FOURTH OF JULY.

A Meeting of the citizens of Crawfordville will take place at the Court House to-night, to make arrangements for celebrating the approaching anniversary of our National Independence. Let every one, especially the Merchants of the town, be in attendance, and give their aid to this patriotic movement.
BUNKER HILL.

Mass Meeting of the Democracy.

The Democracy of Montgomery County will meet at the Court House on Saturday, the 23d day of June, for the purpose of selecting Delegates to attend the Congressional Convention, to be held at Delphi on Tuesday, the 26th. Let every Township be represented. The Eighth District must and shall be redeemed. By Order of the CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

GRIMES & BURBRIDGE.

This firm has just received direct from the eastern cities, their second stock of New Goods, consisting of calicoes, lawns, prints, cassimeres, cottonades, and in fact everything in the line of summer wear for both ladies and gentlemen, to which they invite all in need of something nice, durable and cheap to give them a call.

We were visited with a hail-storm on last Tuesday afternoon which lasted but a few minutes, and did but little damage. In Sugar Creek township however the effect of the storm was very severe, many fields of wheat were entirely destroyed and a number of buildings considerably damaged.

CRAWFORDSVILLE AND SHANNON-DALE GRAVEL ROAD.

There is a strong feeling now existing in our community, for the construction of a Gravel Road from this place to Shannon-dale, on the Noblesville road. Gravel is abundant and very convenient. In order to set the work in motion, it is requested that Henry Crawford, John Hutchings, Hannibal Trout, Martin Mote, Capt. Sellers, Tillman Rogers, Hiram Mote, Obediah Green and D. S. Jones, shall meet at the office of Drs. Fry & May, west of Graham's store, on Saturday the 16th of June, at 1 o'clock P. M. All others interested in the work are invited to come.

Last Sunday a sumptuous dinner was set at the Taylor House, to which a number of our citizens were invited. The dinner embraced all the choice fruits and vegetables of the season.

A celebration of the Fourth of July in Indianapolis, gotten up by the private enterprise of a Yankee from New York, is advertised extensively by hand-bills throughout this section of the State. Among the novelties which he promises on the occasion is a balloon ascension and fireworks. The citizens of Indianapolis seem to have nothing to do with the matter. We think the people of Crawfordville can display their patriotism at home more profitably than abroad.

The Pussel House still enjoys its usual share of patronage under the management of its gentlemanly host, Hannibal Pussel. Our jears speak highly of a dinner they enjoyed there on last Sunday.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

Last Friday morning a young man named Wm. Paxton, visited the residence of Mr. David Paxton, a farmer living in Franklin township, near Darlington, and entering the house endeavored to shoot a daughter of Mr. P., but was prevented by the interference of her brother, who, in the attempt to save the life of his sister, was shot in the forehead, the ball glancing off, however, not proving fatal. In the meantime the young lady fled from the house towards a brick-yard near by where her father was at work, pursued by the murderer. Mr. P. immediately rushed to the rescue, armed with a small club, and notwithstanding he was repeatedly fired at escaped unhurt excepting a slight wound, one ball striking him the left cheek and glancing off. He succeeded after a violent struggle in overpowering his adversary, who was brought to town the same day and lodged in jail. Two years ago this same murderous devil attempted the life of Miss Paxton, by shooting at her with a pistol, the ball from which providentially missed its mark. At his trial for the offence he was acquitted on the plea of insanity, and his friends promised to remove him from the country. His absence, however, was brief, and since his return he has been coolly plotting the death of the young lady in question. Crazy or no crazy, we think the best disposition that can be made of him is to send him down to Jeffersonville for life.

It is proper to state that he is in no way related to the family whom he sought to murder.

CLAIRVOYANCE EXTRAORDINARY.

Dr. J. F. BARNWELL, from some unknown power (which he believes, however, to be the physiological influence of his departed spirit friends,) is so gifted with the power of spiritual vision as to describe accurately the ailments of all invalids who may apply to him in person, or from a distance by letter, (stating name, age and sex only.) All personal examinations free of charge. Examinations made by letter, communications, or given to a friend, must have a fee of $1 enclosed, or paid, to receive attention. Patients at a distance will be treated upon application by letter. This astonishing power may seem incredible to most persons who have paid no very particular attention to magnetism and physiology, which form the basis of all the operations of the human mind. Human magnetism is generally conceded to be a fact, a truthful science. This granted, the solution of the mysterious problem is philosophically made clear and plain. Thus, if man after death exists in spirit, he must possess all the powers of mind that he did while living. This is self evident, for if he does not retain his mental powers after death he must have dissolved into non-existence, since at man's dissolution of the body there is nothing else left that can continue to exist but mind.

