

Republican Progress

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR.
WM. A. GARD, Editor and Proprietor.

THE BUSINESS OFFICE OF THE PROGRESS IS NOW IN THE FRANK BUILDING JUST WEST OF THE BURNED BLOCK.

—Last Saturday, at Washington City, Judge Gresham was inaugurated as first assistant to Grover Cleveland. Gresham was the big man of the occasion, as Grover couldn't find a man in the Democratic party capable of doing the position justice.

—It will be remembered that a heavy snow fell the day after Cleveland was elected, accompanied by a biting northwest wind. On Saturday last, the day of his inauguration, the weather grew intensely cold and disagreeable again. Is the entire country to be "frozen out" during his administration?

—The peculiar feature about the silver situation is that counterfeiters can buy enough silver bullion for about 65 cents to make a good, but not a legal silver dollar.

—A man was executed on Dec. 23d at Canton by ling-chi, or the slicing process, for patricide. The prisoner was bound to a cross and then sliced to death. The Chinese usually witness an execution with stoical indifference, but the screams of the victim were so heart-rending that many of the spectators were obliged to retire. They are not so tender-hearted in Texas.

—The legislative apportionment makes it impossible for the Republicans to carry the legislature unless they should carry the State by 20,000 majority. The Senate also passed a co-liability bill, but not the one demanded by organized labor. The Democratic leaders informed the railroad attorneys that some sort of a bill would have to be passed to meet the demands of labor, and a bill was drawn by S. O. Pickens, attorney for the Pennsylvania railroad company, which labor was informed it would have to accept if it got anything. The bill passed and was concurred in by the House. The provisions of the law are considered as in no way onerous upon corporations, as it places upon the injured employee the burden of proof to establish that his injuries were not received as the result of the act of an incompetent co-employee. In cases of accident, before recovery can be had it must be shown that the co-employee was competent. If incompetent the company is not held liable, because of the failure of the injured man to serve notice of such fact upon the representatives of the corporation.

—A company was formed to work the placer gold mines of Brown county this spring. Mr. Thomas Waltman of Georgetown, is a prominent member of the firm. They will operate a dry process of separating the gold from dirt and sand. The machines for the work have already been received.

—Ind. Sun: A cloud of sadness hung over the house of representatives Saturday morning. The speeches, many of them, were made between splaning tears, which faded the roses on the brussels carpet until they were nothing but dry daubs of formless red. The cause of the gloom was that the session is so nearly over. Members who have been paying $1 per diem for board will go back to the farm and tell their friends what a hotel looks like, while they devour their Sunday dinners of bacon, corn bread and cistern water with wiggles in it. Instead of riding to and from the theater in a cab, with a brass-mounted driver, they will plod through mud a mile and a half to a country school house to attend debatin' society, and then climb a narrow ladder to the "loft" where their spring mattresses of corn-husks are located. It is almost over and there are some members who will never, never again live a continual round of pleasure in a great city. Some people are capable of extracting a great deal out of a trip to the capital, and our legislators are equal to any in this particular.

—Counterfeit bills of the Second National Bank of Richmond, Ind., are in circulation. They are of the denomination of $10, the check number being a bank 486, and registered number 165, 167. The issue of 1886, of $2 certificates, are also counterfeited and being placed in circulation. They are three-eighths of an inch shorter than good money and bear a facsimile of Grover's name.

Suit for $10,000 damages. Rebecca Armstrong vs. the C. C. & St. L. railway company is the title of a suit filed in the Putnam circuit court by Col. C. C. Matson on Monday. The plaintiff states she was a passenger on defendants' road on February 7 last, and that the coach she was in was hurled from the track while running at the speed of sixty miles an hour, and that she was cut, injured, bruised and burned by the accident, besides receiving a severe shock to her nervous system. She also lost $500 worth of baggage. She asks $10,000 damages. Miss Armstrong resides at Bloomington, Ind., and the wreck occurred at Pana, Illinois.

To the Editor of the Progress.

The following article was penned by a lady who is now a retired teacher, having been prominent in educational circles in Indiana and Kentucky for many years. Her mother was a near relative of Abraham Lincoln, and the facts here recorded she had directly from President Lincoln's nearest relatives in Kentucky. Believing this would prove of interest to your readers, coming into my hands as it does near the time of Mr. Lincoln's birthday, I thought to submit it to you for use in your columns.

Respectfully,
Mrs. E. M. SEWARD.

THE LINCOLN FAMILY.

THE MARRIAGE OF THE PARENTS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.—INTERESTING REMINISCENCES.

