Decision in the Harmon Will Case Whereby Wabash College Gets 1,400 Acres of Land.

The following Associated Press dispatch from Chicago will be good news to Wabash College: "Judge Blodgett, in the federal court to-day, rendered his opinion in a controversy between heirs of an eccentric but wealthy old farmer named Jacob M. Harmon, over the ownership of over three thousands acres of land in Iroquois county, Illinois, and Warren county, Indiana. About fifteen years ago Harmon made a contract with two of his nephews, Jacob and Jeremiah Harmon, which, in effect gave the old gentleman's possessions to them at his death, providing they made certain improvements on the lands and paid an annual rental for it. In 1884 a new agreement, which provided that the two nephews must surrender the lands at any time the owner desired, was made. In 1887 Harmon died and left a will which disposed of 1,400 acres of the land to Wabash College, of Indiana, a large portion to different relatives and but six hundred acres each to the two nephews. The will also provides that these last bequests be subject to an annuity of 25 cents per acre, to be paid to the American Bible Society of New York. The two nephews rebelled at this and filed a bill in the United States Circuit Court to enforce the original agreement that they were to receive the land. The written agreement made by the two nephews in 1884 was fatal to their claim, however, in the court's opinion. There was some questions in the court's mind as to the annuity in perpetuity to be paid to the Bible Society and there will probably be some further litigation on that point, but the bill to enforce the original agreement was dismissed for want of equity."

Natural Gas Contracts.

The natural gas company is preparing now to make contracts with consumers and will begin this week. Notice will be given either through the mail or papers so that all can be apprised of what is expected of them from the company.

CHIPS.

—Skating at the rink to-night.
—There are 502 stations on the Big Four system.
—Regular installation of officers at the P. O. S. of A. camp this evening.
—Plasterers left here to-day to plaster the new bank building at Wingate.
—There is skating on the dam and large crowds have been going out to-day.
—The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.
—A Pair of Kids will furnish amusement at Music Hall to-morrow evening.
—A first-class entertainment.
—The first drill of the P. O. S. of A. Commandery was held last evening in their new quarters in the Joel Block.
—In a day or two we expect to write up the doings of the meanest man in the city. Just watch for it, and see who will try and wear the shoe.

—Mr. Fry, gymnast instructor of the Y. M. C. A., will give an exhibition of his classes on January 22. His classes have attained no little skill and a good show may be safely guaranteed.
—Mayor Carr has heard from the Mayor of Columbus who emphatically states that the light plant of that city is in elegant condition and the report to the effect of its being burned out is all bosh.

—The council met last evening and figured around some time on the plans and specification for the addition to the light plant without reaching any definite conclusion. The work will be continued until completed.

—Palmer Graham has resigned his position in the schools of Scott township. Supt. Zuck is looking for a competent successor who can fill Mr. Graham's place and instruct in the higher as well as common branches.

—George Vance will go to Anderson in two weeks to assume his position of superintendent in the iron department in the creasing works. He will not leave his position at Pontious & Lacey's finally, however, until March 1.

—Mr. Priest, the famous horse breeder of Francisville, is in the city considering the advisability of wintering some of his fast horses at the fair grounds. He wants to take advantage of the splendid system of pike roads afforded by this county.

NEW GLACIAL BED EXPOSED.

An Unexpected Find of Glacial Deposits Made in Coal Creek Township Which Give Rise to Varied Conjectures.

