Republican Progress

Printed each Wednesday Morning, by WILLIAM A. GALT, Editor and Publisher.
IN ADVANCE, $1.50 A YEAR.

—Railroad passenger rates to the north and northwest have been very much reduced in the past three weeks. Figures have been announced as follows on the Missouri Pacific (first-class): St. Louis to Kansas City, $1; St. Louis to Leavenworth, $1; St. Louis to Atchison, $1; St. Louis to Denver, $5; St. Louis to Pueblo, $5.

THE DIFFERENCE IN PARTIES.
The managers of the Headrick monument are very anxious to have Republican organizations take an active part in the ceremonies, arguing that it should be a non-partisan affair. It is remembered that in 1884, when the Morton monument was unveiled, the only prominent Democrat who would consent to take any part in it was Joseph E. McDonald. Morton was the great war Governor of the State, and did more to lift the name of the State up than any other public man it had ever produced. He had been elected to a Senate term, having been elected to that position three times, but the Democrats could not by any side their party failing to unite in honoring his memory, and the Senator persisted in treating it as wholly a Republican affair. Morton was no more of a partisan than Hendricks, and the State owed him a much greater debt. Republicans are not objecting to taking part in the unveiling, but it is well to contrast their actions with those of the Democrats in 1884.

—A gang of gypsy home-traders were arrested recently at Frankfort, on a charge of pilfering from Boone county farmers' most, chickens, hams and clothing. The goods were found in their camp. The party consisted of Wm. Eagle, Jas. Sharp, Isaac Rodney and wife, and all are in jail. These introducers of diseased hams should be promptly sent out of every county they are caught in, till they reach Texas—then so it is said to be but a short distance to their final destination (hades) let 'em go.

—Chief Engineer Zook of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road, is one of the best men that can be found. He is rapidly getting the material on the ground to improve the track between Indianapolis and Monroe. As a result of the recent inspection of this division he has been instructed to purchase 200,000 cross ties, most of which he has already contracted for, and the management has decided to put in twenty-five miles of new steel rail, weighing sixty-seven pounds to the yard. On the whole line angle bars are to be substituted for the fish bar. In a few days he will ask for bids for several new iron bridges, and the bridges generally are to be rebuilt or replaced with new ones.

—Many people wonder why ducks and geese fly in triangles. The Scientific American has explained it by stating that when flocks of wild ducks and geese have to go long distances they form a triangle to cleave their more easily, and the most courageous bird takes position at the forward angle. As this is a very fatiguing post another bird or two takes the place of the exhausted leader. Thus they place their available strength at the service of the society.

—Some of the papers have been publishing a list of the big Democratic defaulters, and the number and amounts are quite formidable:

State Treasurer Burke, of Louisiana, short, $735,000
State Treasurer Holt, of Tennessee, short, 350,000
State Treasurer Hominy, of Mississippi, short, 315,000
State Treasurer Tate, of Kentucky, short, 300,000
State Treasurer Stephens, of Arkansas, short, 150,000
State Treasurer Smith, of Virginia, short, 150,000
State Treasurer Churchill, of Arkansas, short, 115,000
State Treasurer Jones, of Georgia, short, 50,000
State Treasurer Vincent, of Alabama, short, 50,000
State Treasurer Nolan, of Missouri, short, 50,000

To this list should be added several hundred county treasurers and county clerks in the North, who have been shown to be "short," not one of whom, however, was a Republican. Brown county had several, Knox county had one, Greene county had one—all Democrats. It seems that the Democrats won't give the Republicans a chance to "absorb" the public funds, they were ever so much that way inclined.

—Salon News: Geo. Kendall and father of Georgetown, Ky., are in town looking after their suit against the Mowen. Mr. Kendall is the young man who was pushed from the platform of the car the night of the 15th of last October. Wallace's show was in town. He received a severe injury and asks damages in the sum of $25,000. Voyles & Matherson, Zaring & Hotel and Stephenson have been employed as counsel.

