Hicks, as a prophet, has proven as great a failure as Dan Voorhees.

By the time the Senate gets through with the Wilson bill it will have the appearance of Mitchell after passing through the hands of Jim Corbett.

The County Assessor's office is a four years' office. Capt. C. W. Elmore has served but two years and hence there will be no election for that position this year.

When the people come to pay a higher price for sugar, it will be a mighty poor consolation to think that certain Democratic Senators made a snug sum of money out of the imposition of the duty.

It is your duty to attend your township conventions, if for no other reason to see that all slates and combinations are broken to smithereens. Everything that sneaks of ring rule should be discontinued. Being free from such things now let us remain free.

Capt. John Worrell, of Hendricks county, is a candidate for State Statistician before the Republican convention. He will probably have no opposition as his eminent qualifications for the position are so well known that his nomination will be taken by consent and by acclamation.

The Australian ballot has come to stay. Thirty-seven of the forty-four States of the Union have it. The other seven States, all of which are in the South except Idaho, will probably get the ballot soon. The Indiana law needs some amendments but the vital part will have a permanent place in our statutes.

SENATOR HILL, it is said, is devoting his time now in preparing a speech against the tariff bill, which no doubt will be a great one. So far Hill has had pretty much his own way in the Senate and his coming speech is looked forward to with intense interest. It is safe to say that he will not speak to empty seats.

SILVER, like the tariff, is being thumped from pillar to post by Congress like a foot-ball. After a special session called for the purpose and which lasted three months to repeal the Sherman law, the same body now faces about and re-enacts a similar law. If Grover approves the bill, as he probably will, he will show propensities not unlike a weather-cock.

THERE will be two Commissioners to elect this year in this county, one from the first or east district and one from the second or middle district. John Peterson, who is serving from the first district, was elected at the last election, but he entered upon his new term at the December session following. As this is a three years' office his term will expire at the December session, 1895, or nearly a year before the general election of 1896. His successor, therefore, must be chosen this fall.

The wheat crop of 1893 in the Argentine Republic is the largest on record, being an average of about fourteen bushels to the acre. The increase in wheat farming in Argentina is such as to properly excite some apprehension in the grain districts of the United States. In 1850, 120,000 acres were under cultivation, which produced 30,000 tons of wheat; in 1860, 160,000 acres produced 40,000 tons; in 1870, 240,000 acres produced 60,000 tons; in 1880, 490,000 acres produced 120,000 tons; in 1890, 2,800,000 acres produced 900,000 tons, and in 1893, 6,100,000 acres produced 1,920,000 tons.

Under the new law enacted by the last Legislature the time of holding the election for township trustees, justices of the peace, assessors, constables and road supervisors is changed from April, and all such officers are to be elected at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1894, and every four years thereafter. These elections must be conducted under the provisions of the law governing general elections. Township trustees and assessors now in office will hold until the first Monday in August, 1895. All other township officers will take their places immediately after election.

CHAPTER VIII.

The alarm which Mary had felt at Savannah's strange words and even stranger conduct, caused her some uneasy wakeful thoughts during the night, and she resolved to tell her lover what had passed and what her fears were.

She found an opportunity that evening. When she left work he was waiting by the mill gates. He was really waiting in the hopes of seeing Savannah, and when Mary came out alone he once fell a little with disappointment.

"Well, Mr. Tenant, this is good of you to wait for me," she said, joining him, her face alight with pleasure and love. "I think I shall have to begin and call you Mr. Roylance if I don't see more of you than I did yesterday. Where were you last night, sir?" she asked, smiling trustfully and happily into his face.

The question bothered him. He had always been so open and frank with her that the new necessity for practicing deceit perplexed and worried him. Yet he could not tell her the true cause of his absence.

So he said something about having been kept away in consequence of the trouble at the mill, and the girl was too glad to be with him to observe anything strange or hesitating in his manner.

"Well, I have you now at any rate," she said, "and as I have heaps I want to say I shall just take possession of you," and she linked his arm in his to walk away.

