

Swinging Around the Circle

Of the diseases to which it is adapted with the best results, Hester's Stomach Bitters, a family medicine, comprehensive in its scope, has never been thrust upon public attention in the guise of a universal panacea for bodily ills. This claim, daily reiterated in the columns of the daily press by the proprietors of medicine far inferior to it as a specific, has in a national instance, directed the public to advance by its ability, and the prospects of other remedies of superior quality have been handicapped by the pretensions of their inferior competitors. But the American people know, because they have verified the fact by the most trying tests, that the Bitters possesses the power of curing in cases of malarial and liver disorder, constipation, nervous, rheumatic, and kidney troubles. What it does it does thoroughly, and mainly for this reason it is indorsed and recommended by hosts of respectable medical men.

Telegraph Wires Under the Sea

The world's submarine cables now measure about 143,011 nautical miles, in 1,168 sections. Different governments control 833 sections, or 13,382 miles; France claims, 3,309 miles; Great Britain, 1,309; Germany, 1,379; Italy, 1,027 miles. The remaining 335 cables, aggregating 139,623 miles, are owned by private companies. This great length of cable has been nearly all laid on the banks of the Thames, but Italy now has a cable factory, and France will soon have two. To lay and repair the cables requires the constant service of a specially equipped fleet of thirty-seven vessels of 56,935 tons.—Great Britain.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface, such articles should never be used except on the most desperate cases, and then only under the supervision of a physician. As the damage they will do is so great, it is better to use a remedy that will cure without the use of mercury. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

When the World's Supply of Oysters is Exhausted

the long as the supply will fall upon any land.

Lungs Consume, Bronchitis, Asthma, Etc., are Speedily Relieved, and if taken in time, permanently cured by Dr. J. W. Jay's Expectorant. You will find it in a certain remedy for Coughs and Colds.

A Groundless Scare—Henry George's land theories to a man who hasn't any land.

LET IT RUN, and your cough may end in something else

The pretty sure, but your cough is poor. That is just the time and condition that invites Consumption. The seeds are sown and have fastened it upon you, before you know that it is near.

It won't do to trifle and delay, when the remedy is at hand. Every disorder that can be reached through the blood finds its remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Lung Disease, Asthma, Scrofula in every form, and even the Scrofulous affection of the lungs that have their origin in the blood, in every case, you have your money back. All medicine dealers have it.

DO YOU COUGH

DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It cures Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Scrofula, Lung Disease, and every other disorder of the throat and lungs. It is a sure cure in all cases. Use it at once. You will find the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by all druggists. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Valued Recommendation of Scott's Emulsion is contained in letters from the medical profession speaking of its gratifying results in their practice.

Scott's Emulsion

of cod-liver oil with Hypophosphates can be administered when plain oil is out of the question. It is almost as palatable as milk—easier to digest than milk.

Prepared by Scott & Bown, N. Y. All druggists.

TOWER'S

FISH BRAND WATERPROOF CEMENT THE BEST IN THE WORLD!

SLICKER

The FISH BRAND SLICKER is warranted waterproof, and will protect your clothes from rain, snow, and dirt. It is a perfect skinning coat, and will keep your clothes clean and dry. It is sold by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

Ely's Cream Balm

WILL CURE CATARRH OF THE NOSE, THROAT, AND LUNGS. Apply Balm in each nostril. ELY'S BALM, 69 Warren St., N. Y.

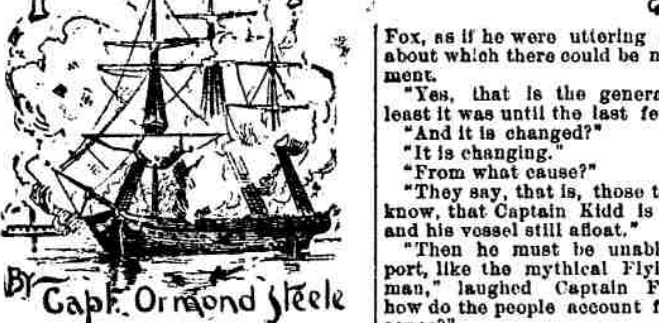

SHILOH'S CURE.

For Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Scrofula, Lung Disease, and every other disorder of the throat and lungs. It is a sure cure in all cases. Use it at once. You will find the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by all druggists. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DON'T BE DECEIVED. This is the best polish for stoves, and it is sold by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

Dr. J. W. Jay's

CHAPTER V—Continued.

While the dancing was in progress Captain Fox found an occasion to draw Frenaud to the side, when, without attracting attention, he whispered:

"I say, Frenaud, I want you to have a care."

"I don't understand," replied Frenaud, "but I am all surprised at the mysterious manner of my commander, with which he has become very familiar."

"I mean you must not step on Denham's toes!"

"On Denham's toes?"

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

"If you can point her out among all these beauties," said Frenaud, nodding at the many pretty girls now drawn up on one side for a contra dance, "of course I shall take care not to offend the girls by stepping too much attention to the lady."

"It is one of the two, and I have been puzzling my brain and exhausting my strength to find out which of the two, Miss Conditt is the favored one."

"Miss Conditt is his adopted sister, Captain."

"Yes; some one of these girls must be stepping on him, the most absurd."

"His sweetheart, Captain?"

"Yes!"

the doctor's box, and preparing for another

blast by taking out his handkerchief. "Ralph Denham is as dear to me as if he were flesh of my flesh and bone of my bone, and I am not for saying what the Condit is or have been, and, I pray, ever will be, but, though I know not Ralph's antecedents, I am sure if they ever knew him they would not have allowed his anger to prevent his further generosity. Two young bank clerks succeeded in getting money from him just to prove that they could successfully play upon his sympathies. They were deluded, however, at such a loss to give it to a charitable institution. Mr. Cooper learned of the trick and allowed a report to reach their ears that he had taken out a warrant against the two young men for obtaining money under false pretenses, and placed it in the hands of the detectives. They both took a vacation and wrote letters of apology to Mr. Cooper, asking him to overlook their foolish conduct and allow them to return to their duties. After leaving them in suspense a few days, Mr. Cooper sent for them, gave them a fatherly lecture and let them go. Mr. Cooper offered to discount a merchant's note for three years at the rate of 10 per cent, a month, which was a very high rate for such a long term of years. The merchant was overjoyed and agreed. "Very well," said Mr. Cooper, "just sign this note for $10,000, payable in three years, and give me your check for $800 and the transaction is complete." "But where is the money for?" asked the astonished merchant. "You don't get any money," was the reply. "Your interest for thirty months, at 10 per cent, or $10,800; therefore your check for $800 just makes us even." The merchant determined never to do such a thing again. While riding down Broadway, one day, the harness broke and the coachman could not mend it. Mr. Cooper stepped out of the carriage, took a few steps, and returned, unbuttoning his great coat, and handing the broken trace himself. The crowd watched him with interest. He made his strides, and with only a piece of string and a small wooden stick, he fastened the harness. The crowd looked on with admiration. Mr. Cooper spoke kindly to some young men, explaining the advantages of being able to help oneself. He was listened to with respectful attention, and when he had finished, the crowd cheered and hats were swung in his honor.

What the Man in the Moon Sees.

"If you could stand on the moon," says an astronomer, "the earth would appear to you to be sixty-four times larger than it is. It is a very curious fact, and such a mundane sphere; this because the earth has eight times the diameter of the moon, therefore she must necessarily show the moon's face to us. The moon shows us, on the other hand, would appear no larger to you from your observatory on the moon than it does from our globe. The earth's atmosphere being blue, it has been decided that the earth must appear as a blue ball to all outside observers. What a glorious sight it must be to our lunar neighbors to look upon a bright blue, swift-rotating ball sixty-four times larger than the sun."

It is an act of simple justice and also a pleasure to recommend it unqualifiedly to American Housewives.

Marion Harland.