—A Georgia editor has this notice pasted in his sanctum: "Strangers calling on the editor during his absence from the office will please leave their cards. Candidates for office must leave their cash."

—A new daily paper at St. Joseph, Mo., is to be called The Ballot. The funds upon it will be committed by deceased subscribers.

—Now that the Louisiana Lottery company has raised its ticket to a million a year, every daily paper in New Orleans favors a renewal of its charter. Virtue is its own reward, but it can't plunk down cash like a lottery company.

—There is no present prospect that Grover Cleveland will not be nominated again for the presidency. His administration was not satisfactory to his party in some particular, but he vetoed enough pension bills to make amends for all short-comings.

—The ice is beginning to break up in Minnesota, and old residents are predicting an early spring.

—The railroads now all run through trains. And so do the brakemen. The sleeping car porters still go through the passengers.

How Will They Scratch?
The "scratcher" will have a hard time of it at the fall election, unless some of the courts afford him relief before the day comes for him to cast his vote. Just how he shall scratch is in controversy, and the chairmen of the different political committees will likely ask the Supreme Judges to construe the law.

The point of controversy is found in section 45 of the new election law. This section points out the mode of voting, and seems to indicate two modes of "scratching." In the out-set the section says the voter shall "indicate the candidate for whom he wishes to vote by stamping the square immediately preceding their names." A proviso follows relating to the cases where the electors vote a straight ticket by stamping the square preceding the title under which stands the group of candidates of a party in which says the statute, the votes shall be counted for all the candidates under that title unless the name of one or more candidates under another title shall also be stamped, in which case the names of the candidates so stamped will be counted.

Thus it appears there are two modes of "scratching," first by stamping opposite the name of every candidate voted for on whatever ticket he be; second by stamping opposite the title of one party and then stamping opposite the names of candidates under another title. The party lines are not drawn on this matter.

—Next November the following State officers will be elected: Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer of State, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Clerk of the Supreme Court, one Judge of the Supreme Court in the northern district of the State in place of Chief Justice Mitchell. Judge Elliott holds over until 1892-93, Judges Berkshire, Coffey and Old, until 1894-95. Members of both Houses of the Legislature will also be elected this fall.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning an address of thanks was made by the Rev. Mahony of Chicago (Colonel of Proctor Knott's Staff, Governor of Kentucky) at the banquet given at the Hotel Belmont, for the service rendered by the members of the band in their most recent tour. The service was most impressive, and the more so on account of the elaborate program of music, rendered with such tact and proficiency that elicited numerous compliments from the highly pleased audience.

Having thus pleased the heart and mind the body was no longer to be slighted; hence at 1:30 a handsome dinner was served at the Hotel Belmont, decorated with festoons and cut flowers.

The first motto that greeted the visitors was a large "Welcome" in gilt letters; then "Alumni of the Preparatory School," then a third "Bon Appetit." Owing to the lamented demise of Rev. Thomas O'Leary from Fort Wayne, the place reserved for him was decorated with a cut of cut flowers bearing his name. Even in festive reunion his sacred memory should not sink into oblivion. The banquet was served according to following menu:

Letter from the State of Washington.

