CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

Saturday, June 22, 1867.

THE NEWS.

Work will have to be suspended on the Union Pacific Railroad, unless more protection from the Indians is furnished.

General Sherman denounces General Buford's dispatch in regard to Indian matters, as either reckless misrepresentation or criminal stupidity. General S. says the Indians are carrying on a savage warfare upon small parties and laborers.

It is reported that the wheat in Kentucky is badly injured by rust, and in many places utterly ruined.

Registration of voters commenced in Mobile on the 17th—23 whites and 127 negroes were registered.

In the outskirts of Augusta, Georgia, 168 votes were registered on the 18th, the first day, 158 of whom were black, and 10 white.

During the thunder storm in New York on the 18th, the Roman Catholic Church on Forty-second street, was struck by lightning and so much injured that it will have to be taken down.

The registration at Richmond on the 17th, was about equal between whites and blacks. In Norfolk on first day there were 440 registered, of whom 307 were negroes.

General Mejia selected Escobedo as his counsel, who refused to serve, saying he would see him damned first.

The New York Herald's private dispatches state that Maximilian's trial was postponed until June 14th, really until after the fall of the cities of Mexico and Vera Cruz. Maximilian's health was better and he was more hopeful.

Several of the judges of Texas have declared that they would not receive the testimony of negroes, and regard the law of Congress on that point as unconstitutional.

The New York Times' Washington special says that Hon. Lewis D. Campbell has tendered the resignation of his office as Minister to Mexico for the reason that he does not feel inclined to follow the instructions sent him from the State Department. His resignation has been accepted. Prominent citizens of New Orleans are urging the appointment of Mr. King, of the Times of that city.

At Fort Hayes, on the 11th instant, the water was twenty feet deep. The occupants of the fort had been compelled to remove on the roofs of the buildings. Six soldiers and a citizen were drowned. General Hancock is engaged in selecting another site for the fort on higher ground.

The grasshoppers are doing great damage on both sides of the Missouri river. For a distance of one hundred miles gardens and corn fields are being desolated.

Reports state that Santa Anna was off Vera Cruz on the 12th.

Maximilian was convicted on the night of the 3d, and was sentenced to be shot on the morning of the 4th, with Miramon and Mejia.

It is reported that Maximilian had asked for a private interview with Juarez for the purpose of disclosing some important State secrets.

General Marquez, commanding at the City of Mexico, had executed General O'Harrish, commander of the post, for correspondence with the Liberals. He had also arrested one hundred and sixty Liberal sympathizers in the City of Mexico, and threatened to execute them and burn the capital. If Maximilian and his Generals are harmed.

The Charleston Courier thinks General Sickles' stay law for South Carolina will be set aside the first time it is brought before a court, for it says Chief Justice Chase has just decided at Raleigh that the stay law of North Carolina, even though enforced by the military orders of the commanding general, is without force in reference to the president's prerogative in the United States Courts.

The National Indebtedness.

In contemplating the national debt we are apt to consider the figures given us by the treasury as representing the whole of it, whereas every State and every town is bearing its own burden in addition. The New York Times figures up a State and town debt of $140,000,000 in New York, or about $35 for every inhabitant. If the State and town debts are proportionally large in the other States, the aggregate of these obligations must be $700,000,000 or $800,000,000, making, with the sum of about $3,300,000,000, or more than $100 for each man, woman and child, "without distinction of color," in the Union. If a national debt is a blessing we have got a big one, and one that is likely to remain with us for some time to come.

LAFAYETTE has been disgraced. We learn this from the Courier. A white man chased a negro through the streets, and the Courier says it has cast an indelible stain upon the fair fame of that city. It is not told what the negro did! Of course, a "loyal black" could do nothing wrong! The feelings of the editor are so outraged that he calls, upon Phil Sheridan to come up from New Orleans and establish order! Circumstances alter cases. A dozen democrats might have been murdered in the streets of Lafayette and the Courier would have remained silent or struck the dead!

What the People Would Save.

The following shows what the people of the United States would save by paying off the National debt now, in greenbacks, instead of waiting ten years, and then doing it. The interest is $180,000,000 a year. The State and local taxation on the bonds, which is now lost, amounts to about $60,000,000 a year. Thus, the interest for ten years is $1,800,000,000. The taxes saved for that time are $600,000,000. Adding the two together, we have the nice, comfortable saving for the people in taxes of $2,400,000,000 in the short space of ten years. This would be at the rate of $80 saved to each man, woman and child in the whole country, or about $500 or $600 on an average to each family. Those who want to have this saving will demand that the debt be paid now in legal tender greenbacks.

