CITY NEWS.

The gardens are suffering for rain.

The Olio play to-night at McClelland Hall.

Business about town has been quite dull during the past week.

“PRESBYTERIAN BILLIARDS” to-night at McClelland Hall.

The Common Please Court commences its session next Monday.

All your neighbors will be at McClelland Hall to-night.

The old rookeries on the Fisher corner are being hauled off.

Go to McClelland Hall to-night for a good game of Croquet.

CUNSHAMAN's celebrated Trio this evening at McClelland Hall.

Lew Evans is going to warble on the “big fiddle” to-night at McClelland Hall.

Henry Campbell will make the violin this evening at McClelland Hall.

Go to McClelland Hall to-night and hear Molie Hoover sing “The Merry Zingara.”

Sixty laborers in the employ of the B. & W. R. R. arrived in our city last Tuesday.

Miss Jessie Fous will explain the mysteries of “Croquet” to-night at McClelland Hall.

The demand for houses to rent is very great in Crawfordsville at present, and few to be had.

Loveans of fun should not fail to hear Prof. Hodge sing “Old Simon the Cellarer” to-night at McClelland Hall.

You ought to hear Mr. Goldsberry play the flute! He plays to-night at McClelland Hall.

The debuts at McClelland Hall to-night are Miss Maggie Wilson, Mrs. Lizzie Fullenwider, and Misses Laura Cowen and Edna Canine.

Miss Jessie Fous will sing the popular song entitled “Croquet” at McClelland Hall this evening. It will, we warrant, be very funny.

We predict that McConnell will have the best prepared oration. He has been practicing it for the last two weeks, much to the gratification and edification of the dwellers near Christain Corner.

BURGLARY.—Thirty dollars in currency and a considerable amount of goods were stolen from J. W. Cooper & Co.'s store at Alamo on last Sunday night. No clue to the perpetrators.

Our Republican friends are anticipating a severe quarrel at the Democratic convention to-day. Let them all go and see how good and sweet a thing it is for brother to dwell together in unity.

Part Hounds, notwithstanding that terribly ungrammatical sign of his is now prepared to accommodate his old friends, his new friends, even his very young friends, with the very best cream in the city. His reception room is the handsomest in the city.

The old homestead of Richard Covine, late residence of Mrs. Gwin, three miles southwest of this city, said to be the oldest brick farm house in Montgomery county, was entirely destroyed by fire last Thursday.

All who appreciate good music will attend the concert at McClelland Hall this evening. Prof. Hodge, in whose interest it is given, has been among us long enough to insure the success of any enterprise of this kind.

The “May Meeting” three miles south of Lodioga last Sunday was quite a pleasant affair, and was well attended by Crawfordsville folks. All of the “lively rigs” in town being there. Preaching, singing, love among the young folks, cakes, candies, and other sweet things were the order of the day.

We would politely suggest to our law-abiding fishermen, that certain parties are daily violating the fish law, and ought to pay well for it. No less than seventy-five large bass were taken out of Rock River last Thursday, by a seining party, between Sperry's dam and the wagon bridge. This should be stopped. Can't the Common Pleas Prosecutor do something for them? Try it on George.

A minor accident occurred to one of our young gentlemen at Sunday last at the May Meeting. Having imbibed rather too much “benzine” he found himself incapable of managing his team, and the result was that his dulcina was thrown out of the buggy, almost turning a double summersault, greatly to the amusement of the spectators. Don't mind so much next time, James.

It will be seen from the proceedings published in another portion of to-day's paper, that it has been determined by the soldiers and citizens to observe decoration day, by appropriate ceremonies, on Monday afternoon next. The meeting making this arrangement, was composed of both soldiers and citizens, and men of each of the political parties. This is a sufficient guarantee that the decoration services will be conducted on the most enlarged and liberal principles creditable to those having them in charge, and in all respects a suitable commemoration of the memories and services of the lamented brave, now sleeping their last sleep in their honored graves, while we are in the enjoyment of life, liberty and prosperity, as the reward of their services and sacrifices, delight to honor the tribute contemplated by these sacred ceremonies. May bigness be generally suspended, and all our people participate in the celebration of decoration day.

