Maximilian's consul at San Francisco con-

tradicts the report of a defeat of the imper-

ialists near Mazatlan.

Speaker Colfax gave it as his opinion that there would be no recess of Congress until

July 1st, 1866.

The coal trade at Richmond, Pennsylvania,

is suspended on account of the refusal of the laborers to accept reduction of wages.

Several disasters occurred to vessels during the recent gale on Lake Ontario, and many were driven ashore. They were principally vessels loaded with wheat.

Every precaution is being taken in New York to prevent the spread of Cholera.

The most stringent quarantine measures have been adopted, and the sanitary condition thoroughly looked after.

Another fire in the oil regions at Shafter,

Pennsylvania, on the 21st, destroyed one thousand barrels of oil and several freighted cars. Teams out of work are reported to have been the incendiaries.

The superintendents of the various insane

asylums in the country, are at present holding a general convention at Washington. On Wednesday they called upon the President and were severally introduced to him.

The trial of Henry Bruner, for frauds on the Quartermasters Department, at Nashville,

is in progress. Mr. Isham Harrison, of Louisville, Ky., and several prominent parties at Nashville, are heavily implicated.

A gang of counterfeiters have been detected

in Washington lately, having in their possession plates for spurious twenty dollar commodity interest notes. Plates of the issues of several banks in this State were also seized.

The steamer City of Boston has arrived

from Liverpool with one day's later advices

from Europe. The Austria-Prussian matters

still wear the same complicated form. Preparation are being made by both nations for war.

The Fenian arrivals are not so numerous as they were. Those now in Calais are orderly and quiet. On Thursday a warehouse on Indian Island was burned by a band supposed to be Fenians from Eastport. Another Eng-

Celebration by the Odd Fellows.

The celebration held here by the Odd Fellows, on last Thursday, was in every respect one that the Crawfordsville Lodge may be proud of. The attendance was large, and no pains or expense spared by them to make the day worthy of the occasion. The morning trains brought to our city the Lafayette and Ladoga Lodges, accompanied by Brass Bands and hosts of strangers, to participate in the celebration. An address was delivered at the Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Adams, an eloquent speaker, and a dinner furnished at the Hall. Our streets were alive with people, and the strains of music sent forth by our admirable band inspired every one.

We understand it is the intention of the young ladies of our city, on next Thursday evening, to give a concert for the benefit of the Crawfordsville Band. We trust that the ladies will see that the entertainment is in every way a success, and that our citizens will heartily co-operate with their patronage. We feel assured, however, from what we have heard, that the arrangement of the programme for the concert is in competent hands, and that it cannot fail. Our band is not only a source of pleasure to us at home but reflects credit on our city abroad.

GRAHAM'S MAMMOTH is being filled with immense piles of new goods. Read his advertisement in another column.

The Indianapolis, Crawfordsville and Danville Railroad.

Considerable excitement prevails in our city over the fact that the work upon the above road has been suspended. On last Thursday night word was received that all work upon the route had been stopped, and engineers who were driving the outer stakes near our city, preparatory to the contractor going to work, were ordered immediately to Indianapolis. Whether the route is to be materially changed, owing to the reported difficulty of getting the right of way through Marion and Hendricks counties, or entirely abandoned, are at present writing matters of conjecture. The prevailing opinion, however, seems to be that only a change of route is contemplated by Mr. Linn, the President of the Company, and that this great highway of travel will speedily be prosecuted to an early completion.

P. S. Hon. James Wilson, the Attorney for the road, requests us to say that the trouble arose from the difficulty of obtaining the right of way, and that work will be resumed in a few days, the report of the road being abandoned being an idle rumor without foundation.

The Monstrosities of the Civil Rights Bill--Extract from the Address of the Johnson Club in the Washington National Intelligence.