Gerrit Smith on Confiscation.

We remarked some time ago that if confiscation should be commenced in the South, it would end in the North. This view of the matter is taken by Hon. Gerrit Smith, who, in a letter just published, says:

"Confiscation once entered upon, it will be difficult, if not impossible, to set limits to the spread of its demoralizing power. The spirit of lawless greed engendered by confiscation will no more stop at State or other lines than will the flames of a prairie fire at the word of command. Let there be confiscation in the South for the benefit of these Mr. Stevens' loyal losers, and also for the benefit of the poor blacks, as he also proposes; and very soon, under its demoralizing influence, immense numbers of the North will be clamoring in the name of 'agrarianism,' 'equalization,' and other taking names, for their neighbors' possessions. And these rich possessions, it must be remembered, will kindle the spirit of robbery, as can none of the poor possessions of the desolate South."

Let the Northern people take warning in time. Already in that section is heard the cry, "equal taxation or repudiation," and if to this rallying watchword be added, "land for the landless," the fine farms on the northwestern prairies and the beautiful ones on the Hudson river will have to be cut up into those "forty acre lots," which seem to be the burden of Stevens and Wade's, and Sumner's confiscation speeches.

Another Key Report from George Francis Train—Woman's Suffrage—The National Debt.

The following is a report from George Francis Train's Madison, Mo., speech on female suffrage and on the National Debt. He says:

"What about woman's suffrage," asked a Senator.

"I am for it." Like Senator Wade, I go for them. [Applause.] It is the only self-hedge we can have on the negro's voting. [Oh, and hisses.] I believe with these distinguished Senators, that a woman is a man and a brother. [Loud cheers and laughter.] Women are more virtuous than men; more moral, less brutal. Besides, women rule their homes—why not help save the nation? [Applause.] Give us woman's suffrage and I will organize a million of my Irish girls to vote down Fifth avenue and vote your speaker into the White House. [Loud cheers and some dissent.]

Woman should vote. Why should the plantation boss—the unlettered, ignorant African, whose hair grows up and back into his head like the Banyan tree—whose leg is set in the middle of his foot [laughter], who has nine cubic inches less of brain inside his thick skull [hisses]; who has only one hundred and fifty pores to the square inch of cuticle, which accounts for his being able to smell him for a half mile [laughter and hisses]; why should this half savage of the backwoods plantations make laws for Anna Dickinson or Harriet Beecher Stowe; legislate for your wives, honorable Senators, or mine? [Applause.]

What man dare say his soul's his own at his own table? [How is it with you, Train?] I am the best managed husband on the continent. [Laughter.] I say I am ready to take the stump for woman's suffrage. [Applause.] It will purify the polls; they will vote down houses of bad repute; vote down faro banks; vote down grogeries; shut up rum shops, and close the gin palaces. [Loud applause.] They will vote for men for office who are willing to preach this sermon and practice it.

"Don't drink; don't smoke; don't chew; don't swear; don't gamble; don't have but one wife; don't be a David or a Solomon; [Oh, don't steal jewels, like Moses, please!] Don't cheat; don't lie; don't love God; don't love God; don't love God so much that you have no time to love your fellow man. [Sensation.] Love truth, love virtue, and be happy. [Loud applause.]

Women will vote, every time, for that platform. Again, in our day, the moment a man can borrow enough money to settle in on his wife, he goes in for the Bankrupt Law. Hence the woman needs votes to protect the property that belongs to her husband's creditors. [Applause and laughter.]

A SENATOR—What about the debt? Mr. Train—Do you want to know? Well you shall have what you probably have never seen before—a debit and credit of the war, a profit and loss account.

1. You know that we have had a grand exhibition of fire works, and mortgaged our farms to pay for it. ["Oh!"]

2. The so-called wealth of the farmer consists in his having his soldier boy in the graveyard, and a seven-thirty in his pocket in exchange. [Sensation.]

But here is the account:

1. $3,000,000,000 of national debt—a national curse to everybody but Jay Cooke.

2. $1,000,000,000 State, city and county debt, born of the war.

3. 5,000,000 able bodied farmers, mechanics and other white men dead, worth $10,000 a piece, $50,000,000,000.

4. 5,000,000 black laborers, worth $1,000 each, $5,000,000,000. [Hisses.]

5. 4,000,000 black laborers, men, women and children, that it took three generations of white civilization to utilize into profitable labor—totally demoralized and disorganized for the time being. [Applause and considerable dissent, the Radicals getting uneasy, and endeavoring to stop Train's "exposition" of National affairs. Train talked them all down, made fun of their hisses, and carried his points, to the evident disgust of many present.]

