

Now a Newspaper Man was "Corralled" by a Landlord's Daughter.

I haven't dated this letter, because I don't know where I am. I am about nine miles from Julesburg, at a little settlement on the South Platte River. At daylight to-morrow, I am to catch some of the finest salmon you ever saw. They will not bite at any other time of day. I suppose they learned this disagreeable habit of early break fasting from the "Bull Whackers" who have navigated these plains. I am stopping at a little hotel about thirty by ten feet. The scariest thing in this country is lumber, settlers having to pay over so many dollars a foot for all they use, besides what they brought in their valises. The landlord is from Pennsylvania, and seems to be doing a thriving business. By dint of hard talking and liberal promises, I got room to myself. It is just large enough for the bed and candle-box set on a chair upon which I am writing this letter. It is in one end of the building, and separated from the next room by a bed quilt, which you must crawl under to come in or go out. But it is my room, and after the jolting I have had upon the Indian pony, I expect to have a good night's.

Was ever a poor pilgrim in such a fix? Just as I had written "night's" above, and had sleep on the point of my pen, I heard a knocking on the outside the bed quilt. "Crawl under," said I.

Enter the landlord's daughter, a buxom young lady, about seventeen years of age, I should judge. She opened her rosy lips and spoke as follows:

"Mister, don't take off your cloths to-night, when you go to bed."

"Why?"

"Because I am going to sleep with you."

"Well, if you have no better reason than that—"

"Hush, shut up! You told par that you would not sleep with a man."

"I had rather sleep with a wet dog."

"Well, I have given up my bed to a sick man. I have been hard at work all day and have to work hard all day to-morrow, and I can't afford to set up all night. That bed is wide enough for us both. I shall stay on the back side, and if you don't better, I'll do the same."

As she said this she raised from her dress pocket an infernal jack-knife, such as farmers use in trimming fruit trees, and then let it fall back with a clang. I comprehended the situation in half a moment, and unto the maiden I quoth as follows:

"Miss young lady, your intentions may or may not be honorable. I'm traveling entirely by myself. My natural protectors are miles and miles away beyond the boundless prairie, ignorant of the perils which may beset their idol. Thus far I have not been insulted by your sex. I am a man of a few words, but they are always emphatic. I will give up a part of that bed, and that's all I will do. If you attempt, during the silent watches of the night, anything contrary to this firm determination, by St. Joseph, my patron saint, I will shoot you right through the midrif."

As I concluded, I laid a Slocum pistol upon the candlebox. A low chuckle outside the bedquilt gave evidence that paterfamilias had heard and approved the arrangement.

My antagonist laughed, and saying: "Mister, we reckon we understand each other," bounded over to the backside of the bed. There she is now, pretending to be asleep. I can't finish this letter. I can't do anything. Talk about the trials of the earlier saints—about being broiled over live coals—about being flayed alive—about being boiled in oil. What was all that to all this?

It was proposed in Paris immediately after the death of Lucas, the lion-tamer, to prohibit all amusements, the excitement of which consisted in the possibility that a man might be killed in sight of the audience. Since then there has been a horrible occurrence at Spanish bull-fight at Juras, in the Grad. One of the bulls tossed a man, killed him in an instant, and ran about the circus with his entrails twisted about his horns. No body thought of stopping the performance, which went on for three hours afterward.

At a bigger camp-meeting, a loyal east got off the following: "My brethren, two great events happened last 4th of March—Ulysses Grant took up his abode in the White House, and Christ took up his abode in my heart!"

A LOYAL carpet-bagger at Augusta, Ga., took a sleeping-car berth and a wrench, and every thing would have been lovely only the conductor noticed the difference in color, and made them pass the night in the nigger car. The conductor will hear from Grant.

A REPORT is going the rounds determining the cause of religion, to the effect that Ben Butler has been converted. We congratulate honest people that there is no foundation to the report.

As a company of negro soldiers were leaving the wharf at Louisville, on a barge, Tuesday evening, many balls lodged in buildings, but happily no one was injured.

A LITTLE girl worn out by a long sermon, observing the preacher gathering himself for the introduction of another "point" exclaimed, "Oh, mother, he is not going to quit it all, he is swelling up again!"

BRIGHAM YOUNG has lost his family, the only thing that had the names and number of his children, and now he can't tell how much of a father he is.