Dixie, Washington, May 14, 1890.
Ed. Progress: I wish to communicate with the people of Monroe, as it is my native county, and to give you a description of Dixie and vicinity. Dixie is located in Walla Walla county, eleven miles northeast of the city of Walla Walla, at the foot of the Blue mountains, in a beautiful little valley which opens into Walla Walla valley proper, five miles south of the city. The stream of water runs through the center of the town, which affords water enough to run a flouring mill six months in the year. The town is surrounded by as fine farm-land as is to be found in the Northwest. Wheat often yields from 50 to 75 bushels per acre, and barley and oats in abundance. The finest vegetables I ever saw grow here, such as potatoes, cabbage, onions, tomatoes, lettuce, carrots, beets, etc. I have seen beets that weigh 12 to 15 pounds each, and Irish potatoes which weigh 5 to 10 pounds. It is a vegetable paradise. Berries yield well and command good prices. But 75¢ this country has its inconveniences. It gets very dusty here in July and August, which makes traveling very uncomfortable. Dixie has a population of 250, has good society, has good schools, three churches, has good market facilities, two railroads: Oregon & Washington, and the Union Pacific, and the Northern Pacific, at Walla Walla Junction, 44 miles west of here on the great Columbia river; by means of this road we have direct route to Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Spokane Falls and Chicago and the east. The Union Pacific controls the other road; by it we have a direct route to Portland, Oregon, and the coast. I have told you what we have, now I will tell you what we want: 1st, we want a good general merchandise store; 2d, a good grocery store; 3d, a good four grain mill; a good blacksmith (we have a poor one); 4th, we need a good hotel and livery and feed stable. We also need a few good energetic farmers and gardeners. Good farm land here at $100 to $140 per acre, well improved. I have several choice farms for sale that I know to be good. Town lots are selling at from $30 to $100; house rent here at from $3 to $6 per month. Wheat is worth from 57 to 60 cents per bushel; barley a cent a pound; oats a cent and a quarter; hay $12 to $15 per ton; potatoes 1 cent per pound; buttermilk 10 cents; eggs 10 cents; chickens 10 cents; and is hard to get at that.

I am keeping the postoffice here, (we have a daily mail). I am Justice of the Peace, real estate agent and insurance agent. We have no saloon, nor do we want any in our place. The majority of the people are temperate.
B. F. MEREDITH.

THE QUINQUENNIAL REUNION OF FATHER BOGEMAN'S CLASS.

When a number of young religiously minded men, springing from the same stock, pursue an eight to twelve years course of study in the same Alma Mater, dining in the same refectory, a friendship is born, a loyalty is welded into a bond of union that may last for life, and under any circumstances. And when, after having attained that noble and so ardently desired and to which they devoted all their attention for years, they are scattered over as many States as they are in number, deep are the reflections, and solemn, yet sublime, the reminiscences that press the mind for attention in moments of leisure, and which, if rightly and securely in review of the past. How ardently does the human heart, so well adapted for social affection by the Great and Good Creator, long to reunite, and to see the realization of the very ideal of its realization causes its every fiber to thrill with joy.

Such were the sentiments with which the members of the class of 1865, who were the first to meet at the quinquennial reunion. And although many were compelled by obstacles beyond their control to send letters and telegrams of regret, the fellowship in justice to the occasion will scarcely be over forgotten.

The courtesy of the Mechanics' Band in their most recent tour was highly appreciated, for which the frequently repeated applause was a most genuine voucher.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning an address of thanks was made by the Rev. Mahony of Chicago (Colonel of Proctor Knott's Staff, Governor of Kentucky) at the banquet given at the Hotel Belmont, for the service rendered by the members of the band in their most recent tour. The service was most impressive, and the more so on account of the elaborate program of music, rendered with such tact and proficiency that elicited numerous compliments from the highly pleased audience.

Thomas O'Leary from Fort Wayne, the place reserved for him was decorated with a cut of cut flowers bearing his name. Even in festive reunion his sacred memory should not sink into oblivion. The banquet was served according to following menu:

UNIVERSITY ITEMS.

Prof. Osthaus left Bloomington on Thursday last to spend his vacation in Germany.
The non-fraternity element has determined to be represented by an official organ of its own.
Roll Madison will spend the summer in the States of Washington and California.
Mentel has been no reporter of persons, having selected shining marks in persons of our most intellectual students this spring.
It is intended that the Memorial Window, to be placed in the new library building by the Senior class will cost about $125, and be very handsome.
Much trouble has been experienced in the selection of Student editors. It is a matter of National importance, and ought to be settled with special reference to "policy, me boy."
Prof. Barnes will go to Cornell and spend the summer in study. The Professor is a hard worker, and is becoming very popular.
It is interesting to note that the many art of slugging is now taught at Ann Arbor university. At an athletic exhibition by the students last week, two students had a gory fight.