6. $500,000,000 of shipping, that it took us fifty years of American industry, since Waterloo, to whiten every ocean with our commerce, completely wiped out by England's neutrality. [Applause, and "too true!"]

7. $1,000,000,000 worth of plantations, houses, farms, factories, real estate, personal property, wasted, burned, wiped out completely destroyed—the accumulated industry of a hundred years.

8. And lastly, An amount of swearing, gambling, drunkenness, prostitution, demoralization than can not be enumerated by figures.

This will do for the debit, and when fanaticism sleeps for a moment, the nation's eyes will open and a reaction will set in that will annihilate my constituency, the white people of the land. [Applause and dissent.]

So much for debit; what for credit? Gentlemen, I have no figures. You must be content with ideas.

The Radical Managers, Thieves and Plunderers Crying Hush!

Colonel Donn Platt, of the Free-Press, has incurred the censure of some of his Radical friends, for telling tales out of school, to the great scandal of the brethren. He knows too much to be permitted to run at large, and it is the part of wisdom for the Radical managers to put him in a place that will insure no more tale telling on the part of the Colonel. He has seen the inside, to the very heart, of the Republican party, and knows what a rotten thing it is; and he is disposed to let the public get a peep into the whitened sepulcher. "Hold! hold!" cry Radical friends, "it will hurt the party." He says no, and insists that the way to hurt the party is to hide the thieves, and cover up their evil practices. We quote:

"We have been severely commented upon by some of our contemporaries, and remonstrated with by certain friends, for our exposure of thieves and thieves. We cannot help this. We propose doing our duty regardless of consequences. But we differ from our associates and friends as to these consequences. We believe that our success depends on an exposure of these frauds and an expulsion of the scoundrels. It has come to be known abroad that much of the national indebtedness, calling for heavy taxation to pay, not the principal, but the interest, originated in dishonesty, and went to enrichen rogues instead of the Government. Now with the time upon us that calls for the entire income of the farmer, mechanic, merchant and professional man, to pay our national, State and local taxation, the consideration of this fact comes to be one of vital importance. And they whose hard earnings are being wrung from them, will not tolerate any party that winks at, covers up, or directly or indirectly conceals these frauds. Nor will they tolerate any organization that lacks the courage to expose and the power to punish this rascality.

"We are paying more than we can afford to pay in the way of taxation, to meet the interest on millions and millions of money stolen from the Treasury."

"Islands and wide domains are being purchased, and special trains run for these nearly yearling fat while the people suffer. It has come to be known abroad that much of the national indebtedness, calling for heavy taxation to pay, not the principal, but the interest, originated in dishonesty, and went to enrichen rogues instead of the Government. ## STATE ITEMS.

Milk cows are dying mysteriously in Terre Haute.

They have a haunted house in Greensburg.

The tax levy in New Albany is one dollar on the $100.

August Shroeder, the young man who was sentenced to the penitentiary for shooting and killing a soldier named Brown, in Madison, some two years ago, has been pardoned by Governor Baker.

Colonel A. J. Hawke has bought into the New Albany Commercial. We hope Colonel Hawke will not prove a he-haw.

We understand that some seventy five or eighty men, in this township, are trying to ruin the Republican party! The presumptuous cusses should be branded. —Martinsville Gazette.

Wouldn't it be cheaper to have them "whiskied," Mr. Gazette?

In New Albany, on Wednesday, a son of Mr. C. Fox was run over by a street car and seriously injured. Recovery doubtful.

COONS RAISED BY A CAT.—Mr. W. M. Lattimore, living near Williamsburg, in this county, informs us that early last spring, he cut a tree and caught two young coons with eyes yet unopened. His boys carried them home and placed them with a cat that had young kittens, at the same time taking two of the kittens away from their mother. The cat at once adopted the coons into her family and appeared to think more of them than she did of her own kittens, and raised them, and they are now about half grown and very tame. A strange combination. They may be called coon cats. —Franklin Jeffersonian.

The Bedford Independent denies that the tombstone of Madison Evans, in the cemetery at that place, had been maliciously mutilated.

A gang of gypsies are encamped near Vincennes—so says the Times. Griffin wanted to join them, but his application was refused with contempt. They were careful of their "plunder" to allow Griffin to come around.—Evansville Sentinel.

CAPTURE OF TRUITT.—Trutt, who escaped from our county jail in company with Pio, has been arrested at Dayton, Ohio, and will be brought back to night in custody of the marshal of that city.—Lafayette Courier.

