We are determined to sell more goods the next year than we have this. By doing this we propose to sell more goods and less profit. For the next 30 days we will offer great inducements in Stoves, Furniture and Queensware. We had to arrive since Christmas 14 Dinner Sets that was sent here for Christmas and failed to get here. Will sell these sets cheap as our stock is large. Do not fail to come around and buy your groceries of us as we are selling cheap. It will pay you to watch this space as we will have something else to say soon. Respectfully Yours

DAILY JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 6, 1892.

The DAILY JOURNAL is for sale by Robinson & Wallace.

The Story of Charley Baker.
Charley Baker, the agent for the L. J. Gansport steam dye works, who has been in the city for the past few days, has quite an ugly romance connected with his life. Several years ago he set up for himself in the dry goods business at Tipton and married a plump little maiden residing at Kokomo. She was very loving at first but soon developed a starting fondness for the company of other men. She was well connected and had some money in her own name, and Baker when he was informed of her duplicity, reasoned with her and she promised to do better. Within two days, however, she eloped with a dry goods drummer. Baker followed them to St. Louis and shot the drummer down in the streets. It cost him all that he had to get out of the scrape, but he got his wife to return to Indiana with him and they were living happily together at the time of Charley's visit here a couple of months ago. However, she ran off again, and Baker, sick with his attempts to reform her, applied for a divorce which was promptly granted. Baker is still almost heart-broken over his wife's desertion of him, and in applying for divorce adduced only just enough testimony to get it granted, keeping the darker facts in the background.

Hick's January Forecast.
January will come in with storms of rain and snow, advancing from the western part of the continent. The warm wave, which always goes before the regular storms, will cover most of the central and eastern states, but the approach of a marked cold wave will be noted in the northwest. But about the third, the storm will have well passed off to the Atlantic, and bitter cold will dominate generally behind them. Exposed regions are likely to suffer from the severe storms and the great cold wave following this period. Reasonable preparations and watchfulness will be timely. About the sixth and seventh the reaction movements will bring a rise of temperature, with the return of rain and snow, to be followed in the west by renewed cold to about the tenth spreading eastward later.

Laugh To-Night.
"A Pair of Kids," one of the brightest of the few of the innumerable farce comedies on the stage, will be the attraction at Music Hall to-night. Ezra Kendall, the author of this funny play, in his familiar character of "Jiles Button," the old county "jay," is said to be very amusing, and our theatre-goers will have an opportunity to laugh at his grotesque antics to their heart's content. This well-known laughing success is now in its seventh season. The advance sale of seats is very good and a fine audience is assured. The playing is all refined, but absurdly ridiculous and no one can afford to miss it. Mr. Kendall is an old favorite here and never fails to provoke howls of laughter.

Guaranteed Cure.
We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a cough, cold or any lung, throat or chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's new discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottle free at Nye & Co.'s drug store. Large size 50 cents and $1.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Chilian Trouble—An Open Rupture Between the Crisp and Mills Factions—Other Matters.

[Correspondence of the Journal]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, 1892.—The President, will, this week, send to Congress, all the correspondence which has passed this country and Chilli, together with a special message in which it is supposed that he will make a recommendation embodying his ideas of the duty of Congress in the premises. While this does not necessarily mean war, it certainly points that way. About the only basis for thinking that war will be averted, is that Chilli will, at the last minute, see the folly of going into war in which she is bound to get threshed and make an abject apology.

It is pleasing to note that the President has the cordial support, not only of his own party, but of many of the prominent Democrats in Congress. One of the latter, Representative McCreary, of Kentucky, who has for a number of years been one of the leading members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House, said on the subject: "Soon after Congress reconvenes the President will send the correspondence to the two Houses and then we can consider the matter with a better understanding. I believe that the President has acted in a vigorous and manly way in this matter. I am sure that the course of the United States will be dignified, firm and courageous. Whatever the result may be, I do not think that we can be charged with having rushed into war, or that we shall suffer any loss of dignity."

The meanest thing in connection with this whole Chilian business is the attempt which has been made by a newspaper man, who is credited with having been in the pay of the Chilian revolutionist while they were trying to get recognition from this government, before the fall of the Balmaceda government in Chilli, by carefully worded innuendo to make it appear that Secretary Blaine has become a "peace at any price" man, in consequence of a business understanding he has had with ex-Mayor Grace, of New York, who has large moneyed interest at stake in Chilli, and who is naturally in favor of peace between the two countries. In Washington, where the cause of this man's personal enmity is known, nothing that he can say carries any weight. He lacks the courage to openly attack Mr. Blaine, and, in keeping with his character, vents his spleen by printing sneaking paragraphs whenever the opportunity presents itself, containing covert slings and slurs at him. He is spoken of even by those who associate with him as the Captain Dalgetty of journalism. It is hardly necessary to say that people of this country know the man too well to believe that James G. Blaine will ever be found occupying any position upon any question that is not compatible with the loftiest American patriotism.

Gen. M. C. Meigs, U. S. Army, retired, died here on Saturday with the grip. From his appointment to West Point in 1832 to the date of his death he filled positions of great honor and greater responsibility, and he filled them all well.

Pension Commissioner Raum has detailed 50 extra clerks to assist in pushing the work of the Pension Board of Review.

Although few Republicans have appeared to have at first thought of ex-Representative Perkins in connection with the Kansas Senatorship, his appointment by the Governor to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Plumb was well received. Mr. Perkins has had eight years experience in congressional life and that he will ably serve his State in the Senate cannot be doubted.

A very determined effort is being made by the Democratic leaders to bring about an outward appearance of harmony in the House, but they are far from being successful, and it looks now as though they would be extremely unfortunate if they succeeded in preventing an open rupture between Crisp and Mills' men or, as they are oftentimes called here, the Cleveland and anti-Cleveland men on the floor of the House. The Cleveland men who have been snubbed and be-littled by Speaker Crisp are not in a humor to be forgiven, and wherever two or more of them are gathered together the atmosphere is filled with dire threats of vengeance at the first opportunity. Speaker Crisp is laid up with the grip during the entire recess and is yet, and has little opportunity to know how deep the feeling of resentment against him is, but his friends have fully recognized the gravity of the situation, and, having gobbled up the most desirable places, they are now trying to mollify the Mills' men by feeding them large doses of "taffy." But the crowd which the Mills men have so recently had to eat left a taste in their mouths which prevents their enjoying anything like "taffy," particularly when it comes from the same source that the crowd did.