The Civil Rights Bill is a scion of this more formidable predecessor. It purports to grant civil rights to the blacks, to place them as citizens on a perfect equality with the whites. Its dictum is that there shall be no discrimination between the races in regard to civil rights, and yet the very first step in the code take from the State courts their independence as judicial tribunals, and breaks down the authority of the people who create them. If the judges of the State courts decide against any of the grants or immunities conferred upon the freedmen by the Civil Rights Bill, the judge is to be fined or imprisoned for it, no matter how conscientious his decision, or whether it be founded on his views of the Constitution, or the laws of Congress, or the Constitution or the laws of the State which he is sworn to administer. There is no such penalty affixed in case of a judgment against a white man, whose person or property may be involved in the judge's decision. In case a white citizen of a State sues another he is confined to seek justice in a State court. The negro is privileged to prosecute in the State Court, the District Court of the United States, or the Circuit Court of the United States. So he may drag the white man through all the tribunals of the country. Is not this discrimination? But there is another of still more practical importance. The bill requires that commissioners be appointed throughout the States to become prosecutors of suits for freedmen litigants. This new tribe of pursuants of litigation are to receive a premium from the Treasury of ten dollars for every suit they can induce the freedmen to permit to be brought in his name, and five dollars additional is to be paid on the warrant when issued. For a similar service a State justice receives twenty-five cents. A poor white man nowhere in the world has such assistance in asserting his rights or redressing his wrongs. He has to pay the tax and fees when he appeals to the courts for justice, and the lawyers as counsel; but for the freedmen there is a host of commissioners provided, to institute and prosecute suits, prompted by fees in advance, which alone would make it a lucrative pursuit, to say nothing of what might be obtained from the plaintiff or extorted from the defendant. There seems to be some discrimination of races, where we find the purse of the nation opened to one race and stimulating hunters to hunt the other as a sort of prey. This must be meant as a retaliation on the whites (although paroled and promised peace at their own homes) for the cruelties of Senator Mason's Fugitive-slave Bill. The latter, however, only reached a few individuals. The hired beagle of the Civil Rights Bill will hunt the white man down at his home, or drive him from it, and he is commissioned to drag State judges from their courts to prevent the Spaniards retaining possession. The officers and crew of the Uncle Sam, with the exception of the captain, had returned to Panama.

The Policy of Humanity.

General FRANK P. BLAIR, of Missouri, one of the few Republican politicians who distinguished himself by personal gallantry in the war, has lately written a letter to a meeting in St. Louis, in which he gives utterance to the following magnanimous and generous sentiments. He says in speaking of the Radicals:

"Such persons are most persistent in urging measures of unnecessary harshness and indignity, in order to irritate and goad our vanquished opponents into acts of resistance which will justify the infliction of still greater cruelty. If those brave and unfortunate people could only be driven by their insults and contumely to such acts, it would fill the soul of their malignant persecutors with unspeakable joy and satisfaction, because it would afford the pretext they seek, to deny the Southern people the rights of freemen and free States. These Jacobins feel and know that it is necessary to disfranchise the white race at the South as affording them their only chance of retaining power and position."

"What civilized nation on earth would hesitate an instant, if the opportunity offered, to incorporate with themselves the brave and heroic people of the South, whose fortitude and endurance, in a mistaken cause, challenge the admiration and respect of the world? Would France or England, or any other civilized power, hesitate to give such men the full and equal rights accorded to all other citizens? Would not those nations be most happy to claim, as their own, such men as Lee and Johnston and a host of others, and to confer upon these living heroes the rewards which genius and courage have always commanded? Would they fail to honor and cherish, as a part of their own glory, the memory of that illustrious throng of the dead, led by Stonewall Jackson? Their fame belong to our name and nation, and their survivors, animated by an equal courage and devotion, and inspired by what we hope and believe is a better cause, will hereafter contribute equally with the noble spirits of the North to the renew of our great Republic."

"Fellow-citizens, those who wish well to the country, and would secure its greatest happiness, can have no higher aspiration than that the peace you celebrate may be perpetual. With respect yours, FRANK P. BLAIR."

Those are the sentiments of every one who would lay claim to the title of statesman or patriot. They are the views of all who desire to see peace and good feeling once more prevail between the sections of our common country. It is difficult to find language to adequately condemn the malignancy or the blindness which would substitute the policy of cowardly blood-thirsty persecution to alienate and drive from us ten millions of our countrymen; to create forever the barrier of eternal hate, instead of a liberal humanity. Of all ideas which ever entered the human mind, that of treating the people of eleven great States, one third of our whole population, acting in their sovereign capacity, as criminals and outlaws is the most preposterous and atrocious. Yet such is the view of the Radicals. Such is the programme they have put forth to the country. It is difficult to say whether cowardice or cruelty is the greatest element in their scheme. Both are largely in it and assist to make up the revolting compound.