Lightning struck a tree on the farm of William Smith, near Peru, and killed two fat cattle standing under it, worth one hundred and fifty dollars.

Jean Baptiste Brunette, a Miami Indian, well known throughout the Wash Valley, died last Monday morning, at his residence on the Mississinawa river, about eight miles above Peru, in the seventy-eighth year of his age.

POISONED.—A boy named Faulkner, about twelve years of age, was killed by poison last week at Uniontown, in Jackson county, under the following circumstances, as we learn from a private letter: He was troubled with a cough, and stepping into the house one day, said to his sister in law that he believed he would take some of her cough drops; to which she replied, "Very well." On the same mantle was sitting a bottle of gun varnish, which contained a large portion of aquafortis, and by mistake he took a teaspoonful of the varnish. The sister heard his strangling, and on going to his assistance, saw the mistake he had made, and gave him sweet milk and castor oil to counteract the poison. A physician was called; but all efforts to save the unfortunate failed proving unavailing, as he died the next day after taking the poison.—Madison Courier.

SUICIDE.—On the 13th day of May last, Mrs. Emma Prickett, living in Grant county, about two miles from Jalapa, shot herself with her husband's rifle, the ball entering the left side, penetrating the heart and passing through the body. Mr. P. was engaged at the same time at some work on the farm. His wife was observed, as he left the house, standing at the door looking long and earnestly after him, until he passed out of sight. Shortly afterwards he heard the report of the gun, and hastening to the house, found her lying on the floor expiring. It seems that, after entering the house, she directed the children to go out to the barn and play. After they had left, she took down the gun, cocked it, and placed it in her hand. She then seated herself on the floor in front of the muzzle, and with a piece of board, touched the trigger, and the bullet sped into its fatal track. No possible cause can be assigned for the rash act. There were no symptoms of insanity or other mental disturbance. She was cheerful and apparently happy up to the time of her death. The last her husband heard of her voice she was singing. A coroner's inquest was held over the body, but the jury could assign no cause for her act.—Peru Sentinel.

SEROLO HONISM is spreading in New England, and has even reached the virtuous colored class, who are now candidates for suffrage in Connecticut. Last Thursday a negro was tried in New Haven for the murder of a white man, being boys, and four more were little girls. As he was convicted in every case, he was promptly sentenced to pay one hundred dollars and to go to jail for six months for each offense. Had this happened in Massachusetts these severe sentences would have been considered an "invidious distinction on account of color," and the criminal would have been advised to leave the State between two days, with the understanding that he must never be a member of the Legislature. The really singular feature, in this negro's case is, he was sentenced for the same offense to thirteen years' imprisonment. Last September he was released, and instead of going away, he seems to have remained and immediately resumed his old business. Massachusetts may well congratulate itself that the Rev. Serofo Howe has sought fresh fields and pastures new.—New York World.

Consumption Curable by Dr. Schenck's Medicines.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines, will be digested properly, and good health be made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all diseases. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stages yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not requiring, for sometimes in diarrhoea they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the room as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular to masticate well.

no. 2.

MAGNETISM is the vital principle of life. When by the expression of the laws of nature we imprinted the working of God's beautiful mechanism which God made perfect, nature, through her great Electrical Battery, makes a powerful effort to remove the impurities which clog the circulation of the magnetic forces. To assist Nature, we the "Electro Magnetic Fluid," prepared by the Swain Manufacturing Company, which is nothing less than Electricity in liquid form, and is undoubtedly the most wonderful as well as most useful chemical discovery of this age of fruitful research. It is composed of the most powerful ingredients known to chemistry, and when combined by this, the only known process, and applied to the human form, it supplies the deficiency of magnetic power, needed to health disease.

Palsy of long standing, Scrofula, and Rheumatic fits have been cured in a few months, while Rheumatism and Neuralgia, those giant diseases, which have for ages baffled medical skill, and caused untold suffering, yield at once to the healing influence of this powerful fluid. It is warranted to heal the following diseases when used according to directions as a bathing lotion: Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Palsy, Fits, Swelled Joints, Scrofula, Stiff Limbs, Spasms, Headaches, Cancers, White Swelling, Salt Rheum, Sore Eyes, Female Weak Back, Spinal Affections, Protrusion, and other Female Diseases.

Remember that this involves no long tedious, uncertain, and costly experiment, but its good effects will be seen almost instantly while in no case can it possibly do harm.

Send to the proprietors for circular containing certificates from well known physicians of remarkable cures, effected by this medicine, after all other remedies had failed to relieve.

One bottle will be sent to any part of the United States on receipt of one dollar.