Now for the solution of the problem: All persons possessed of the power to magnetize or psychologize, particularly organized persons, while living, must retain the same power in another state of existence. Now all invalids have their departed spirit friends that loved them while on earth, and love them still, and are anxious for their restoration to health and happiness. These spirit friends seek a spirit that has control of a medium, and through this medium by impression on the mind, the invalid's ailments are accurately described and in like manner the remedy is prescribed.

Invitation is given to the Ladies and Gentlemen of Crawfordville and vicinity to receive an examination; personal application free of charge. The truth or fallacy of clairvoyance may easily be tested. Ladies and families of children are invited to call and the Dr.'s lady will receive them with pleasure.

All diseases successfully treated. Inflamed eyes cured in a few days, and those that have an outside coating grown over the sight can have it removed with but little pain, by the application of a vegetable preparation called the "Film Extractor," the greatest eye remedy known to the world.

Call at the Taylor House, Room No. 4, Crawfordville, June 7, 1860.

In 1858, Judge Douglas beat Lincoln in Illinois, notwithstanding he was supported by the Republicans and by the Administration; and in 1860, he will beat Lincoln in New York, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, New Jersey, Iowa, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, by a vote that has not been equalled since 1852.

H. OTT & SON.

Read the advertisement of H. Ott & Son. They have the largest and best stock of drugs in town and sell the cheapest. Country physicians and everybody should buy their drugs and medicines at this house. The ladies will find here a magnificent assortment of toilet soap and perfumery.

FINIS.

The Journal is very much displeased at our remarks concerning the Hon. James Wilson, and would make its readers believe that the Montgomery delegation were friendly toward Mr. W. Of course we do not expect anything like a fair, candid and honest controversy with the Journal editor and his subrosa. In place of dealing with facts, its forte is a miserable attempt at silly and ridiculous perversion of truth. It knows very well that notwithstanding Mr. Wilson's declaration (in order to secure the nomination in 1858) that he would not again be a candidate, that he expected his country would again urge him, and taking advantage of the close contest between Rice and Orth, run him in as a compromise candidate. This we know was expected by Mr. Wilson, whose repeated assertions declining again to be a candidate were only a mere formality, an apparent disinterestedness. The treachery of his own county destroyed his expectations. John Beard warmly espoused the cause of Orth, and disavowed any attempt at urging the nomination of Mr. W. One delegate in particular from this county boldly proclaimed that if Wilson was nominated, defeat was inevitable, and intimated that he would oppose him. What were the feelings of Mr. Wilson when he returned home, at such base ingratitude? Did he meekly acquiesce without a murmur? No! he bitterly denounced John Beard and certain other delegates from the county, and accused them openly of ingratitude. Personally we entertain none but the kindest feelings towards Mr. Wilson. He is the only able exponent of the peculiar doctrines of Republicanism in the Eighth District, and the only man that could bear victory the black standard of his party. But his days are ended, political assassination has overtaken him, and a pigmy, a clown, steps into the shoes of royalty and attempts to lead. There was a significance in the remark made by Wilson on his return from the Convention, when he congratulated certain gentleman in Crawfordville that "the Republican party had at last got a moral man on the track for Congress." The look of disappointment, and the dark brooding revenge that lurked underneath the knit brows accompanying the remark, spoke mischief and secret rebellion. No wonder our neighbor of the Journal trembles for the success of its Attica nunny.

DEATH OF THEODORE PARKER.

