Fine Pictures.

The photographic house of Morceau & Powers, 36 north Illinois street, Indianapolis, only three or four doors north of the Bates House, now turns out, without doubt, the finest photographs of any establishment in Indiana. This may be considered a loud assertion by some, but if any other gallery has any work which presents more accurate likenesses, clear expression of the eyes, pose of the person, and true to exactness in every respect, we have not heard of it. They are real artists who turn out work from this establishment, not an empty sounding name as applied to many engaged in the business of securing pictures of people. Specimens of their work adorn the walls of many residences through the west. Life size pictures and all sizes desired can be obtained at this house.

I want to tell suffering humanity what was the matter with and what cured me. I broke out with a rash the most uncomfortable thing I ever had because it itched so and I had to fan my hands to get ease. You could not see the veins on my hands there were so many pimples on the. I used one bottle of Loos's Fluid Extract of Red Clover and was completely cured.

GRAN'MA.

A wrinkled face hallowed with snowy white hair, Bright eyes that beam on you with kindness rare, And a smile showing for you the tenderest care, Has gran'ma.

A plain dress, old fashioned and spotlessly neat, A slow, gentle voice, sympathetic and sweet, Telling love from the heart, and a patience complete, Has gran'ma.

Dear hands often weary, but seeking no rest, Helping, mending or knitting for those in the nest, In spite of mistakes ever doing their best, Has gran'ma.

The dearest companion, the staunchest of friends To petted grandchildren who ever defend, From whippings deserved, and whose mischief she mends, Is gran'ma.

The quaintest old stories of days long ago, When she was a girl and gran'pa was her beau, And how the old homestead was buried in snow, Tells gran'ma.

The baby cries for her; big children and small, The neighbors, the old folks who on her must call, Good mamma, kind papa, the servants and all, Love gran'ma.

Ah! May we, when aged, become so endeared, May our lives, rightly lived, make us loved and revered, And, viewing the future, be strengthened and cheered, Like gran'ma.

—H. C. Dodge.

Rufus Cook's Good Advice.

Rufus Cook, a civil and sanitary engineer, has addressed an open letter to the city council of Minneapolis, in which he makes some pertinent and valuable suggestions on the subject of city sanitation. He states that with the growth of cities there is a constant tendency to the accumulation of unsanitary conditions. Sanitary work consists in the application of preventive measures rather than curative, the latter being the province of the physician. To insure this sanitary work being fully carried out, ample funds should be appropriated to the health department.

People need to be taught that what they eat, drink and breathe has an important relation to their health and happiness, and to maintain human existence in its highest state requires pure air, pure water and pure food, and these supplemented by a pure soil. As purity of air is first in importance, the best system of heating and ventilation should be applied to all public and private buildings. A good plumbing law is one of the most effective steps in sanitary progress that the city can possibly have. Mr. Cook quotes from the New Jersey board of health: "Most of our cities are still far behind in the details of approved sanitary administration, and in those financial provisions, therefore, which are necessary for the health of the people. In the work of sanitary inspection and advice, and in the general oversight of the people, we find a field of operation which might be largely extended to the great advantage of our citizens."—The Sanitary News.

When Spring Comes

This is the way a horse and a poor blanket look at the end of winter.

Why is it that of two horse blankets which look and feel equally well one won't wear at all, and the other wears well? This 5/8 Trade Mark shows why.

Horse Blankets which are strong and have a reputation are always imitated in poor qualities which look like them, but having fewer warp threads are not as strong.

Some dealers buy these poor imitations for a few cents less and by saying they are "just as good," sell them at the same price as the strong blankets to parties who do not know the difference.

You cannot tell whether horse blankets are strong by the look or feel, as the warp threads do not show on the face. How then are you to know?

In order that you can tell a strong blanket from a weak one, the manufacturer of 5/8 Horse Blankets sews the above 5/8 Trade Mark inside of each blanket. This is a guarantee that it is the strongest blanket made for the money and will wear well.

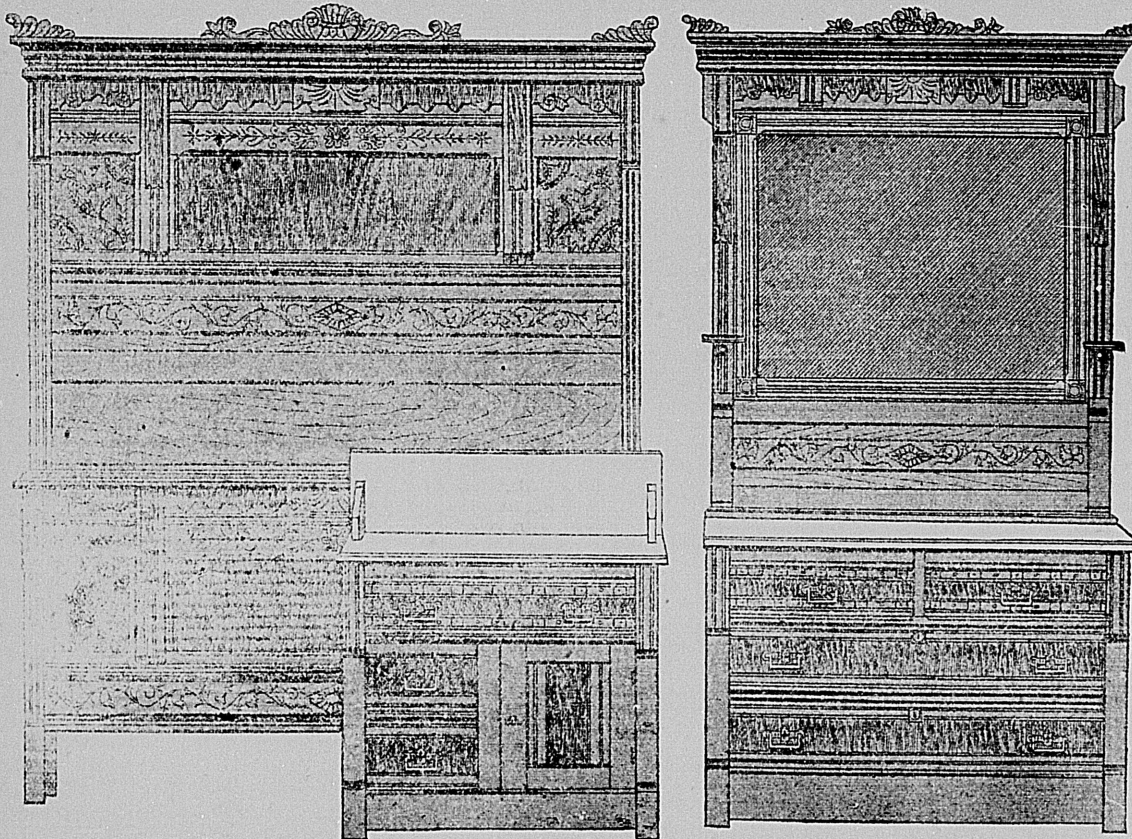

Many poor imitations have been sold as 5/8 blankets. Remember none are genuine unless the 5/8 Trade Mark is sewed inside.
