Fee Block Burned.

AN EARLY MORNING FIRE.
The Northwest Corner Out of Luck Again.

At 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning a fire was seen to be curling from the roof of the Fee building, on the northwest corner of the square, near a chimney, and the alarm was immediately given by Craig Worley and Capt. Shoemaker, who happened to be standing in an alley in the rear of the structure. The fire department responded promptly, and soon had two powerful streams of water playing on the roof. The wind was blowing hard from the southwest, and as the flames burst forth from the comb of the roof on the main building, it was generally believed that the building and perhaps those adjoining it were doomed. The building extended the full length of the lot, 132 feet, and was in two sections. The fire broke out in the south section, a three story structure, and burned so rapidly that the entire roof soon fell in, and the roof of the second section, also three stories, then caught. The firemen climbed upon the Soudbury building just east and fought the fire heroically, and with such success as to confine it to the upper story where it was extinguished. The second section was literally gutted, and the walls were finally pulled down. The wind carried burning shingles and heavy coals to the buildings owned by John May, directly northeast, and they caught fire several times, but here well organized work prevented further disaster. The main building was saturated with water and the large stock of goods owned by Breeden & Co. was damaged seriously, though some of it was carried to the court house yard for safety. An hour's hard, stubborn work placed the fire under control, and having exhausted the cistern the engine was removed to the branch near Waldron's tannery.

The building was one of the old landmarks, and in its time one of the most pretentious structures in the town. Breeden & Co. occupied the first floor as a dry goods store; the room in the rear was occupied by John H. Wylie as a furniture and paper stock room; up-stairs was Dr. Whitted's office; next room was Benckart & Son's tailor shop, and the adjoining room was used by the Singer sewing machine company. Breeden & Co. had $9,000 insurance, with a loss of $13,000; Wylie, saved nothing from his room, and had $600 insurance; Dr. Whitted's effects were carried out with but few exceptions, and his loss will be about $50, fully insured; Benckart & Son lost $100, insurance $200; the sewing machine office sustained but slight loss. The building was owned jointly by Mrs. M. A. Buskirk and Mrs. W. O. Fee, and they carried $6,000 of insurance.

The third story of the building had been occupied by the Odd Fellows for many years, but they had removed to their new hall on Walnut street early in the winter. The firemen did noble work from beginning to end. In fact no better management of a fire is seen in any of the large cities—as great risks being taken, and as much judgment being used as is ever seen at a fire. Of course there were some "kickers," as there always are, but they took good care not to do what they advised others to do.

In throwing down the north wall of the building the bricks crashed through the house owned and occupied by Dr. Crain, injuring it very seriously. The Bee Hive sustained a slight loss by the breaking of some heavy glass in the sky-light, owing to the extreme heat.

Ren. C. Smith was seriously injured in the head by a brick which fell from the east wall and struck him while he was at work.

The old "Catact" hand engine was pressed into service and did good work.

Mrs. Buskirk has been unfortunate in the matter of fires in recent years. The building on the east side of the square burned some time ago, and on the 23d of December the Progress block burned, and now the Fee block has gone through the ordeal. In all these properties she owns a half interest.

—Dr. Whitted & Son have secured an office in the building south of Worley's livery stable.

—A strong pressure is being brought to bear on Mr. Cleveland to have him select a Commissioner of Pensions from a State east of the Alleghenies. Those who are exerting their influence to this end argue that the West has had the office too many times, and that it is now the turn for the East. Mr. Cleveland has given no signs as to his selection, if he has made any, but he has intimated that the new Commissioner will be a young man of known ability, not too closely allied to practical politics.

Married in a County Jail.

