The Lack of Confidence.

Mr. Cleveland's Comptroller of the currency, Mr. J. H. Thompson, has been called upon by the public to explain the lack of confidence in the government. He has been called upon to explain the lack of confidence in the government. He has been called upon to explain the lack of confidence in the government.

In the past four months the country has seen the ability of the government to maintain its credit at par deliberately discredited by the Democratic President and the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury. It has seen the Democratic party making preparations to tear down American industry for the benefit of European monopolists. It has seen commercial failures by wholesale, factories closing down and workmen turned out on the streets by thousands because manufacturers were unable to command a market for their goods.

Six Minutes to a Pensioner.

It appears, according to a recent statement from the Pension Office, that the Confederate investigation with the view of disgracing and degrading veterans of the Union armies is to proceed at the rate of six minutes to each pensioner. The man who fought four years in the Union ranks is to have this fraction of time devoted to the question, involving not only his means of living, but also his honor. Without counsel, without an opportunity for appearance or defense, the record of the Union soldier is to be tried in six minutes by men who, if not themselves avowed enemies of the soldier, know that their prospects for Cleveland's term are dependent upon the ex-Confederates and their Northern associates.

A Challenge.

The press asserts explicitly and directly that the prevailing conditions of disaster have been brought about by the threat of Democratic free trade. It asserts that the loss of the people through the depreciation of securities, the paralysis of credit and the stagnation of industries would not have taken place if Benjamin Harrison had been elected instead of Grover Cleveland. The press challenges Democratic newspapers to deny this statement. Is there one Democratic organ that dares to assert that the disaster which has come upon the country since March 4 would have occurred if the Republican party had continued to control the government?

Pensions are being cut off, right and left. Men who lost hands or feet in the war, are being notified that they must furnish better evidence of disability before they can be reinstated. General Black of Illinois who spent all last summer stumping for Cleveland, and who is now a member of congress, is drawing the largest pension paid by the United States, on the ground of total disability. Gresham, who is Secretary of State, at a salary of $8,000 a year, is drawing a pension of $30 a month. These pensions will not be cut off; but poor, destitute old fellows, who are actually disabled must lose their pensions, to gratify democratic malice and contribute to democratic "retrenchment."

We had good years of business from 1889 to the spring of 1893. What is making the change? Many are asking this question as the Democratic returns come in from Denver, Louisville, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, and all parts of the country where failures are reported and business enterprises closing. The people will be able to answer if given time, perhaps.

The Irish Village and Donegal Castle stand next to the Liberty Glass Works in the Midway Plaisance. The village was designed and erected by Mrs. Ernest Hart, the president of the Donegal Industrial Fund, a philanthropic organization founded ten years ago, to develop handwork and home industries in Ireland. The village contains a representative exhibit of Irish Art, Industry, History and Antiquity, and should by no means be missed by any visitor to the fair. For here he can not only study Irish art from its first dawn in the days of the druids to its latest achievement in painting and sculpture; but he can sit on real Irish soil, can sit in the wishing chair, can look on the face of Ireland's present day liberator, Gladstone, as chiseled by the Irish sculptor, Bruce Joy, can occupy for a moment the chair used by the Great O'Connell, and can hear the liquid Gaelic tongue spoken by Irish colleens at work spinning and lace-making in the cottages scattered round the village green.

Nervous Prostration—How Cured

Campbellburg, Ind., June 1, 1893.—Paris Bros.—I had been suffering from nervous prostration for a year, and at times feared that I would become a "run," which resulted in panic and heavy loss. But it all becomes a member of the Cleveland administration to condemn the people because of "lack of confidence." There is plenty of confidence so long as the Republican party was in power.

In the past four months the country has seen the ability of the government to maintain its credit at par deliberately discredited by the Democratic President and the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury. It has seen the Democratic party making preparations to tear down American industry for the benefit of European monopolists. It has seen commercial failures by wholesale, factories closing down and workmen turned out on the streets by thousands because manufacturers were unable to command a market for their goods.

