A KEEN THRUST.

Secretary Carlisle went to New York last Monday with an earnest appeal to the bankers of Wall street to come to the government's rescue and strengthen its credit. He did exactly the thing which he declared one year ago he never would do, and became an humble suitor at the feet of the moneyed men. While there he heard some things which must have made his ears tingle. He was reminded that Senator Voorhees, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, in an interview given last September spoke of the bankers of New York as a combine of impudent thieves and robbers, that there was not an honest hair in their heads, and that they had no broad or patriotic motives. J. Edward Simmons, of the Fourth National Bank, said to the Secretary: "If Senator Voorhees has really given such an interview as appeared all I have to say is that such language usually comes from a bowie-knife blackguard. The chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, I understand, could not borrow $25 from a bank in Indiana unless he had a $20 gold piece as collateral. His language is contemptible beyond measure." It is not given out that Carlisle made any reply but he must have felt the thrust keenly.

DEMOCRATIC FINANCING.

In their annual messages to Congress President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle made the statement that the deficit at the close of the fiscal year next June would amount to $28,000,000. This statement was not made through ignorance, but was done for political purposes. It was done to deceive. The Secretary at length through necessity was compelled to acknowledge a probable deficit of $78,000,000, and gave intimations of other accounts not yet audited, which would swell the total to $90,000,000, possibly $100,000,000. In the face of this probable deficit the Wilson bill, if enacted into law, will add another $100,000,000 to the deficiency. To fill up this $20,000,000 hole it is proposed to provide for an income tax, add ten cents to the whisky tax, and increase the tax on cigarettes and playing cards, which the Ways and Means Committee estimates will yield $40,000,000. The balance of $160,000,000 can be provided for in no other way than by the issue of bonds, the first $50,000,000 of which have been offered by the Secretary. And this is called Democratic financing! Throwing away $100,000,000 of custom duties which are mostly paid by foreigners, and placing the burden upon the shoulders of the American tax-payer may be popular but the trend of public opinion so far as expressed is to the contrary.

Last year the duties on wool and manufactures amounted to $44,668,120.95. Under the Wilson bill it is estimated that they will amount to $14,000,000. Thus over $30,000,000 is absolutely thrown away. This was paid by the foreigner. He will sell his wool and goods cheaper until he succeeds in killing off all the American sheep, destroying all our woolen mills, and throwing thousands of men out of employment when up will go his prices. This is the experience of the country, and we can judge the future only by the past.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND and his administration are so unpopular with the Democratic party in Congress that it has come to be like flaunting a red rag in the face of a bull to say a good word for them. This is illustrated by the proposed bond issue which no Democrat has attempted to defend.

HON. LAFE PENCE, the Populist member of Congress from Colorado, got off a very clever play on words the other day when he said that Tom Reed was the "Mentor of the Republican side and the tormentor of the Democracy; he was the Czar of the Republicans and the Tzar of the Democrats."

THE Democratic Congressmen who favor the income tax attribute the election of a Republican to Congress from New York City to Tammany. The Democratic factions have each other by the ears. They are a happy family.

THE Republicans will have tens of thousands of Democratic allies in all the northern States next November. The income tax is likely to turn the scale in favor of the Republicans in scores of Congressional districts.

WHAT has the present Congress done since its beginning to advance the interests of the country? Democrats don't speak all at one time in answer to this question.

QUEEN LIL might recoup her fortunes by coming to the United States and playing Topsy for an Uncle Tom's Cabin troupe.

THE income tax will not kill the Wilson bill, but it will help to kill the Democratic party.

The time for strengthening the young mind has come. The tender plant must be cared for as the storm is almost certain to come and the tree must be well rooted to withstand it. Let every branch of the church exert its best influence in this direction.

The harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are— But is that what we are going to say? Is it possible that we are going to settle down to business in the same old channel and make no effort to advance the work of the Lord? We hardly believe that is the programme. That is the old, old saying which has been given to us so often that we surely comprehend its meaning by this time and let the revival just pass be the beginning the harvest.

EXPENSIVE ECONOMY.

Some people begrudge the little money that an Alcock's Porous Plaster costs, and then when they are racked with pain from a lame back, or from the soreness arising from a cold, they will spend any amount of money to relieve the pain. If they only had one of these world-renowned plasters on hand, they would be saved a vast amount of suffering and be considerably richer. At the first sign of stiffness of the joints apply one of these plasters without any delay. The stiffness will be greatly relieved at once and soon disappear entirely. It will be money saved to have them on hand, to say nothing of the comfort they bring.

MACE.

The people just east of Mace are trying a novel experiment, although it has been kept a profound secret for some time on account of the Wilson tariff bill, fearing lest a clause would be put into the bill that would ruin it. But a prominent man let the secret out a few days ago. As the farming industry is badly crippled Democrats and a few Republicans are stocking their farms with cats. The object of the concern is to provide skins enough to build a grand barracks for the next Democratic county convention. As a prominent Democrat said they would be cat-housed after next fall, when Vory shall have been offered upon the Democratic sacrificial altar. The corporation is contemplating purchasing a large tract of land east of here and Sam Sally will be a prominent stockholder and will drive fine herd of bristled cats to the concern. Gallaway Bros. will erect the building. Gilbert Gray has already contributed his fine herd of tom cats and their pets are now drying. Willis Brown is the chief Skinner. Allen Steward and a prominent man of near New Ross are soliciting agents. Hannibal Finch is chief cat catcher. Anyone having cats can write the secretary and get the prices.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THIS breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing invertebrate bronchitis, which is usually the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results by its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure. Call upon your druggist for it.

ABOUT a year ago I took a violent attack of the gripe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept taking it, and soon found that it did me good. I need not say that I got no relief from one dose of look another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. MADISON MUSTARD, Otway, Ohio. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Nye & Boe, druggists, 111 north Washington street, opposite court house.