Miss Laura Eulich, who is now Mrs. J. Frank Benham, offered her resignation, Saturday night, as a teacher in the institution for the blind, to take effect at once, but Superintendent Griffith refused to accept it. She left on the evening train for Richmond. The marriage ceremony which united her and Dr. Benham was in the parlors of the Sheriff's residence, Monday night. The parents of the groom, his two sisters, Mrs. Winterow of this city, sister of the bride, and several others, were present. After the ceremony the newly-made husband and wife parted, he going to the jail and she taking up her home with her husband's parents. The offense of which Benham was convicted was the criminal seduction of a daughter of a day laborer much beneath him in social position. When first accused he fled to Cincinnati, but was discovered and brought back. He was furnished and proceedings, both criminal and civil, were begun against him. Dr. Benham was found guilty and sentenced to two years in the State Prison. He was at liberty under bond. He was to have been sentenced Monday, but his attorneys had been asked and granted by Judge Constock. J. Frank Benham is a young man, probably twenty-five years old, well educated and of quiet, retiring demeanor. He is a graduate of the State University at Bloomington, and also of a medical college at Cincinnati. It was while at Bloomington that he met and became engaged to Miss Eulich. At the time his troubles began he was engaged in the practice of medicine in Richmond with his father. Miss Eulich is highly esteemed as a woman and teacher by her pupils. She is twenty-three years of age and very prepossessing in appearance. She lived with her mother on North Pennsylvania street. She believes her husband guilty of the act charged, and was so determined to marry him that her friends interposed no opposition. She believes he will live to show himself innocent and to remove the cloud that hangs over him. She will remain in Richmond for the present.

—Mrs. Edward Woodard of Buffalo, N. Y., attended the funeral of her father, W. A. Campbell.

—Mabel Wylie, the 8-year old daughter of Casson Wylie, is dangerously sick with pneumonia. Until she is found guilty, and sentenced to two years in the State Prison, she was at liberty under bond. —Mrs. T. E. Lawes has returned from a pleasant visit in Chicago.

—The Ellettsville "Citizen" has resumed publication after a suspension of several months. Glad to see it again.

—Sheriff Adams will spend the week with his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Barnes, in Kentucky.

—The statement has been made, especially among the farmers, that if they vote the tax to the new railroad, they bind the county to procure and pay for the right of way. This is all wrong. The question the people vote on at the coming election has nothing whatever to do with the right of way, and every one who reads the petition to the commissioners will see that this is so. The right of way must be procured by the company itself from the men through whose land the railroad will run. All that the county is bound to do is to pay all election expenses if the tax is voted down. Otherwise the railroad company pays these expenses. There is nothing gained by men, either for or against the tax, by making wrong statements. Everything is fair and above-board, and the petitions tell all that is asked.

—London is terribly alarmed at the prospect of cholera. Late news from Russia reports 500 new cases daily in the district of Kamensk. Medical men all over Europe are gloomy in their predictions. There is reason to fear that the United States may feel the scourge when the warm weather sets in.

—Some one has taken the trouble to find out how far a farmer has to walk to put in and attend forty acres of corn. To plow the ground he travels 356 miles, to harrow the ground thoroughly he plows 50 miles, to cultivate it afterwards he will have to travel 300 miles, making a grand total of 706 miles besides the gathering.

Dr. Vincent and Biggs, Specialists.

These physicians, whose phenomenal success has been the subject of much comment throughout Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, were formerly connected with the celebrated St. Louis Medical Institute.

Any person wishing to confirm the numerous reports regarding their success are requested to write for a list of testimonials. Drs. Vincent and Biggs have made chronic diseases a lifelong study, and have ample proof that their reputation in this line is unequalled. Every week for two years past the statement of one or more leading citizens who were cured by these physicians has been published in Evansville papers. Unlike other traveling specialists they do not persuade you to call on them for the purpose of robbing you. On the contrary they propose to show you partially, and give the same low uniform rate to all. Their motto is Live and Let Live, and if you will call on them they will prove their sincerity.

Specialties—Catarrh of the Nose, Throat and Stomach, and all other chronic and obscure diseases and private diseases of both sexes. Catarrh and kindred diseases are treated at Five Dollars per month. Medicine Free. Sufferers from factors of Suffering Humanity. At the National Hotel, MONDAY, APRIL 17th, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., returning every thirty days. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Don't forget the date. Address a communication to: DR. VINCENT & BIGGS, Evansville, Ind.

EVERYBODY knows that wall paper, and its colorings in natural glues, is unsanitary, and that to apply resplendent layers of such is a very "naughty practice," as well as dangerous. Exfoliating, temporary, rots, ruins off, and leaves a foul, unhealthy odor. Alabastine forms pure, permanent and porous coating, and does not require to be taken off to renew from time to time; is a dry powder, ready for use by adding water (the latest make is used in cold water and is never sold in bulk); can be easily brushed on by any one; made in white and twelve fashionable tints, and in three shades, from which decorators make the balance of their shades shown on their card.

R. B.—It is not claimed that all who live with in papered walls do much better before their time, but they will enjoy better health with wall coatings (PPTT) Pure, Permanent, Porous and Pretty.
