BABY RUNNING SORE

Worst Slight Ever Seen. Legs, Hands, Arms, Body One Solid, Deep, Running Sore.
Began Using Cuticura. In Two Weeks Great Improvement Followed by a Complete Cure.

My child began to be sore when two months old—Eczema on his face and head. It rapidly spread over all his body. Every one who saw him said he was the worst sight they ever saw. He had to be washed in linen cloths ever so many times a day, and then he would stick fast to his clothes. I could not dress him alone for months. His little legs, hands, and arms were just one solid deep running sore. He was sore all over, but the deepest sores were on his arms, legs, and face. His face and ears had great deep cracks in the flesh, and were swollen so that he did not look like a child. His worst sores I have ever seen of the kind. We began using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in two weeks we could see a great improvement, and now he is completely cured. His skin is smooth and white, and he seems entirely well. (Portrait enclosed). We are so thankful, I would like to tell everyone who has a suffering baby about CUTICURA.

SMALL TALK.

Heard From All Sorts of People In All Sorts of Places About the Town.

—Seats for Bill Nye are now on sale.
—Ed VanCamp and wife are visiting in Indianapolis.
—Lee Warner is giving away bread to-day to the multitudes.
—The American Clothiers' opening to-day was a great success.
—Rev. Inglis will preach to-morrow evening on "Our Public Schools."
—The funeral of M. H. Galey will occur Monday morning at 10 o'clock.
—Miss Mary Dinneen leaves for California to-day for a visit of three months.
—The fair association to-day decided to hold the fair on the week beginning September 3.
—Miss Edith Morris, of Greencastle, will be a guest of Miss Florence Bennett over Sunday.
—Miss Katie Weikel, of Camden, O., arrived to-day as the guest of her cousin, Miss Minnie Lifer.
—Don't fail to attend the opening of the American Clothiers this evening. A handsome present for everyone.
—The A. O. U. W. will meet at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the P. O. S. A. hall to attend the funeral of M. H. Galey.
—Beginning with to-morrow the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. will commence at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.
—The ladies of the Christian church desire to publicly express their thanks to the committee on arrangements of the Tribe of Ben-Hur for their patronage and for the courteous consideration shown them.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE MEETING.

County Convention Fixed to be Held on Saturday, June 2.—Time of Holding Convention to Select Delegates.

The Republican Central Committee met to-day in the small court room, with every township represented.

After a general exchange of opinions as to the basis of representation that should obtain in the county nominating convention Marshall Nye moved that the basis should be one delegate for each 25 vote cast for Harrison in 1892 and one delegate for each fraction of thirteen and over.

On motion of W. C. Stewart the time of holding the county convention was fixed to be held on Saturday, June 2.

S. C. Kennedy moved that conventions be held in the several townships to select delegates to the State, Congressional and Joint Representative conventions on Saturday, March 24, which was carried unanimously.

On motion of G. W. Widener the township conventions for the selection of delegates to the county convention shall be held on Saturday, May 19.

On motion W. A. Dietrick, of Brown township, was made vice-chairman of the committee.

There being no further business the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

WILSON'S WALL.

A Good Citizen of Coal Creek Township Who Wishes To Adjust Matrimonial Difficulties With the Court.

John W. Wilson is a good and substantial citizen of Coal Creek township who now appears before the bar of the Circuit Court and through his attorney, Jere West, asks for a legal separation from his wife, Mary Wilson. The case is a rather peculiar and interesting one. Mr. Wilson is 54 years old and his wife is 23. The above statement is a pretty good prelude and, perhaps, a sort of an explanation to the whole thing. Some time ago Mr. Wilson concluded that he wanted to get married and in some way or other got to corresponding with Miss Mary Thomas, of Brazil. The epistolary courtship was carried on in the uninterrupted flow of sugar water on a warm day after a hard freeze. Finally a marriage was agreed upon and brother Wilson donned his good clothes and trotted off to Brazil to marry a young lady whom he had never seen. Well, to make a long story short, he arrived there and the knot was tightly tied before Mary fairly knew what was going on. She began to repent the bargain, however, before the minister was done counting his fees. She recognized a certain disparity of age and purpose and she took no pains to conceal her dislike for her newly-made husband. She flatly refused to have anything to do with him and for the two days that he remained in Brazil, she was cross and anything but lovable. When brother Wilson came into the room she promptly arose and went out. He soon tired of this and came back to the celestial happiness of blooming Bristle Ridge. There was considerable correspondence then with the young lady and her family and the result was that she finally agreed to come and live with Wilson. She duly arrived, and to welcome her was a party of about fifty friends and neighbors. To the surprise of all the young bride coldly snubbed the whole crowd. She refused to have anything to do with them and gave her husband as frigid treatment as she gave the guests. She finally left the party and induced a neighbor to drive her to the home of a relative who resides in this county. She proceeded from thence to her father's home in Brazil, where she now resides. Mr. Wilson wants to be released from a marriage that isn't doing him any good, but which, on the contrary, spoils his chances with the other girls. He has accordingly filed the Wilson bill for free trade in divorcees.