A fire broke out last Wednesday evening in the drying kiln of Messrs. Roberton, Cox & Co., and had made considerable progress before it was discovered. The “Niagara” was on hand in a miraculously short time after the alarm.

We would suggest to the foreman of the company the propriety of drenching those who interfere with the management of the machine or tools. One or two whiffs of the nozzle will subdue most cattle suddenly.

A vicious attempt was made yesterday morning by some villain, as yet unknown, to outrage the person of a young lady residing near Black Creek, on the Corning road. The young woman was going from her father's residence to that of a neighbor when the scoundrel made the attack upon her. She resisted, and escaped with the loss of most of her clothing. At last, however, the villain had not been caught, although the whole neighborhood had turned out to search for him with the intention of hanging him as soon as found.

The poor devil, who since its late “burst up,” and the withdrawal of the talent and finance which used to support it, has been attempting in his creeping, crawling, repulsive manner to run the Indianapolis Mirror.

It is to be regretted that the animal is seriously offended with us; and why? Simply because some weeks since we published, and upon his impertinent criticism, republished, the following paragraph to wit:

“A strong-minded lady has been in our city causing much desecration to the Indianapolis Mirror. She is to be seen on the editorial staff of that paper. How long has she been on it, we don't know.

The last time was an admonition to the Mirror animal, like this:—“How out you must grieve. In reply to which, the animal aluded to says that we are ‘bastards’ and ‘scoundrels.’ Vickers has been about the class of place to which he is associated with the class of people he refers to, quite intimately, or he would not be so well acquainted with their slang. We admit that it is somewhat derogatory to the reputation of a young lady, or a lady of middle age, or even an old lady to have it said that she is in the slightest degree connected with the puppy who now engineers the Mirror on its downward road. However, that is the worst we said of the lady alluded to, and if she will say that it is not correct, or that our remark can, by any means, be misinterpreted as being unkind, we will withdraw it, with the exception, that she is to be seen on the editorial staff of that paper. Oh, that I could half paint to you the beauty of her sash! How often the pleasure of a pleasant home unappreciated. There is a large field of happiness, ever green with hope and promise, that will fill the heart of a lady of high cultivation and refined ideas, then we will acknowledge that we have gone astray. But when such a pulsating puppy attempts to distort and falsify our paragraphs in the manner in which the Mirror thing has, we can only say to the girl, that if she is the sooner she leaves it and goes to some respectable journal or to a wholesome kitchen even, the better it will be for her.

For fear that the most of our readers will not know, we will say that the Mirror used to be a very readable paper carried on by John M. Finch, Johnny Morton and George Harding, but having died once, and the talent above alluded to having left it, it has been recently resuscitated by one Vickers, and like all other master which have been interred, it in its grave clothes, is but the dust and ashes of what it once was. And its subscription list in this city will show that we are about right.

Removal.—The Crist Brothers have moved their stock of groceries into their new room east of the Elston Bank and directly opposite the Post Office. They have now one of the finest grocery and provision establishments in the city. During the season they will keep on hand all kinds of vegetables and fruits. Farmers who wish to dispose of their produce at the highest cash price and buy their groceries at the lowest figures, should call at this establishment.

Concert To-night.—Prof. Hodge proposes to give a grand Operatic and Ballad Concert this evening at McClelland Hall assisted by his vocal class and the Olio. The Professor makes Vocal Culture a specialty, and it is evident that he perfectly understands it. His school has made rapid and vast improvement.

The concert promises to be the finest musical treat of the season.

Tickets may be procured at Hillbrand & Gollifsherry's Jewelry Store, Elston Block, the Olio, and at the door. Price of admission, 50 cents; children half price.

Free Lecture.—The Crist Brothers have moved their stock of groceries into their new room east of the Elston Bank and directly opposite the Post Office. They have now one of the finest grocery and provision establishments in the city. During the season they will keep on hand all kinds of vegetables and fruits. Farmers who wish to dispose of their produce at the highest cash price and buy their groceries at the lowest figures, should call at this establishment.

