

—Indiana has only one favorite son this year. His name is Benjamin Harrison.

—Gray is a good Western man whose State gives its delegates to an Eastern candidate.

—The Indiana Democrats declare that "there should be kept in constant circulation a sufficient volume of money" of different kinds "at par with each other." In other words they don't propose to be outdone in the matter of dodging the silver question.

—Cleveland is getting more delegates from States that he can't carry than any man who is taking part in the Presidential race.

—The Democrats of Indiana are as hopelessly divided up on Gray and Cleveland as the Democrats of New York are on Cleveland and Hill. With Porter as a candidate for Governor, Indiana will wheel into the Republican column with a 15,000 majority.

—The Paoli News (Democrat) says: "Grover Cleveland will not be nominated at Chicago." How do these fellows find out such things?

—Indiana, as shown by the municipal elections, is all right for the Republicans. New York, too, judged by the same test, is all right. The doubtful States are with us, as they were in 1888.

—The practice of whitewashing trees is not injurious, but commendable. It destroys eggs of insects and insects themselves which the bark harbors. There is no vitality in the outer bark, so that no injury results. If a little sulphur be added to the wash, the gain is still greater.—Practical Farmer.

—At a recent meeting of the Vernal Lodge of F. M. B. A., the following resolutions were adopted: "Whereas, it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from us our beloved brother, William H. Neeld; therefore be it resolved, by Vernal Lodge F. M. B. A., No. 1560, that in his death we have lost a devoted brother, a faithful friend, and an earnest, public spirited citizen. That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy; and that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family; also that a copy be spread on the records of the lodge."

—Hon. Claude Matthews is what working farmers call a "shade tree" farmer. He learned farming on a Southern plantation where they sit in the shade and boss the workers.

—We are subject to twenty-four hundred different diseases, and yet we blackguard the poor doctor who wrongly diagnoses our complaint. He has just 2,399 chances against him.

The Good Old Times.
From the Congressional Record, April 8, Mr. Joseph D. Taylor (of Ohio) "I can remember very well when I was a boy that the neighbors used to gather around my father's fire-side and talk about their mortgages and debts. He did a good deal of business and it was a very common occurrence for them to come there and talk about such matters. There was more poverty among the people, more suffering and want in those days than I have ever seen since. Eggs sold at 4 cents a dozen, oats at 12 cents a bushel, corn at 25 cents, wheat at 37 cents, and vegetables would not sell at all. When I was a boy we hauled wheat to the canal, a distance of forty miles, and sold our wheat at 37 cents a bushel, and I can remember when there was absolutely no market at all for wheat. I know that my father had a very large crop of wheat, several hundred bushels, and was absolutely unable to sell it at any price, and many farmers let their wheat rot in the field. It was the same with apples and potatoes; there was absolutely no market for them. Do not talk to me about mortgages and debts. In that part of the country at that time everybody was in debt. When a man went to church on Sunday he often went in his shirt sleeves. He and his wife would ride the same horse and sometimes carry one or two of the children. I have no sort of patience with this talk about the depression of agriculture as compared with the times when we had a revenue tariff. The farmers are having a hard time and I think they will have a harder time when wool is on the free list. But they are not having as hard a time as they had thirty or forty years ago, when the Democratic party was in power. I remember too well the sad condition of the country under Democratic rule.

Mr. Chairman, these older men who lived in the rural districts know that I am telling the truth. The farmers know it. The farmers now have carriages, spring wagons, carpeted floors, papered walls, comfortable homes, comfortable clothing, and a thousand conveniences and comforts which they did not have then."

"I am frank enough to admit," said Dr. D. P. Dolan, of Bay City, Mich., "that this thing called grip is beyond my ken. Some doctors treat it too lightly. We have regarded the disease as a peculiar form of cold and have generally applied conventional remedies. But now that people are going mad and committing suicide from the malady the medical profession is beginning to look upon it more seriously and to investigate its nature and effects. I am informed that 15 per cent. of the cases of mania reported to the authorities of Michigan are traceable directly to the ravages of la grippe. It also takes another peculiar form up there, that of softening of the brain. I have in my own practice in Bay City, seven cases of this kind now, progressed to hopeless condition, and every one of them was caused by the grip, which, strange to say, some of them had three or four years ago."

—The printing office has graduated more men to higher celebrity than any other "shop" known to trade. The opportunities for becoming acquainted with the leading events are greater than in any other calling, and if the boy who undertakes to learn the art is one who thirsts after knowledge, the facilities are unexcelled. Many only care to get through the routine of their duties, after which the billiard room and the tobacco store secure their patronage. There are others, however, who have an earnest desire for the advancement that knowledge insures, and who give their leisure hours to profitable reading and higher associations. To such there is no danger of failure. A boy should determine to master all branches of the business, from taking care of the office to setting up jobs, and when in his room should practice composition, so that when called upon he may demonstrate his ability to take the reporter's position, or write the heavy editorials that are sometimes called for. Many of the most prominent and successful men of our day have only had an opportunity to "master" in a rudimentary way, the big four: "readin', ritin', rithmetic and spellin'" before beginning their education in the printing office, but the royal road to knowledge opened to them there, has insured a practical education that has given America some of its best and most celebrated men.—Chicago Herald.

—When Bloomington was a smaller town, five or eight years ago, and everybody knew his neighbor, some certain salesman could control trade because individually "he was so clever." That day has gone by. The individual salesman no longer draws the trade—it is the store and the stock, and the sooner business men get onto that idea the better it will be for their pocket books.

—The Democratic Representative convention at Unionville, last Thursday resulted in the selection of John S. Williams of Brown county. He has held several offices in that county. He is a shrewd politician, and a man of about 42 years. Judge Cuning acted as Chairman of the convention. The names of John K. Anderson, James Ryan and John S. Williams were placed in nomination. Brown county cast her 16 votes for Williams throughout the 13 ballots which followed. Monroe county had 18 votes. On the 13th and nominating ballot, the vote stood Williams 19, Dill 7, Anderson 7, Spencer 2. The highest number of votes received by the various candidates was Williams 19, Ryan 8, Anderson 13, Spencer 6, Hatfield 6, Cuning 5. An effort was made during the afternoon to get the Monroe county delegates to vote as a unit for Judge Cuning, but there were delegates who would not do so. Cuning would have been the man to nominate if the delegates had consulted their local interests, but there was blood in the eyes of some of them, and their battle cry was "anything to beat a Monroe county candidate." Jas. Cullen held the proxy of Jas. Kerr, the candidate for councilman who was slaughtered by his Democratic friends in the 3d ward, and his instructions were to hit a Monroe county head whenever it bobbed up, and when he was faithful to his trust. Jas. Cullen, Wm. Buskirk and Robert Houston were the three Monroe county delegates who voted for Williams on the 13th ballot and thus insured his nomination.
