The Students' Movement is now organized in more than 100 colleges. It was started in Philadelphia five years ago and its purpose is defined as follows: "To organize the students in the universities and every great professional school, so that each college shall have suitable rooms for social and religious advantage, that young men coming as strangers to the city can be introduced into good homes, to attend upon church, and to be surrounded by healthful, social and religious influences, and that the social and spiritual side of the student's life should be looked after as carefully as the intellectual."

HERE is a tariff lesson for farmers. Last week Squire Boggs, a wealthy farmer of Howard county, shipped nineteen cars of baled hay to Baltimore, Md., where he had been marketing his crop for some years. On Friday he received a letter from his commission merchant stating that on account of the tremendous amount of hay shipped to Baltimore from Canada since the tariff law went into effect, there was no market for Mr. Boggs' consignment, and it would scarcely bring enough to pay the freight. The nineteen cars of hay remain the Baltimore yards, subject to Squire Boggs' orders. Mr. Boggs will lose heavily by the shipment, and he is thoroughly disgusted with the Democratic party and its destructive legislation.

IN its regular weekly article on "Money and Business" last Monday the New York Tribune comments as follows: "It is a rather remarkable fact that all the papers of both parties agree in attributing an improved feeling in business to the general expectation of Republican victory. Dollars indulge no prejudice. When men are making calculations on which they are to realize profits or losses, they all reckon Republican victories a good thing for business. As Wall Street just now believes about two to one in Republican victories, a strong improvement might be expected, if other conditions would permit. But no vote this fall can immediately get rid of the present tariff, though it may stop more legislation of that sort. No vote this fall can give the workingman at once their old wages, though it may prevent further decline. Nor can any vote give the country a better corn crop or higher prices for the immense surplus of wheat and cotton. The improvement which a vote can bring must therefore be prospective rather than immediate."

THE talk about Cleveland's pension policy is a little stale. The people have voted on that several times already.—Argus News.

YES. In 1888 his pension policy was fresh in the minds of the people and they voted, and the result was not at all complimentary to his policy. In 1892 the voters were misled by Democratic promises and they have been deceiving themselves ever since. Thousands of the pensioners have learned to their great sorrow that the pension policy of his second administration is even more brutal than that of his first administration. Then he gratified his hate by vetoing over 500 pension bills including the Independent Pension bill which afterward became a law under President Harrison. Now his administration takes out its revenge by dropping thousands from the rolls, reducing thousands of others in the amounts they receive, and in the rejection of 132,000 claims during the first full year it has been in power. The Union veteran does think his policy is becoming stale, and as a Democratic pensioner said to THE JOURNAL the other day, he proposes for this one time at least to give it a black eye with that little weapon that falls as silently as the snow flakes.

UNDER the Senate bill this country will do more business with Cuba and all foreign countries than has ever been done. Mark the prediction.—Argus News.

THE Argus-News having made the discovery that the tariff is not a tax now goes to the extreme. It thinks that the Spanish tariff of $4.75 per hundred kilos on American flour is better than $1, and that $3.95 on American corn instead of 25 cents will stimulate our business with Cuba. The following articles, which were formerly free when imported into Cuba from the United States, are now dutiable per hundred kilos: Lard, $10; hams, $7.50; bacon, $10; salt beef, $5.40; fruits, $3.25; codfish, $2; oysters and salmon, $2.30; hay, 90 cents; beans, $3.25; potatoes, $1.80; lumber (per 1,000) $1.25. The duties on coal, machinery, and manufactures of iron, wood and cotton have been largely increased. The Argus-News talks unctuously about "more business with Cuba" since it approves the upsetting of the arrangement by which we had virtual possession of the markets of Cuba and Porto Rico on many products of the farm and factory, and under which our exports increased from $11,297,198 in 1880 to $23,704,094 in 1893. "British trade with Cuba has almost become a thing of the past," notes the English consul-general at Havana in regard to the reciprocity treaty. "The effect has been to throw nearly the entire Cuban trade into the hands of the United States traders."

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

She Thought She Would Take Her Husband's Advice.
"I don't see as this butter we get from the creamatory is much better than cow's butter," said Mrs. Vancouver, one morning at the breakfast table.

"What?" ejaculated Mr. Vancouver, excitedly.

"I say I don't think the creamatory butter is a bit better than any other."

"My dear," replied Mr. Vancouver, trying to calm himself, "do you know what a creamatory is?"

"No, not unless it is where they make oleomargarine."

"Well, my love, I will inform you. A creamatory is a place where dead bodies—"

"O, gracious!"

"A place where dead bodies are burned to ashes, and the ashes carried home in a jar and stored away among the family archives."

"You are thinking of a pickle creamery, darling, but don't for heaven's sake ever get on this subject again in the presence of any of our friends. Don't do it for my sake, will you, love?"

And she said she would be eternally cremated if she would.—Tammany Times.

"Good mosek," said the German professor, beaming kindly on his class, "altders dichection undt increases dot appetite." "I wonder," mused the thoughtful girl who wore glasses and had a high forehead, "if that is the reason why pianos in boarding houses are never tuned?"—Detroit Free Press.

"Minnie—'Here is a story about a girl who refused to marry a man because his complexion didn't match her hair.' Mamie—'Goodness. The silly thing must have thought that married people had to be together most of the time.'—Indianapolis Journal.

Marking The Lambs.
In a Sunday school, when the lesson of the Good Shepherd was being explained, the question was asked, "How does the Good Shepherd know his sheep?" Young Washington, who had been visiting his uncle's sheep farm, thought he knew. "Tell the class, my dear," said the teacher. "Some he slits their ears and some he marks red chalk," said the boy. "These would be distinguishing marks, indeed, but not more so than are the marks of health of the countenances of those who use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, is said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritation or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organs themselves instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Dr. J. M. D. L. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning the nerve fluid and its disorders originate from disorders of the nerve centers. His wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the world. Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee to all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. THE BIG STORE.

CLOAKS AND FURS

A Half Mile of Board Fence

Covered with talk about the quality, fit, finish and general superiority of our line of these goods wouldn't convince a woman half so quick as it would to snuggle inside of one and walk around in front of a long mirror and see reflected the truth of every printed praise we have showered upon them. Once a woman gets fairly into one of 'em you can make up your mind it's

Her Cloak.

She'll never get out if she has the price. Its a waste of words for us to praise the garments when a customer is inside of it—tells its own story in a more effective manner than we are able to.

Get Inside

This is all we ask and we are confident of the result. This is all we ask and we feel we should be favored as much. Give us your time and attention and we will give you good values for little money. This seems reasonable, don't it?

= Dress Goods =

It seems scarcely necessary to say anything about our dress goods. You all know about us in that line. If you don't, ask your neighbor. She does. Our friends advertise us in this line and we are satisfied with their work, so what's the use saying more. We haven't the time nor space to mention all lines in our store, but beg to remind you it will pay you to come to us for your smallest purchases. It pays to trade at the "Big Store."