The Senior reception at the residence of Prof. Atwater was a brilliant affair. At 12 o'clock a party of 300 of the hospitality of Dr. Jordan, thus tendered by Prof. Atwater and wife. Music and fun held sway during the evening, and an enjoyable repast followed. Some undergraduates, it is presumed, spirited away the chicken salad, but that made no difference to the guests who were fond of salmon as a substitute.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 28.

During a performance of Franklin's circus, last evening, three hundred students from the State University viewed the show. When the performance was finished and most of the audience dispersed, the students who remained in the tent in a bunch, gave the college yell. It is said that ten students were surprised by the attack, full back, with several broken heads, but soon rallied. In the melee several pistol shots were fired, and a circus man dropped, shot in the shoulder. It is said that ten students and as many circus men are in the hands of physicians. Several arrests of both circus men and students have occurred. None of the injuries are supposed to be fatal.

To Home Alumni.

University of Indiana, Bloomington, May 31, 1890.
Encouraged by last year's success, the officers of the Alumni Association wish to urge upon the members at large, the obligation each owes his Alma Mater to attend her annual commencement.
The coming commencement promises to be one of interest and activity. The classes in the various departments will be large and their exercises will prove attractive. Hon. George G. Wright of Louisville, class of '59 will again honor the association with his presence. The annual address will be delivered by Hon. Homer T. Bothwell, class '69, an eloquent orator and a prominent citizen of Michigan. The business meeting will, it is hoped, prove of value and interest. It is now time for the alumni to seek a responsible part in the affairs of the University. This must and should be done through the business meeting of the Association. The officers of the Association also take great pleasure in saying that the Alumni banquet has now become a fixed and very enjoyable feature of commencement, and no alumnus can afford to stay away. It is the place at which to renew one's youth, to revive the memories of student life and to stimulate every alumnus not only to return officer at the commencement season but also to take an abiding interest in the work of the institution.
Commencement, June 5-11, 1890. Come.

Fraternally yours,
J. K. BECK, Vice Pres. A. A. A. N.

EARLY OBJECTION TO COAL.

The discussion of the probability of there being a deposit of coal in the Thames valley and under the city of London, of which there is considerable evidence, recalls some interesting facts connected with its earliest use in that city, says the Hardware Trade Journal. When coal was first introduced into London as fuel, very serious objection was taken to its use. It appears that in the beginning of the fourteenth century, brewers and smiths of the city, finding the "high price of wood pressing hard upon their returns, resolved to make some experiments with coal, but immediately an outcry was raised against them by persons living near the breweries and forges, the king was petitioned, and a law was passed prohibiting the burning of coal within the city. Those who tried it, however, found the new fuel so much superior to wood that they persisted in its use. But no determined was the government to suppress what they considered as an intolerable nuisance, that a law was passed making the burning of coal in London a capital offense, and it is recorded that one man at least was executed under that law.

—In the past twelve months the total number of passengers carried on Inter State Railroads, which are about 92 per cent, of the total mileage, was 401,097,433 and they traveled an average of 25.98 miles each.

The accidents on the railroads aggregated:
Passengers killed.....315
Employees injured.....2,138
Employees killed.....5,693
Other persons injured.....27,698
Other persons killed.....2,987
Total persons killed.....8,306
Total persons injured.....35,908

An average of killed or injured of over 116 for every day in the year. Many of these accidents might have been and can be avoided by the use of automatic couplers, automatic air brakes, improved heaters instead of the "deadly" stove, and other safety appliances.

—The following took the memory of John G. Galt, of the Building and Loan Association, having been moved by death, it is an organization that some of the friends of the Association are very anxious to see re-organized.

Therefore it is adopted as a plan of association, that in John Graham was a combination of an honest gentleman, a friend and advisor whose opinions were of inestimable and as such highly esteemed. His death we realize that we have a great loss; that the sympathy with the afflicted and sorrowing friends of the deceased memory will ever remain with us. One whose life embraced so much good and worthy in man was terminated too soon for the nation or his usefulness.