THE EVENING SESSION.

Of the Christian Endeavor Convention at First Church Last Night.

Christian Endeavorers were out in force last night and the convention house was thronged with them until near the midnight hour. After a brief song service reports were heard that showed the Endeavor work in the 10th district to be in a very satisfactory condition. There are over two thousand Endeavorers in the forty-seven societies enrolled. This county has twenty societies, with 997 members. Fifteen societies in the district contributed $250 to the support of missions during the past year. The work of organization is going on steadily, and the outlook is bright.

Following the reports came a splendid missionary address by S. L. Merriam, of Chicago. The address abounded in pith points and illustrations and was exceedingly interesting. Lack of space forbids our printing it and a mere synopsis would not do justice. The reception to the delegates was very large attended by the local Endeavorers and their friends, and was a most successful and enjoyable affair. The church was filled with young people, and the social committee had its hands full. Refreshments were served in the dining room of the church and the delegates were introduced to local Endeavorers.

The early prayer meeting this morning at Center church was largely attended, the chapel being filled to overflowing. At 8:45, after a brief devotional meeting, the work among Junior Societies was taken up for discussion. The afternoon session was held at the Christian church.

OLD WABASH BOYS.

They Banquet at Indianapolis in Honor of Dr. Burroughs—He Tells of What Wabash is Doing and What She Proposes to Do.

The alumni and former students of Wabash College at Indianapolis number nearly one hundred. Last evening they gave their first annual banquet at the Commercial Club with President Burroughs as the guest of honor. Among those on the reception committee were S. A. Morrison and Edgar H. Evans. John A. Finch acted as toastmaster and the responses were made by D. R. McGregor, H. J. Milligan, Albert Baker, E. H. Evans, Dr. E. R. Lewis, Gen. J. R. Carnahan, W. A. Ketcham, C. W. Moore, C. M. Zener, G. W. Benton, Rev. G. L. McIntosh. Governor Matthews also made a speech.

President Burroughs responded to the toast, "Wabash and the Boys." After referring to the memories of the past with which the evening had abounded, in the review of which every alumnus, however dignified or venerable, is still a boy, Dr. Burroughs proceeded to speak of the boys of the present who will be the alumni of the future, and make the name and reputation of the college in the time to come. In so doing he referred to the present educational policy of the college which he described as conservatively progressive.

Wabash is willing that other institutions shall make experiments which may be regarded as uncertain in character, rejoicing in the experiment and awaiting with interest the result. The college has taken, during the last year, in connection with certain changes a decided position regarding principles determining the curriculum. The college work is arranged in year courses, fifteen of which are requisite for graduation. Without breaking class lines, certain permutations in these year courses lead to definite lines of study and specialization is thus permitted in the later years. A small number of subjects is pursued at one time in order that the training effect of these subjects may be marked. It is not the policy of Wabash to give the A. B. degree without that work in Greek Language and Literature which has been so ably conducted through many years by one whose work is so highly appreciated and whose name is so tenderly cherished by all of the alumni who have been under his influence. It is believed, however, that a valuable literary training may be obtained without Greek, special attention being given to modern languages, English, History, Social Science and Philosophy, and for this work the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy is offered. Wabash also emphasizes increasingly that broad scientific training for which she has been noted during the last few years. It is proposed to make this training still more thoroughly scientific while at the same time it is non-technical in character, and for this line of study the degree of B. S. is offered. The number of graduate work in the college is increasing with the increase of facilities, seven graduate students being in attendance during the present year. The work of the college is arranged in three departments, Philosophy, Language and Literature, and Science. Each department has been materially strengthened during the last two years. The teaching force of Wabash numbers to-day twenty-two as against fourteen two years since. The college is now ably furnished with strong men in all lines of work. It is not necessary to speak of those who have been connected with the institution for many years. Those who have more recently taken up their work in the college have, by their results, the teaching established their reputation for thoroughness, breadth and intellectual sympathy with the work of the college as a whole. Several publications are long prepared and will before long appear showing the special scholarship of certain members of the faculty. Among those who have recently begun work in Wabash, Prof. Tuttle, who came from Amherst at the beginning of the college year, is carrying on work in History and Sociology with marked success. The work of Prof. Cunningham, begun last year in Philosophy, has continued to strengthen materially this department so that in Philosophy and Social Science, Wabash is presenting a strong case. The interest in Oratory has received a decided impetus through the careful and thorough work of Prof. Chapman. Physical culture, under the direction of Professor Horton, is emphasized along with mental and moral training. The required gymnastic training is making itself felt in the increased good health of the students and their ability to carry heavier class-room work as well as in their marked advance in general athletics and in football and basketball. Wabash believes in college athletics, believing also that they can be, and should be, properly regulated and kept in their place. The commodious library, so well arranged and fully stocked with carefully selected volumes, is under the efficient direction of Librarian Thomson, making itself felt in the general work of the college. Text books are becoming in large degree, except as reference books, a thing of the past. Advanced study is being encouraged in English, Political Economy and Philosophy, tending to produce strong and able thinking. The attendance of students, in spite of the financial depression, has been larger this year than last and an earnest spirit of work prevails.