"Where is—where is Savannah?" asked Tom.

"Oh, we don't want her for a bit," answered Mary; "for to tell you the truth it's about her I want to say a word or two. Look here, Tom, I want to ask you a riddle that has been bothering me. What special reason can Savannah have for thinking Gibeon France means to do you mischief?"

"What do you mean, lass?" he asked, somewhat anxiously.

"Does that puzzle you?" she asked. "It puzzled me, I can tell you. Savannah thinks that Gibeon has some great spite against you, and that he is reckless enough to be dangerous. Can she have any reason? Does she know anything special about him? What can it be?"

"How shall I tell, Mary?" answered Tom Roylance somewhat uneasily. "You've seen more of her than anyone else in Walkden Bridge and ought to know." He colored a little at thus evading the question.

"I don't know anything of her in that way," answered the girl, drawing closer to his side and taking a firmer grip of his arm, as if growing more confidential. "But I'm going to make a little confession to you. Do you know, Tom, I think I'm afraid of Savannah."

"Afraid of her?" cried Tom Roylance with a laugh. "Afraid of Savannah! Why, she's one of the gentlest creatures that ever breathed," he cried, enthusiastically.

"She may be, and I dare say I'm very stupid and ridiculous, as you say, but I don't—I can't trust her. She—I don't know how to explain the effect she has on me. She sets my teeth on edge sometimes, and I shudder and am afraid of her."

"It's not like you to be so foolish, lass," said Tom. "I thought you and Savannah were such good friends, but you women folk are always curious."

"No, I know I'm stupid, but I can't help feeling as I do. Just think what she said about Gibeon last night. And then she told him what Savannah had said, and the strange way in which she had said it."

"It was only a strong way of putting her dislike and distrust of the fellow," was Tom's comment. "We all distrust him, likely to kick up no end of a fuss if he can do it safely. She must have heard that said a hundred and fifty times about the place."

"But what could she mean by saying she could read murder in his looks, and all that?"

"Why, just what a gypsy might mean by saying she could read all sorts of rubbish in the palm of your hand. Chamberlain, Mary, what gentle ways she has, and what kindness she has shown to my father."

"If you had seen her last night you wouldn't have thought she looked very gentle," said Mary, who was anything but pleased to find Tom taking the other's part so readily.

"Surely, you don't wish to turn me against the lass," said Tom. "It's not like you to set folks by the ears."

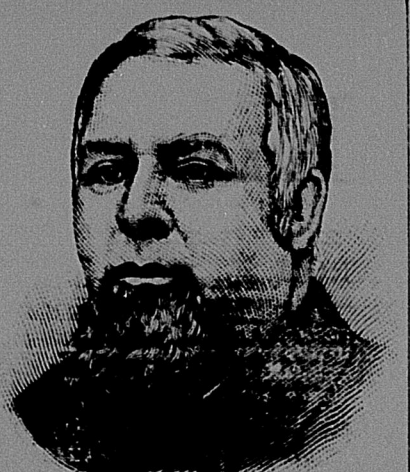

"I am sorry I mentioned it at all," replied the girl, and after that said no more on the subject.

Tom, finding that Savannah did not come home from the mill, soon began to get restless and fidgety, and rose to go, thinking that she had possibly gone to sit with his father.

"Must you go now?" asked Mary, feeling disappointed, and showing it in her looks.

"Yes," said Tom, fidgeting with his cap. "I have to get back to my father, and I—well, I have to go back to the mill. There's something that Gorrington wants me to meet him about there."

"Very well. Of course, you know best," she said, as brightly as her disappointment would let her.

SAILED THE SEAS 38 YEARS.

One of His Experiences.

