REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

The Hon. W. B. Gardner, Republican candidate for Congress in the 2d Congressional District, will speak in Monroe county, at Stantford on Friday, Oct. 7th, at 1 o'clock p. m., and at Ellettsville on Saturday, Oct. 8th, at 7 o'clock p. m.

The Hon. Gurley Brewer, a colored Republican orator, will speak in Bloomington next Thursday, Sept. 29th, at 7 p. m.

The Hon. James F. Stutesman, one of Indiana's noted Republican speakers, will speak in Bloomington next Saturday, Oct. 1st, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The Democratic meeting last Saturday was one of the most dismal failures that has been seen here in many years. The crowd was phenomenally small, enthusiasm absent, and the feeling seemed general among those present that the wholesale charges of fraud, extravagance, and all other naughtiness made by the speakers, were merely the common staples of speech-making talk indulged in by professional politicians.

If the American troops suffered discomforts, privations and neglect in the recent campaign against Spain, what would have been their experiences if the Democrats in Congress had had their way—in other words, if the Republicans had not been able to overcome the opposition of the Demo-Pops in the House to some of the measures calculated to improve the condition of the troops. This opposition was so notorious that Representative Hay, a Democratic member from Virginia, on May 18, felt called upon to say: "It does seem to me to be a curious fact that no bill can be reported here which looks to the real defense of the country and to the real purpose of defeating the foe with whom we are contending without adverse criticisms being made, and in my humble judgment, that sort of criticism which ought to have no weight with the members of the House." These remarks can be found on page 5611 of the Congressional Record of May 18, 1898.

Senator Pettigrew, who bolted the Republican party because it refused to make itself the tool of a score or more of wealthy silver miners of the west, has been compelled to suspend the free-silver campaign in South Dakota because nobody turned out to hear him. Senator Pettigrew says "the campaign was begun too soon." On the heels of this comes the announcement that Senator Kyle, of that State, has abandoned Populism and free silver, and has declared himself a convert to the Republican party, while H. L. Loucks, one of the founders of Populism and the author of the "Omaha platform," a man of national reputation in politics, has repudiated fusion and declared himself out-and-out for the success of the Republicans this fall. For a young State, South Dakota is doing quite well.

The Democrats are considerably chagrined and the Republicans are much pleased over the last issue of Puck, the humorous Democratic weekly. The cartoon on the cover represents Pulitzer, Hearst and Bryan hurling mud at McKinley. Back of him is the flag, mud drenched. The lines beneath the picture say that the government did the best it could for its soldiers under the circumstances, and mud thrown at the administration only besmirches our national honor. For Puck to take this position when most of the other Democratic organs are throwing wet clay like sixty, is a puzzle to many of the leaders.—Indianapolis Sun.

When the investigating committee makes its report it will be found by some of the grumbling newspapers that they do not know any more about the suffering of the soldiers in camp than they did about any other part of the war. Some of the sickness will be found the fault of the soldiers themselves, while some of it will be found to be the fault of local medical officers, and other camp officers. Part of it of course was unavoidable under any circumstances, but that which could have been avoided will be credited to those who are responsible. A large part of it, it will be found, never existed except in lying newspapers who have been attempting to lay all the blame upon the administration. In the end their lying will profit them nothing.

Judge Gardner's Record.

Hon. W. R. Gardner, Republican candidate for Congress, in this district, was first employed as a bridge carpenter on the O. & M. Railway, and afterward taught school in Martin county, where he began the study of law. He rapidly achieved distinction in the legal profession. Oliver P. Morton appointed him prosecuting attorney of his district. Later Governor Fisher courted him judge of the Court of Common Pleas to fill a vacancy. Judge Gardner is popular with public men, and especially strong with those who know him best. Knox and Daviess counties, each overwhelmingly Democratic, not many years ago, composed a judicial district, and the election of a Democrat was conceded, but Judge Gardner carried Daviess county by 475 votes, leading his ticket more than 500 votes. In 1886 he was chosen representative of Daviess county by a majority of 800, again leading his ticket 500 votes. In the legislature he was one of the leaders of the House, and his efforts are largely due to the fact that the soldiers' monument was built in Indianapolis. During all these years Judge Gardner has had an unblemished reputation, and his election this fall will be no surprise to the people of this Democratic district.

Good Health the Latest Fad for Women.

It is one of the most encouraging signs of the times that women no longer "enjoy poor health." The popular girl to-day is the athletic girl, the girl who is literally capable of paddling her own canoe, the girl with red cheeks and light, springy step, the girl to whom life and health are synonymous terms, and whose mind is as clear as her complexion. It is actually the fashion to be healthy; not only to have every vital organ in excellent running order, but to have supple muscles, nerves in use only as a telegraph system for the brain, and a skin deliciously pink and white, and all the result of exercise and cleanliness. It is impossible to be attractively healthy without being cleanly, or cleanly without in some measure improving the physical condition. Absolute cleanliness, combined with a few minutes each day devoted to systematic, practical physical culture exercises, will surely mean at least comparative health to every busy woman, whether her duties are of a social, business or domestic nature.—From "Physical Culture for Busy Women," in Demorest's Magazine for October.

The Late Madame Demorest.