The following, an extract from a private letter to Professor Newman, dated Florence, May 11th, 1860, appears in the London papers:
"I have sad news to communicate. Our dear suffering friend, Theodore Parker, died yesterday evening. Yet there never was an easier end to a life but lately full of vigor. I saw him about three hours before he died, lying calmly, while life was ebbing away unconsciously to himself. He left written directions for his funeral, limiting to five persons the attending him to the grave, of whom I am one. Many Americans here are expressing their wish to appear as mourners; but it is thought right to abide by his instructions. He desired the eleven first verses of the Sermon on the Mount (the blessing of Jesus) to be read over his grave; and then a plain grey stone, with his name and age and nothing further of inscription. Mr. Cunningham, a Boston Unitarian minister, will read the passage. He is a sincere friend and admirer of Parker's. We hope to get a cast taken of Mr. Parker's features. Mr. Parker, his poor gentle wife, his little, hitherto borne up well, Miss Stevenson, who has so long resided with them, was also with him to the last. She thinks from the peculiar tenderness of his manner yesterday, that he knew he was dying. He had been dreamy for some days, and talked dreamingly of two Theodore Parkers, one here, and one planted in Boston who would finish his work; perhaps a true thought, only mystically expressed. Among his last well connected words were these: 'Of course you know I am not afraid to die, though I wish to live and finish much work which I longed to do. I had great powers committed to me, and I have but half used them.' Since writing this, I have seen him lying, Oh, so peacefully! I have never seen death under a form so devoid of terror. The hectic color remains on his cheek, and it is hard to persuade oneself he has passed away. He ceased to breathe without the least struggle."

EYE AND EAR.

Dr. FESLER, of St. Louis, Mo., the eminent and skillful operator on the Eye and Ear, has arrived at Crawfordville, and may be consulted at the Taylor House until the first day of July, 1860.
Those that are afflicted with diseases of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs, Heart, Liver Complaint and Female Diseases, should avail themselves of his valuable services as early as possible.
Dr. Fesler will perform all surgical operations in any State when called upon.—No charge for advice.
"A-SETTIN' ON A RAIL."—As Lincoln's chief merit as a candidate is derived from his rail-splitting, the following lines are exceedingly prophetic of his condition after November next:
"As I walked out by the light of the moon
So merrily singing this old tune
I came across that same old Coon
A-SETTIN' ON A RAIL AND SLEEPING VERY SOUND."
CAN IT STAND?—Is Lincoln still of the opinion this Union can not stand as it is handed down to us? Must it be all free or slave? If so, which way will he compel it to go, in case of his election? If for all free, how will he accomplish the work without meddling with slavery where it exists? If for all slave, will that suit the Republican party? Is it not the intention of the Republicans to vote for Lincoln to have him regulate slavery? If so, is it not well enough to ascertain which half of the Union he will wipe out, in the extremely doubtful case, of his election? Freepress Bulletin.

THE GREAT SPEECH OF SENATOR DOUGLAS—TRIBUTE FROM AN OPPONENT.

The Nashville (Tenn.) Patriot, the home organ of the Hon. JOHN BELL, the American candidate for President, pays the following tribute to the speech recently delivered in the Senate by Judge DOUGLAS:
"The speech of Mr. Douglas, in the Senate, in reply to Mr. Davis, of Mississippi, on the 15th and 16th insts., occupied nearly six hours in its delivery. It is attracting attention wherever it has been read, and is pronounced the ablest speech of his life. All the courage and fire, and energy, and power of his nature were concentrated in that speech. For two years he has been hunted with unabated ardor, not to say ferocity, by his enemies and pursuers. At Charleston the war was continued with bitterness and earnestness, and the united battery of Southern invective was kept up for ten successive days and nights upon him; and the pursuit was even then continued, and scarcely had the sound of the melee at Charleston died away before he was bearded in the Senate Chamber by the leader of the chase from Mississippi. Both his endurance and his forbearance were exhausted. At length the hunted lion of the North-west turns to meet the onset. His present honor and his future safety demanded that he should submit no further. He raised his voice as the very monarch of his tribe, and dealt his blows with a power, a directness and a precision from which there was no escape. They fell thick and heavy, right and left, fore and aft, and were as fatal in effect as they were certain in aim. At the conclusion of his speech his pursuers, of high and low degree, great and small, were lying mangled and bleeding and powerless at his feet. His triumph was all that his most sanguine friends could have desired. 'One thing is now certain, if after this, Mr. Douglas goes down, the crumbling walls of the Democratic temple will go down with him.'"
EX-SENATOR MOULE.
In the following animated strain, Mr. Soule concluded his speech in behalf of Mr. Douglas, at the great Douglas meeting in New Orleans on the 19th ult.:
Let me warn you against surprise from quarters most insidious; from men whose well-laid snares might delude you into inconsiderate and fatal steps, men who will caress you, but who are neither your friends nor the friends of the cause they advocate; men ready to bolt from one position to another, ever anxious to show themselves foremost in any movement that has the least chance of success, and eager to thwart every good purpose that can be turned to their exclusive advantage; suspicious and dough-faced politicians, prompt to ingratiate any sort of party that will afford them the means of wresting the public spoils from those who are in the enjoyment of them, and with whom no communion of thought or sentiment can be durable, as they are ever upon the watch, their eyes cleaving to the political weathercock, that they may have the first inklings of a change in the atmosphere of parties, and be a head of all others on the lists of the one that has the wind on its side; false and obtrusive predicants, who can only discredit the cause they profess to oppose, and still aspire to be looked upon as the saints of the party, entitled to all its rewards, the hard laborers whose work was missed, but whose zeal never faltered in its support.

