THE FINEST STOCK OF HANGING AND STAND LAMPS IN TOWN, AT H. LINDLEY'S SONS.

Persons with whom the PROGRESS has contracts for wood will please remember that we prefer 18-inch sugar, beech, or shell-bark hickory.

IF YOU WANT A NICE HANGING OR STAND LAMP, DO NOT FAIL TO EXAMINE H. LINDLEY'S SONS ASSORTMENT, BEFORE YOU BUY.

LET THE CHILDREN COME.—Don't buy books or stationery till you have seen goods and learned prices at Joe M. Smith's south side bazaar. No man or firm carries as large or well selected a stock, and no firm can sell as low. These assertions are not made in a bragging spirit—they are facts that can be sustained and will be proven to the satisfaction of any one who may call. School children can get the most for their money at Joe M. Smith's bazaar, and where they can get the most of such goods as they need is the place they should trade.

SAVE MONEY and get the latest designs in Queensware and Glassware at C. H. McPheters' popular grocery store, southeast corner of the square. New supply of Ironstone China and Decorated Ware.

NO MAN excels Geo. Beckett as a bread baker. His bread creates comment wherever used, for its sweetness, richness, lightness. Try it and be convinced.

BEST WHEAT DRILLS ever manufactured, can be had at W. J. Allen's hardware store, south side public square. Don't buy a Drill till you see these.

—Ed. Harris is carrying an arm in a sling, it having been dislocated in a practice game of foot-ball.

—John McClarkin of Princeton, a member of the I. U. Freshman class, left here Thursday a week for Princeton, he said, but instead of going to that town he went to Vincennes where he was met by Miss Anna Barr, and they took train for Mt. Carmel, Ill., where they were married. Miss Barr is McClarkin's step-mother's niece—she 20, he 18. The only objection urged by the family was the youth of the groom.

—In the North American Review for October the problem: "Can We Make it Rain?" is discussed by Prof. Simon Newcomb of Johns Hopkins University, and by Gen. Robert G. Dryden.

In the October number of "Wide Awake" are two interesting poems for the young people: one of them, "Question Marks," is also suggestively illustrated. Number of visits at the reading room the past week, 138. "Puck" and "Judge" are supposed to speak for themselves.

—Capt. Mart. Alexander was at Bedford last week, in attendance upon a reunion of Co. H, of the 18th Ind. Vols. The other former members of his company who were there were Thos. Langley, D. O. Spencer, Col. Black, W. L. Langley, Thos. J. Smith, John Busby and Geo. Stineberg. M. D. Griffy and his brother John Griffy attended the reunion of the 8th Ind. Vols. which occurred at the same time. All speak in the most glowing terms of their treatment by the people of Bedford who had prepared a banquet for them.

EAST SIDE DRUG STORE. Just as soon as a room can be remodeled and fitted up for me, on the east side of the square, I will open a neat prescription drug store, with an entire new, fresh stock of drugs and medicines, and will make a specialty of the prescription and patent medicine business. A full line of perfumery, show case goods and novelties may always be found at my new store. Don't forget that the East Side Drug Store will be in the building formerly occupied by Craig Worley as a livery stable.

—Wm. Burford has been selected by the Board of Directors of the Electric Light Co. to take charge of their plant, and began his work on Monday. Elsie Tapp is the new engineer.

—Hereafter, in the hope that the professional tramp may be exterminated, Trustee Davis, of Clarke county, will extend assistance of no kind to any applicant, he be sick or crippled, unless he bears a certificate of recommendation from an examining physician. Transient paupers sent out of counties by authorities in order to get rid of them, will be sent back to the point from which they started.

Good Teams and Good Farming.

It is true that never before has so good farming been possible without good working horses. Their original cost was much greater, but it is only by their help that the full advantage of efficient help can be realized. Good farmers are the first to realize this. If the farmer be himself lazy and inefficient he will naturally conclude that it does not matter what kind of horses he works with. We are not wholly sure he is not right in his conclusion. Hence, when we see a farmer plowing or doing other farm work with an old, inefficient and perhaps half-starved team it is not surprising to suppose that such farmer understands his business better than we can tell him, and knows best what kind of a team he wants to keep up with. Of course the best teams grow old in time, but a horse's active life is not half a third that of an efficient man, and when the team gets past doing a full day's work it should be disposed of and another secured that is fully capable. But if the loss from working inefficient teams were better understood it would be much harder to sell old or poor horses than it is.

