WHERE was the Governor when the last Roby fight was on?

The Administration is never too busy to find time to turn down a Grand Army pensioner.

The wool growers of the United States have lost a round $20,000,000 already since the "change."

Forty four counties of Kansas have tenantless porches. The calamity howler seems to be without an occupation.

The McKinley law is just as iniquitous now as it was a year ago, but the Democrats are not saying a word about repealing it.

The existing disturbance in business is due to uncertainty far more than to any other cause; and this uncertainty grew out of the result of elections in 1891 and 1892.

CAREFULLY compiled fruit statistics indicate that there will only be about 48 per cent. of an apple crop while the peach yield will be unprecedented in yield and quality.

The soil of Indiana was again disgraced last Monday night by another prize-fight at Roby. The vertebraless Governor made no attempt to prevent it. "How strange do things go on in this bad world!"

PEOPLE who talk about a scarcity of money should bear in mind that there is more currency than at any previous time in our history. This is not all in circulation. Much of it is locked up and hoarded now contribute most of the trouble in the way of business.

COMMENTING on the action of Governor Altgeld in pardoning the Chicago anarchists the Tribune of that city says: "It was generally understood that they were to be let go in the event of Altgeld's election. The anarchists believed that he was not merely an alien to birth, but an alien by temperament and sympathies, and they were right. He has apparently not a drop of true American blood in his veins. He does not reason like an American, nor feel like one, and consequently, he does not behave like one."

The pardon of the Chicago anarchists by Governor Altgeld is no surprise to those who knew his antecedent training and views. His sympathies have always been with the worst elements of Chicago, and his nomination was a strong bid for the anarchist vote, which he received no doubt with a full understanding that if elected he would do just exactly what he has done. Turning loose these red handed murderers is the sequel to the Democratic victory in that State last fall. At the last election the people sowed the whirlwind. They are now reaping the whirlwind, not only in State but in National affairs.

The Mt. Vernon Democrat, a paper having for its motto "Democratic at all times and under all circumstances," in speaking of the hue and cry made by its Democratic friends in favor of a reduction of pensions, says:

We regret to say that the action of some of our Democratic friends, in their hue and cry about pension frauds, is calculated to make Indiana give a large Republican majority at the next election.

The soldier boys are entitled to all they get in the way of pensions. In fact, every man who went to the front during the "late unpleasantness," and endured the hardships incident to war, was more or less injured in health, if not actually wounded, and we can never amply repay them for the sacrifice made.

We would like for this so-called Democratic Administration to accomplish something in genuine reform measures, but it must not attempt to deceive the people by taking away the honestly earned pensions of the defenders and saviors of the Union.

We give this advice in all sincerity from a Democratic standpoint, for if such a course is pursued, overwhelming defeat is absolutely certain to be our fate in the elections next year, and also in 1896.

CONDEMNATION of what is known as the "bicycle stoop" is becoming general, and rightly so. That eminent authority, the London Lancet, has pointed out the serious damage to the spines and chests of bicyclists which the prevailing habit of bending low over the steering bar of the machine must inevitably produce. As a health giver and muscle developer the bicycle is unequalled, if properly ridden. But there are, unfortunately, a large number of wheelmen who seem intent on perverting it into a means of deformity and disease. The awkward and unnatural stooping position while riding is copied from the attitude assumed by bicyclists on race tracks in order to gain the utmost purchase possible and lessen the resistance of the wind. In racing it may be useful. Elsewhere it is inexcusable. The silly stoop over the handle bars in ordinary riding is not the attitude of a gentleman, and no rider who aspires to be thought a gentleman should permit himself to fall into this vile habit.

DOGS GROWN WILD.

An Island in the Brazos River Infested with Them.

The Animals Are Fiercer and More Combative Than Wolves—A Battle to the Death with the Dog Victorious.

Several miles below Waco the Brazos river makes a bend like that in the James river across which Gen. Butler made the Dutch Gap canal. The island within this bend is very fertile, and is planted yearly in cotton, producing a bale to the acre easily.

A portion of it, nearest the river, is densely grown with barberry, yipaw and cottonwood, forming a chaparral, only accessible by paths made, perhaps, by Indians, and traversed by cattle, going to water and boys who drive them. Among the animals which inhabit the chaparral are wild dogs—pariahs, or descendants of pariahs. The theory of the planters is that the ancestry of this vest kennel of dangerous and yelping curs were unsocial, thievish and domestic curs driven away from Waco early in its history, says a Waco correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. They are essentially wild beasts now—ferce, cowardly, carnivorous, hunting in packs and fighting among themselves over the quarry their joint efforts secure. They are ruder toward each other than wolves, and with the wolves they are always at war.

Recently a calf, the property of Senator Coke, became entangled in a bed of silt left by the river's subsidence after a flood. The wild dogs gathered, and the cow-mother met them. She made a gallant fight to protect her offspring, but the mongrels pulled her down and were soon rending both her flesh and that of the calf, snarling and biting each other over the bloody banquet. Attracted by the smell of blood and the yelping and growling a pack of wolves emerged from the thicket and joined or attempted to join in the feast. The dogs abandoned their meal, ceased their family strife and made common cause against a common enemy. It was a wild and relentless fight. All over the sand, or in the sticky mud, or rolling over and over in the shallows, dogs and wolves, locked together in quenchless hate, tore each other's throats, bit, wallowed, and howled; while some, tumbling together into deep water, floated down the river, fighting as they went. Dogs slew wolves and wolves slew dogs. Thus war went on, until many of the combatants were dead or hors de combat.

