves are punished to the fullest extent.

In Trenton, New Jersey, the Democratic candidate for Mayor refused to attend a meeting held in the city a few days before the election to resolve against coercion in Ireland. The result was his defeat, the Irish as a mass voting for the Republican candidate. This is the first instance that a Republican has been elected in Trenton for over twenty-five years.

Things are getting a little too realistic at some of the theaters. The venerable chestnut of producing the alleged imitation of thunder by rattling a piece of sheet iron in the wings is happily passing away. But it will not do to make a practice of carrying out the storm program of the theater at Newstead-upon-Tyne in England. Carl Rosa's troupe was recently performing there the opera of Nordis. During the storm scene the thunder was magnificently produced by rolling heavy cannon balls along gutters lined with sonorous metal. A vivid flash of lightning was followed by a loud roar, and one of the persons on the darkened stage fell to the floor. The audience applauded, supposing this to be a part of the play, and that the person had fainted to be struck by the mimic lightning. Immediately afterward, however, it was discovered that one of the cannon balls had left the gutter, twenty feet above the stage, along which it was rolling, and had fallen upon the head of the stage carpenter and killed him. One may conceive the horror of the spectators when they learned that the imitation of thunder and lightning had proved as fatal to a human being as if a bolt had been launched at him from the skies.

A correspondent has been successful in catching rats with a trap of his own contrivance. This trap consists of a sheet-iron pipe, with a sort of rim on both ends and a strong two-bushel sack tied around one end. Every hole is stopped carefully in the corn crib but one, which opens into a feed-box on the other side of the partition. Then the pipe is placed in the feed-box and fitted, the open end firmly over the hole, allowing the sack to hang over the edge of the box into the manger. The trap is prepared, the door of the crib is left open and the rats permitted to have their own way for an hour or so. Then the door is shut and a noise made to frighten the rats. Having but one means of escape, they rush into the pipe and down into the sack. This correspondent caught twenty-seven rats the first time he tried his trap.

Vincennes Commercial: Will some one please loan us a club to knock down the fellow who says "sawed" when saleswoman is meant? By the same rule we have numerous washdishes in Vincennes, and expert equestrians or "horseradies" are by no means rare. Then we have "sawegentlemen" innumerable "pipegentlemen" who direct the course of the water from the hose should not be forgotten. With the fullest respect for ladies whose calling is that of selling calico or other goods, we protest in the name of Noah Webster's ghost, against the use of this over-worked and entirely unwarranted expression.

Capt. M.D. Rudessil, of Greencastle, Ind., has some aged relatives near Lincoln, N. C. An uncle, Joseph Plonk, is 98. A Mrs. Tethrow, sister to Mr. Plonk, is 100, and a Mrs. Weaver, another sister, is 102 years of age. They enjoy excellent health, and the uncle bids fair to exceed a century. The family are of Pennsylvania Dutch stock, whose parents formed part of a colony that emigrated to Carolina from the banks of the Susquehanna nearly 100 years ago. The case is remarkable for so many instances of great longevity in one family.

It is sometimes said that women must not vote, because in that case they might be elected to office, and if the mother of a young family should go to Congress, what would become of the children? It does not seem to occur to these objectors that only one person in a thousand can go to Congress in any case, and that no one is obliged to run unless he chooses. The mother of a young family would not be likely to run for Congress, and would not be likely to consent if she were asked. But she might have a very definite idea as to the sort of man she wanted to send to Congress as her representative, to make laws for her and her children. A good many profligate and drunken Congressmen would be weeded out if the mothers in their districts had votes.

Board of Education.
Bloomington, May 2, 1887.
The board of education met to-day at 1 o'clock in the Superintendent's office. The meeting was called to order by Superintendent Hazel. The roll was called and the following townships were represented: Bloomington, Washington, Benton, Bloomington, Richmond, Van Buren, Salt Creek, Polk, Clear Creek and Indian Creek. The grade book question being discussed, the board concluded to retain the same book that was adopted in 1884.

The Superintendent next gave the length of the term taught in each township, the per cent of attendance, the per cent of success of the teachers, and the number of graduates as follows:
Bloomington tp., days taught, 113, per cent of attendance, 78, success of teachers, 96, No. of graduates, 2.
Washington tp., days taught, 113, success of teachers, 84, No. of graduates, 1.
Benton tp., days taught, 110, per cent of attendance, 86, success of teachers, 93, No. of graduates, 3.
Richmond tp., days taught, 120, per cent of attendance, 80, success of teachers, 91, No. of graduates, 4.
Van Buren tp., days taught, 120, per cent of attendance, 79, success of teachers, 97, No. of graduates, 2.
Salt Creek tp., days taught, 97, per cent of attendance, 83, success of teachers, 94-7, No. of graduates, 1.
Polk tp., days taught, 115, per cent of attendance, 81, success of teachers, 94, No. of graduates, 3.
Clear Creek tp., days taught, 105, per cent of attendance, 84, success of teachers, 96-11, No. of graduates, 4.
Indian Creek tp., days taught, 95, per cent of attendance, 78, success of teachers, 97, No. of graduates, 1.

The insurance question being introduced it was found that the property in all the townships except three was insured. A motion was made that teachers be paid according to the per cent of success of the teachers as determined by the Superintendent. A vote was taken which resulted in a tie and the motion was lost. Several interesting discussions occurred during the meeting on success of teachers' wages, length of school term, time to commence schools, congressional school funds, enumeration, transfers, and school property, etc. On motion the board then adjourned.

Killed His Friend.
BEDFORD, IND., May 2.—William Evans, a young man 20 years old, accidentally killed Arthur Voss last night in Springfield, a little town nine miles west of here. The facts are as follows: Several of the boys started out after church to have a time by rocking the out houses of the citizens of the place. Wm. Evans was on his way home, and meeting two gentlemen on the street who were listening to the noise, he said to them:

"I will go to the alley and fire my revolver off to scare them, and when they run by you can see who they are."

He went to the mouth of the alley and fired his revolver four times, after which he returned to the men on the street and said:

"They all ran but one."

It was not long before his brother came running up and said:

"You killed Arthur Voss."

Evans became wild with grief and the revolver had to be taken away from him to keep him from killing himself.

Voss is 23 years old and was the boon companion of the man who killed him. The Coroner's verdict was in accordance with the above facts.

"If you can show me any signs of natural gas on your farm I'll give you $100 an acre," said a speculator to an Ohio farmer.

"Haven't any time to fool with it," was the reply.

"You must be a very busy man."

"Yes, tolerably. I'm boring for oil down in the swamp, the boys have struck a salt bed just back of the barn, and the old woman's out with a witch hazel rod locating a couple coal mines. We can't fool with gas afore next year."

How to Cure Warts.—Place the thumb upon the wart, and press it against the bone. Move the wart back and forth on the bone until the roots become irritated or sore, when the wart will disappear.