The recent death of Mme. Demorest has caused a widespread revival of interest in a woman who for thirty years past has been conspicuous as a philanthropist, temperance enthusiast, and helper of women. Undoubtedly she owed much of her far-reaching popularity to the fact that she was among the first of America's progressive women, of the women who little less than a half century ago dared to take the initiative in matters social and political, who believed that women were entitled to higher education and good clothes. She was an enthusiastic club-woman, was one of the charter members of the Women's Club, of New York, and also helped to organize and launch that most famous of women's clubs, Sorosis. Mme. Demorest's connection with Demorest's Magazine was severed immediately after her husband's death in 1895, when the publication was sold by the Demorest estate and continued under the present management. The death of Mme. Demorest occurred in New York, August 10, 1898, after an illness of many months.—From "A Brief Sketch of a Distinguished Woman," in Demorest's Magazine for October.

Indiana Stone Road Meeting.

W. H. McDool, general manager of the Monon, accompanied by W. H. Lewis, treasurer; Geo. W. Kretzinger, general counsel; E. G. Field, general solicitor, and other officers of the road, arrived in Bloomington Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of holding the first annual meeting of the Indiana Stone Road Company. The following were elected directors: Samuel Thomas, E. R. Thomas, of New York, G. B. Shaw, C. H. Rockwell, B. E. Taylor, E. C. Field, of Chicago, W. W. Wicks, Bloomington. Gilbert B. Shaw, of Chicago, was elected president. All of them, except Taylor, Rockwell and Wicks, are directors of the Monon. Rockwell is traffic manager of the road, and Taylor is purchasing agent.

It was voted to issue bonds on the road at $20,000 a mile for the twelve miles, the entire $240,000 having been guaranteed by the Monon, and will be used in the construction of the road. This branch will be used as the main line of the Monon road, thus getting rid of the steep grade at Smithville. It runs into a new stone field, and work has already begun on the road.

W. N. Showers, A. K. Helton and Charles Field were invited to be present and act as tellers, and in recognition of their services, were each presented with a $10 gold piece by Mr. McDool.

A Bedford boy, the son of a Baptist clergyman, has inherited the traditional baptism-by-immersion principles, and by close attention given to the ceremony as performed by his fond parent, is able to repeat it word for word. A few days ago he filled a tub with water in the back kitchen, and catching the family cat and her two kittens proceeded to teach them one of the essential rites of the Baptist church. The kittens underwent the ordeal without protest, but the cat showed her displeasure by scratching the boy's face. Throwing the offending animal down, he said in disgust: "Damn it, then, be a Methodist if you want to!"

"The Marriageable Age."

The "marriageable age" differs greatly. In Austria a "man" and "woman" of 14 are supposed to be capable of conducting a house of their own. In Germany the man must be at least 18 years of age. In France and Belgium the man must be 16 and the woman 15. In Spain the intended husband must have passed his 14th year and the woman her 12th. The law in Hungary for Catholics is that the man must be 14 years old and the woman 12; for Protestants, the man must be 18 and the woman 15. In Greece the man must have seen at least 14 summers and the woman 12. In Russia and Saxony they are more sensible, and a youth must refrain from matrimony till he can count 14 years, and a woman until she can count 16. In Switzerland men from the age of 14 and women from the age of 12 are allowed to marry. The Turkish law provides that any youth and maid who can walk properly and can understand the necessary religious service are allowed to be united for life.

The latest product of scientific preparation is the odorless onion. Just how an onion can be odorless and still remain an onion is not explained. To most people the odor is all there is to an onion, and that is enough. The elimination of the characteristic feature of a vegetable of such long and strong standing in natural history ought to be reckoned among the proudest achievements of man. But an onion deprived of that delicious twang and the penetrating scent which goes with it can hardly be an onion. The palate which loves onions will not recognize it; calling a whitened, innocuous, insipid, plated bulb an onion will not make it one.

—Stephen Horsey, 77, tried in 1864 for being a member of the Knights of the golden circle, and sentenced to death, is dead in the Martin county poor asylum. This order was opposed to the suppression of the rebellion. Governor Morton recommended clemency and the president pardoned Horsey and several others tried at the same time. Horsey always declared he was unjustly prosecuted. His old friends died and he lost his money by degrees until he reached the poor farm.

—The "coffee heart" is the latest to be added to the classification of functional derangements of that organ. The coffee heart is due to an over-indulgence in that beverage, just as the tobacco heart is credited to the use of tobacco, or the bicycle heart to extravagance in wheeling. A medical director of a life insurance company avers that over-indulgence in the use of coffee shortens the beat of the heart, and that excessive use of coffee will hereafter be regarded as risks in life insurance.

—It is astonishing to note the deliberate falsehoods some of the Democratic papers are publishing about the treatment of sick soldiers. Such infamous lies are short lived.

The Graham Earle Co. are with us all this week at the opera house with a repertoire of new city productions and from the large crowd that filled the opera house last evening it is evident that they have lost none of their old time popularity in our city. The company is stronger if anything than it ever was before and includes such people as F. C. Huebner (last season with Tim Murphy in Old Innocence), James M. Martin, an actor 72 years of age, who has supported Booth, Louis James, etc.; Lillian Sackett and Edith Atkinson may be mentioned among the ladies. The attraction was at Bedford last week and Terre Haute the week before and at both places was pronounced the best popular priced company ever in the city. At the opera house every night of the fair. Admission 10, 20 and 30 cents.

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture in this inner tube, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, like this, the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but—now every rider should remember these two "bits," or "how" will fail!

Before injecting cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the inner tube will be flabby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies.

When you have a puncture, get right off. Kicking a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.