The correspondent of the Globe-Democrat was rowing down the river, and rested on his oars to witness the novel and terrific battle. At length only one pair continued the fight. One of these was a huge shaggy cur and his antagonist a gray wolf, superior to his fellows in strength and size. These champions were nearly evenly matched. They fought by snapping, wolf fashion, part of the time. Then they closed and wrestled for throathold. They foiled each other with the skill of trained fighters, rising erect, locking arms, parrying and thrusting with their fanged muzzles until, after fully an hour had been spent and both were cut and torn over their entire bodies, the dog triumphed. Getting his teeth in the neck of the wolf he closed his eyes, and when he relaxed his hold the wolf was dead.

When certain that his antagonist was done for, and to make doubly sure, the dog dragged the body of the wolf ten feet over the slimy margin and uttered a howl of triumph which brought to life several of his companions which had seemed to be dead. Some females came also from the timber, and the victor limped to the calf, finished—along with the remnant of the pack—his interrupted meal, and, after drinking deeply from the river, took his way back, closely attended by two females, perhaps his wives.

The reporter could have killed the brave dog, but would not do it. A bullet directed against the old veteran when his battle was won would have seemed like murder.

"THE QUEEN WENT OUT."

Extracts from Victoria's Contribution to the Queen.

On Thursday morning, the 25th ult., the queen and Princess Beatrice went out, and in the afternoon her majesty drove, attended by Hon. Bertha Lambart and Hon. Mary Hughes. Rt. Hon. Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Fleet Surgeon Henry C. Woods dined with the queen.

On Wednesday morning the queen went out with Princess Beatrice, and in the afternoon her majesty and the princess drove out, attended by Miss McNeill. The duchess of Albany, with the young duke and Princess Alice lunched with the queen. Rt. Hon. Henry Campbell-Bannerman dined with the queen. Maj. Briggs left.

On Saturday morning the queen went out with Princess Beatrice, and in the afternoon her majesty drove, attended by Viscountess Downe and Miss McNeill. Maj. Gen. T. Dennehy arrived.

On Monday morning the queen went out, attended by Miss McNeill. In the afternoon her majesty, with Princess Beatrice, drove, attended by Viscountess Downe. Prince Henry of Battenberg left the castle for the south.

Double Stars.

At the present time the whole number of double stars known and recorded by astronomers is something over ten thousand, far exceeding the total number of stars visible to the naked eye in the entire firmament (about six thousand), and others are being frequently discovered by the great telescopes now in existence.

Showers of Volcanic Ashes.

Volcanic ashes often travel a long distance. A remarkable shower of volcanic ashes has occurred recently in several parts of Finland. The ground in some places has been covered to the depth of nearly an inch. The phenomenon is attributed to volcanic eruptions in Iceland, hundreds of miles away.

"Your Money or Your Life."

Such a demand, at the mouth of a "six-shooter," sets a man thinking pretty lively! With a little man thinking, there would be less suffering.

Think of the terrible results of neglected consumption! which might easily be averted by the timely use of Nature's Great Specific, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Consumption, which is lung scrofula, is a constitutional disease, and requires just such a thorough and effectual constitutional remedy! Take in time, before the lung tissues are wasted, it is guaranteed a radical cure! Equally certain in all scrofulous affections and blood disorders. Large bottles, one dollar, of any druggist.

Them Flowers.

Take a feller 'at's sick and laid upon the shelf, All shaky and gasped and pore, And he'll be all right in a jiffy, if he can't handle himself With a stiff upper lip any more; Set him up all alone in the gloom of a room As dark as the tomb and as grim, And then take and send him some roses in bloom, And you can have fun out o' him! You've ketcht him 'fore now, when his liver was sound, And his appetite notched like a saw, A-moekin' you maybe for romancin' round With a big posy bunch in yer paw, But you ketch him, say, when his health is away, And he's flat on his back in distress, And then you can trot out your little bokay And not be insulted, I guess. You see, it's like this, what his weakness is— Them flowers make him think of the days of his innocent youth, and that mother o' his, And the roses that she ust to raise. So here, all alone with the roses you send, Behn sick and all trimbly and faint— My eyes—my eyes—my eyes—old friend— Is a-leakin'—I'm blamed if they ain't! —James Whitcomb Riley.

Yerkes Remotes to New York.

Charles T. Yerkes, having made $8,000,000 or so in Chicago street cars, is going to New York city to enjoy it and preparatory thereto has got a $50,000 mansion in Greenwood cemetery and has begun a $1,500,000 mansion on Fifth avenue. He paid $300,000 for his lot, which has a frontage of 61 feet on Fifth avenue and 129 feet on Sixty-eighth street. The house itself, which is expected, will be one of the finest in New York.

Charles T. Yerkes, will cost $800,000, and its furnishings will swell the total outlay to $1,500,000. Ward McAllister has not yet decided whether the Yerkeses are to be taken in the Four Hundred, but it is to be presumed that they will be.

Great Britain's Imperial Institute.

The British Imperial institute, which was recently formally opened, is intended to be a lasting memorial of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee. It was built by private subscriptions from individuals in Great Britain and the colonies. The idea is attributed to the Prince of Wales. The institute covers an area of nine acres. The square central tower is 280 feet high. The cost of the building was nearly $1,000,000. Stately chambers have been assigned to the different colonies. There will be kept on exhibition in the galleries samples of all the products of every part of the empire, and a commercial intelligence department already has its headquarters in the building.