It is not strange that a general feeling of distrust and fear exists which is likely, at almost any moment and in almost any community, to break forth in unreasoning and disastrous panic. The Democratic threat of destruction to American industries and degradation to American currency has simply produced its natural results.—N. Y. Press.

During July the "Antecator of the Breakfast Table" will continue to be the literary test. Beginning with November it will be the Teachers' reading circle book, "The Orations."

"AMERICA."—Chicago's greatest attraction in the amusement line is Imre Kiralfy's great spectacle entitled America, which is given at the Auditorium every evening and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. This is probably the richest and costliest play ever put upon any stage, and it is received by the vast audiences with unbounded delight. The ballets, scenery, costumes, scenic effects, are all on a scale of magnificence that defies description—bewildering in beauty, and surpassing in splendor. Never were so flattering criticisms given any play by the Chicago press. Your visit to the World's Fair will not be complete without seeing "America" at the Auditorium.

A Statement to the Public.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the annual meeting at Ketcham's Sulphur Springs, make the following statement to the public:

One year ago, at the regular meeting, the undersigned officers and committee, was duly elected, to make all necessary arrangements for conducting the meeting of the present year—known as the Old Settlers' Meeting. Your committee called a meeting in June to begin to look after said meeting and perfect arrangements for the same.

George Ketcham, who owns the land upon which said meeting was to be held positively refused to let your committee have anything to do with said meeting, and in proof of this statement he has called a meeting over his own signature.

As is well known to all who have attended these meetings in the past few years, especially on the Lord's day, these meetings have been very disorderly, and many things have been done that was in violation of the laws of our State. The public being tired of this Sunday desecration, demanded that at these meetings on the Lord's day, these things should be stopped. The committee had decided that all stands for the sale of tobacco, cigars, lemonade, ice cream, melons, all swings, &c., &c., should be kept entirely away from these grounds on the Lord's day, and the meeting should be strictly a religious meeting that all good people could attend. This order made by the committee caused George Ketcham to take the meeting out of our hands in order that the laws of God and the State may again be violated with impunity, and that a few dollars may be made by selling chewing gum, candies, cigars and lemonade, calling it refreshments. Your committee believes that the time has come when law and order should be respected on the Lord's day, in Monroe county. We, therefore, ask every christian man and woman to join with us in condemning such conduct as is usually carried on at these meetings at Ketcham's Sulphur Springs on the Lord's day.

THOMAS MITCHELL, Sec.

TAYLOR CARMICHAEL, HENRY F. DILLMAN, Committee.

—Met Congressman Cooper on Saturday. Cooper is a genial gentleman, and aside from his miserable politics is as clever a fellow as you will meet in a day's ride. "Well, George, will you go back to Washington to take part in the extra session on the 7th, or will you resign in the Progress' favor?" It is my intention to go back and give old Raun one in the snout. "Do you favor repealing the Sherman act and issuing greenbacks direct to the people?" As the Sherman act is named after a Republican I think every Democrat ought to oppose it; as to greenbacks they should be issued in such numbers and in such quantities as seems best to those whose province it is to have charge of finances. Do you understand? "No, don't understand, but would like to know if you will support Colonel Matson for the congressional nomination next season?" Why as I was saying before, the silver question is such a—why, how are you, George?" yelled a constituent from Salt Creek City, as he clasped the effusive congressman in his arms and hurried him into Field's back and now we will never know how Cooper stands on the silver question.

The Things We Prize Most

are not the gewgaws and gimcracks we gather about us every day, but the things which serve him best. Not much sentiment in this, perhaps, but some sense all the same.

The McCormick Machine of Steel takes first rank the world over. Hundreds of thousands of grain growers call it the best harrow and binder that ever went into a grain field, and they prize it accordingly. It is just plain, old-fashioned common sense. They like it best because it serves them best.

It costs more money than some harvesters, but that's because it's more valuable. Its advantages more than offset the added cost.

The "Machine of Steel" is built to harvest the grain crop of the world, and to do it better than any other machine.