LOVE in the Indian language, is "schimendamowitchewagan." We would go dry a month before attempting to tell a squaw we loved her.

SINCE the war thousands of volumes have been stolen from the Virginia State Library, together with many valuable relics.

THE SIX GREAT REMEDIES

Hurley's Ague Tonic.
No Aromatic—No Mercury.

PERFECTLY RELIABLE.

The only remedy for Chills and Fever, or Ague and Fever, that can be depended upon is Hurley's Ague Tonic. This has been thousanded cured by using it who have tried the usual remedies without benefit.

WORTHY OF ATTENTION.

To Dr. Thomas A. Hurley:—I have written you before this year, I was attacked with the ague whilst in Victoria, and used several popular medicines with but temporary relief, so resorting to your remedy, I took a worse type, if possible when my medical attendant offered Quinine in large doses—frequently as high as one drachm, and nearly $100. I consulted Dr. Smith, of Louisville, and found he prescribed Quinine and arsenic, and I referred to you, taking preference to let the disease take its course. I was almost bloodless, except after a sweat. About this time the advertisement of Hurley's Ague Tonic appeared, and I tried it, and have no reason to regret it. One battle restored me completely, and I would certainly recommend it as preferable to any other tonic—especially to those which interact with equally happy results, and would certainly recommend it as preferable to any other tonic.

Indigestion, Piles, Fallopian Disease, Rheumatism, King's Evil, Syphilis.

Louisville, April 15, 1866.

Hurley's Sarsaparilla is worth its representation, and I believe it is the most wonderful medicine before the public. Nothing under the heavens could induce me to say so without proof, but I can assure you that it is the most reliable and safe medicine.

I speak willingly and positively on the subject.

My daughter has been ill for several years, employed the principal physicians of the city, and they can not explain it would do her much good, but to my great astonishment she rapidly got well, and I can assure you that it is the most reliable and safe medicine I would not give this certificate, but your Sarsaparilla, the only reliable and safe medicine I have ever seen.

It is the only medicine that it alone cured her.

HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY

Miss young ladies, & Co.—Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure to say after testing all the other worm remedies known to me, with but partial success to my children, I was advised to try T. A. Hurley's Ague Tonic, and found it acts quite well and healthy. The children would eat it all the time. It is the best, safest, most known, and as such, recommended it to me and all.

HURLEY'S STOMACH BITTERS,

FOR
Difficulty, Loss of Appetite, Weakness, Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, Want of Action of the Liver or Disordered Stomach.

There are no bitters can compare with these in removing complaints. For sale, or can be had at any drug store in the United States.

J. A. HURLEY & CO., Proprietors, Louisville, Ky.

To Joe Ruddle & Co., Louisville, Ky., Gentlemen:—I have had the pleasure of testing your Worm Candy, and I am sorry to say it is not equal to the tonics I have heard of or seen advertised, with little or no relief from any disease. I have had the pleasure of trying it, and tried to bottle with little faith in it before I recommended, and to my surprise and joy, before I had time to get home, I found it did the work I expected it to do. I am sure that if any one takes it and firmly believes that one or two occasions it was the means of saving and prolonging his life, he will be satisfied. I have recommended it to all sufferers as the best Bitters known, and advise them always to ask for Dr. Hurley's Worm Candy, as it will benefit others, as you think proper, if it will benefit others. Yours truly etc.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12, 1868.

Jas. Ruddle & Co., Louisville, Ky.—When living in your city I used several bottles of Dr. Seabrook's Infant Soothing Syrup, and found it to be the best. I have since used it better after using it than any other remedy I can say with confidence, it is the best medicine I ever used. I have no doubt of its efficacy. If any one would get the drugstore here to keep it, I will pay for it, as the price is not high, and will pay for it at the office here. Write me when you send it, and oblige.

MRS. SARAH L. RANDOLPH.

DR. SEABROOK'S Elixir of Pyrophosphate of Iron and Calomine.

The elegant combination possesses all the royal properties of Peruvian Bark and Iron, without the disagreeable taste and bad effects of the bark. It is a safe, reliable and efficient medicine. It should be used in all cases when a gentle tonic impression is required, and in all cases where the bark is contraindicated, or in those distressing irregularities or those distressing irregularities, particularly females. No female should be without this medicine, and it will do well in all cases of feverish diseases, for which nothing can well take its place.
