FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1891.

This Date in History—May 22.

337—Constantine, first Christian emperor of Rome, died.
1471—Henry VI murdered in the Tower of London.
1781—Jean Baptiste Beccaria, writer on criminal law, etc., died.
1837—Trial of Aaron Burr for treason begun at Richmond, Va.
1813—Battle at Wurtzelen; General Duroc, when dying, was brought to Bonaparte to beg the latter's care for his children.
1853—Battle of Gum Swamp, N. C.
1888—Tokio, Japan, almost destroyed by fire.
1880—Doctor Patrick H. Cronin's body found in a sewer in Chicago 18 days after his murder; most sensational criminal trial of recent times followed.

CINCINNATI has been this week a veritable "cave of Adullam," where "everyone" that was in distress, and everyone that was in debt, and everyone that was discontented had gathered themselves together.

CONGRESSMAN WHEELER, of Alabama, says if the silver question gets out of the way, Cleveland will be the nominee of the Democratic party. He thinks the Alliance is going to do much toward purifying politics, that there is no danger to Democrats from a third party; that there will be no third party except in Kansas, and other Republican States of the North.

INDIANAPOLIS mourns the loss of 14,000 children by the enumeration just taken. If this is a correct enumeration, and the method adopted would indicate that it is, it clearly shows that the enumerations heretofore have been padded. The census says that this enumeration will effect Indianapolis's school revenue $40,000 or $50,000. The census is probably unnecessarily alarmed. With a 16 cent levy and an assessment more than double there will be funds amply sufficient to run the schools not only of Indianapolis but of the entire State eighteen months out of the twelve. Under the new tax law the question will be, what to do with the surplus school fund.

A New farmer's benefit order has been started in McMinnville, Tenn., and has but two members yet, and is called the "Farmer's Reliance." Its platform of principles is to work hard ten hours, three hundred days in the year; never come to town without bringing something to sell, and never buy anything without paying for it. The charter members guarantee that every farmer who joins and lives up to its principles will find himself in easy circumstances at the end of ten years. Whether intended as a ridicule we know not, but the suggestions as to working and selling, and buying, are to say the least of them, good rules to be observed by all classes, no matter whether they live in town or country. The credit system has ruined more men than all other evils combined. It is a tyrant despoiler of feeling, and a master that knows no excuse.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SMITH in reply to an inquiry made by the State Tax Commissioners as to whether or not franchises of railroads, street railways, gas, water, and other companies may be taxed, says the law plainly provides that they shall be listed. He says: A franchise, although not tangible property possesses value, and in some instances forms most important assets of a corporation. The law very distinctly provides for and contemplates the assessment of such interests, and it is the duty of the assessor to carefully estimate the importance and value of the right of such companies to do business within the State, or certain parts thereof in making up the return of their property. The tax law is explicit upon this and needs little interpretation. This authority, so clearly granted, and duty so explicitly imposed, should be, if properly enforced, a source of much revenue to the State and municipalities. The right secured under the laws of the State of railroad companies and of street railway companies dependent upon conditions, are in many instances very valuable and should be rated at that figure which the law contemplates and fairness would justify.

Fruit and Forest Trees.
All persons who set out trees last fall or this spring can save 50 per cent. of the losses that will occur if not attended to at once by mulching with old straw or green grass cut and piled around the tree a foot deep and two or three feet from tree to the outer edge of the mulch. The drought has already been hard on late set trees and should we have a long drouth in July or August many will not stand it, unless protected in the way above mentioned. I will also say that now is the time to spray trees and small fruit and to jar your plum trees daily with sheets or something under the trees to catch the curculio if your trees are not in the chicken yard. Don't forget the mulch.
H. M. PERRY.

The Hay Discussion.
It should not be forgotten that the Montgomery County Farmer's Council will hold its quarterly meeting at the court house next Thursday, and that the subject of hay-making is to receive a thorough discussion by a large number of practical farmers. Much will be said about the best time to cut hay, and on this branch of the subject a great deal of practical information will be given by hay makers. The subject is one of great importance, and all live farmers should attend this meeting. The JOURNAL will give a full report of the discussion in its next week's issue.
