THE FAIR.

It Will Begin To-Morrow and a Large Crowd is Expected.

The Crawfordsville fair nominally began today but virtually it will not begin until to-morrow. For several years past it has devoted Tuesday to Children's day, so when this custom was abandoned this year, the day fell flat. It has been one of preparation merely and the crowd has not been calculated to pay the association out of debt. There were no races and the heavy rain of this morning kept many from attending who would probably have done so. But the boom is ready for to-morrow. A great crowd is expected and will doubtless come. If there is no more rain the track will be in elegant condition and some fine races may be expected. The entries will then have all been made and the displays arranged so that they may be seen to advantage.

NOTES.

Awards were made today in some of the horse classes. The animals were not shown in the ring on account of the mud, but were on the turf south of the grand stand.

The following are the special policemen on the grounds: Herman Wilson, Sam Snyder, B. Cox, James Sharpe, Charles Hoffman, Wm. McCoy, Marion Insley, James Barr, Chas. White, Allen Robinson, Wm. Middleton, Irwin Transue, H. H. McDaniel, Dave Milholland and R. B. Snyder.

Death of Harry Hernley.

Harry Hernley died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Champaign, Ill., of his injuries. The body of the unfortunate young man, accompanied by his father, arrived last night at midnight. The funeral will occur from the Christian church to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, services to be conducted by Rev. W. J. Howe.

Mr. Hernley was injured while coupling cars in the yards at Champaign. It seems that he had cut a car loose and stepped back from the track. A pile of cinders had been carelessly dumped there and over this he fell, his legs going across the track to be cut off by cruel wheels. He was taken quickly to the hospital and was conscious when his father reached his side yesterday forenoon. Harry Hernley's death is a peculiarly sad one, he being a young man of much character and promise and liked by all with whom he came in contact.

Fanning-O'Conner.

Patrick E. Fanning, of Indianapolis, and Miss Ellen O'Conner, the daughter of Enos O'Conner, were married this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Bernard's church by Father Crosson. After dinner at the Nutt House, they left this afternoon for a wedding trip to Chicago, after which they will repair to their future home in Indianapolis, where the groom has a position in the city fire department.

J. C. Wicker and wife handsomely entertained a company of friends last evening at a progressive euchre party. Elegant refreshments were served and prizes were awarded, not for proficiency in cards, but for the person finding first, twenty objects on a cent. The lady's first prize was won by Mrs. Ed Vance and the gentleman's by Walter Hulet. Dr. McCormick won the booby.

LITERARY NOTES.

A valuable article on the "Significance of Modern Poverty" from the pen of W. H. Mallock, appears in the September number of the North American Review.

Dr. J. M. Rice has written for the September Forum an instructive article on the school excursion taken by teachers and scholars of the Anderson, Ind., public schools to historic places in Virginia—the first excursion of the kind, with a definite educational purpose, ever taken in the United States. Dr. Rice explains in detail the educational value of it.

A very interesting and unique little paper appears in the September Arena. It is, "An Astrological Forecast of the Administration of President Cleveland," by Julius Erickson. It was made at the moment of Mr. Cleveland's inauguration, March 4, 1893, and a copy of it was deposited with the Librarian of Congress at the time as an historical record. In the light of recent and current events this strange document should be read with curiosity and interest in Washington, if nowhere else. It predicted a bad time for the Cleveland administration, and disappointment for Cleveland, and it begins to look as if such things were not out of the range of political possibilities.

Don't fail to read Bischof's ad this week, it will put money in thy purse.

TO OPEN THE CAMPAIGN.

Gen. C. H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, Will Fire the First Shot in Crawfordsville on Saturday, Sept. 15.

The campaign will be opened in Crawfordsville on Saturday, Sept. 15. Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, the distinguished soldier and statesman, of Ohio, will speak at Music Hall on that date. General Grosvenor has for many years been a leading member of Congress from the Buckeye State and, of course, is prepared to give a good history of the present Democratic Congress. Let Music Hall be filled from pit to gallery.

Death of Mrs. Emily Howard.

Mrs. Emily Howard died last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the residence of John Howard on east Market street. Mrs. Howard's home was in Roachdale and she was visiting here at the time of her death. Last Friday she was stricken with apoplexy and grew worse until relieved by death. This afternoon after a short service by Rev. W. J. Howe the remains were taken to her home at Roachdale, where the funeral proper will occur.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS.

News Briefly Told from Various Towns in Indiana.

Charged with Murder.

KOKOMO, Ind., Sept. 4.—The completion of the coroner's inquest on the body of James Gregory, the wealthy bachelor murdered at Shanghai, 13 miles west of this city, Thursday night, leaves the crime charged to Horace Loomis, a cousin of the murdered man and a son of Louisa Loomis, in whose house the murder was committed. Since the death of Mr. Loomis seven years ago Gregory has made his home with his aged aunt and taken care of her. This arrangement was against the wishes of young Loomis but the old lady declared Gregory was better to her than her own son and refused to listen to the protestations of Horace, who openly accused Gregory of mercenary motives and with attempting to get possession of his mother's property. The evidence indicates that late Thursday night Horace Loomis entered the house where Gregory was watching over his sick aunt and shot him twice. Mrs. Loomis was so ill she could not give an alarm, and lay with the dead body in her room for six hours. She is now nearly 80 years old and cannot live long. Loomis was arrested and is in jail without bail.

