STATE BANK MONEY.

The Democratic platform favors the repeal of the ten per cent. tax on State bank notes, and it is said that the anti-silver Democrats are willing to make this concession to the South and the Farmers' Alliance element. In view of such a prospect read what the Review of Reviews, a perfectly non-partisan and independent magazine says:

To repeal the ten per cent. tax upon State bank notes would mean that Kansas, Maine, California, North Dakota, Ohio, and all the other States would be in position to authorize local banking institutions to flood the country with paper money which could have no certainty of uniform safety and value. A Zuni Druggist might establish a chain of local banks on unsound principles and issue paper money, which, mingled with the general volume of the country's currency, would be worthless in the hands of the last holder on the failure of the banks. It is now asserted in some quarters that Congress will refuse to repeal the harmful silver purchase act unless that repeal be accompanied by the resurrection of the still more pernicious system of "wild cat" money that was buried thirty years ago. Whatever may or may not be done with our currency laws, every business man, every farmer, every professional man who receives a salary, and every man or woman who earns wages or has a fixed money income, should insist absolutely upon a national, uniform currency, with the United States government at the back of every dollar in circulation.

CLEVELAND THE FUGLEMAN.

A year ago the entire Democratic party in the South and West were for free coinage of silver. Now every Democratic organ in both these sections is yelping with all its might against free coinage. Cleveland is fugleman, and whatever he does they all do; whatever he says they all say.

Wheat will be very cheap this harvest, but it will not be near so cheap as some of those chaps will feel who voted for Grover Cleveland and free trade, to raise the price of that precious article. It is a curious coincidence that when the Democratic party went out of power in 1860, wheat was 50 cents per bushel and that now, upon the restoration of that party to power in 1893, wheat is again 50 cents per bushel. There seems to be some mysterious connection between Democracy and 50 cents wheat.

It is very cheerful to reflect that ten times as many people have been killed celebrating the Fourth of July than were killed on both sides during the Revolutionary war. Still gun powder as a fool killer has fallen far short in its duty.

Crisp is the smallest Democrat who has been in the Speakership in forty years, yet the Democracy in the House has fallen to such a low estate in ability that he will be re-elected without a contest.

The export trade of Baltimore, particularly in wheat, is rapidly increasing, and the importance of the city is also steadily growing in other respects, including that of political intelligence.

SOME wisecracks have struck upon an easy way to make a fortune. He says buy thermometers in December, when they are down, and sell them in July when they are sure to go up.

CALL loan rates of 70 or 75 per cent., which were reached last week in New York, are not likely to be seen again this week. At any rate the squeeze is over for the time being.

CLEVELAND and Crisp are undoubtedly in favor of the adoption of the Reed rules in the House of Representatives to muzzle the free silver element of their party.

MINISTER BLOUNT is anxious to get away from Hawaii, and it is to be hoped that his successor will be a man with a better opinion of the American flag.

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS is not a credit by any manner of means but we would not trade him for Algeid, if Illinois pitched in the World's Fair to boot.

Gov. ALTGELD continues to be the best denounced man who has ever held a public office in this country.

The best thing to be said of the Populists is that they are not saying anything about themselves.

The Democratic ship is like the Victoria in the sense that its steering gear is sadly defective.

The quotation on Democratic chances in the Ohio election is even lower than that on silver.

The clouds are gradually rolling by—the clouds with silver lining, that is to say,

The man who can sprinkle and won't sprinkle ought to be made to sprinkle.

RABBIT ROUND-UPS.

How the California Vineyardists Deal with the Pests.

An Annual Gathering at Which Thousands of Jack Rabbits Are Corralled and Extirminated.

"The people out in Fresno county, Cal., getting ready for their annual round-up and slaughter of jack rabbits," said a leading vineyardist of Fresno to a New York Sun man recently. "If it wasn't for this early spring systematic raid upon these destructive pests we would have scarcely a vineyard or an orchard left in southern California. On one day in March, generally between the 10th and 15th, the grape and small-fruit growers collect together in their respective districts and beat the country thoroughly to drive the swarming jack rabbits from their hiding places into immense wire inclosed corrals, where they are at the mercy of their pursuers, and are knocked in the head with clubs by the thousand. I have known fifteen thousand jack rabbits to be slaughtered in this way in a few hours. More than that, these rabbits are such prolific breeders that every one killed in March or April means that there will be twenty-five or thirty less than there would have been if the rabbits knocked in the head in the spring had been permitted to live until the fall. These round-ups are the only means we have ever discovered by which the jack rabbit pest has been kept down.

