

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

Saturday, June 8, 1861.

Printed and Published every Saturday Morning by CHARLES H. BOWEN. No. 10, Green Street.

CIRCULATION LARGER THAN ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN CRAWFORDSVILLE: call us and examine our List of SUBSCRIBERS.

AN APPEAL FOR MATERIAL AID.
We desire every one of our patrons who know themselves indebted to us for subscription, advertising and job work, to make some effort to pay us something on their accounts. In these war times it is a difficult matter to carry on business without money, and we trust that this appeal will meet with a deserved attention.

DEATH OF JUDGE DOUGLAS.
This remarkable man died, at his residence in Chicago, at ten minutes past nine o'clock, on last Monday morning, in the 49th year of his age. Though young, he has filled no ordinary space in the affairs of his State and nation, for the last thirty years—extending and widening the area of his influence from a small beginning to the end of his labors.

Direct, emphatic in word as in action, he possessed a power in oratory, and fascination in intercourse, such as few other men ever wielded. He never hesitated—never delayed to seek the direction of public sentiment, but rather created it, and infused life and vigor into his positions by the boldness of conviction and the enforcement of language ready made to meet the direct purpose. With a million and a half of followers devoted to him, he dies without a successor—without a soul to inherit his fame—an utter blank is left in the public heart where he so lately dwelt.

THE DESIGNS OF ENGLAND.
England seems to be making provision against accidents. The Kington (Canada) Advertiser of the 30th ult. says:

"The British Government has chartered eleven sailing transports, and three powerful steamers to take military stores to the British Colonies in the West Indies and North America. A large number of Armstrong guns for the fortifications, are to be a portion of the cargo of this fleet. The whole of the fortifications, magazines and arsenals are to be put on a war footing, to superintend which competent officers have been dispatched. Several gentlemen connected with the Engineer Department arrived at Kingston last week, and have already made arrangements for the reorganization of an office here. It is also said that the contingent of troops for Kingston, to garrison Fort Henry and occupy the different barracks, will consist of two complete regiments of the line and a complete field battery of artillery."

Why all this preparation, if England has no intention or expectation of being with the Confederate States before the conflict is ended? We may refer, in this connection, to yesterday's dispatch of the editor of the Cincinnati Commercial, from Washington, where he says: "Advices from England to the State Department, by the last arrival, are said to be ominous of trouble." It now looks as if England intended to have a finger in our pie, and that we shall have to have another brush with our old enemy. New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other seaport cities of the North had better be making preparations for contingencies.

HAYS' RESTAURANT.—The proprietor of this excellent restaurant is now serving up spring chickens, a fact that epicures will please make a note of. Lunch every morning at 10 o'clock.

Remember the exhibition of the Panorama at McClellan's Hall to night.

Pottinger has just received another supply of new and fashionable goods.

For farming implements go to Blair & Cumberland's. Jesse has a splendid lot of Reapers and Mowers which he will take pleasure in showing to our farming community.

Business has been quite lively to-day on our streets. Considerable quantities of wheat are being brought in every day.

THE NEW YORK ALBION.
The New York Albion, a paper edited by a British resident, and speaking the views of that class of people in this country, is severe in its denunciation of the New York Times, which condemns the attitude England has assumed toward this country. It says:

These New York gentlemen take offense where none is meant. They deny to a British Queen, Government, Parliament, People and Press, the right to act up to an injunction applied to themselves by one of their own most honored statesmen—namely, to know no North, no South, no East, no West. * * * If American editors expect that all our Parliamentary talk is to chime in precisely with their views, they will probably be disappointed.

As just now there is a strong disposition to watch John Bull narrowly, at home as well as abroad, these sentiments naturally occasion much remark.

The British Government is about fortifying the lower bank of the Thames on a large scale.

To tell them to obey the Laws and Support the Constitution of the United States.

These were among the last words that the lamented Senator of Illinois uttered before his death.

After days of pain and unconsciousness attending his illness, on Monday morning the great spirit of the distinguished Politician and Statesman revived from the stupor into which disease had bound it, and the cloud passed from that giant mind, which had so often and so powerfully emitted its brilliant scintillations of thought among the people. Lying at apparent ease upon his bed, but with the mark of Death upon his pale countenance, Mrs. Douglas, who sat soothing him gently, by his bedside painfully aware that the moment of final separation was approaching, asked him what message he wished to send to his sons Robert and Stephen, who are now students at Georgetown. He answered not at first, and she tenderly repeated the question. "Tell them," he then replied, with a full voice and emphatic tone, "Tell them to obey the laws and support the Constitution of the United States"—and shortly after nobly patriotic words were spoken, the great spirit of Douglas quietly gently passed from the mortal into immortality.

CHICAGO, JUNE 7.
Business was generally suspended at an early hour yesterday, until Saturday. At 10 o'clock, amid tolling bells, firing of minute guns, the procession moved from Bryan Hall, where the remains of Mr. Douglas have lain in state since Tuesday, thence Clark and Lake streets to Michigan Avenue, thence to Cottage Grove.

