TINWARE peddlers will not figure in the present campaign, as they did two years ago. Tinware is cheaper than ever before known. We saw a new two-gallon tin bucket at a store door the other day marked 10 cents.

BARBED wire has been placed on the free list by the Senate bill. The men who work in barb wire factories must come in competition with the low-priced labor of Europe. This is an industry in which Crawfordsville is interested and the thrust comes directly home.

COL. WATTERSON's latest remarks about the Gorman-Brice tariff bill is to the effect that if he had a dog that wouldn't bark at it he would kill the animal at once; and yet he, like all the other cuckoo can be depended upon to endorse the measure as soon as it is passed.

The New York World has an article in which it shows that many scientific men—among them Mr. Edison—think it possible to establish communication by means of electricity, between the earth and Mars. It has recently been demonstrated that wires are not necessary to conduct sound from one point to another. Strange appearances recently observed on Mars have been thought to be efforts by the people of that planet to signal to us.

ACTING under instructions in the form of a resolution, passed at the annual meeting held in Indianapolis on Feb. 13, 1894, the officers of the Indiana Lincoln League have had prepared a button of special design to be known as the official League Emblem. The button is made of bronze, with raised bust of Lincoln in the center and the inscriptions "Lincoln League of Indiana" on the margin surrounding the bust. It is one of the neatest and most appropriate emblems ever adopted by any political organization, and will tend to uniform and bring into closer relations the League of Republican clubs in Indiana. These buttons can be secured through R. E. Mansfield, Secretary of the League, Indianapolis, Ind.

THIS country from one end to the other seems to be in a state of anarchy. Armed bodies of strikers are marching here and there, shooting and intimidating those who are willing to work, and destroying the property of mine owners and other employers of labor. Thoughtful people are beginning to ask themselves whether this is a government of law and order or whether it is a government of socialists and anarchists. It is a dark picture, and its features are certainly threatening. Has not the time come to make an end of this nonsense? How long can our form of government stand the strain? The anarchistic element is already a factor of too much strength in our politics, and all possible precautions should be taken against the growth of an influence that is distinctly and entirely pernicious. Isn't it about time to close the gates of Castle Garden?

THE platform adopted by the Pennsylvania Republicans contains a plank demanding "such changes in our naturalization laws as will deny the rights of American citizenship to anarchists and to all other persons hostile to our Government and to that liberty of law upon which it is based." Commenting on this plank the St. Louis Globe-Democrat forcibly says: "This touches a matter of decided and increasing importance, and one that should enlist the attention of all patriotic people, regardless of partisan differences. We are annually adding to our voting population a large number of foreigners who have no respect for our institutions and no sympathy with our political system. They do not come here for the purpose of living upright and law-abiding lives, and yielding honest allegiance to the Government, but with a view to disseminating revolutionary doctrines and fomenting disorder and destruction. It is impossible for them to be loyal citizens and entertain the sentiments which they bring with them. Whatever they may say or swear about their intentions, they are not to be trusted. They are opposed to the conditions upon which the safety and welfare of society depend, and by no sort of reasoning can their views be harmonized with the idea of fidelity to the obligations that they assume."

FRANK CONFESSION.
Sir Walter Scott's Waverley Novels for Vacation Reading.

Robert Chambers, publisher, one night appeared at his club, after a short absence, and there delighted at least one member—J. C. Jeaffreson—by a deliciously frank expression of opinion, says Youth's Companion. Jeaffreson began the conversation by asking:

"What have you been doing since I saw you last?"

"I have just been spending the time in Scotland with my ain people, and for my diversion I have been reading yet again Scott's novels. I went deliberately through the whole lot of them. What do you think of a man o' my years spending the greater part of the long holidays in sic' ways?"

"It was in that way that I first made acquaintance with the Waverley novels," was the enthusiastic reply, "in a broiling hot summer and autumn. How you must have enjoyed yourself!"

"Weel, weel, I canna say," returned the Scottish publisher and man of letters. Then he looked warily up and down the room to make sure of not being heard by any brother Scotsman, and continued:

"I canna say I enjoyed the buiks so much as I did in my younger time. I would not say it aloud in Adinbro, but weel you believe me when I say that Sir Walter isn't what he used to be to me? To tale you the truth," he added, lowering his voice almost to a whisper, "to tale you the truth, I found him rather prosy! Ay, but dinna be laughing, or the lads there will be asking what I said to you. It is the truth that I tale you I moost confuse I fund him at times a leetle prosy!"

GODFISH GALORE.

Portland Boasts a Single Pile of One Hundred and Thirteen Cords.

Imagine 4,500 quintals, or 504,000 pounds, or 352 tons, or 118 cords of salted cod and pollock, all neatly piled up in one building, and you will have, says the Lewiston Journal, before you the largest stock of fish in the city of Portland at the present time. It has all been brought from New Scotia and Newfoundland since the 10th of October. There is one pile of fourteen tons of specially selected codfish. They were big fellows when taken from the water and weighed then from 40 to 80 pounds each. Now they weigh from 25 to 35 pounds apiece. When they have been stripped of the skin, carefully boned, trimmed into slices of faultless flesh like so much clean, clear bread or cheese, and packed in boxes marked "boneless fish," they will weigh from 12 to 15 pounds apiece. Such is the shrinkage of an 80-pound codfish into the perfect food product. In the trimming process about 20 pounds of "scrap" are removed to every 100 pounds of the boneless slices. This is, of course, good food tissue, though it looks decidedly like "leavings." It is sold for about 8 cents a pound. Country fish peddlers buy it, sometimes in 30 and 150 pound lots, and sell it to farmers and villagers, to make into hash, for about 10 cents a pound. The skins are packed in barrels and sent away to Gloucester, Mass., where they are made into glue. They bring about a cent and a half a pound. The bones sell for two or three dollars a ton and are hauled over to Cape Elizabeth, used as a fertilizer for cabbages.

It May Do As Much For You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pain in the neck, and also that his Kidney was affected. Martin of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great deal on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by Nye & Booe, 111 Washington street, opposite court house.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe my sensations when I found my arms, hands and ears. I had to rub and heat those parts until they were sore, to overcome a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of my body, and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was a vital point, and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular success. I had a bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a day or two later, before I could get a creampuff, feeling had gone, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained weight. I used to weight 150 pounds, and now run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and all have had the same success as mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a retail price of 50¢, or by mail by the Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Hartford, Conn., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opium or dangerous drugs.

Sold by all druggists.