The following from the Lafayette Call is not only interesting from a scientific but from local standpoint the farm of Mr. Meharry being in this county:

Alex Meharry has been overseeing the straightening of the course of Coal Creek on his farm near the well known Meharry camp ground. During the excavations for a new channel, at a depth of some five feet, a large walnut log was exposed. At the time five feet was uncovered, but the creek has since unearthed about twenty-five feet of the mammoth tree's length. Except on the immediate surface the tree is in a very good state of preservation, the wood being quite hard, and it is two and a half feet in diameter. At the same depth and a little further down the creek were found some very large willows. Just how these trees came here is a mystery, for the country for miles around is essentially a prairie, the present young growth having grown up within the memory of many of the old settlers, who rode through the tall prairie grass where the modern groves stand. The large walnut log probably at one time stood near where found, or else there was a great flood which floated it in from a great distance. Either supposition is open to objections. If the tree grew where found it is very ancient and remarkably well preserved. If it was floated in and lodged where found Coal Creek must indeed have been on a high to carry a tree trunk over twenty-five feet long and over seven feet in circumference. Just below the site where the logs were found, on a general blue clay and black top soil, but set in gravel beds at a depth of four and five feet, were found at intervals over one hundred rocks, with large bottoms and small tops. The bottom or base of all of the rocks slanted southwest, and the tops northeast, showing them to be of undoubted glacial origin.

"More Fly Paper"—To-morrow Night.

"There will be 'more fly paper' sticking to the old 'Jayseed' at Music Hall to-morrow night on the appearance of 'A Pair of Kids' and how the old countryman visits the great city and unexpectedly finds himself running a metropolitan restaurant; the numerous amusing situations he gets into and out of which equal facility, will all be laughably and grotesquely set forth to the delighted audience. Mr. Kendall's comedy is of a kind that keeps an audience in a continuous uproar of laughter from the time he stumbles upon the stage until the curtain goes down on the last act. Nobody who enjoys fun and plenty of it should miss the opportunity of seeing what has been pronounced to be the funniest show of the season. The musical features are all new and rendered especially attractive by a company that comes highly commended.

Republican Club.

The Morton Republican club held a large and enthusiastic meeting last evening. The subject for discussion was "The President's Message," and Prof. Mount led in a very entertaining speech of half an hour. Numerous other speeches were made which were of a highly interesting nature. It being the night for the annual election of officers the whole corps of old officers were re-elected with the exception of the secretary, J. A. Greene, who resigned. The position was accordingly filled by Michael Fell. The new office of corresponding secretary was tendered to Harvey Wilkinson. Ten new members were initiated and the preliminaries arranged for the establishment of similar clubs in the out townships.

To Protect the Streams of Water.

The State Board of Health and the Indiana Live Stock Commission have united their forces to prevent the pollution of the streams of the State by the throwing of dead carcasses of animals, or offal, into the rivers, or on the banks. It has been proven that the pollution of the streams will cause disease in cattle, who drink the water, and as a consequence is liable to produce disease in people, especially tuberculous consumption. Efforts are to be made to make it compulsory to burn dead animals and the offals from slaughter houses, and by this means prevent the pollution of the streams of water in this State.

Went Oncap.

The residence property of the late Lew Fisher on west Market street was sold yesterday afternoon at administrator's sale and was purchased by Isaac Davis for $2,520. The place cost $4,600 originally and has since been improved. Mr. Davis very generously offers to transfer his purchase to Mrs. Fisher for what it cost him if she wishes to retain it.

He Wants to Invest.

Mr. Harris, of Springfield, Ohio, was in the city the other day conferring with the First National Bank, in reference to the purchase of the water power at the old Sperry mill. Mr. Harris represents a wealthy corporation of capitalists who are establishing electric stations on accessible streams over the country for the furnishing of power to cities. Mr. Harris visited Crawfordsville some twenty years ago and was then most favorably impressed with the water power at the mill. He found, however, that the creek had grown considerably smaller and while there is now plenty of water flowing it is a question, if, in the dry season, a requisite amount to run the station would be supplied from the creek. He said that if it could be reliably ascertained that the minimum discharge was 500 horse power his company would not hesitate a moment to invest. It must be assured of this fact however. In case of the purchase the electric station will be established and power furnished to do all the work now done in the city by water, steam, electricity and horse power. Mr. Harris also made a trip to Troutman's to view that place in order to see if a dam could be more advantageously erected at that point. As soon as the minimum power can be ascertained from a reliable party the corporation will be heard from.
