LIVES IN A CAVE.

Wild Man of Kentucky Lives on Lizards and Snakes.

A cave on a hillside at Mount Washington, thirteen miles from Taylorsville, Ky., is the home of a wild man. Whence he came is a mystery, but he lives on fish, snakes, lizards and anything else he can catch, and his powers in this line are as well developed as those of a wild beast.

Squire N. L. Harris, near whose home the cave is situated, discovered the wild man a few nights ago. While feeding his stock he noticed smoke curling from the mouth of the cave. Going to the entrance he found a lot of bones and feathers scattered around. He did not care to go inside the cave, not knowing what wild animal abode there.

He decided, however, to watch and discover the tenant. A day or two afterward he returned to the place and found the lodger outside the cave. It was the strangest bit of humanity ever seen hereabouts—a little, dried-up man, not more than four feet high, weighing ninety pounds or less, and covered with a shaggy coat of hair. His clothing was hardly worthy of attention.

The wild man tried to escape into the cave, but Mr. Harris intercepted him and endeavored to find out whence he came and who he was. The strange creature, however, could only talk in a jargon not understood by his questioner, but the Squire finally made out that he came from South America.

This veritable wild man has lost all vestige of civilization. His hands are paws to all intents, and he fears man as much as any wild animal does. Squire Harris told his neighbors of his discovery, and hundreds of persons have been to the cave, hoping to see the strange object, but they have failed of their purpose.

On the approach of any one the wild man seeks the darkest recesses of the cavern, and he must be able to see in the dark, for the presence of anybody on the outside is enough to keep him concealed until the intruder has departed. How long he has been in the cavern is not known. He is probably 60 years old. The neighbors do not care to molest him, as he commits no depredations and makes his own living without being a nuisance.—Philadelphia Times.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS FREE.

One of the Grandest Offers Ever Made. The first five persons procuring the Endless Chain Starch Book from their grocer will each obtain one large 10c package of "RED CROSS" starch, one large 10c package of "HUBINGER'S BEST" starch, two Shakspeare pictures, printed in twelve beautiful colors, as natural as life, or one Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, the finest of its kind ever printed, all absolutely free. All others procuring the Endless Chain Starch Book will obtain from their grocer two large 10c packages of starch for 5c, and the beautiful premiums, which are being given away. This offer is only made for a short time to further introduce the famous "RED CROSS" starch, and the celebrated "HUBINGER'S BEST" cold water starch. "RED CROSS" laundry starch is something entirely new, and is without doubt the greatest invention of the twentieth century. It has no equal, and surpasses all others. It has won for itself praise from all parts of the United States. It has superseded everything heretofore used, or known to science in the laundry art. It is made from wheat, rice and corn, and is chemically prepared upon scientific principles by J. C. Hubinger, an expert in the laundry profession, who has had twenty-five years of practical experience in fancy laundering, and who is the first successful and original inventor of all fine grades of starch in the United States. If you would have the best, ask for "RED CROSS" and "HUBINGER'S BEST," which are the finest starches on the market to-day. The jobbing houses handle it, the retail grocer has it on his shelves, you find it in all the homes, while the careful housewife has adorned the walls of the house with the beautiful Shakspeare pictures which are being given away in introducing "RED CROSS" and "HUBINGER'S BEST" starch.

Saw a Way to Make Money.

A worthy American citizen, having made a fortune, fared forth to see the world. European business ways and habits thoroughly disgusted this nervously keen expert in money-making and he poured forth his scorn to some friends he met in Paris. One of them, knowing the ignorance of the old gentleman on subjects without the circle in which he had lived, ventured on a joke.

"I agree with you," he said. "I agree with you thoroughly. Why, do you know, sir, I was last week in a city of 125,000 inhabitants—and I was overcome, sir—overcome to find they hadn't a lively stable in the city."

"No—you don't tell me!" answered the victim. "Gentlemen, see there! Just consider that!" Then, jumping to his feet, as the thought struck him: "Why, gentlemen, a fortune's awaiting someone there! Where's the place? What's the name of it?"

"Venice," said the joker. "Good! I'm tired of this place, anyway. I'll go right down there to-morrow, and put a little horse sense into that town. Gentlemen, you're in this good thing with me if you choose."

They were all in it and they invested their friend with powers plenipotentiary. The story has no dramatic point, save that it's a historic fact that Venice was visited. No one ever heard an account of that visit, but for long afterward no participant in the joke could get within hailing distance of the self-appointed pioneer of American enterprise.—Harper's Round Table.

The Philippine War

Is proving more stubborn than anticipated. It needs a vigorous contest to straighten matters out. We should tackle the Philippines and overcome them as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters does dyspepsia, indigestion, malaria, fever and ague. The battle is short and decisive, and for fifty years the Bitters have always won.

Drawing a Comparison.

"Don't talk like a fool, Joshua," said Mrs. Harix; "to hear you tell it folks would be thinkin' I asked you to marry me, and goodness knows I never run after you for a minute in my life."

"Well, I hain't saying you run after me, Melinda," replied the old man, "but that don't prove nothin' nohow. I reckon the trap never runs after the mouse neither, but somehow it 'pears to gather him in jist the same."—Chicago News.

Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 18,992]

"DEAR FRIEND—I feel it my duty to express my gratitude and thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me. I was very miserable and losing flesh very fast, had bladder trouble, fluttering pains about the heart and would get so dizzy and suffered with painful menstruation. I was reading in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I wrote to you and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. J. O. BARNARD, MILLTOWN, WASHINGTON CO., ME.

An Iowa Woman's Convincing Statement.

"I tried three doctors, and the last one said nothing but an operation would help me. My trouble was profuse flowing; sometimes I would think I would flow to death. I was so weak that the least work would tire me. Reading of so many being cured by your medicine, I made up my mind to write to you for advice, and I am so glad that I did. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and followed your directions, and am now well and strong. I shall recommend your medicine to all, for it saved my life."—Miss A. P., Box 21 ABBOTT, IOWA.
