EXCHANGE SAYINGS

Henry D. Stringer, by way of a cycling diversion, has been indicted by the Marion county grand jury for an irregular real estate transaction.

Married at the residence of the bride, by Esq. Talbott, on Sunday evening, Feb. 17th, at 630, Samuel Good and Sarah Vaught. Congratulations are always in order.

Of all our heroes, one of the bravest is Albie Stevenson. Wednesday morning, cold and bad as it was, he started on a thirty-five mile walk with a string in his valiant grasp. At the other end of the string, however, was a cow, belonging to A. McDonald, which our hero conveyed to his new home for him.—Ladoga Leader.

Marshal Wilson went the rounds Wednesday morning on a dog killing expedition. He sent four of them to a happy rest. He will soon go around again, and at that time will kill all dogs that are found not securely muzzled.

Lawson Parker, of Hillsboro, has been employed by T. N. Lucas to work in his dry goods store beginning March 1st. Mr. Parker is one of the best salesmen in the State and will add greatly to Mr. Lucas' force.

Several friends and relatives from Mace congregated at the residence of J. C. Wilson, on Thursday of last week, to celebrate the 48th birthday of Mrs. Wilson.

Ed Small and Ed Reeves purchased the brick yard of Howard Edwards, Thursday, and will make brick next summer of the best quality.

The Waynetown mock legislature elected S.
G. Bunnell governor, and William Marks lieutenant-governor.—Waynetown Hornet.

Another business change took place Thursday, J. W. Robertson purchasing the grocery store and bakery of Canine & Son. Another trade or two are being talked of.

The cornet band took a fool notion to go se-ranging, Monday night, notwithstanding the fact that the mercury was trying to get out of the bottom of the thermometer. They walked about a half mile, silently ranged themselves in position to play, and the leader gave the word in a stage whisper—and then a look of consternation spread over the faces of the boys as they found that every blessed instrument but the bass drum was frozen hard. They won't serenade any more till the roses come again.—Waveland Independent.

Geo. Diffenderfer has been on his muscle for the past few days, on account of a suit being commenced against him in the circuit court, on a note given to the New York Life Insurance Co., or to an agent of that company, for a payment on a policy taken by him. Mr. D. called at the bank by request and paid the money, which was sent, but somehow it failed to get credited on the note, hence the suit.
The agent assumes all the costs made.—Covington Friend.

At Chapel exercises yesterday morning President Martin, of the University, read a message from the Department of War extending the time of Lieut. W. T. May, in charge of the military school here, one year from July next.
The announcement was hailed with delight by the students, to all of whom the Lieutenant has endeared himself by his efficiency and gentleness bearing. His regular detail was for three years, but at the earnest solicitation of the Faculty and Trustees the time was extended.—Greencastle Times.

Levi Woodrum, of this county, has just completed a gavel which he will forward to the vice-president-elect about the first of March.
It is made of Indiana walnut, and is ornamented with silver and ivory. The "hammer" is capped by a dome in imitation of the capitol at Washington. There is a strip of ivory for each State in the Union, and two silver bands, on which are engraved the name of the vice-president, "U. S. A.," "Constitution," and "E-Pluribus Unum." The gavel is a creditable piece of mechanism, and, coming as it does from a Hoosier republican who has no ax to grind, will doubtless be appreciated by its distinguished recipient.—Greencastle Star-Press.

On last Saturday some section men on the Wabash road notified some parties at Riverside Station that there was a large and strange dead animal lying along the side of the track about four miles east of the station. James Newman and James Smith, in order to satisfy curiosity, struck out to find the animal. They found it to be an extraordinarily large mountain wolf, six and one-half feet long, two and one-half feet high, and weighing 250 pounds.
It was in splendid condition, and well it might be, for it has been living on the fat of the land.
Its diet for the past year has been young pigs when it could get them and old ones when it couldn't get anything else, with a fine sheep thrown in occasionally.—Attica Ledger.

Terre Haute appears to have a number of parties who are courageous enough to commit suicide. The latest was a courtizan by the name of Mary Ryan, otherwise known as Alice Reed. She passed over by the landman route.

On Thursday afternoon of last week John Cornell, a bank boss at No. 9, Brazil block coal company, near Asherville, fell from the upper to the lower vein, a distance of thirty feet, fracturing his skull and breaking his left leg.
—Rockville Eagle.

Here is a little talk about Monon engines that may interest railway boys of ye olden days: The 9-spot was the Admiral. Quickstep was numbered 23, a passenger engine, and the belle of the road, being beautifully adorned with brass mountings. The B. F. Tallman was called the oldest engine on the road ten years ago. Others were the Champion, Arctic, W. F. Reynolds and G. L. Schuyler. Going way back to ancient history, the engine that drew the construction train into Bedford for the builders of the Monon was the Mooresville.
Others among the first engines were named after towns along the line, as the Salem, Bedford, Bloomington, Greencastle, etc.—Lafayette Journal.

We all have our preferences; but no one prefers to hear a baby when the fact is so well known that Dr. Ball's baby syrup would at once be quiet.

The rice prospects of the South are not good.

Hood's sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself and superior to all other preparations in strength, economy, and medicinal merit.

The Danger Before Us.

We have already alluded to the importance of house-keepers paying more attention to the kind of baking powder used in leavening their bread. This is a matter to which we cannot draw attention too often, because it is something which involves the most serious consequences to the general body of mankind.
Temperance apostles tell us—and there is ample foundation for the statement—that there is disease both moral and physical, in the intoxicating cup; and in the same way there is disease, slow perhaps, but certain in the time and almost heavenworth agents employed in many of the homes on this continent.

No punishment is too severe for those manufacturers who place these poisonous alum and lime baking powders before the public with the assurance that they are pure and wholesome articles. In the belief of the truth of such statement such baking powders are largely used in the preparation of food, and in this way poison ingredients are taken into the system without a suspicion of their presence.
By and by come spells of headache, distress in the stomach, loss of appetite, a fluttering of the heart; the child is seized with an apparentcauseless cough. The coating of the stomach is destroyed, perhaps; one of the vital organs is rendered almost useless; the kidneys are attacked with Bright's disease. The health of the child is irreparable broken down; the adult becomes a chronic invalid. These are the doings of the modern cheap baking powders that are composed of lime and alum, or that contain sulphuric or phosphoric acids.

In view of these facts, surely all housewives should exercise the care that is, we know, now exercised by some in the selection of a proper brand of baking powder. She who does not do so, whether the neglect is the result of ignorance or recklessness, cannot free herself from the responsibility for the health, perhaps life, thereby endangered. No housewife need be ignorant of the quality and composition of the article which she uses to leaven her bread, biscuit and cake. The official reports of the government chemists, who are certainly unprejudiced, have been published and show very clearly the quality and strength of all the baking powders in the market. The Royal baking powder which is accessible at every hand, is reported absolutely free from lime alum, phosphoric acid, or any injurious ingredient. It is further stated by the most eminent authorities on food hygiene that food leavened with it is more wholesome than when raised by any other method. Its use is therefore to be commended. It is to be regretted that no other baking powder, when there are so many in the market, some of which will find their way into use, is free from all of these substances. The official analysis assure us, however, that all except the Royal contain either lime or alum. The housekeeper who regards the health of