Wabash rejoices to be a college. However ample her endowment may become, she can well expend all that may be entrusted to her in college work. Her aim is to train citizens, teachers and professional men who shall be masters in their several lines of thought and service.

In conclusion, President Burroughs invited the alumni to visit the college often, that they might see the work which is going on from day to day and which is the best test of the life and usefulness of the college. Let the memories of the past be revived not only in such gatherings as these but also in the walks of the beautiful campus, under the broad-spreading forest trees, and in the college halls now so amply furnished for the work which Wabash is aiming to accomplish.

A Fine Assortment of Weather for March Predicted by Hicks.

Col. Irl R. Hicks says that March is full of perturbing causes. The first period would run normally from the 2d to the 6th, but new moon on the 7th, under pressure of existing causes, will prolong disturbances and precipitate a crisis of storm and tempest from 7th to 11th. Storms are apt to range from tropical and tornado southward, to intense blizzards, ending in great cold northward. A cold wave will reach the south coasts at the wind-up of these general disturbances. By the 12th western regions will feel returning indications of renewed storms. Within twenty-four hours of 6 p. m. on the 14th, storms of marked energy will be passing the central parts of the continent, and a sweeping blizzardous wave will be bearing down from north and west. Thunder, rain and hail will suddenly give place to extremes of cold. An equinox of Mercury is central on the 20th, and the full moon falls on the 21st, making altogether a combination of causes to cover the reactionary period from the 20th to the 24th rarely seen, all centering to a day on the earth's equinox. Mercury will add destructive sleet to the general disturbances. At the close of the general commotion great cold for the season will dominate most parts of the northern hemisphere. A general tendency of storminess will prevail up to the last regular storm period of the month, which is from the 25th to 29th. About the 26th, 27th and 28th, change of temperature, barometer and wind currents will result in another period of storms, and these in turn will end in general cold. Thus endeth the month of March.

To Set Aside the Will.

The Dudley Young will case is again in Court. Crane & Anderson, attorneys for Grace and Sarah, the children of Lafayette Young, have brought suit to set aside Dudley Young's will, which disposes of $21,000 worth of property. Lafayette Young was the son of Dudley Young and during his life time occupied a 100-acre farm, which he claimed his father had given to him. After his death Dudley Young got possession, stating that he wished to make a will in favor of his granddaughters. He wills his property instead to his wife and a nephew, Robert Young, leaving Lafayette's widow and children out of it. The case was lawed considerably and was supposed to be settled, until this new suit came up, the children of Lafayette Young being plaintiffs. They claim that their grandfather was not in his right mind when he made the will and they want the property divided by law. Mrs. Lafayette Young has remarried and is now the wife of James Tobin, the immortal ice cream eater.

Surprise Parties.

Last evening about forty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Israel tendered them a very complete and delightful surprise at their home on South Washington street. The evening was very enjoyably passed by pulling taffy, and various amusements and the guests remained until a late hour.

Miss Minnie Kepler was pleasantly surprised at her home in North Crawfordsville last evening by a party of about forty-five young friends, who came in upon her without warning. The party was a very delightful affair and the guests remained until quite late, dancing and other popular amusements serving to pass the time most pleasantly.