"The rabbits are unusually fond of the young shoots of the grapevines, when they make their appearance in the spring, and of the tender bark of prune, plum and other fruit trees, when the sap starts. I have known twenty acres of vineyard ruined in a single night by the chopping of the shoots by these animals, and whole orchards of valuable bearing trees killed by the rabbits gnawing them. Poison, traps and guns failed to kill off the rabbits fast enough, and fruit growing in that part of California could not necessarily have been to a great extent abandoned if a Fresno county genius hadn't evolved the corralling idea five years ago. The rabbits are driven into the great wire-inclosed pound by hundreds of people—men, women and children—closing in around them and preventing them from going in any other direction, except the one that leads them into the corral. Different districts have different days for setting out on the round-up, and the slaughter goes on through March and April. It is safe to say that one hundred thousand jack rabbits are thus killed every spring in that part of the state. As at that season of the year this big rabbit's flesh is in excellent condition and the animal is highly esteemed as food a two-fold benefit is derived from this great yearly slaughter. "The California jack rabbit is the biggest rabbit in existence, one five feet long being not uncommon. They are as fleet as the wind, but will sit still on their forms, or by the roadside, until you have almost grabbed them by their mule-like ears, but before you have closed your fingers on them there will be no rabbit there, but if you look thirty or forty yards ahead you will see what you think is another one humped up in a tuft of bunch, waiting for you in the same way. But it won't be another rabbit. It will be the same one. They are swift and sudden as the fleas that swarm on them as soon as the summer comes. These fleas get so thick upon the jack rabbit and are so voracious that they have actually reduced the long-eared, four-footed jumper to a skeleton by the time the fall rains set in. If it wasn't for these regular fall rains the fleas would be of great service to us in destroying the rabbit pest, for the rabbits could not stand out many days longer against the assaults of the lively parasites. But the fall rains are fatal to the fleas. The water kills them and washes them off the rabbits and the latter pitch in our vineyards and orchards and grain with sharpened appetites."

THE PAPERING OF WALLS.

An Ancient Chinese Method of Decorating the House.

Wall papers were little used in Europe before the eighteenth century, though they had been long before that applied to house decoration by the Chinese. Those that were first manufactured in the west were adaptations of design from Italian brocades, and at first they were used in an unobjectionable manner, just as hangings of the costlier material were employed, namely: To fill spaces between obvious structural lines; and, so applied, no objection could be made to their use. On the contrary, the invention brought it within the means of almost every household to fill blank wall spaces with agreeable tracery and harmonious color. The cornice, frieze and dado remained intact, designs were protected with molding or plaster work, and the inmate might feel that he was living in a built room and not in a bandbox. But gradually the wall features disappeared; paper crept over everything except window and door openings, even into the very angles of the walls, and it is nothing uncommon now on entering a saloon of considerable pretension and proportions to find the walls closely covered with paper from floor to ceiling, save a narrow skirting board to protect the plaster from the household's broom and a cornice reduced to a meager molding.

Worried the Speaker.

It is the petty vexations of life that perplex and annoy Secretary Carlisle. Big things disturb him but little. While he was speaker it became necessary for him to appoint two elevator boys, and the worry entailed on him in his endeavor to select the fittest two out of fifty applicants upset him more than any other event of his whole term of office. "I wish that elevator would sink," he said one day, after running the gauntlet of a dozen beseeching mothers. "I never could understand the need of an elevator in the house, anyway."

Have no Equal.

Alcock's Porous Plasters have attained a world-wide reputation solely upon their superlative merits. They have many would-be rivals, but have never been equalled or even approached in curative powers and rapidity and safety of action. Their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by unimpeachable testimonials from those who have used them, and they are recommended as the best external remedy for weak back, rheumatism, sciatica, colds, cough, sore throat, chest and stomach affections, kidney difficulties, weak muscles, strains, stitches and pains of every description. Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Alcock's and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Heredit.