Local Items.—If you want a cheap box, go to the new Hat Store at John Lane.

Go to Lane's new Hat Store for late styles of summer hats, south Green street, Elston's Bank Building.

Lard.—The best quality of Lard can be had at Gollifsherry & Brothers.

Alexander Kids.—In all colors and warranted for a low price by the Manufacturer.

Paints.—Billy Frys sells more glass, paints, oil, &c., than any other man, and does it for less money.

Now.—Is the time to repair your buildings and fence?—The Master for that, which you can afford, is at Gollifsherry & Brothers.

The Little Billy Barber.—Is still at Greggs' Mammoth ready to wait on his old friends. He is a young, sprightly boy, and a clever singer.

New Jewelry Store.—Messrs. S. Hillbrand & S. S. Gollifsherry, successors to P. G. White, jewelers, Watchmakers and Jewellers, No. 2 South Green street, Elston's Bank Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Important.—Those who have strolled to the greatest of the great rock scenes in the market, will soon learn that the heat has severely injured the ornamental, baking, pastry, and confectionary departments, and that the doors of all these departments will be closed for six months. He will sell greenware and glassware lower than any house in this city, and his articles are guaranteed and sold six months from fall to spring.

Consumptives.—THE ALMIRANT, having been restored to health, has now a very simple remedy, consisting of a few drops of oil of camphor, with a few drops of oil of lavender, and a few drops of oil of rosemary, all well mixed.

Wanted.—Everyone to know that Greggs' Mammoth is chock full of new goods and prices marked down to old prices that we sell at the lowest.

Everybody.—and all their relatives are requested to go to Greggs' to buy their hardware, and if we don't make the price suit, buy. Come and see, everybody. U. M. and Billy Scotts are always on hand and ready to exhibit the celebrated Singer Sewing Machine.

Livery.—The finest horses in the way of livery teams can now be found at Ira Collett's stable, 12th and Washington Streets, the south part of the city. His horses are unequalled for speed and dexterity, and his carriages and buggies the most elegant in the West.

Decoration Meeting.—At a meeting of soldiers and citizens, held at the Court House in Crawfordsville, on Thursday evening, his Honor Mayes Elston, was called to the chair. T. H. B. McClelland chose secretary. Capt. Laymon briefly stated the object of the meeting, to perfect arrangements for observing decoration day.

On motion it was unanimously resolved that the soldiers and citizens will decorate the graves of deceased soldiers, at Crawfordsville, on Monday, May 30.

The Younville band was invited to furnish music for the occasion. Committee for this purpose appointed, consisting of W. R. Fry, Capt. Elmore and Capt. McClelland.

A committee consisting of Capt. Laymon, H. H. Hightower and Dr. M. H. Galey, was appointed to invite Gen. Carrington, to act as Grand Marshal and Orator, and to invite all the Ministers of the city to sit in the services, and to announce the services in their churches.

A finance committee was appointed, consisting of T. D. Brown, Capt. Herron and Wm. Webster. A committee to solicit the services of the ladies in preparing wreaths, garlands &c., was appointed. This committee is W. R. Fry, W. H. Galey and Capt. Herron.

The committee to designate the graves, is Capt. Elmore, G. M. Robinson and Gus Newell.

Replied.—That the decorating services take place from McClelland Hall, on Monday, at 1 o'clock p.m.

The finance committee was instructed to furnish all conveyances necessary for the occasion. An invitation was extended to the Mayor and Common Council of the city, and the Faculty and students of Wabash College, to attend in their respective bodies as organizations. Committee, Capt. Elmore, Capt. Laymon and Ira McClelland on motion.

Resolved.—that this meeting assemble at Elstro Hall, on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, to hear reports of committees. A committee consisting of R. A. Hightower, Capt. Herron and T. H. B. McClelland, was appointed to invite the business men of the city to close their places of business during decoration services, to-wit: from 1 to 4 o'clock p.m., on Monday.

Ordered that the Crawfordsville Review be requested to publish a report of this meeting.