The procession was two miles in length, and occupied an hour in passing a given point.

LOUISVILLE, JUNE 7.

The Louisville battalion disbanded to-day because a majority of the members believed the field officers to have secession proclivities.

Letters reaching here and directed to points in the seceding States and Memphis, Tennessee, are detained, and will probably be sent to the dead letter office.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 7.

A gentleman just returned from Knoxville, four miles from Harper's Ferry, says the rebels have withdrawn all their batteries from the Maryland side, opposite Harper's Ferry. They appear to be strengthening their line from Bolivia to Winchester as if preparing for a retreat in that direction.

A large number of influential men in the country are here urging the Government to accept one hundred thousand additional troops.

When Congress meets $150,000,000 will probably be the sum to carry on the war.

Orders were read at evening parade, to officers of regiments on the Virginia side to prepare rations for four days, for a march forward. The march will be made in twenty-four hours.

The Secretary of War has appointed the following gentlemen paymasters in the army:

Thomas B. Alden and Charles Larned, of Missouri; J. H. Kimpel, J. W. Finney and J. D. Webster of Illinois; Wm. Cumback and W. P. Gould, of Indiana; David Taylor, J. H. Groesbeck, Robert C. Kirk and Dwight Bannister, of Ohio; Joshua Howard of Michigan; Thos. J. McRea, of Iowa; E. S. Paulding, of Minnesota.

The Quaker City has captured a valuable prize.

The Harriet Lane also seized a sloop on Wednesday.

Gen. Patterson is advancing to cooperate with Gen. McClellan.

COLONEL ELLSWORTH — MANNER OF HIS DEATH.

A Washington correspondent giving lengthy details of his death, says:

The Colonel was shot through the breast by one of a doubled barrel gun, the other charge entering a wainscoting near him.

He fell on his face only exclaiming, "My God," and the blood gushed from his wound with such profusion as to drown the entire passage.

A few seconds afterward he uttered a low moan, but his eyes were instantly fixed and he had ceased to breathe.

He was laid upon a bed in a room near hand, with the rebel flag waving over him, and now a trophy to his glory, about his feet.

The surgeon, who soon arrived, satisfied us that he had expired at the moment of his being shot.

The man who killed him was James W. Jackson, who proved to be the keeper of the house.

He must have died as suddenly. He was shot through the head, and afterward ran through the body by the sabre bayonet of the same private.

His wife presently discovered the fatality, and approaching the body uttered the most agonizing cries, and although treated with the utmost consideration that could be offered her in misery, she remained for a long time in the wildest state of frenzy.

The house was in the utmost confusion. The lodgers darted from their rooms, but were held in control by four or five Zouaves who accompanied the Colonel, and who at once established and maintained order.

Acting Surgeon Penguet, of the Seventy-first Regiment, who made post-mortem examination of Colonel Ellsworth's body, reports that the contents of the gun entered the chest a little left of the breastbone, between the second and fourth ribs, fracturing the third, and passed through the left lung. The heart and pericardium was not wounded. The arch of the aorta and brachia was lacerated. The slugs lodged in the second and third dorsal vertebrae.

The World adds:

It may not be amiss to mention at this time that Colonel Ellsworth has been engaged for the last two years to Miss Carrie Spofford, a young lady of seventeen.

It is estimated that in Troy, N. Y., not less than 1,500 sewing girls have been thrown out of employment by the hard times.

The British Government is about fortifying the lower bank of the Thames on a large scale.

TELEGRAPH.

THE LATEST NEWS.
CINCINNATI, JUNE 6.

The 11th Indiana Regiment of Zouaves, under command of Col. Wallace, fully armed, passed through the city this afternoon, en route for Cumberland, Md. They made a splendid appearance and were enthusiastically received.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 7.
A picket guard of the Highlanders were fired on at Georgetown last night by the rebels.

Reports of recovering any vessels at Norfolk are pronounced as false.

It is understood the Government will not make any further requisition for troops at present.

The President's mansion and all the departments are closed to day in memory of Douglas.

All reports since Saturday of the movement of Federal troops on Fairfax Court House are without foundation.

LOUISVILLE, JUNE 7.
The Journal says large quantities of arms were brought from Tennessee to Kentucky on Wednesday by the secessionists.

CHICAGO, JUNE 7.

Business was generally suspended at an early hour yesterday, until Saturday. At 10 o'clock, amid tolling bells, firing of minute guns, the procession moved from Bryan Hall, where the remains of Mr. Douglas have lain in state since Tuesday, thence Clark and Lake streets to Michigan Avenue, thence to Cottage Grove.

The procession was two miles in length, and occupied an hour in passing a given point.

LOUISVILLE, JUNE 7.

The Louisville battalion disbanded to-day because a majority of the members believed the field officers to have secession proclivities.