There is nothing we cannot overcome. Say not thy evil instinct is inherited. Or that some trait inborn makes thy whole life forlorn. And calls down punishment that is not merited.

Back of thy parents and grandparents lies The Great Eternal Will. That, too, is thine Inheritance—strong, beautiful, divine. Such lever of success for one who tries.

Pry up thy faults with this great lever—will! However deeply bedded in propensity. However firmly set, I tell thee firmer yet Is that vast power that comes from truth's immensity.

Thou art a part of that strange world, I say! Its forces lie within thee, stronger far Than all thy mortal sins and frailties are. Believe thyself divine and watch and pray.

There is no noble height thou canst not climb. All triumphs may be thine in time's futurity If whatso'er thy fault thou dost not faint or halt.

But lean upon the staff of God's security.

Earth has no claim the soul cannot contest; Know thyself part of the Eternal Source, And naught can stand before thy spirit's force; The soul's divine inheritance lies best.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The Golden Rose of Virtue.

Every year on mid-Lent Sunday the pope during high mass blesses with solemn ceremony the golden rose, anointing it with chrism and fumigating it with incense, leaving it upon the altar afterward until the end of mass. Subsequently the rose is sent to some eminent person whom the pope especially wishes to honor, usually some particularly devout Catholic sovereign, prince or princess. Last year it was sent to Mme. Carnot, wife of the French president, and the queen regent of Spain received it the year before.

This year the honor was bestowed upon Marie Henriette queen of the Belgians, whose virtue, piety and superior quality of mind and heart are well known to all the world. The queen was an Austrian archduchess, a niece of the Emperor Francis Joseph, and married Prince Leopold, now king of the Belgians, in 1835. She is a woman of very versatile talents.

Man or Woman, Ghost or Human.

We cannot say what will cure ghosts, but many men and many women who look like ghosts rather than human beings, through sickness would regain health and happiness, if they would try the virtue of the world-renowned remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Torpid liver or "biliousness," indigestion, blood, skin eruptions, scrofulous sores and swellings, consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs), all yield to this medicine. It is both tonic and strength restoring, and alternative or blood-cleansing.

Health and Happiness.

Honey of Flax is the queen of all cathartics or pills. One anticipates its taking with pleasure. No other remedy sells so well or gives such satisfaction. It acts gently on the inactive bowels or liver, relieves the kidneys, cures constipation, colds, fevers, nervous aches, etc., and restores the beauty of the face. Ladies and children prefer it. Doctors and druggists recommend it. The B. H. Harvey Co., of Chicago, make it. Try a bottle. Only one out a dozen. Nye & Booe, agents. d-w 6-7

Children Cry for

Pitcher's Castoria.

Thrashed a Man Twice His Size.

The other day a small, harmless looking man entered a New York street car and carried a large, heavy box. The six-footer was satisfied. He talked for some time and finally invited the little man to leave the car and settle in the matter of his sidewalk. Greatly to his astonishment the latter accepted. Those who witnessed the contest say that it didn't last long, but that the big fellow had to be carried home in an ambulance, while his diminutive antagonist walked away with a cheerful smile. And so it is with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're not half so big as most of their rivals, but they do their work quietly and thoroughly. For sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., there is nothing like them. They are the only liver pills absolutely sold on trial. Your money back if they don't give satisfaction.

A Good Reason For Living.

"She lives to love and loves to live. She loves to live because she lives to love."

Many think it a sin to be sick; being so one cannot bestow their affections on others as the Creator intended; being so, it certainly is a duty to cure yourself. Most women these days are suffering from a tonic. Worn-out teachers, "shop girls," dressmakers, milliners, and those subject to tireless labor, have found a boon in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a soothing and strengthening nerve tonic, inducing refreshing sleep, relieving despondency and restores to full use all the faculties and affections of one's nature. It is sold by druggists under a guarantee from its makers that it will, in every case, give satisfaction, or price ($1) will be promptly refunded.