CURE FOR CHOLERA.

The following story is of course imported: A physician who was not very familiar with the symptoms or the remedies for the cholera, was called in to prescribe for a colic who believed himself suffering from the epidemic. He told him to take certain remedies, and called again next day, when he was informed that Crispin was cured; in fact so well he had, he had gone to work. "Indeed," said the doctor, "that is well, you see my prescription has answered admirably." "Not so," they answered; "he would not take the medicine." "Indeed?" "What then did he do?" "Took a bottle of Robb's Stomach Bitters."

(From the New York News.) The Admission of the Southern Members--How to Accomplish It.

What, then, is to be done? The demagogues exult to-day in their triumph over the Executive. The success of their treachery and usurpation will make them still more arrogant and reckless, and will give their ambition wings to soar toward a confirmed absolutism. They must be met now, in the hour of their victory, by measures prompt and decisive, that will settle the issue and leave the field permanently in the possession of one or the other party. There must be a moral trial of strength between right and wrong, between usurpation and legitimate authority supported by the people. The President, in his present position, is a mere puppet. Eleven States and their populations, silenced and outlawed by Radical dictatorship, have been kept out of the arena. Their welfare, their safety, their very political life depend upon the issue in the settlement of which they are denied all voice and participation. They have the right to representation in the National Legislature. It is the duty of the President to protect them in the enjoyment of that right. The vindication of great principles, the interests of the people, the integrity of the Union, the very essence of the Republic, in a word, the enforcement of the Executive policy of restoration, demands that the representatives of the Southern States and people should immediately assume their official functions--should take their seats at once in the Senate Chamber and Hall of Representatives in the Capitol of the United States.

The Radicals oppose their admission. They bar the doors. They stand armed with stolen and unlawful weapons to dispute the passage of duly elected members of Congress to their rightful seats in the National Legislature. Then why does not the Chief Magistrate of the Republic interpose his authority to prevent this outrage against the representatives of the States and of the people? He has the power to do so. He is Commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States, and has at his disposal an armed and disciplined force amply sufficient to preserve the peace at the seat of government, and to enforce obedience to the laws beneath the roof of the Capitol of the Republic. Let a day be fixed for the representatives of the Southern States and people to take their seats in Congress. The seats are there ready to receive the rightful claimants. Let them enter, take possession of their own and fulfill their official functions. Should violence be offered them by any man, or number of men, under any pretense whatever, let the President send a detachment of Federal troops to preserve order in the Capitol. If radical conspirators attempt to support their usurpation by force, the consequence be upon their heads. It is time that the Republic should have a complete and constitutional national legislature. We have been ruled too long by faction. We have been too long subject to the caprices of fanatics. The country must be permitted to resume its normal condition and if revolutionists stand in the way, the Executive arm is strong enough to sweep them from the path of restoration.

UNION TOWNSHIP.

MR. EDITOR--Please announce, on behalf of many Democrats, the name of HENRY E. SINGER, as a candidate before the Democratic Convention for the office of Sheriff. Mr. SINGER was the candidate of the party at the late election as Sheriff, and entered upon the race when there was but very little prospect of election. This did not abate his energy, and he was beaten only by a few votes. A staunch Democrat, his battles in the past will, we trust, secure him a favorable consideration from the convention. Please insert this card until further notice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A FAMILY REMEDY.

"Coe's Cough Balsam." These have become household words with very many families, and the merits of the article justly entitle it to our confidence and patronage. The originators do not claim to be a physician, but have critically hit upon a prescription that meets the wants of a large class of sufferers. Some are testifying that it has actually cured them of consumption. It is no doubt the consumptive best friend, while for coughs, hoarseness, and kindred troubles, we think it has no equal. We predict for it a world-wide reputation and extensive sale.