AND DON'T FORGET IT!

I have a large number of first-class Buggies, Runners and Spring Wagons, in the old Christian Church building, Kirkwood Avenue, east of the National Hotel, which I will trade for stock or will sell low down for cash. No more in Monroe county can afford to make a purchase before getting my prices. I can give you out. I will buy all the good horses that are brought to me. Remember that it will pay you big to see me before you sell.

Senders' Exchange.

Just received at "Senders' Exchange," direct from Anaheim, California, one barrel Angelica and one barrel of Port Wine, made in 1887 and warranted first-class. Also W. Q. Emmon & Co.'s Best Grade of Maple Grove Whiskies, Brandies and Gins, which are guaranteed by them to be the best in the market. I also keep Tongue & Talbot's Pilgrimage Bottle Beer, Budweiser, Pabst Milwaukee, Metzger's Tafel, and Thiene's Wagner's keg beer of Lafayette, which has been on sale here for the last 30 years. All these goods will be sold on a small margin. My place of business is one door south of the postoffice, and on Sunday will be done on legal holidays, or on Sunday or the back door and you will find me.

—The strongest man.

Undoubtedly the most remarkable of all the strong men is Louis Cyr, of Quebec. He is only twenty-seven years of age, but he weighs 323 pounds. The tape showed his physical dimensions to be as follows: Height, 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches; chest (nude), 55 inches; waist, 48 inches; biceps, 21 1/2 inches; thigh, 22 inches; calf, 24 inches; neck, 22 inches. Cyr scarcely knows his own strength. He lifted a dumb-bell weighing 265 pounds, with one hand, from the ground to the shoulder, and then slowly pushed it up from the shoulder to arm's length, using only the one hand. There is probably not another man in the world who could do this. Another time he tied a pair of bells together which weighed 440 pounds, attaching a string three feet long, and then lifted this great weight from the ground with one finger.

His greatest display of strength was made about a year ago at Montreal. On a small platform weighing 140 pounds were placed seven dumbbells, weighing 780 pounds, a barrel of flour, and seven heavy men. Cyr put his giant arms around the platform and lifted the lot. The aggregate was 2,328 pounds. In another way he lifted 3,356 pounds of pig iron at Berthelville, Canada, on Oct. 1, 1888. The iron was placed on a plank, which rested on a trestle. Cyr got under the plank, and pushing up with his back, arms and legs, raised the weight clear off the trestle. No other man in the world has been able to approach this performance.

The installation will take place next Sunday morning after service.

—This from the Princeton Clarion applies with equal truth to Monroe county, and so is of interest:

The average farmer of Gibson county rides in a pretty good rig when he comes to town or goes out for an airing. This was noticeable among the thousands who came to the fair last week, but applies more especially to the horses used to draw them. It is a rare thing to find a farm nowadays without one or more comfortable buggies or a handsome carriage. As to horses, however, there is much room for improvement. But this will follow in due time. The stock interests of the county are receiving much attention and the improved breeds of horses are beginning to show in all directions, and ere many years the scrub horse will be a thing of the past. The farmer will not only have neat vehicles but handsome horses to pull them.

—The library for the public schools now contains 1000 volumes, and it is ready to be used by the scholars. On each Monday and Friday afternoon it will be open for scholars, and will be under charge of Miss Maude Vannand as Librarian. About $100 must yet be raised to get the library out of debt, and an entertainment is talked of for that purpose.

—Now that the frosty weather is here people ought to give some attention to the outhouses on their premises. The services of John Brown should be called for and the vaults emptied of their contents. The cool weather will prevent any disagreeable odors, and this work should be done in the interest of public health.

—The brick work has been begun on Marion Hinkle's block, near the depot. It will be constructed in modern style, the recesses to be paved with tile. He will occupy one of the rooms for a retail meat store, and will pave it with tile, so that it may be the more easily mopped.