To the Editor of the Journal:
SIR:—A short time since, by chance, there fell into my hand an Evening One-cent paper, containing a reprint of a letter from a correspondent of the Louisville Commercial, in which it was hinted that there had existed doubts in the public mind as to the marriage of Mr. Lincoln's father and mother. In the year 1831 I went to Springfield, Kentucky, to teach and was in that neighborhood when he received the nomination for President. On the announcement of the name of the candidate, all were on the qui vive to know who the stranger was, so unexpectedly launched upon the subject. A farmer remarked that "he would not be surprised if this were a son of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks." (The old house is still standing.) In a short time this supposition of the farmer was confirmed by the announcement of the father's name. A few days later I visited an aged lady by the name Litsky, who interested me much by giving a description of the wedding of the father and mother of the new candidate, she having been a friend of the bride and present at the marriage. In 1836, after the liberation of 4,000,000 slaves had made the name of Abraham Lincoln memorable, I was again in the neighborhood and visited the old house, now historic, in which were celebrated the wedding of the bride and groom. The surroundings are among the most picturesque in Kentucky. The little creek, a small river of wonderful meanderings, flows near and is lost to view in a semicircular amphitheater of hills. While surveying the grandeur of the surrounding landscape, I thought it not strange that inspiration had fallen upon the mother of him who should be known as the liberator of the nineteenth century. The official record of this marriage will be found at Washington county, on the Buck Fork, a few miles from Springfield, and near two cousins, Frank and Ned Berry. To these cousins came the bride and groom, they were welcomed to their homes; for the legend is "her cheerful disposition and active habits were a dowry of these pioneers." Soon after "Mad Anthony" Wayne's treaty with the Indians in 1794 and 1795 the lost cousin was returned to her friends. The returned captive lived at the house of her brother and sister, Nancy Hanks at the home of their cousin, Frank Berry. These girls were soon intimate as sisters. Sarah Mitchell was the pupil of Nancy in learning to spin flax—the latter being an adept in that, now lost art. It was the custom in those days to have spinning parties, on which occasions, the wheels of the ladies were carried to the house designated, to which the competitors came, distaff in hand, ready for the work of the day. At a given hour the wheels were turned in motion and the flax fiber took the form of firmly lengthened strands in their mystic hands. Tradition says that the girls who were so intimate as sisters, and the longest thread, Mr. Lincoln was not an exception to the rule for great men. Thomas Lincoln came, and the skill of Nancy, as a spinster, was ambitious, and became the husband of Nancy whose thread of gold has been woven by the hand and pen of Abraham into the warp and woof of the National Constitution. Sarah Mitchell became the wife of a Virginian and mother of an influential family. She was a woman of a high order of talent, and retained until death the greatest veneration for the memory of her cousin, whose name she gave to one of her children.

Modesty has laid the impress of silence upon these relatives of a noble woman; but when the voice of calumny has sought to smother her name, she has hurled the accusation to the ground and proclaimed her, the beautiful character, they had learned to love long before they knew to her had been given an honored son.

One who learned from sainted lips to admire her grand-mother's name.

—The Swedish concert company, the fifth of the University lecture course, gave an enjoyable entertainment Friday night last to an immense audience in college chapel. Everything was encoored from the tuning of the instruments to the goodnight serenade. The association has exhibited marked taste and judgment in selecting attractions for the season, and are entitled to full credit for the same. They will close the term with a satisfactory surplus, as they do, serve to.

Jean Binkley of this place has secured a position as an attendant inside the World's Fair Grounds.

—Ewing Batterson, Maj. H. F. Perry, Josh. O. Howe and John Hunter were hunting ducks last week in Clay county. Messrs. Batterson and Perry went up Bel river, and Howe and Hunter went up White river. The hunters took their boats with them from this place.

—Mrs. Morey Dunlap and little son of Anderson, are visiting Jno. W. Davis' family.

—Dr. Newland of Bedford was here Sunday, called to see his niece, Sallie, daughter of Judge H. C. Duncan.

—Mrs. Stephen McPhetridge is dangerously sick with typhoid pneumonia.

—Thomas Mathers has located in Las Vegas, N. M., and has rented a house for twelve months.

—Two men, John Shaw and Luther Perry, got into a whisky quarrel, Saturday night, and Perry slashed Shaw with a knife. Perry is in Hotel de Adams.

—For a fine smoke, call for the "Dr. Snyder" Cigar. It is not excelled for 5 cents. Sold by all dealers.

—An enthusiastic meeting was held by the commercial club, Monday night, at which important steps were taken in the interest of the new railroad.

—Chas. Miller will occupy the house vacated by Rev. Lucecock, and will keep boarders.

MISSING WORDS.—To the person who shall supply the correct or missing words in the appended poem will be awarded a ticket, which upon presentation at any saloon in town, accompanied by a nickel, will entitle the holder to one glass of beer. Remember that this contest is open to the world:

"Her foot had rested on his breast
One instant, more or less,
While to his rash request
She softly whispered—
[The missing word.]
Now, married, gloomily he sits
Beside their precious lamb,
And while it yells his teeth he grinds,
And grimly thinks—
[The missing word.]"

LADIES, those untimely wrinkles can be easily eradicated by the use of Woodbury's appliance and lubricant, now on sale at Faris Bros. The Woodbury Institute in New York and Chicago makes this class of treatment a specialty, and people should be eager to avail themselves of the opportunity to banish anything so marrying to an otherwise pretty face as crows' feet or wrinkles.

NECKLACES FREE OF CHARGE.—We have for years done more for our patrons in the way of repairing garments, darnings socks and replacing buttons free of charge, than was ever before done by any other laundry in the land, and now, in addition to this, we have decided on a new departure that will be more acceptable to our patrons than any of our previous efforts to please them. It is no less than to REPLACE NECKLACES FREE OF CHARGE.

It is perhaps advisable to say in this connection that we do not intend or promise to put new necklaces on old and worn-out shirts that will hardly pay for the labor of doing so. We are fair condition will receive this attention at our hands. Of course, it is possible that occasionally a shirt may escape our attention, but it will be rarely that a shirt needing a necklace will pass through our hands a second time without receiving the needed repairs.

See that your work comes to us. HUNTER LAUNDRIES AND DYING CO., Terre Haute, Ind. AXTELL BROS., Agts.

BIDS FOR STRIPPING.—Bids are solicited for stripping a quarry in the Hunter district, just west of the Johnson quarry. Apply to W. W. WICKS.