His Parachute Failed to Work.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 4.—A most thrilling affair took place during the Labor day exercises at Centerville park Monday afternoon. H. M. Williams, of Sturgis, was engaged to make a parachute descent.

The balloon filled with hot air ascended to over 3,000 feet with Williams on the trapeze. According to programme he slid down a rope 200 feet before pulling the line to release the parachute, when, to the horror of the immense crowd, it failed to open. Williams could be seen attempting to climb hand over hand up the rope to get at the parachute when the balloon began to descend rapidly and landed in a heavy grove. Williams was bruised some but not seriously injured. The line became wrapped around the trapeze bar and he could not loosen it.

Races at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—About 8,500 people were in attendance upon the opening races of the Driving club's fall meeting here Monday. Interests were centered in the 21st pace, which was contested in the 2:14 class, in which two individual records were broken. By winning the first heat Budd Doble's Direction lowered his record from 2:14 to 2:10 1/4. Ed Easton went the second heat in 2:09 3/4, three seconds lower than his previous record.

Fire at Kewanna.

KEWANNA, Ind., Sept. 4.—This place suffered heavily from fire early Monday morning. Flames originated in Crump's livery barn, entirely destroying the barn with its contents. Elston's storehouse, containing $2,000 in storage, with Norris' wagon factory and five adjoining buildings was also consumed. The entire loss is $15,000. Insurance on livery barn and storage house $4,000 each.

The Shot Was Fatal.

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 4.—Rufus Brumfield, who was shot Sunday night while in a quarrel at Centerville, and was brought to his home here, died Monday from the effects of his injuries. He gave a statement of the circumstances to the county prosecuting attorney, who will investigate with regard to the justifiability of the marshal's act in doing the shooting.

Harvested Three Peaches.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Sept. 4.—Charles Smith harvested three small peaches, the only peaches grown in this county this year. He had them on exhibition at the meeting of the State Horticultural society at New Castle last week and was awarded a six-dollar premium. He also exhibited them at the Corydon fair, receiving a premium of $10.

Sue for Damages.

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 4.—William Neeley, owner of the trotting stallion Jallisco, 2:19 1/4, has commenced suit against the Lake Shore railroad for $5,000 for injuries sustained by his horse while en route home from La Porte. The suit promises to arouse much interest and will be hotly contested.

Hammond's New Mayor.

HAMMOND, Ind., Sept. 4.—With simple and appropriate ceremonies Mayor Fred R. Mott was Monday night inducted into office to which he was elected last May. The other officers are: William Klerhage, Sr., treasurer, and Frank Hess, city clerk.

Made an Assignment.

VABAM, Ind., Sept. 4.—E. H. Zahn, of Huntington, lately engaged in the furniture business, has made an assignment to L. N. Heaton. His liabilities are nearly $10,000 and his assets are about $5,000.

Shot Himself.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Sept. 4.—John W. Haskett, a merchant at Stranghous, near this city, and postmaster under the Harrison administration, committed suicide by shooting.

SURGERY IN THE STONE AGE.

Prehistoric Man Knew How to Perform Trephining.

Prof. Victor Horsley, F. R. S., lately made some interesting assertions in an address in Toyne hall, London, upon "Trephining in the Stone Age." He said that there was no doubt that these prehistoric people, though little better than savages of a low type, performed this delicate operation, and the proof of it to surgeons was convincing. If the wound in an injured skull healed the sharp edges become rounded, and if there was a kind of worn-appearing appearance round what was once a wound it meant that there was inflammation at the time of healing. Prof. Horsley exhibited representations of prehistoric skulls which presented these appearances, and urged that it was sufficient proof that the owners survived these operations, performed something like five thousand years ago. He found that in one instance the hole had been scraped out of the skull, and mentioned that even at the present time among the Kabyles, in the north of Africa, two days were occupied in performing the operation. Trephining was also accomplished by drilling a number of holes with a bone drill, then breaking down the small partitions, and so releasing the desired piece of bone. Again the operation could be effected with the stone saw, and skulls were represented that showed that after the periosteum had been scraped away saving had been resorted to. Primitive people, he said, were very careless as to these operations, and even five hundred years ago in Germany a piece of the skull was removed as a cure for melancholy. If a savage suffered in the head from a blow trephining was accomplished, and doubtless the sufferer from fits, who was considered to be possessed, was relieved by a similar operation. From the skulls he had examined he found that the holes were generally made immediately above those parts of the brain where an injury would induce fits. Often the piece of bone was replaced in the skull and at other times it was split up into amulets. No doubt the dwellers in the stone age looked into the operation as something very special, and considered that the bone removed had supernatural properties.