For thirty-eight years Capt. Loud followed the sea, most of that time as master of a vessel, and upon retiring from the water was appointed by the Secretary of the United States Treasury to superintend the seal fisheries in Alaska, which position he held five years. He relates one experience as follows:

"For several years I had been troubled with general nervousness in the region of my heart. My greatest affliction was sleeplessness; it was almost impossible at any time to obtain rest and sleep. Having seen Dr. Miles' remedies advertised I began using Nervine. After taking a small quantity the benefit received was so great that I was positively alarmed, thinking the remedy contained opiates which would finally be injurious to me, but on being assured by the druggist that it was perfectly harmless, I continued to use it with the heartiest confidence. I can conscientiously say that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure did more for me than any medicine I had ever taken. I had been treated by eminent physicians in New York and San Francisco without benefit. I owe my present good health to the judicious use of these most valuable remedies, and heartily recommend them to all afflicted as I was."

"Capt. A. J. Loud, Hampden, Me., Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, express prepaid. They are free from all opiates and dangerous drugs. Sold by all druggists."

you think there's anything serious meant to be done?"

"Oh, no, nothing very serious. But now that I've taken the fortunes of you two into my care, I want to make sure that you don't run risks through sticking to me. Don't be frightened."

"Is there no chance of things being settled?" she asked.

"Well, you're a stanch lass and I can trust you. I have good reasons to think that in a day or two the best part of the spirit of the strikers are coming in. Don't say anything about it. But I can trust you, I know."

"Yes, Mr. Gorrington, you may. I'll say nothing. May I tell Tom?"

"Yes, if you like. But don't tell that girl who's with you, Savannah Morbyn. I don't trust her. Good night, Mary," and he hurried off.

Mary hurried in the direction of Tom's cottage to tell him what she had heard.

(To Be Continued.)

This breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which is usually the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results by its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure. Call upon your druggist for it.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.
Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism, but if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days, and I am all right today, and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by Nye & Booe, 111 north Washington street, opposite court house.

Take Uncle Sam's Cough Syrup. It contains no chloroform, is safe and effective for all. Sold by Cotton & Rife, the progressive druggists, for 25 cents a bottle.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Cotton & Rife's, the Progress Pharmacy.

Don't Delay.
It is your duty to yourself to get rid of the foul accumulation in your bowels this Spring. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine you need to purify, vitalize and enrich your blood. That tired feeling which affects nearly every one in the Spring is driven off by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great Spring medicine and blood purifier.

Hood's PILLS become the favorite cathartic with everyone who tries them.

They Want the Best.
"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana. That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds, and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it. 50 cent bottles for sale by Nye & Booe, 111 north Washington street, opposite court house.

A Million Friends.
A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than a million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Colds and Coughs. If you have never used this great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at Cotton & Rife's Progress Pharmacy.

Four Big Successes.
Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale: Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for Liver, Stomach and Kidney Troubles; Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealers whose names are attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at Cotton & Rife's drug store, the Progress Pharmacy.

Walker Sale

The End Has Come—The Curtain Is Down

On the last act of the last scene in the eventful merchandising career of the Great Wholesale Dry Goods House,

The James H. Walker Co.

The superb $650,000 stock is all sold—sold under the auctioneer's merciless hammer. And such a sale—a sale that attracted the attention of the entire dry goods trade of the Nation. The leading merchants of all the great cities had corps of buyers attending it. 'Tis quite true that many goods brought big prices, but none of them found their way to—

THE BIG STORE

They could not because of the measures we used to prevent bad buying, namely: We spent several days at the big Walker warehouse prior to the sale, examining and scrutinizing each and every piece—every lot in the whole stock—and marking down low bargain prices on catalogues furnished as for that purpose. Then we paid close attention to the bidding and never allowed one lot to be knocked down to any one else if at or below our guiding prices, but when they went above we promptly let them go to any one who chose to pay more for them—in short it was a cool, premeditated scheme to Capture the Bargains from the Great Walker Sale for our customers.

As a result we will commence to-morrow a Grand Sale. We say "Sale" but the word hardly expresses the event. It will be practically a reckless distribution of Walker's Silks, Walker's Dress Goods, Walker's Linens, Walker's Notions, Walker's Domestics,