Letters reaching here and directed to points in the seceding States and Memphis, Tennessee, are detained, and will probably be sent to the dead letter office.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 7.

A gentleman just returned from Knoxville, four miles from Harper's Ferry, says the rebels have withdrawn all their batteries from the Maryland side, opposite Harper's Ferry. They appear to be strengthening their line from Bolivia to Winchester as if preparing for a retreat in that direction.

A large number of influential men in the country are here urging the Government to accept one hundred thousand additional troops.

When Congress meets $150,000,000 will probably be the sum to carry on the war.

Orders were read at evening parade, to officers of regiments on the Virginia side to prepare rations for four days, for a march forward. The march will be made in twenty-four hours.

The Secretary of War has appointed the following gentlemen paymasters in the army:

Thomas B. Alden and Charles Larned, of Missouri; J. H. Kimpel, J. W. Finney and J. D. Webster of Illinois; Wm. Cumback and W. P. Gould, of Indiana; David Taylor, J. H. Groesbeck, Robert C. Kirk and Dwight Bannister, of Ohio; Joshua Howard of Michigan; Thos. J. McRea, of Iowa; E. S. Paulding, of Minnesota.

The Quaker City has captured a valuable prize.

The Harriet Lane also seized a sloop on Wednesday.

Gen. Patterson is advancing to cooperate with Gen. McClellan.

COLONEL ELLSWORTH — MANNER OF HIS DEATH.

A Washington correspondent giving lengthy details of his death, says:

The Colonel was shot through the breast by one of a doubled barrel gun, the other charge entering a wainscoting near him.

He fell on his face only exclaiming, "My God," and the blood gushed from his wound with such profusion as to drown the entire passage.

A few seconds afterward he uttered a low moan, but his eyes were instantly fixed and he had ceased to breathe.

He was laid upon a bed in a room near hand, with the rebel flag waving over him, and now a trophy to his glory, about his feet.

The surgeon, who soon arrived, satisfied us that he had expired at the moment of his being shot.

The man who killed him was James W. Jackson, who proved to be the keeper of the house.

He must have died as suddenly. He was shot through the head, and afterward ran through the body by the sabre bayonet of the same private.

His wife presently discovered the fatality, and approaching the body uttered the most agonizing cries, and although treated with the utmost consideration that could be offered her in misery, she remained for a long time in the wildest state of frenzy.

The house was in the utmost confusion.

The lodgers darted from their rooms, but were held in control by four or five Zouaves who accompanied the Colonel, and who at once established and maintained order.

Acting Surgeon Penguet, of the Seventy-first Regiment, who made post-mortem examination of Colonel Ellsworth's body, reports that the contents of the gun entered the chest a little left of the breastbone, between the second and fourth ribs, fracturing the third, and passed through the left lung. The heart and pericardium was not wounded.

The arch of the aorta and brachia was lacerated. The slugs lodged in the second and third dorsal vertebrae.

The World adds:

It may not be amiss to mention at this time that Colonel Ellsworth has been engaged for the last two years to Miss Carrie Spofford, a young lady of seventeen.

It is estimated that in Troy, N. Y., not less than 1,500 sewing girls have been thrown out of employment by the hard times.

The British Government is about fortifying the lower bank of the Thames on a large scale.

The New York Albion, a paper edited by a British resident, and speaking the views of that class of people in this country, is severe in its denunciation of the New York Times, which condemns the attitude England has assumed toward this country. It says:

These New York gentlemen take offense where none is meant. They deny to a

British Queen, Government, Parliament, People and Press, the right to act up to an injunction applied to themselves by one of their own most honored statesmen—namely, to know no North, no South, no East, no West. * * * If American editors expect that all our Parliamentary talk is to chime in precisely with their views, they will probably be disappointed.

As just now there is a strong disposition to watch John Bull narrowly, at home as well as abroad, these sentiments naturally occasion much remark.

The British Government is about fortifying the lower bank of the Thames on a large scale.

The New York Albion, a paper edited by a British resident, and speaking the views of that class of people in this country, is severe in its denunciation of the New York Times, which condemns the attitude England has assumed toward this country. It says:

These New York gentlemen take offense where none is meant. They deny to a

British Queen, Government, Parliament, People and Press, the right to act up to an injunction applied to themselves by one of their own most honored statesmen—namely, to know no North, no South, no East, no West. * * * If American editors expect that all our Parliamentary talk is to chime in precisely with their views, they will probably be disappointed.

As just now there is a strong disposition to watch John Bull narrowly, at home as well as abroad, these sentiments naturally occasion much remark.

The British Government is about fortifying the lower bank of the Thames on a large scale.

The New York Albion, a paper edited by a British resident, and speaking the views of that class of people in this country, is severe in its denunciation of the New York Times, which condemns the attitude England has assumed toward this country. It says:

These New York gentlemen take offense where none is meant. They deny to a

British Queen, Government, Parliament, People and Press, the right to act up to an injunction applied to themselves by one of

</