

Delinquent Subscribers!

THOSE of our subscribers who know themselves indebted to us for Subscription and Advertising must make some arrangements to settle off their accounts immediately. Those who are unable to pay up in full must pay what they can, and if they cannot do that they must notify us immediately of the fact as we intend to publish the name of every man, who, after the 1st of June, does not either settle or give us some assurance that he intends to pay, we shall publish his name, and place our accounts in the hands of the proper officers for collection. We have upon our Books some excellent subscribers who are always prompt in paying their subscription, while there are others, and their name is legion, who have never paid us a cent from the day we first commenced publishing, which is now over three years. These are the individuals we are now after, and if they don't face the music, we shall resort to such measures as will convince them that there is yet a God in Israel.

(From the Ocean Advertiser.)

BORN AT FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

CATTARAUGUS COUNTY, April 9.

An esteemed correspondent sends us the following account of an "accident" on the New York and Erie. The little one thus whistled into life, ought to prove a fast individual:

Dear Kurnel: I have frequently heard of "births on the cars;" but never was present when such a drama was enacted, till a few days since, while journeying to Gotham. At Binghamton an elderly lady, and her unmarried daughter came aboard, destined some hundred miles or more east, whence they intended staging it about the same distance south.

The daughter, who sat in the seat next ahead of me, was a large, good-looking girl and appeared to me rather out of health—looked pale and agitated, and had frequent resort to a bottle containing some sort of stimulating mixture. Her good looks and her unhappy appearance excited my admiration and commiseration simultaneously! But finally, about two o'clock in the morning, I dropped off into a sound sleep.

The first I know or thought of, some one roused me by a good shaking, and asked me "if I would have the kindness to surrender my seat to a sick young lady?" I departed at once to a seat some feet distant, where I sat down by a gentleman evidently belonging to the reverend clergy. "Well," said he, "they are having quite a time out where you sat."

In a state of misty obscurity, from the loss of sleep, I was ignorant of what had transpired; and innocently asked what he meant. "Why," said he, "didn't you know that the lady next ahead of you has just been delivered of a fine child?"—and at that instant the impromptu juvenile set up a loud screaming, which told the whole story at once.

A middle-age German lady very benevolently assisted at the operation, which passed on much in the usual manner—and the "virgin" mother soon became, to use an oft-repeated phrase, "as comfortable as could be expected."

The grama, who didn't seem to "know a plenty," or was incensed at the wayward conduct of the daughter, was going to start at once for her home, in the stage, thus hurrying off the poor girl within three hours after the birth of the child. The passengers remonstrated against this, and the conductor—I forget his name—went to the hotel with them, and ordered the good Boniface to keep the mother and child at least a week, take the best care of them, and if the New York and Erie Co., didn't pay the damage, he would. But then whistled along as demure and orderly as though nothing had happened. You will admit, my dear "Kurnel," that that was a "scene" for a modest young man like myself, to say nothing of several young ladies who were likewise seated near.

You can insert this under the heading of "Railroad Accidents," and believe me,

Yours, ON-A-BENDER.

—An Irishman once asked the meaning of the word "virgin." He was told that it ordinarily meant a woman who had not been "blessed." And he, "me mother was a virgin."

DEATH UNDID.—A man named Samuel Turner, died in Yorkville, S. C., a short time since, at the nearly centenarian age of 98 years. During his long life a maiden daughter had lived with him, nursed him in old age, and resigned all other society and associations for the pleasure of loving, with a beautiful and rare disinterestedness, and being loved by her venerable parent. In two days after his decease she died also, at the age of 72 years. Life had lost its single charm; she sought a removal of its fascinations in heaven—National Courier.

MORMON POETRY.—The Deseret News, a Mormon paper, publishes this. No wife ever wrote it:

"Now, sister, list to what I say:

With this world is a life,

You can expect to meet them all,

Help husband get a wife!

Now, this advice I freely give,

If exalted you would be,

Remember that your husband must

Be blessed with more than three.

Then, O, let us say,

God bless the wife that strives,

And aid her husband all she can,

To obtain a dozen wives."

MARRIED.—On the 18th of May, by Rev. Dr. White, Mr. JAMES M. DEFFEE, of Goshen, Indiana, and Miss VICTORIA HOLLOWAY of Crawfordsville, Ind.

The printers return their thanks to the happy couple for the ice cream and cakes they presented to this office.