TERRIBLE TORNADO!

IN ILLINOIS AND IOWA!
150 PERSONS KILLED!
OVER 200 PEOPLE WOUNDED.

Chicago, June 5.
From the telegraphic messages received last night and this morning, we learn the following particulars of the tornado on Sunday last.
The first heard of it was between Mattoon and Cedar Rapids, Linn county, Iowa, going northeast to southeast in three different veins, crossing the track of the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska railroad several times. At Lisbon, a railroad station, all the warehouses and the village were completely demolished. A train of ten freight cars, heavily loaded, was lifted bodily from the track and dashed to pieces. Before reaching here we learn that seventeen persons were killed. From this point one vein of the storm passed north of Mechanicsville, demolishing everything in its course, and killed several persons. It next took in its course Union Grove, killing in that immediate vicinity thirteen persons, four of them belonging to one family of the name of Hatfield, and destroying the house of David Miller, killing him and a portion of his family. It then struck the town of Camanche, on the Mississippi river, at which point the loss of life is much greater than first stated. From all accounts there can not be less than fifty persons killed. In view of these state a still larger number, but bodies cannot be found. There were also 125 wounded—some fatally; and ten more missing.
A large lumber raft from Chippewa river, manned by a crew of 14 men, having two women on board, tied up opposite Camanche town, was completely scattered, and all were lost. The names of the dead at Camanche, as far as we are able to ascertain are as follows: Mrs. Amelia Davis and son, Elizabeth Westphal and child, Hannah Curran, A. Hoot, Mary Greenleaf, Emily Rathbone, D. Wagoner, D. Salter, Margaret Foss, Mary Foss, Eli Millson, Mrs. Geo. Baimham, Mrs. James Stenburgh, Geo. Ash, Mr. Kenrick, L. D. Bigelow, L. Jacob, Mr. Eli and child, Mary Crapp, child of Geo. W. Chase—others not identified.
The tornado is known to have traveled a distance of ninety miles in Illinois, doing an incalculable amount of damage to property. The loss of life cannot be less than one hundred and fifty. During the entire day yesterday two trains were run every hour from Clinton to the scene of desolation through the aid of an efficient committee, and much relief was rendered.

INDIANA POLITICS.

"Potatoes they grow small
Overs they grow thin;
Potatoes they grow small,
And they eat them skins and all,
Overs thin!"
The Lafayette Courier, of Wednesday last, brings us the astounding intelligence that Isaac A. Rice, of Attica, has been nominated for Congress in the eighth Congressional district of Indiana, by the Republican Convention which met at Delphi on that day.
Well, well! We knew the Republican party in that district was in a rapid decline, but we did not imagine it had the "dwindles" so bad as this nomination would indicate.
However, we congratulate our Republican friends of Warren, who, if they have not got a candidate from their own county—which perhaps is more than they have any right to ask or expect—have at least got one who has tried very hard to be a citizen of their country. It is not his fault.
Mr. Rice is a very fine specimen of the class of men who are not apt to be suspected of a design to set the world on fire. He distinguished himself, while a member of the Indiana legislature, by playing the part of cats-paw in procuring the passage of a bill authorizing the change of County boundaries, the beneficent effects of which our Warren friends had an opportunity of experiencing a short time ago. Like obedient tributaries, we suppose they will now reward the gentleman with their votes.
We confess that we have, hitherto, been inclined to look with a good many misgivings upon the prospects of "the boy who expected to be president," but in view of this nomination, we think Young America may take courage and a long holiday from his book and studies.
